A Boston & Albany R. R. engineer, F. B. CHAMBERLAIN, of Springfield, Mass., says: For years I have suffered from Chronic Bilious attacks, with a narrow escape each time from Typhoid Fever. About two years ago I commenced taking Sulphur Bitters, and since that time I have had no trouble from my old enemy. Living in a malarial district, I have had no trouble from that cause, being a marked exception among my neighbors, and I give the credit for that to Sulphur Bitters. It is an invaluable remedy, and one which no household should be without.

Builds Up the Weak.

The wife of the Superintendent of Repairs, Pacific Mills, Lawrence, Mass., Mrs. JOHN BARTON, the eloquent temperance advocate, says: When all other remedies failed, Sulphur Bitters cured me of Dyspepsia and those deathly Sick Headaches.

NUISANCES ABATED.

A fellow full of bad liquor occupied a seat at Music hall on Friday evening, and the rum made him keep his "yawp" going loudly, to the great annoyance of every decent person in the house. Officer Hennessey went to him and warned him to keep quiet, which he did until the officer went away, when he again commenced to "fire off his mouth;" but he did not keep it up long, the officer immediately removing him from the hall, and locking him up for the night.

Another fellow, well down toward the front of the centre section, undertook to show off his smartness by calling out to persons on the stage, but on Mr. Hennessey conveying to him a quiet intimation that if he didn't shut up he would be locked up, the fellow concluded to shut up. The bummer element did a little hissing, but the officer paid no attention to that, knowing of course that the respectable majority were solid in his support. We hope Officer Hennessey will be stationed at Music hall right along, whenever there is an entertainment there.

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

SATURDAY, April 11th.

James McDonald and Charles Allen, drunks, being regular customers, were fined $5, with $6.90 costs, each. Brentwood for the pair.

Samuel Whittaker, drunk, fine $3, costs $6.90. Paid.

GOVERNMENT HORSE MARKET.

Four horses were advertised to be sold at auction by J. P. Morse on the navy yard, Saturday, but only two were sold, for the season that one of the four was found to be hopelessly sick a few days before the sale, and was killed with chloroform, and another was withdrawn from sale to take the place of a horse that died on the day before the auction. Of the two that were sold, Charles W. Cottle & Son, of Kittery, purchased one for $60, and C. A. Badger of Newington got the other for $30.

A DISAPPOINTMENT.

An immense audience was assured for Saturday evening at Music hall, when and where "Zozo, the magic queen," which had been received on Friday evening with such marked favor, was announced to be repeated, nearly every reserved seat having been sold before six o'clock; and great disappointment was felt by the ticket-holders, and the hundreds who gathered about the doors before the hour of opening in hope of being able to secure seats or at least standing room, on being informed that "there will be no performance to-night, owing to a defect, possibly dangerous, having been found in the roof." The giving up of the entertainment under such circumstances caused the circulation of some wild rumors on the street, but we learn from the custodians of the building that it was owing to a defect having been discovered in the truss-work supporting the roof, and that a cursory examination by experts having resulted in a decision that while it might hold for many years without yielding it might yield at any time under an unusual strain, the proprietors decided not to allow the building to be again opened to the public until after a thorough inspection by competent mechanics, and the making of such repairs and alterations, if any are required, as shall render the building absolutely safe under any strain which can be put upon it.

Naval Constructor George F. Mallett visited the Portsmouth navy yard on Friday of last week, on a hunting expedition after spare furniture suitable to be used in furnishing the U. S. S. Pensacola, Capt. George Dewey commanding, now at the navy yard at Norfolk, Va., being fitted out as flagship of the European squadron, to carry the flag of Rear Admiral S. R. Franklin. The Pensacola is under orders to relieve the Lancaster, ordered from the European station to the South Atlantic, and her furniture was burned in the recent fire at the Norfolk yard. Hence Constructor Mallett's tour on a "tarpaulin muster" for furniture. He found several pieces in the cabinet shop at this yard, and left on Saturday to go through the Boston and Brooklyn yards on the same errand.

The secretary of the navy has issued an order requiring all clerks in the department, of course including those on navy yards, to remain on duty until five o'clock daily, when the work assigned them each day is not completed by four o'clock.

Passed Asst. Engr. A. B. Bates is ordered to duty at this navy yard.

Commodore L. A. Kimberly on Friday assumed command of the Charlestown navy yard, relieving Commodore Oscar C. Badger.

There are renewed signs of life and activity at the Brooklyn navy yard. A survey will be made shortly of the United States ship Essex, with a view to putting her in trim for sea service. The Brooklyn, which in November last returned from a three years' cruise in the south Pacific, will be overhauled and made ready for sea by the 20th instant. Rumors has said that she would go back to the south Pacific. The monitor Nantucket will be ready for sea in a few weeks. The torpedo boat Intrepid is being rebuilt. The war cloud in Europe may necessitate an increase of the European squadron.

The boarding on the front of the Rockingham house would make a splendid bill-board, the biggest one in the world.

Saturday forenoon a horse belonging to Hett Brothers, standing in front of the Rockingham house with a wagon-load of galvanized iron conductors, took fright and ran down State street, throwing his load right and left on the way, and crossed at the head of the wharves to Daniel street, where he was stopped near the navy yard landing by Robert Anderson; no damage was done to horse or wagon.

Water fowl have been very abundant this spring at Great bay, but comparative few been captured, the amateur hunters having simply succeeded in frightening them away. A wild goose, wounded in the wing on the bay, was captured and taken to Henry Bean's farm in Newington last week, where he remains, and being well fed, seems quite contented and tame.

The finishing of the Rockingham house will add much to the comfort of the travelling public. There are quite a number of small hotels here, not much known, which could agreeably accommodate visitors who do not know how to find a satisfactory sleeping place, and have frequently been crowded into a very small compass.

The three young men who have for three years past given May parties with marked success, will give the fourth one in Franklin hall on Tuesday evening, the 5th of May next, Eastman's orchestra of Manchester furnishing the music for dancing, and giving a concert of an hour's duration before the grand march.

Edward C. Matthews and Heman F. Eldredge have been drawn to serve as grand jurors at the April term of the Supreme court, and John W. Shannon and James W. Corey as petit jurors, from ward one. Richard I. Walden and Richard L. Randall have been drawn as petit jurors from ward four.

A letter mailed at Norfolk, Va., at five o'clock last Friday afternoon, was placed in the box of the person addressed, at the office in this city, at nine o'clock Saturday evening. This is what may be called rapid transit.

A Mother Goose party in aid of the Children's Home was given in Franklin theatre on Saturday afternoon, and was in every way a great success, the little folks taking their several parts with amusing zeal and intelligence, the costumes displaying great ingenuity, and the theatre being crowded with delighted spectators. Over 800 tickets to the entertainment were sold, and the net proceeds must have been something quite handsome.

The adjourned meeting of St. John's parish will be held at their chapel on State street this (Monday) evening at half-past seven o'clock.

Considerable quantities of fish were brought in on Saturday and Sunday, being disposed of, however, at low prices; a large proportion of the receipts were forwarded to the New York market. Upon the ending of the winter fishing season, Elvin Newton will again proceed to Lunging island, Isles of Shoals, for summer fishing with his crew.

Oscar Laighton, of Appledore, was in town on Saturday, remaining over night. On Sunday morning Cedric Laighton came down from Boston by rail, and the brothers proceeded to the Shoals in the steamer Pinafore.

Saturday was quite a cool, uncomfortable day; nevertheless there was quite a procession of teams from the agrarian districts in town. Some horses for sale were displayed on the Parade. Animals bring a little better prices since the worst of the feeding time is past.

The annual meeting of the Piscataqua Association of Presbyterian and Congregational Ministers will be held in Rye on Tuesday, April 21st, with Rev. F. H. Boynton, pastor of the Congregational church in that town.

Valentine Smith of Newmarket, one of the oldest residents of the town, died quite suddenly on the 4th inst., lacking but two months of being eighty-five years of age. He had been in failing health all winter, but was not considered dangerously sick. On the morning of his death he ate his breakfast as usual, and shortly afterward complained of feeling quite ill, laid down on the sofa, and shortly after expired. He lived a bachelor until a little over a year ago, when he married a young lady of about twenty years of age. He leaves quite a large property.

Mrs. Frances J. Langley of Durham, wife of Samuel Langley, died on the night of the 6th inst. after an illness of a few hours. She was forty-five years of age, and left thirteen children.

ECZEMA or SALT RHEUM.

Another Clear and Positive Recovery —An Elderly Lady's Letter.

Among the numerous letters received by Dr Kennedy testifying to notable SALT RHEUM cures, the following will be found of interest to our readers, who may accept our assurance of its perfect authenticity and truthfulness:

WORCESTER, MASS., March 23, 1884.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

DEAR SIR: Until recently I have been for three years a sufferer from Salt Rheum. It followed upon an attack of Erysipelas, for which I was for a long time under medical treatment. I placed myself again in the hands of the physicians who did, I have no doubt, all that could be done. One thing is sure, however, I was none the better for all the medicine they gave me. The painful and unsightly disease made continual progress, until I began to fear I should never get rid of it.

By means of one of those accidents that often result in so much blessing I had my attention called to your FAVORITE REMEDY, which I was told would surely do me good. I used it, and within a much shorter time than I would have believed possible, I received a permanent cure. I am now perfectly free from Salt Rheum. What a comfort this is, and how it places your wonderful medicine in my opinion, you may guess at, but never know. I keep it now constantly in the house as a family medicine. Yours truly,

MRS. DINAH PHAIR.

Mrs. Phair sometime since, when on a visit to Kansas, found a case of salt Rheum, could not get FAVORITE REMEDY, sent to New York City for it, and cured the case.

For all diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, Bladder and Digestive Organs, Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, Rondout, N. Y

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

has worn golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an unfailing friend—a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. $1 bottle, 6 for $5, by all druggists.

—"What is it, my children," exclaimed the temperance advocate, "that causes men to ignore the ties of home, neglect their families, stay out until after midnight and get up in many times with a bad headache in the morning?" "I know," shouted the little son of a Congressman. "Well, my little fellow, tell the others what it is." "Politics."

The Root of the Evil.

To thoroughly cure scrofula it is necessary to strike directly at the root of the evil. This is exactly what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, by acting upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing it of all impurities, and leaving not even a taint of scrofula in the vital fluid. Thousands who have been cured of scrofula by Hood's Sarsaparilla, testify to its wonderful blood-purifying qualities. Sold by all druggists.

—Mrs. Snobberly, whose husband made a great deal of money very suddenly by a rise in oil, puts on a great deal of style. At a recent banquet at her house on Fifth avenue, New York, she hired Herr Baenkelsaenger, a celebrated violinist, for the evening. His first piece was the "Swedish Wedding March," which is very slow. After listening for a few moments, old Snobberly became very indignant, and said in a very audible tone of voice, "Them musicians are just like all other loafers. When they are paid by the job, you bet they take their time to it."

Probably no other woman in the world receives so many "letters of thanks" as Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Masss., Mrs. B——— of Enfield, N. Cream and Cold Weather.

What a luxury is a bath in summer. Surely, but a greater luxury is a clear head in winter; just when almost everybody is sneezing and snuffing with a cold in the head. An off Year.

This is going to be an off year. No political booms for "Plumed Knights" or "Reform" will help keep up the health and strength of the vast multitudes whose faith is pinned on the glowing party promises of election year. Multitudes of such will need a reliable tonic to tone up the system, a purifier to work off the bad blood, and a sure remedy for lame backs, rheumatism, biliousness, etc. Such a remedy is Kidney-Wort. It has long stood at the head of the list of kidney remedies, and it receives the highest praise from all that use it.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM

I was attacked last winter with inflammatory rheumatism of severe type—my first serious illness since 1876. I had various kinds of treatment with only temporary partial relief. After seven weeks I was reduced in weight 35 pounds, had no strength or appetite, and was growing weaker every day. In this condition I began Swift's Specific, and in three days began to improve, and in three weeks I was free from disease and up attending to my regular business. My appetite returned and I rapidly gained my flesh. I have waited this long to be certain that my cure was permanent.

LIFE IN A COLD COUNTRY.

A Woman's Letter From Manitoba—People Partly Frozen.

Life in Manitoba is not as pleasant as it has been pictured. A woman writing from near Winnipeg says: "In such a thinly settled country it is naturally very difficult to get any sort of female help. I have to make even the bread and the butter, and prepare everything that is eaten. If I drive twelve miles with linen, and again the same distance to fetch it home, I can, by dint of great persuasion and pretty speeches, occasionally induce a half-breed woman to wash it. She charges me $1 a dozen, and sends it back clean, certainly, but neither ironed nor even folded. Of course, on the prairie we are our own landlords, and live rent free on our own homestead. Taxes don't amount to much, and food is no great expense, as game of all sorts abounds. Fish, too, is easy to get, as we are not far from Lake Manitoba, and in Winter we can buy frozen fish from the Indians at a trifling cost. Prairie chicken, wild duck, partridge, snipe and plover are very plentiful, and may be had for the shooting. When I say that I believe there is hardly a fenced farm between us and the North Pole, it is plain that poaching is an unknown crime. Animals of most sorts are in the neighborhood. We can sit at night by the fire and hear a pack of prairie wolves go by in full cry across the snow. Timber wolves are scarce; black bears are scarcer still, though more than one has been tracked and shot within a mile of our house. All the country between us and Winnipeg is flat and not at all picturesque, though by going as far west as Brandon you come to 'rolling' prairie. In early Summer the ground is carpeted with the loveliest of flowers. We are fortunate in having land that is nicely timbered. It not only gives us a pleasanter prospect than the dreadful monotony of a treeless flat, but it also supplies us with firing.

"And this brings me to speak about my experience of the climate of Manitoba. The variations of temperature are very great. I have seen the thermometer stand at 125 degrees inside a tent in Summer, and at 58 degrees below zero, or 90 degrees below freezing point, outside the house in Winter. Such Arctic cold would be unendurable if the air were not so wonderfully dry and clear—and often very still—that it does not seem half as cold as it really is. Then the changes of weather are not generally very sudden. The heat and cold are very regular, and in mid-seasons the thermometer does not fluctuate much. Perhaps a few homely details may best serve to illustrate what Winter in Manitoba means. The snow outside our house is from six to ten feet deep from November to April. Moccasins, made by Indians of moosekin, are used instead of shoes to cover the feet, which are first cased in several pairs of stockings. We were forced to melt snow for all the water we used last Winter. The cold is so intense that, when melted snow water is poured from the boiler into a pail, and taken at once across to the stable, the ice on it frequently has to be broken with a stick before the cattle can drink. It is rather a common sight to see people partly frozen. The part affected turns as white as marble, and loses all feeling. Unless you see yourself in a glass, or are told of it, you are not conscious of being frozen. In this plight it is best not to go near a fire, as sudden thawing is very painful. People generally try friction, rubbing themselves with snow or, better still, with paraffin oil. Occasionally, when one is frozen and far from help, the part frozen, if an extremity, will snap off. Last year a man living about thirty miles from us was told that his ear was frozen, he put up his hand to feel, and the ear dropped off in his hand. Limbs sometimes have to be amputated from severe frost bites. My kitten's ears froze and broke off last Winter, and a neighbor's pony lost its ears in the same way.

"I was surprised when I first found the mustard frozen in my mustard-pot, which stood a foot from the kitchen stovepipe and two feet above the stove, where there was a blazing fire and every day through the Winter. Yet the mustard froze between every meal. Bread froze if left for half an hour in a room without a fire. Such stories must sound almost incredible except to those who, like myself, have witnessed the facts, though, of course, only in the most severe weather. Winter is, of course, not equally severe throughout. Part of my description applies only to its colder half. But to a woman the most trying part of a Winter in Manitoba is not its severity—for you live in a warm house—but its length. Snow lay on the ground last season for six months and a half, and the great lakes were frozen for the same period."

An unusual occurrence is reported by Jackson Miller, who lives near Burlington, Vt. A portion of his farm, to the extent of an acre, has sunk over thirty feet. The surface is depressed, but retains nearly its normal appearance. The earth upon all sides of the depression is almost perpendicular, and the tops of trees that went down can be reached by persons standing upon the brink. The theory is that springs undermined the ground, and that the effect of the frost caused it to sink.

The lava plains of Idaho have for years been a terror to emigrants because of the supposed lack of water, the fluid having often to be hauled a distance of twenty miles, but, by chance the other day, a lake which never goes dry was discovered, and now the route is to be altered so as to pass the lake, and the terror and danger of the route are reduced to a minimum.

One Bottle Instead of a Dozen.

"And it took only one bottle to do it," said a gentleman, speaking of Parker's Hair Balsam. I had a run of fever, and when I got well of that my hair began to fall out so fast as to alarm me. I really didn't know what to do, until one day a friend said, 'Try Parker's Hair Balsam.' That was some months ago. What surprised me was the fact that one bottle was enough. I expected to use up a dozen." Clean, highly perfumed, not oily, not a dye. Restores original color.

Prices of Market Beef—Choice, none; extra, $8 50 @ $8 50; first quality, $7 00 @ $7 50; second quality, $5 00 @ $6 50; third quality, $4 00 @ $4 50.

Prices of Store Cattle—Working oxen ℔ pair, from $100 @ $225; Farrow cows, $15 @ $31; Fancy cows, $50 @ $80; Milch cows and calves, $25 @ $48; yearlings, $10 @ $26; two years old, $14 @ $30; three years old, $24 @ $42.

Swine—Western fat, live, 5 @ 5¼c ℔ lb; northern dressed hogs, 5¾ @ 6c ℔ lb.

Prices of Sheep and Lambs—In lots, $2 50, $3 00 @ $4 50 each; extra, $3 00 @ $5 50, or from 2½ @ 5½c ℔ lb; last year's lambs, 6 @ 7c ℔ lb; spring lambs, $8 ℔ head.

Veal Calves 2½ @ 5½c ℔ lb.

Prices of Hides, Tallow and Skins—Brighton hides, 7 @ 7½c ℔ lb; Brighton tallow, 5½ @ 6½c ℔ lb; country hides, 6½ @ 7c ℔ lb; country tallow, 3½ @ 4½c ℔ lb; pelts, 60c @1 20 each; calf skins, 10 @ 11c ℔ lb; dairy skins, 50 @ 75c each.

The run of cattle at Watertown this week was light. Beef cattle were selling at about the range of last week. The top rate 8¾c ℔ lb, dead weight, for well fatted stock, but not especially fancy, but very extra oxen. The calf scemed to be light, as butchers bought rather freely last week.

Milch Cows—Quite a good supply and steady prices.

The Sheep Call—The movement in sheep has not improved from last week. We found sales rather quicker, but no higher in price. We noticed fine fat sheep, weighing in the vicinity of 100 lbs, at 5¼c. Last year's lambs rate mostly at 6 @ 7c ℔ lb.

Fat Hogs—Country lots are quoted at 5¾ @ 6c ℔ lb, dead weight; western, steady at 5 @ 5¼c, live. Veal calves from 2 @ 5½c, live, the best weighing 130 lbs.

Live poultry to the amount of 400 lbs, at 10 and 15c ℔ lb.

The Decline in Church Attendance.

At the last festival of the season of the Unitarian Club in Boston, last week, the reason why people do not attend church as regularly, or in as large numbers, as formerly, was discussed. The clergymen adduced several reasons, perhaps satisfactory to themselves. For example, Dr. A. P. Peabody said that "the Sunday schools were somewhat at fault. They were admirable institutions, but they were eating the vitals out of the church." Upon what meat doth this one branch of Sunday training feed, the report does not inform us, but the statement seems startling. It was an occasion when the laymen instead of the preachers should have taken part in the discussion. But doubtless, that was just what some of the clergy would not have liked to have occurred.

The reasons are many. The pews are better informed than in former days, and are not led as of yore, by the preachers. People do not now worship from motives of fear, but for conscientious reasons. Sunday is a day of rest, and often-times of recreation to men who now work more intensely than did the fathers. The click of the telegraph, the throb of the steam engine, hardly cease now on the Sabbath. People read the Sunday newspapers as a rule, and the Bible as an exception. Religious reviews and publications make it easy for those living at a distance from their places of worship, to remain at home, and extravagance in church edifices and church expenditures has been followed by absenteeism.

One of the speakers was Rev. James Freeman Clarke, a devout preacher, who for over a half a century has preached the gospel, and has written books and review articles of acknowledged merit. But when a man like Dr. Clarke deems it a part of his professional duty to take part in a political canvass, and support the claims to office of a representative man of the democratic party, then, of course, follows a decided disgust on the part of the men who differ with him on political questions. As, during the war, very many democrats disliked to hear from the sacred desk the denunciation of the efforts of the rebel element to break up the union, and left their accustomed places of worship, never to return.—a few seeking the solace of some shrine where "politics" were not preached, but the many becoming regular non-attendants at any church,—so it is not at all unlikely that men of the republican faith did not relish the efforts of ministers like Miner, Clarke and Beecher, exerted toward electing a man to the presidency for whose principles or associations they had no liking.

Clergymen may have opinions upon political questions, and it is their duty to express them at the ballot box and on all suitable occasions, but just as far as a minister of the gospel lends the weight of his reputation and talents in one direction in politics he loses it in another; and we have no doubt that at the Vendome tables on the occasion referred to, there sat more than one layman who could have refuted the sophistries of the clergymen in their labored efforts to account for the fact that women now form nearly all church membership, if such an auditor had had the courage or inclination, had the opportunity been offered, to have told the true reason of the decline complained of.

It is amusing to note some of the alleged causes brought forward by these devout men, but we wot it would have been far more to the point had some practical man, with the courage of his convictions, told a few wholesome truths concerning the situation.

Gen. Grant's Condition.

Gen. Grant was no worse on Monday than for several days previous; the three o'clock bulletin of the physicians said he had been walking about without assistance.

The Central American War.

Admiral Jouett telegraphed Secretary Whitney from Colon on the 12th inst., as follows: "The Tennessee arrived to-day, all well. I shall open transit to-morrow, and keep it open. Everything is quiet here, but trouble is feared at Panama. I shall send 100 men to Panama to-morrow."

A despatch of April 12th from La Libertad, San Salvador, says: "A treaty of peace has been signed between the governments of San Salvador and Honduras, and the latter republic has joined the alliance against Guatemala. The armies of San Salvador and her allies are advancing on the city of Guatemala from various points, and are everywhere welcomed by the populace. Many of the disbanded Guatemlan troops are joining the allied forces."

Admiral Jouett on the 13th telegraphed the navy department that trains on the Panama railroad were running regularly, and unmolested.

The War in the Soudan.

The report is confirmed that the British government has invited Italy to occupy Cairo and the Soudan.

Russia and England.

Despatches of the 12th inst. from London leave little room to hope that war with Russia will be averted, England demanding the retirement of the Russian forces from the disputed territory in Afghanistan, which the Russian semi-official papers assert will not be done.

Reliable advices from St. Petersburg state that Russia considers the excuse of M. de Giers for the attack on the Afghans sufficient, and that the government will not recall or even blame General Komaroff, who, it considers, did his duty.

Lord Dufferin, after consultation with the Ameer, urges the government to order an immediate advance of troops into Afghanistan. The Ameer has sent out couriers with orders to Afghan chiefs to meet him at Cabul for the purpose of holding a war durbar.

Turcomans have distributed proclamations through the frontier towns of Afghanistan, urging Afghans to form an alliance with Russia.

Fred Stackpole, nineteen years old last February, and Mary Keely, seventeen years old last December, soldiers of the Dover salvation army, were publicly married at the army meeting on Sunday last, 250 persons paying fifteen cents each to see the show.

An unknown man partially intoxicated, fell from the railway bridge at Goffs Falls on Saturday night, and was drowned.

The situation in Manitoba grows more serious every day. A despatch of the 12th inst. from Winnipeg expressed grave fears that the entire population of Battleford would be massacred by the Indians and half-breeds before reinforcements could reach there.

James D. Fish, ex-president of the Marine bank of New York, which was wrecked by Fish and Ferdinand Ward, was on the 11th inst. found guilty on eleven counts of an indictment, on each of which counts he is open to a sentence of from five to ten years in the penitentiary.

The British government has requested that the Alert, which was used in the Greely relief expedition, be sent to Halifax, where she will be received by the English authorities. Under the recent act of Congress the vessel is to be returned to the government of Great Britain, with the thanks of the United States. The vessel left New York on Monday for Halifax.

Judge Morgan, chief justice, holding court at Albion, Idaho, rules that Mormons impaneled on a jury are not eligible under the new election law. The challenges were sustained, and a new jury impaneled. This is the first decision under the new law.

The revenue cutter Dexter, at New London, Conn., reports that while passing up the Sound she discovered wreckage about half way between Bartlett's Reef lightship and Block point. On a part of a stern the name "Quickstep of New York" appeared.

The ship Louisiana, of Bath, Me., Oliver master, has arrived at Dublin with a cargo of wheat, 180 days from San Francisco. She had been reported lost with all hands, including the captain's wife and four children.

A contribution of $5 to the conscience fund has been received at the navy department from Boston. This is the first conscience money known to have been sent to the navy department.

One of the republican members-elect of the New Hampshire legislature recently visited Washington. His presence at the capital was learned by Ex-Secretary Chandler, who was assiduous in his attentions to the visitor from the Granite State. As they lunched at Welker's the ex-secretary explained that a recent happy event in his household had so effected the economy of his establishment as to deprive him of the pleasure of entertaining his friend to dinner in his own house. As the member from the rural district was about taking his departure, Mr. Chandler ventured tentatively to suggest that he should be a candidate for senator at the coming session, and to express the hope that his guest would think favorably of his ambition. "Great Cæsar," exclaimed the future legislator; "isthat what you are after? I thought you wanted to be State Printer!" The New Hampshire Statesman concluded that as far as this member was concerned the senatorship was an office which in his case would not seek the man.

Spring Medicine

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N.Y.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY,
WASHINGTON, March 18th, 1885.

WHEREAS, by satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that "The New Hampshire National Bank of Portsmouth," in the City of Portsmouth in the County of Rockingham and State of New Hampshire has complied with all the provisions of the "Act of Congress to enable National Banking Associations to extend their corporate existence and for other purposes," approved July 12th, 1882:

Now therefore I, John S. Langworthy, Deputy and Acting Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that "The New Hampshire National Bank of Portsmouth" in the City of Portsmouth in the County of Rockingham and State of New Hampshire is authorized to have succession for the period specified in its amended articles of association, namely until close of business on March 22, 1905.

In testimony whereof witness my hand and seal of office this 18th day of March, 1885.

Do Not Delay

delay; if you are sick use Sulphur Bitters.

The Vice President of the Bank of Waverly, Iowa, SMITH P. HUNT, says: I have suffered with Catarrh for the last ten years, and also severe Biliousness and Liver Complaint. Since 1873 my Catarrh grew rapidly worse, so that my life was despaired of. At that time I weighed one hundred and seventy-five pounds, but grew emaciated so rapidly that I weighed only one hundred and thirty. After consulting the most celebrated physicians in the Western States and spending many hundred dollars, from which no relief was obtained, I was induced to try your not, Sulphur Bitters will cure you.

Miss HELEN JONES, eleven years in charge of the Package Department, Boston & Maine depot, says: I have been a sufferer from Biliousness, Water Brash, and General Debility for several years. Most of the time I felt miserably and life seemed a burden. I was induced to try your Sulphur Bitters, and was completely surprised to see how much better I felt, and I am now enjoying better health than for years before. I shall always keep a supply of Sulphur Bitters on hand, for they have done me a world of good. Sulphur

Sulphur Bitters

Bitters; after taking six bottles my Headache, Vomiting, and all the effects of my Catarrh, Biliousness and Liver Complaint left me, I now weigh one hundred and sixty-five pounds, and consider that Sulphur Bitters have saved my life.

Mrs. HIRAM JORDAN, Lewiston, Me., says: For years I was a terrible sufferer with Scrofula, caused by salivation from the use of mercury and calomel; terrible sores broke out on my body, which twisted my limbs so that I could hardly move. The doctors all gave me up to die. Four bottles of Sulphur Bitters entirely cured me, and I am now able to do all my housework.

should be kept in every family.

A Boston & Albany R. R. engineer, F. B. CHAMBERLAIN, of Springfield, Mass., says: For years I have suffered from Chronic Bilious attacks, with a narrow escape each time from Typhoid Fever. About two years ago I commenced taking Sulphur Bitters, and since that time I have had no trouble from my old enemy. Living in a malarial district, I have had no trouble from that cause, being a marked exception among my neighbors, and I give the credit for that to Sulphur Bitters. It is an invaluable remedy, and one which no household should be without.

Builds Up the Weak.

The wife of the Superintendent of Repairs, Pacific Mills, Lawrence, Mass., Mrs. JOHN BARTON, the eloquent temperance advocate, says: When all other remedies failed, Sulphur Bitters cured me of Dyspepsia and those deathly Sick Headaches.

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

MONDAY, April 13th.

Edwin Moody — not E. C. Moody, of York, Me., but a man hailing from one of the Berwicks — was fined $3, with $6.90 costs, for drunkenness, and paid it.

Mary J. Brown, some sort of a companion of Moody's, was also assessed $9.90 for looking too much upon the beer when it was amber-colored. Her assessment also was handed over.

DOING GOOD WORK.

The New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals are pushing their humane work with unabated vigor and success. The long drought of last summer and the severity of the weather this winter have been the cause of a vast deal of suffering among the horses and cattle of the state. Col. Marvin, state agent of the society, has visited herds and lumber camps in every county, and much misery has been relieved.

On the second of April a man named Stephen Baldwin was prosecuted at Lancaster by the agent, for abusing a yoke of working oxen. On the third, two horses afflicted with the glanders,—an incurable infectious and contagious disease, communicable to man,—were condemned to be shot at Whitefield. The next day two cases of cruelty to horses and oxen at Rumney were investigated, and ample evidence was obtained to warrant prosecutions.

On the sixth, Col. Marvin prosecuted the driver of an ox team at Antrim for cruel abuse of the oxen, whereby one of the animals suffered for a few days from injuries which caused its death. The man was fined ten dollars and costs. The owner of the oxen was also prosecuted for allowing his servant to beat and overwork the oxen, and Justice E. W. Baker held the master more guilty than the servant, and fined him $20 and costs of trial.

Many other careless and abusive owners and drivers of cattle and horses were found at fault and put upon probation, with the assurance that unless a radical reform was effected immediately the offenders would feel the full severity of the law for the protection of dumb animals.

THE REGULATION SPACE.

The Manchester Union of last Friday, in its letter from this city, says:

The statement in this morning's Union concerning the sailors' sleeping quarters on the United States ship Omaha was literally true. Each sailor will have a space just fourteen inches in width for him to sleep in. The quarters of the men have been encroached upon for the purpose of providing the officers with more spacious accommodations.

The hammock hooks of the Omaha are the same distance apart as in every other vessel in the United States navy, which is fourteen inches; but this distance does not represent each man's sleeping space, the hammocks being so slung that the middles of the hammocks in one tier or row are abreast of the hooks of the rows on either side of it, which gives all the space that experience has demonstrated to be necessary. As to the quarters of the men having been encroached on to give the officers more spacious accommodations, in the Omaha, the only alterations from the original arrangement have been the making of the pantry, at the after part of the cabin, into two staterooms, and the building of a pantry in the "country" of the steerage. The Omaha has the same accomodations for her crew as every other vessel of her class in the navy, and no more extensive accommodations for her officers than any other.

Elvin Newton has used 5000 lbs. of nails in the construction of his fish boxes during the winter just past.

Mr. E. C. Nealley of Kittery has arrived home from Washington. He declined the offer made him in that city, to be assistant electrician of a company, for although his salary, expenses and allowances would have amounted to $3600 a year, he would have had to go to Sitka, Alaska, and he would rather have $1500 a year, or even a less compensation, nearer home.

The steam dredger and scows from this port arrived all right at Salem, Mass., on Saturday, and commenced work at the Beverly bridge channel on Monday morning.

The schools of the city recommenced their sessions on Monday, to the great satisfaction of many parents.

It is rumored that the Portsmouth Cavalry will be disbanded, only twenty-five of the forty-eight members appearing at the recent official inspection.

The best hunter at Newington is said to be John Peverly, and he has some fine guns; but he has exposed himself so much in previous years, both here and elsewhere, that his "rheumatics" have of late disabled him from much active service.

The schooner Mary Willey, Williams master, came off the railway at Kittery on Monday.

Locomotive No. 201, the "Wentworth," was put on the Eastern railroad track again on Wednesday of last week, having been thoroughly repaired, and looks as fresh as when she was first run. The Wentworth is considered one of the best passenger engines on the road. Mr. Charles A. Green is engineer, and Mr. Joseph Winn fireman. Mr. Emmons Garland is conductor of the train drawn by the Wentworth.

The Young People's Association of the North Parish will give a musicale at the chapel on Middle street this (Tuesday) evening, under the direction of Mr. W. W. McIntire; tableaux also will be presented. The association have been having sociables and suppers throughout the winter, which have been largely attended and greatly enjoyed. One entertainment similar to that of this evening has also been given, and was the best of the kind afforded in this city for a long time, but it is intended this one shall surpass it, Mr. McIntire having taking especial pains in its preparation; a large attendance is hoped for, as the proceeds will go to a worthy object.

Mr. James Ordway had one of his feet badly jammed at the instep ou Monday, by the falling upon it at the Concord railroad wharf of an old chute which was being replaced with a new one.

Reserved seat tickets for the cheesecloth and fancy dress masquerade at the Portsmouth rink on Wednesday evening will be on sale this morning at Goodrich's bookstore. Skating for masqueraders until nine o'clock; general skating from nine to eleven.

There will be two sessions of skating in the Portsmouth rink on Fast day,—afternoon and evening,—with music at both. Admission, afternoon, fifteen cents, including skates. The prices in the evening will be the same as usual.

The draw of the Noble's island bridge was partially raised Monday morning, to let out Capt. Cheney with his gondola, the H. P. Spinney, which is now commencing the up-river trips, to continue until next winter's freeze-up.

The large three-masted schooner Charles A. Briggs finished discharging over 1000 tons of coal at Concord railroad wharf on Monday.

Connoisseurs in ales pronounce the India pale ale of the Portsmouth Brewing Co.'s manufacture equal to any imported, and superior to many importations. The brewer, Mr. Mark Scott, who is also treasurer of the corporation, understands his business, and pays close attention to the smallest details. The location of the brewery is the best in the city, the drainage direct into the swift current of the Piscataqua being unsurpassable, and there being on the premises a spring which furnishes a copious supply of water for the boilers, scald shed, etc. The office building at the entrance to the yard has been moved across the street, giving additional and much needed yard room for the rapidly increasing business of the concern.

Rev. Wm. A. Loyne of Manchester, formerly of this city, has severed his connection with St. James church and other missionary work at Manchester, and is to join the Methodist conference. He delivered his last sermon at St. James' church on Sunday last.

Arrangements have been made for Denman Thompson and his dramatic company to play "Joshua Whitcomb" at Franklin theatre on the evening of Fast day, the 16th inst. Tickets on sale at Goodrich's at one o'clock this afternoon.

The schooner Yankee Maid, which arrived at this port on Saturday last from New York with a cargo of fertilizer to E. F. Sise & Co., was built on Noble's island in 1858 by Arad Tebbetts, for Moses Noble, and though so old is still a very good looking craft. She was in this port about a year ago, and was then as at present under command of Capt. F. S. Perry, who even now is only eighteen years of age. She registers about fifty-four tons, and hails from Rockland, Me.

There was an April shower on Sunday evening and another on Monday morning, only both were snow. Enough fell to whiten the roofs and walks, but it soon turned to water. The wells and springs in the surrounding country are in better supply of water than for many years, and the buds on the trees are swelling rapidly.

The New Hampshire Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church meets at Littleton on Thursday, the 16th inst., Bishop C. D. Foss, of Minnesota, presiding. Bishop Foss was for many years the popular president of Wesleyan university. Ministerial changes will occur in this vicinity at Portsmouth, Epping, Kingston, Amesbury, Mass., and Wesley church of Haverhill, Mass. Changes are not expected at Dover, Newmarket, South Newmarket, Greenland, Hampton, and at Grace church of Haverhill, Mass.

The tower in Central park, Old Orchard, was partially destroyed by an incendiary fire on the night of Friday, the 10th inst. The structure was built nine years ago by a Mr. Smart of Portland at a cost of $2,500, expressly as a public lookout upon the beach and neigaboring scenery; it is twenty-six feet square at base and one hundred feet high, tapering to the top. The lower story has been used as a store, and the 2d and 3d stories as lodging rooms, during the summer seasons, but the building has been unoccupied since the close of business last year. The fire started in the third story. The lower two stories, and an ell adjoining, used during "the season" as a dwelling, were saved in a slightly damaged condition. Insurance $2066.33.

The revenue cutter Woodbury has rendered assistance to $1,585,269 value of marine property during last winter's cruising, as shown by the record.

Wanted in Portsmouth!

An energetic business woman to solicit and take orders for The MADAME GRISWOLD Patent Skirt-Supporting Corsets. These corsets have been extensively advertised and sold by lady canvassers the past ten years, which, with their superiority, has created a large demand for them throughout the United States, and any lady who will give her time and energy to canvassing for them can soon build up a permanent and profitable business. They are not sold by merchants, and we give exclusive territory, thereby giving the agent entire control of these superior corsets in the territory assigned her. We have a large number of agents who are making a grand success selling these goods, and we desire such in every town.

Address MRS. GRISWOLD & CO.,

ECZEMA or SALT RHEUM.

Another Clear and Positive Recovery —An Elderly Lady's Letter.

Among the numerous letters received by Dr Kennedy testifying to notable SALT RHEUM cures, the following will be found of interest to our readers, who may accept our assurance of its perfect authenticity and truthfulness:

WORCESTER, Mass., March 23, 1884.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

DEAR SIR: Until recently I have been for three years a sufferer from salt Rheum. It followed upon an attack of Erysipelas, for which I was for a long time under medical treatment. I placed myself again in the hands of the physicians who did, I have no doubt, all that could be done. One thing is sure, however, I was none the better for all the medicine they gave me. The painful and unsightly disease made continual progress, until I began to fear I should never get rid of it.

By means of one of those accidents that often result in so much blessing I had my attention called to your FAVORITE REMEDY, which I was told would surely do me good. I used it, and within a much shorter time than I would have believed possible, I received a permanent cure. I am now perfectly free from Salt Rheum. What a comfort this is, and how it places your wonderful medicine in my opinion, you may guess at, but never know. I keep it now constantly in the house as a family medicine. Yours truly,

MRS. DINAH PHAIR.

Mrs. Phair sometime since, when on a visit to Kansas, found a case of salt Rheum, could not get FAVORITE REMEDY, sent to New York City for it, and cured the case.

For all diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, Bladder and Digestive Organs, Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, Rondout, N. Y.

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an unfailing friend—a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N.Y. $1 bottle, 6 for $5, by all druggists.

PEARLINE

THE BEST THING KNOWN FOR

WASHING AND BLEACHING

IN HARD OR SOFT, HOT OR COLD WATER.

SAVES LABOR, TIME and SOAP AMAZINGLY, and gives Universal Satisfaction. No family, rich or poor, should be without it.

Sold by all grocers. BEWARE of imitations well designed to mislead. PEARLINE is the ONLY SAFE labor-saving compound, and always bears the above symbol, and name of JAMES PYLE, NEW YORK.

At Nashville, Tenn., early in the morning on the 8th inst., L. K. Eldridge, a patient in the insane asylum, suddenly seized a floor mop and struck Everett B. Buchanan, an attendant, crushing in his skull. The lunatic next attacked Thomas C. Layton, an epileptic patient, crushing his skull. He then attacked another patient, when an attendant from an adjoining ward rushed in and secured him. Both Buchanan and Layton died in a few hours.

Biliousness

Is very prevalent at this season, the symptoms being bitter taste, breath offensive, tongue coated, sick headache, drowsiness, dizziness, loss of appetite. If this condition is allowed to continue, serious consequences may follow. By promptly taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, a fever may be avoided or premature death prevented. It is a positive cure for biliousness. Sold by all druggists.

—It is to be hoped with the appearance of the spring crocus that the winter croakers will disappear.

Never out of place: Hop Plasters for sudden pains, weaknesses and strains. Always sure. 25c.

—A colored family of the name of Silence hold five positions in the federal departments at Washington, the salaries aggregating, $3,800. Could it be called hush money?

If you have a cough resulting from a sudden cold, procure Adamson's Botanic Balsam, take one-half to one teaspoonful three times a day, and your cough will cease. Trial bottles 10 cents.

—An English traveller, in looking over some American town names, came across the well known ones of Pawtucket, Shetucket and Nantucket. "Haw! haw!" he exclaimed, "I'm blamed if the whole family didn't take it!"

Quick, complete cure, all kidney, bladder and urinary diseases, scalding, irritation, stone, gravel, catarrh of the bladder. $1. Druggists.

Easy to See Through.

How can a watch—no matter how costly—be expected to go when the mainspring won't operate? How can anyone be well when his stomach, liver or kidneys are out of order? Of course you say "He cannot." Yet thousands of people drag along miserably in that condition; not sick abed, but not able to work with comfort and energy. How foolish, when a bottle or two of Parker's Tonic would set them all right. Try it, and get back your health and spirits.

—Coffee was first used as a beverage in Abyssinia, then in Persia, Arabia and Egypt, and in all before the beginning of the fifteenth century. The first use of coffee for chewing purposes is not known, but it probably did not occur until after the modern drama became public.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby St., Boston.

Secures Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, ESQ.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

BOSTON, January 1, 1885. eodly

Pure, pleasant, sure—Red Star Cough Cure. Prompt, permanent cure. Fifty cents.

The Quinnebaug arrived at Constantinople on the 12th of March.

Cure Yourself.

Don't pay large doctor's bills. The best medical book published, one hundred pages, elegant colored plates, will be sent you on receipt of three 2-cent stamps to pay the postage. Address A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

—It is sententiously remarked that "the worldly possessions of men of supposed means are usually over-estimated." The Lowell Times cannot help thinking of this every time any one calls with a subscription paper.

Worlds of Good.

Probably no other woman in the world receives so many "letters of thanks" as Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., Mrs. B—— of Enfield, N. H., says: "I will simply say that your Vegetable Compound is all you recommend it to be. It has done me worlds of good." Another lady writes from Ottawa as follows: "I have just to-day bought the seventh bottle of your Vegetable Compound, have used two boxes of Pills and several packages of your Sanative Wash, and think it but right to tell you how much good I derived from your medicines. They are a regular God-send. All the pains and aches have almost disappeared, my stomach is much stronger too, and I feel myself improved in every way."

Lieuts. Wm. H. Reeder, Charles O. Allibone, T. B. M. Mason, John C. Colwell, Wainwright Kellogg, Alexander Sharp, W. S. Cowles and Charles J. Badger, Ensign Horace M. Witzel, Paymaster Stephen Rand and Gunner John J. Welch, are ordered to the Tennessee.

Cream and Cold Weather.

What a luxury is a bath in summer. Surely, but a greater luxury is a clear head in winter; just when almost everybody is sneezing and snuffing with a cold in the head. When you are attacked use Ely's Cream Balm. It cures colds in the head, and what is better, it cures the worst cases of chronic catarrh and hay fever. Not a liquid, not a snuff. Pleasant to use. Quick relief. Radical cure.

Boatswain Wm. G. Tompkins is ordered to the training-ship Minnesota.

An off Year.

This is going to be an off year. No political booms for "Plumed Knights" or "Reform" will help keep up the health and strength of the vast multitudes whose faith is pinned on the glowing party promises of election year. Multitudes of such will need a reliable tonic to tone up the system, a purifier to work off the bad blood, and a sure remedy for lame backs, rheumatism, biliousness, etc. Such a remedy is Kidney-Wort. It has long stood at the head of the list of kidney remedies, and it receives the highest praise from all that use it.

William George of Thomaston, Me., recently received $1000 in pension arrears, and went to Newburyport to settle. He at once went on a big spree, and when he fell into the hands of the police he had $600 left. Since his arrest George has developed insanity, believing that his wife has in her possession an ingenious instrument for pumping poisonous gases into his system, for the purpose of killing him and getting his money. He has been taken to Thomaston, where his friends will take charge of him.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM

I was attacked last winter with inflammatory rheumatism of severe type—my first serious illness since 1876. I had various kinds of treatment with only temporary partial relief. After seven weeks I was reduced in weight 35 pounds, had no strength or appetite, and was growing weaker every day. In this condition I began Swift's Specific, and in three days began to improve, and in three weeks I was free from disease and up attending to my regular business. My appetite returned and I rapidly gained my flesh. I have waited this long to be certain that my cure was permanent.

THE DEADLY COBRA.

An Englishman's Fearful Partner at Cards.

It was in our quarters at Calcutta. We had been playing all the evening at whist. Our stake had been gold mohur points, and twenty on the rubber. Maxey, who was always lucky, had won five consecutive bumpers, which lent a self-satisfied smile on his countenance, and made us, the losers, look anything but pleased, when he suddenly changed countenance, and hesitated to play. This the more surprised us, since he was one who seldom pondered, being so perfectly master of the game that he deemed long consideration superfluous.

"Play away, Maxey; what are you about?" impatiently demanded Churchhill, one of the most impetuous youths that ever wore uniform of the body guard.

"Hush!" responded Maxey, in a tone which thrilled through us, at the same time turning deadly pale.

"Are you unwell? said another, about to start up, for he believed our friend had suddenly taken ill.

"For the love of God, sit quiet!" rejoined the other, in a tone denoting extreme fear or pain, and he laid down his cards. "If you value my life, move not."

"What can he mean?—has he taken leave of his senses?" demanded Churchhill, appealing to himself.

"Don't start—don't move, I tell you," in a sort of whisper, which I never can forget, uttered Maxey. "If you make any sudden motion I am a dead man!"

We exchanged looks. He continued: "Remain quiet, and all may yet be well. I have a cobra capella round my leg."

Our first impulse was to draw back our chairs; but an appealing look from the victim induced us to remain, although we were aware that should the reptile transfer but one fold, and attach itself to any other party, that individual might already be counted as a dead man, so fatal is the bite of that dreaded monster.

Poor Maxey was dressed as many old residents still dress in India, namely, in breeches and silks stockings; he, therefore, the more plainly felt every movement of the snake. His countenance assumed a livid hue; the words seemed to leave his mouth without that feature altering its position, so rigid was his look, and so fearful was he lest the slightest muscular movement should alarm the serpent, and hasten his fatal bite.

We were in agony little less than his own during the scene.

"He is coiling round!" murmured Maxey; "I feel him cold—cold to my limb; and now he tightens! For the love of heaven call for some milk! I dare not speak aloud. Let it be placed on the ground near me; let some be spilt on the floor."

Churchill cautiously gave the order, and a servant slipped out of the room.

"Don't stir, Northcote—you moved your head; by everything sacred, I conjure you not to do so again! It cannot be long ere my fate is decided. I have a wife and two children in Europe; tell them that I died blessing them—that my last prayers were for them—the snake is winding itself around my leg—I leave them all I possess—I can almost fancy I feel his breath!"

The milk was brought and carefully put down; a few drops was sprinkled on the floor, and the affrighted servant drew back. Again Maxey spoke.

"No, no! it has no effect. On the contrary, he has clasped himself tighter—he had uncurled his upper fold. I dare not look down, but I am sure he is about to draw back, and give the bite of death with more fatal precision. Receive me, O, Lord, and pardon me; my last hour is come!" Again he pauses. "I die firm; but this is past endurance. Ah! no, he has undone another fold, and loosens himself. Can he be going to some one else?" We involuntarily started. "For the love of heaven stir not! I'm a dead man; but bear with me. He still loosens; he is about to dart! Move not, but beware! Oh, this agony is too hard to bear! Another pressure, and I am dead. No, he relaxes!"

At that moment poor Maxey ventured to look down. The snake had unwound himself; the last coil had fallen, and the reptile was making for the milk.

"I am saved! saved!" and Maxey bounded from his chair, and fell senseless into the arms of the servants. In another instant, need it be added, we were all dispersed, and the snake was killed, and our friend carried more dead than alive to his room.

It Depends.

"Who owns this store, anyhow?" he asked of a St. Louis clothier, with whom he had had a dispute about a coat.

"Vhell, I vhas the owner to-day."

"And who will be tomorrow?"

"Vhell, dot depends. You see, when peesness vhas depressed I seels oudt to my vhife. If peesness vhas good she sells back to me, und if times vhas so-so my brudder Moses steps in for a few days."

"Well, you'd better burn the durned thing up."

"Softly, my frent—softly. Dat was der peesness of my brudder Abraham when he holds a $8,000 mortgage on $500 worth of stock."

The annual income of one English physician is $75,000, of another $50,000, and of another $35,000. But do not scorn even the humblest American physician says the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, for he is doing his best. The only reason for his income falling short of $1,000,000 a year is that he is unable to collect his bills.

"Over and Over Again."

Repetition is sometimes the only way to impress a truth upon the mind. Accordingly take notice that Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets," (the original Little Liver Pills) continue to be wonderfully effective in cases of sick nervous headache, constipation, indigestion, rush of blood to the head, cold extremities, and all ailments arising from obstruction of the bodily functions. Their action is thorough yet gentle, and the ingredients being entirely vegetable, they can be taken with impunity into the most delicate stomach. All druggists.

—"I told Jones what I thought of him the other day, and I could see that he didn't like it. He couldn't conceal his feelings from me; I saw he was mad right off," said Brown. "It doesn't take you long to see through a man," said Smith, admiringly. "What did he do?" "He kicked me down stairs.

Gen. Grant's Condition.

The general was quite easy through the day on Tuesday.

The general passed Monday afternoon and night without any special change in his condition. In the afternoon Col. McMichael, marshal of the District of Columbia, called on behalf of President Cleveland to tender his sympathy. The general in the evening affixed his autograph to a number of photographs.

The Irish War.

There was a serious riot at Mallow Junction, county of Cork, Ireland, April 13th, on the occasion of the arrival of the Prince and Princess of Wales. Bayonets were used to drive back the mob, and many persons were severely injured; three Irish members of parliament were badly mauled. At Cork there was another riot; windows and doors that had been decorated in honor of the prince and princess, were destroyed.

Russia and England.

It was reported in St. Petersburg on the 13th that the Afghans had attacked the Russian outposts; and in London, that the Russians had advanced in force against the Afghans.

MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK CORNER, ME., April 13th.

Rufus A. Moody has been appointed collector of taxes at one and one-half per cent.

Mr. Ivory Hutchins, one of our best and most respected citizens, died yesterday morning of pneumonia, aged seventy-five years and ten months. Mr. Hutchins has been a working member of the First Christian church here for nearly, if not quite, fifty years; was for many years superintendent of the Sabbath school, and took a lively interest in the children, seeming to have the welfare of every child in his heart. The church loses a worthy member, and the community a man who attended to his own business, and interfered with none other. For many years he did a blacksmith's business, and has made good workmen of his apprentices, one of whom, Mr. Lemuel Mitchell, succeeded him in the occupation, and is now engaged on the same spot where Mr. Hutchins commenced business fifty years ago. He leaves a widow, one year his senior, and six children, to mourn his loss.

A little three-year-old at the village the other day said to his mother, "Is Mabel up in heaven, mamma?" "Yes," replied the mother. "Well," said the little one, "whose children does she play with; with the Lord's children?" Waiting a moment he said, "Well, mamma, is Jim up in heaven, too?" "Yes," said the mother. "Well, he swored!" was his cool and apparently well considered reply.

On Wednesday last Mr. Benjamin Trafton was severely kicked by his horse. His face was horribly mangled; a gash in the upper lip required five stitches, and the nose was badly split. Mr. Trafton was rendered entirely insensible, and so remained for several hours. His wounds were carefully and properly dressed by Dr. Hazen, who thinks the scars will not be very bad. Mr. Trafton was considerably shook up internally, and suffers much pain about his shoulders and neck. F.

Trees and Rainfall.

The governor of Kansas makes two important statements in his proclamation for an Arbor day. He says that "the state which the pioneers found treeless" and a desert now bears upon its fertile bosom "more than 20,000,000 fruit trees, and more than 200,000 acres of forest trees, all planted by our own people." And the governor also says "that there has been an increase in the rainfall in Kansas is fully proved by the statistics of our oldest meteorologists."

LEGENDS OF TONOMEE POND.

Tonomee pond is situated in the very centre of the town of York, Me. The nomenclature is not known, neither is the orthography of it understood. When asked to explain it the most scholarly people, as well as the "oldest inhabitant," can only say they do not know any thing about it, but they suppose it to be the Indian name. It is laid down on the maps of York county as Folly pond. This last name is supposed to come from the fact that it is mostly surrounded by a quaking bog, grown up with alders, etc. At the northwest bank of it there is a small bluff, and at times of freshets a brook at the south side runs from it, seaward. The shape of it approaches toward an oval, and the surface is said to cover about three acres. It is one of those bodies of fresh water which are said to be "bottomless;" that is to say, it is very deep, beyond the ordinary means of sounding possessed by residents in the vicinity. Big water snakes and turtles are reported to abound in it, and the principal fish there are pickerel, which devour, as is well known, almost all other fish, so that there is not much other fishing there. At times wild fowl visit it in considerable numbers, and are occasionally captured by the reptiles. The water is very good; last winter some people cut ice there, but it was filled with what the ice-men call "weevils." The spot is remote from tourists, and not much known in that extensive township.

About three-quarters of a century ago a man named Parsons was engaged in the manufacture of counterfeit silver coin on the shores of Tonomee pond, and when suspected and hunted was supposed to have thrown the mass of it into the deep water; but he was tried and convicted of counterfeiting, and sentenced to the penitentiary. Upon threatening, however, to "peach" against many prominent merchants, he was speedily released. In order to conceal his apparent affluence of money he pretended to have found "treasure trove" buried about by Kidd's pirates in spots throughout the town, where he had already deposited genuine coins, which of course were quickly discovered by the searchers. Apropos to this, a party from South Berwick came down to York some years ago in search of money, said to have been buried under an old oak tree, according to tradition. They found the old oak there, and excavated about fifteen feet without any success. Not long since the old oak fell, in consequence of their excavations.

Years ago, as everybody knows, the West India business was carried on extensively from the Piscataqua as well as from rivers such as York, from which there were large exportations of lumber, horses, mules and cattle. But money was lacking, and it was necessarily obtained from such sources as Parsons of Tonomee pond. A prominent merchant of Portsmouth, who went to Jeremie, San Domingo, a long time ago, told the writer that the island was flooded with spurious silver money, and the penalty for introducing it was death. When his vessel arrived in the offing a boat with native officers was seen putting off from the shore, and the mate rushed down into the cabin, and reappearing immediately, threw overboard a package. When the black custom-house officer inspected the vessel he said: "I see nothing contraband here; but within three quarters of an hour there are the prints of a man's fingers upon this box," denoting the mate's chest.

The duties on foreign importations here were high, and there were all reasons, pecuniarily, why they should be avoided. To-day may be seen places where goods were surreptitiously landed, and evidently planned and arranged for the purpose; and in at least one store along the water front of Portsmouth is a cunningly devised and almost undiscoverable subaqueous passage, unapproachable save at low tide, through which no doubt many valuable packages were formerly passed without the formality of paying duty. VIATOR.

Not April Fools.

Mr. J. H. Morrison, Bellefonte, Penn., (who purchased for his daughter, Miss L. J. Morrison,) and Mr. J. A. Breivogel, Vincennes, Ind., each of whom held one-half of Ticket No. 14830 in the Original "Little Havana," (Gould & Co.'s) decided by Royal Lottery drawn at Havana, Cuba, April 1st. This number was the one drawing the highest prize $6,000, and agrees with the one drawing of 100,000 Pesos in the Royal. They have already been notified by the General Agents, Shipsey Company 1212 Broadway, N. Y. City, of their good fortune, and instructed to send tickets, which are payable without deduction, for collection, through any bank, banking or commercial house or express company. The prompt payment of these obligations on presentation, at any time after arrival of steamer bringing the official list from Havana, will convince these gentlemen that they have not been fooled in their investment of a dollar in an item of chance, even if it was drawn on All-Fool's Day.—Herald, Sanford, Me., April 6.

Henry Hill, the twelve-years-old son of Joseph Hill of Dover, missing since the 1st inst., turned up in Dover again on the 13th. He said that on the 1st he stole $4 from a neighbor, and started for New York city. He only got as far as Newburyport, where he stayed, sleeping in barns nights. He came back only when starved out, and was arrested at once, making a confession to theft.

L. C. Doolittle, late city clerk of Keene, was brought into court Monday charged with forgery. He pleaded nolo contendere, and was sentenced to six years in the state prison.

Owen Rooney, aged about sixty-five years, was instantly killed, and Paul Osler, it is feared fatally injured, by being struck by a falling brick wall at Concord on Monday. Mr. Rooney's skull was terribly fractured, and Mr. Osler had several ribs broken.

Miss Rose Coghlan, the actress, was married to Clinton G. Edgerly, only son of Col. Edgerly, a leading politician of New Hampshire and manager of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance company, on Easter Sunday, in Jersey City, N. J.

In New York, April 13th, eight five-story tenement houses, built (or rather thrown together) of brick, and just roofed in, fell with a prolonged crash, one after the other, burying a large number of workmen in the ruins. The workmanship of the buildings was of the worst description, mud being used in the mortar instead of sand. Seventeen of the workmen were injured, some of them fatally, and at midnight eight persons were missing.

The one we loved has left our number,
Gone to the dark and silent tomb;
His eyes are closed in deathly slumber,
Stricken down in early bloom. F.

HUTCHINS. In York, April 12th, Mr. Ivory Hutchins, aged 75 years and 10 months.

DONNELL. In York, March 30th, Mrs. Lizzie Donnell, aged 77 years, wife of Mr. Jeremiah Donnell.

Try Now to Catch on in Good Time!

It may rain and it may shine, but the Drawing of The Louisiana State Lottery goes on the same on the second Tuesday of each month. On March 10th, at the 178th Drawing, Fortune rewarded her votaries in this fashion: The first prize, $75,000, went to No. 55,841, in one ticket at $5 to Geo. A. Spear, a clerk in Bay City Mich. The second of $25,000 to No. 84,980, sold in fifths at $1 each; one to Henry L. Schmidt, a butcher opposite the M. & T. R. R. Depot, collected through the Bank of Commerce, Memphis, Tenn.; another to Hugh Neil, Mayfield, Ky., collected through the Manhattan Bank of Memphis, Tenn., and the other fifths elsewhere. The third of $10,000 to No. 14,918, sold in fifths at $1 each; one to Louis Hinz, No. 433 Turk St., San Francisco, Cal., one collected through T. R. Roach, cashier State National Bank, New Orleans, La.; another through Messrs. Lewis, Johnson & Co., of Washington, D. C., etc. The fourth, each of $6,000, drawn by Nos. 4,558 and 77,884, sold in fifths, among others—one to Susan Fagan, No. 402 Hayes St., San Francisco, Cal.; one to J. Hirshfeld; another to L. Laiond, both of Prince, etc.; until over $205,000 was scattered where it would do the most good. The whole thing goes over again on May 12th, at the 180th Grand Monthly Drawing, and M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., on application will give full information. Try now to catch on in good time.

A confederate bazar is being held in Baltimore for the benefit of the men who went into the southern armies from Maryland, who are left prematurely old, shattered and destitute, with the almshouse as their only refuge.

Gen. Barrios, late president of Guatemala, is reported to have left an estate worth about $10,000,000.

The Journal of Portchester, N. Y., says: "Two or three of Barnum's highest-salaried newspaper men are not with the show this season. The difficulty, it is said, consists in the objection these agents have to enforcing upon the press the very niggardly economy adopted by the management in all departments. In other words, the agents believe the press will stand no more squeezing."

Private Barr of the Royal Irish rifles at Halifax, N. S., committed suicide April 13th by shooting himself while on sentry duty at the dockyards.

March April May

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N.Y.

Do Not Delay

delay; if you are sick use Sulphur Bitters.

The Vice President of the Bank of Waverly, Iowa, SMITH P. HUNT, says: I have suffered with Catarrh for the last ten years, and also severe Biliousness and Liver Complaint. Since 1873 my Catarrh grew rapidly worse, so that my life was despaired of. At that time I weighed one hundred and seventy-five pounds, but grew emaciated so rapidly that I weighed only one hundred and thirty. After consulting the most celebrated physicians in the Western States, and spending many hundred dollars, from which no relief was obtained, I was induced to try your

Sulphur Bitters

Bitters; after taking six bottles my Headache, Vomiting, and all the effects of my Catarrh, Biliousness and Liver Complaint left me. I now weigh one hundred and sixty-five pounds, and consider that Sulphur Bitters have saved my life.

Mrs. HIRAM JORDAN, Lewiston, Me., says: For years I was a terrible sufferer with Scrofula, caused by salivation from the use of mercury and calomel; terrible sores broke out on my body, which twisted my limbs so that I could hardly move. The doctors all gave me up to die. Four bottles of Sulphur Bitters entirely cured me, and I am now able to do all my housework.

not, Sulphur Bitters will cure you.

Miss HELEN JONES, eleven years in charge of the Package Department, Boston & Maine depot, says: I have been a sufferer from Biliousness, Water Brash, and General Debility for several years. Most of the time I felt miserably and life seemed a burden. I was induced to try your Sulphur Bitters, and was completely surprised to see how much better I felt, and I am now enjoying better health than for years before. I shall always keep a supply of Sulphur Bitters on hand, for they have done me a world of good. Sulphur should be kept in every family.

A Boston & Albany R. R. engineer, F. B. CHAMBERLAIN, of Springfield, Mass., says: For years I have suffered from Chronic Bilious attacks, with a narrow escape each time from Typhoid Fever. About two years ago I commenced taking Sulphur Bitters, and since that time I have had no trouble from my old enemy. Living in a malarial district, I have had no trouble from that cause, being a marked exception among my neighbors, and I give the credit for that to Sulphur Bitters. It is an invaluable remedy, and one which no household should be without.

Builds Up the Weak.

The wife of the Superintendent of Repairs, Pacific Mills, Lawrence, Mass., Mrs. JOHN BARTON, the eloquent temperance advocate, says: When all other remedies failed, Sulphur Bitters cured me of Dyspepsia and those deathly Sick Headaches.

TUESDAY, April 14th.

James Hart, for drunkenness, was sent into the country for six months, costs being taxed at $6.90.

PARISH MEETING.

At the adjourned meeting of St. John's parish, held on Monday evening in the chapel, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Wardens, John Hatch and Geo. B. French; Vestrymen, C. C Jackson, D. L. Stover, Washington Freeman, Alfred O. Larkin, Henry F. Wendell, John Christie, Timothy A. Tucker, Robert King and Moses H. Goodrich; Parish Clerk, Samuel R Gardner; Treasurer, Robert C. Peirce; Delegates to the Diocesan Convention, John Hatch, C. S. Franklin, C. C. Jackson and John Christie; Auditors, Henry F. Wendell and C. S. Franklin.

A DANGEROUS BRUTE.

As Mr. Herman Manson, of the firm of W. J. Sampson & Co., painters, was passing through Cabot street on Saturday last, a horse belonging to Mr. Joel Norton of Kittery, which was standing near the sidewalk, made a snap at his face, and Mr. Manson throwing up his left arm for protection, the vicious brute seized the arm with his teeth, and broke the bone about half way between the wrist and elbow, making a very bad fracture. The misfortune could not have happened at a worse time, the firm having a large amount of work engaged. Mr. Manson was to have taken charge of a gang of men at York on Tuesday, but will not be able to resume work for several months.

SUPREME COURT--SMITH J.

The April term of the court began at Exeter on Tuesday. Prayer by Rev. John Newton Chase of Exeter.

The petit jurors will not be in attendance until Monday of next week. Harvey N. Gould of Newton was appointed foreman of the grand jury.

There are ninety-eight cases on the continued civil docket. Appearance can be entered on Tuesday next, in all new entries on the civil docket. There are but few cases marked for trial by jury, and the term will doubtless be short.

Divorce case Sarah R. Chase vs. Frank E. Chase was heard. Divorce decreed. Hatch for libellant.

Judge Smith returned to his home in Manchester in the evening, and will appear again on Monday, the 20th inst.

F. W. deROCHEMONT.

Mr. Frederic W. deRochemont died at his residence in Newington early Tuesday morning, in the 81st year of his age. He was in this city on Saturday, and appeared in his usual health. Sunday morning he felt slightly indisposed, and at noon went to bed, from that time getting worse until he died. Mr. deRochemont was of Huguenot stock, and has been a prominent figure on our streets for over half a century, having carried on the insurance business for thirty-five years; he was a courteous, affable gentleman, and honorable and upright in his business transactions. He leaves a widow and six children, three sons and three daughters, all of whom are married.

Col. James S. Peirce left this city on Tuesday morning for Minneapolis, Minn., where Col. Pierce is to engage in the manufacture of an artificial stone for which he holds the patent.

Thurston's handsome advertising team is in town, advertising his famous Canadian Balsam and Old Continental Bitters.

The Annable place in Newington was sold at auction on Tuesday by C. Dwight Hanscom & Co. for $2025, to Joseph W. Whidden of Newington.

Don't forget the cheese-cloth and fancy dress masquerade skating party at the Portsmouth rink this evening. General skating from nine to eleven.

One hundred good lobsters were brought up from Aleck Amazeen's pots off Newcastle on Tuesday to George W. Caswell & Son.

The Mother Goose party at the Franklin theatre by the young people on Saturday afternoon last, netted $56.95 for the Children's Home.

The Nonpareil Associates will give the second social assembly in their popular course this evening at Congress hall.

Denman Thompson, supported by his own dramatic company, will on Fast night present in Franklin theatre his inimitable impersonation—not caricature—of the New England farmer, "Uncle Josh Whitcomb, of Swanzey."

The New Orleans States of April 6th has the following: "Capt. W. Q. Lowd, who during the last two years of the war commanded a company in Austin's famous battalion of sharp-shooters, is now at the Exposition in charge of an exhibit of oil machinery. Most of the men composing the company he commanded were taken from Company C, Continental Guards, at the time of the disbandment of the 11th Louisiana regiment, and Capt. Lowd was yesterday made an honorary member of the present Continentals. He was decorated with the beautiful badge of the company, and made a brief, but feeling speech in acknowledgement of the honor. Since the war he has resided in Jackson, Miss."

The brickers Triton, Estella and Satellite sailed for Boston on Tuesday, this being the Triton's second trip this season.

The little steamer Fearless, having been extensively repaired, started for St. John, N. B., at eleven o'clock last Saturday night.

The steamer James Sampson, at the Aqueduct Co.'s wharf, had steam up Tuesday afternoon, and was turning her engine.

The schooner Mary S. Hontvet, Jameson, sailed on Tuesday for La Have, N. S., halibut fishing.

The schooner Flying Dart, Capt. Thomas Jameson, is fitting out for a salt-fishing trip to the Grand banks.

President Smyth of the Concord railroad was in town on Tuesday, concerning certain contemplated improvements at the wharves.

President Lord of the Boston & Maine railroad, with a committee of directors consisting of Hon. N. G. White, Hon. Frank Jones and others, will examine the north millpond property this morning.

Hugh McKenley of Durham was arraigned in the police court at Dover on the 13th inst., for throwing stones at a train on the Boston & Maine railroad on Saturday, the 11th. He was found guilty, and sentenced to ten days in the county jail and to pay costs.

It was reported on the navy yard, Tuesday, that G. Harrison Jenness, Esq., of Rye, had been or would be appointed clerk to the captain of the yard. If there is to be any change, we do not know of any one in this vicinity more likely to fill the bill with credit to himself and satisfaction to all concerned, than Mr. Jenness.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., April 14th.

The examination of candidates for admission to the Free High school occurred at Armory hall on Saturday last. The term commenced Monday, the 13th

Geo. B. Libby was elected agent of school district No. 3, for the second time, on Tuesday afternoon, the 7th inst.

Miss Florence E. Sanderson of this town, a graduate of the Portsmouth high school, class of '84, will teach the primary school in district No. 7,—the Austin school.

Our normal school graduates are receiving deserved recognition as teachers at home this spring. Miss Amanda Abrams will assist Mr. F. E. Rowell in the high school; Miss Mabel Jenkins will teach the grammar school in district No. 7; Miss Addie Remick will teach the intermediate school in district No. 9.

Miss Annie McIntire, daughter of Sylvanus McIntire of Great Falls, and formerly of this town, will teach the primary school in district No. 9.

Mr. Joel Norton has been elected school agent in district No. 4, north.

The school meeting of district No. 2 was held on Saturday evening. James W. Brooks was elected moderator; Isaac H. Lambert, clerk; John R. Williams, agent. There were five candidates in the race for agent, and several ballots taken before a choice could be made. Mr. Williams not being present at the meeting, declares he will not accept the office, and probably another meeting will have to be called, if he does not.

Capt. Josiah Stover was elected agent of school district No. 9 at the annual meeting held Wednesday evening, the 8th inst.

Mrs. J. B. F. Langton and daughter have arrived at the residence of the late Capt. John E. Lawry of Kittery Point, on a visit to her mother, her husband being on duty as boatswain on board a United States ship at the Mare island navy yard, California.

The 19th inst. is the last Sunday in the conference year of the Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. Alexander Hamilton and Rev. Perry Chandler will close their duties with their respective societies on that day. What the plans for the future are deponent saith not, but sincerely hopes that they may each return again to the societies they have so arduously labored with the past two years.

Gossip says that a young man at the Point prominent in hotel affairs is raising poultry for the summer market; he has set six hens, which hatched out four chickens in all; he now thinks that the hens, like other things at the Point about this time, are rather unsettled, and that there is no certainty about counting the chickens before they are hatched.

A select party was given in Fernald hall, North Kittery, on Thursday evening, the 9th inst., by three young men of that place. About forty persons were present, and an excellent oyster stew was served during the evening by Charles E. Butterfield, caterer of the occasion, whose reputation in that line of cookery as well as in others is unsurpassed. The affair was a very pleasant one, and was enjoyed by all.

Benjamin Keen last week planted his early peas, the first we have heard of this season; so look out and engage your fourth of July dinner. SUB ROSA.

ECZEMA AND SALT RHEUM.

Another Clear and Positive Recovery —An Elderly Lady's Letter.

Among the numerous letters received by Dr Kennedy testifying to notable SALT RHEUM cures, the following will be found of interest to our readers, who may accept our assurance of its perfect authenticity and truthfulness:

WORCESTER, Mass., March 23, 1884.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

DEAR SIR: Until recently I have been for three years a sufferer from Salt Rheum. It followed upon an attack of Erysipelas, for which I was for a long time under medical treatment. I placed myself again in the hands of the physicians who did, I have no doubt, all that could be done. One thing I am sure they did not do, they did not the better for all the medicine they gave me. The painful and unsightly disease made continual progress, until I began to fear I should never get rid of it.

By means of one of those accidents that often result in so much blessing I had my attention called to your FAVORITE REMEDY, which I was told would surely do me good. I used it, and within a much shorter time than I would have believed possible, I received a permanent cure. I am now perfectly free from Salt Rheum. What a comfort this is, and how it places your wonderful medicine in my opinion, you may guess at, but never know. I keep it now constantly in the house as a family medicine. Yours truly,

MRS. DINAH PHAIR.

Mrs. Phair sometime since, when on a visit to Kansas, found a case of Salt Rheum, could not get FAVORITE REMEDY, sent to New York City for it, and cured the case.

For all diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, Bladder and Digestive Organs, Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, Rondout, N. Y

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an unfailing friend—a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. $1 bottle, 6 for $5, by all druggists.

Three Reasons

Why every one needs, and should take, Hood's Sarsaparilla in the spring:

1st: Because the system is now in its greatest need. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength.

2d: Because the blood is sluggish and impure. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies.

3d: Because, from the above facts, Hood's Sarsaparilla will do a greater amount of good now than at any other time. Take it now.

Worlds of Good.

Probably no other woman in the world receives so many "letters of thanks" as Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Masss., Mrs. B—— of Enfield, N. H., says: "I will simply say that your Vegetable Compound is all you recommend it to be. It has done me worlds of good." Another lady writes from Ottawa as follows: "I have just to-day bought the seventh bottle of your Vegetable Compound, and have used two boxes of Pills and several packages of your Sanative Wash, and think it but right to tell you how much good I derived from your medicines. They are a regular God-send. All the pains and aches have almost disappeared, my stomach is much stronger too, and I feel myself improved in every way."

A middle aged woman who gave the name of Jennie Sullivan, who was arrested for drunkenness in Boston, was taken to the steamer J. Putnam Bradlee on the 14th inst., en route for Deer island. Upon arriving on board the steamer she was so sick that the officials summoned Dr. White, who said that the woman was suffering from pneumonia, and would die before reaching the island. The doctor's warning was unheeded, and she was taken away, and died on board the boat before it arrived at the island.

David Roth, a wealthy horse dealer of Shawakin, Pa., was thrown from his horse Monday night, April 13th, on the railroad track, just as the fast freight came along. His remains were so much scattered that they could not be collected before the next morning.

Cream and Cold Weather.

What a luxury is a bath in summer. Surely, but a greater luxury is a clear head in winter; just when almost everybody is sneezing and snuffing with a cold in the head. When you are attacked use Ely's Cream Balm. It cures colds in the head, and what is better, it cures the worst cases of chronic catarrh and hay fever. Not a liquid, not a snuff. Pleasant to use. Quick relief. Radical cure.

Mary Moore of La Crescent, Minn., has just died after a fast of sixty-four days. For thirty-two days previous to her death no attempt was made to administer food in any way. Previous to that time food was rejected instantly on being taken. The cause is supposed to have been cancer of the stomach.

An off Year.

This is going to be an off year. No political booms for "Plumed Knights" or "Reform" will help keep up the health and strength of the vast multitudes whose faith is pinned on the glowing party promises of election year. Multitudes of such will need a reliable tonic to tone up the system, a purifier to work off the bad blood, and a sure remedy for lame backs, rheumatism, biliousness, etc. Such a remedy is Kidney-Wort. It has long stood at the head of the list of kidney remedies, and it receives the highest praise from all that use it.

The following statement comes from Pittsburg, Pa.: "For some time rumors have been current in the oil regions that an organization has been effected among the moonshine torpedo men for effective work in Canada. It is now definitely known that such an organization has been effected, and that the purpose is to harass the Canadian government by the use of the most powerful explosives known to science. It is estimated that the first points of attack will be the Rideau locks at Jones' falls and the Welland canal."

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM

I was attacked last winter with inflammatory rheumatism of severe type—my first serious illness since 1876. I had various kinds of treatment with only temporary partial relief. After seven weeks I was reduced in weight 35 pounds, had no strength or appetite, and was growing weaker every day. In this condition I began Swift's Specific, and in three days began to improve, and in three weeks I was free from disease and up attending to my regular business. My appetite returned and I rapidly gained my flesh. I have waited this long to be certain that my cure was permanent.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

The finest tonic for nervous people is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which insures perfect digestion and assimilation, and the active performance of their functions by the liver and bowels. As this system acquires tone through the influence of this benign medicine, the nerves grow stronger and more tranquil, headaches cease, and that nameless anxiety which is a peculiarity of the dyspeptic, gives way to cheerfulness. To establish health on a sure foundation, use the peerless invigorant. For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

Experts in Handwriting.

We are informed by one of the profession (and there are but two in London who almost divide the work) that within the last four years he has been intrusted with more than 600 cases from different parts of the country, in connection with certainly not 200 of which has he had to appear publicly. The rest are compromised or hushed up, or in many instances never even go so far as that, for often the consulting parties only want their own suspicions confirmed for their own satisfaction, without any intention of taking further action. They are for the most matrimonial disputes; scandalous communications from disappointed suitors, secretly thrust under the front door; abusive and threatening letters; erasures in and suspected signatures to wills; and—strange that a day of universal love and harmony should be so desecrated!—no Valentin's Day passes that does not bring with it half a dozen letters, poesies, or pictures, as to the authors of which the recipients show an angry and a lively curiosity.

Occasionally the expert's opinion will be asked on a difficulty which arose before the profession attained its present eminence—on the validity of signature to a will, for instance, signed 40 years ago, and though at the time suspected, never legally impugned. "Only the other day," said the authority in question to us, "I was taken to see one of these wills. The moment I set eyes on it I knew it as a rank forgery. Nothing could be done, nor ever can be done, in cases where the parties are all dead and the property has long changed hands. The consequence is that, in my own experience, I have met again and again with instances of estates and incomes held under a title founded on the most indisputable forgeries, but which no one at the time had the courage or the money to take into court."

And now that we have for the moment turned to the subject of the expert's examination of papers written many years before, it will not be uninteresting to refer to the late Mr. Chabot's opinion on the vexed question of the authorship of Junius, founded on a minute comparison of many handwritings and embodied in an exhaustive publication, edited and prefaced by the Hon. Edward Twistleton—the whole, to our mind at any rate, conclusive of the difficulty. The subject had been previously somewhat similarly dealt with in "Junius Identified," written by Mr. Taylor in 1816, where though not to the same extent on the ground of identity of handwriting, subsequently more fully treated in a supplement to the same book published in the following year, the author had come to a similar decision. Under the various well-considered and well-sustained heads of Verbal Agreement in Phrases, Uncommon Phrases, Metaphorical Phrases, Particular Doctrines, Opinions, Cautions, Maxims and Rules of Conduct, Peculiar Sentiments, Words Similarly Italicised, Similar Quotations, Manner and Personification, Mr. Taylor makes out a very strong case against Sir Philip Francis, and, in fact, so far as it be true that le style c'est l'homme, there can be little doubt after reading the book and verifying the comparison that Sir Philip Francis and Junius are the same.—The Cornhill Magazine.

Colored Men in Washington.

There are 103 colored men in Washington who are worth over $25,000 each, 52 worth $10,000 each, and nearly 1,000 who pay taxes on $5,000. George W. Williams, ex-member of the Ohio Assembly and author of a history of the colored race, is worth $40,000. Frederick Douglass has $300,000, and now lives in and owns a house opposite Washington formerly owned by a man who so hated the blacks that he refused to sell anything to one of them. John F. Cooke, Tax Collector of the District of Columbia, himself pays taxes on $250,000. John M. Langston, United States Minister to Hayti, has $75,000. John Lynch of Mississippi, who presided so ably at the Chicago Convention last summer, is very wealthy. So is Congressman Smalls. Dr. Gloster left $1,000,000 when he died, and has a son-in-law worth $150,000, besides a four-story drug-store in New York. John X. Lewis of Boston makes the clothes of the Beacon Hill dudes, and did a business last year of $1,600,000. He was once a slave, and, ragged and barefooted, followed Sherman and his troops in their march to the sea. Cincinnati has a colored furniture dealer whose check is good any day for $100,000, although twenty-five years ago he was a Kentucky slave. The late Robert Gordon of Cincinnati owned thirty four-story residences at the time of his death.

Prof. Simon Newcomb, in reviewing the performances of the "Georgia Wonder Girl," Miss Lulu Hurst, in the current number of the Science, says her success affords a striking example of the unreliability of human testimony respecting the phenomena of force and action. He points out that her manifestations were purely physical and the result of force being exerted under favorable conditions. Though ordinary observers were mystified, yet the character of the performances, according to Prof. Newcomb, were absurdly simple, and illustrates the credulity of believers in the movements of chairs, tables, and pianos without human agency.

Her days have been numbered for Queen Victoria, by an alleged oracle, who sets the date of her death Sept. 10, 1889; she is, this seer says, to die by or in consequence of a fire. The Russian Czar has till 1900 to settle his earthly affairs; Bismarck till May 30, 1890, and the German Emperor the July following.

One sister is aged eighty, and there is an aunt, Mrs. Bede Button, who is ninety years old.

Pure blood is absolutely necessary in order to enjoy perfect health. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood and strengthens the system.

A Gardiner, Me., liquor seller has had a hard road to travel. Recently a lady who prosecuted him for selling liquor to her husband, received a verdict of $750; later he was obliged to pay $106 for selling liquor; and now another woman has brought action against him for $5000.

Easy to See Through.

How can a watch—no matter how costly—be expected to go when the mainspring won't operate? How can anyone be well when his stomach, liver or kidneys are out of order? Of course you say "He cannot." Yet thousands of people drag along miserably in that condition; not sick abed, but not able to work with comfort and energy. How foolish, when a bottle or two of Parker's Tonic would set them all right. Try it, and get back your health and spirits.

—An exchange asks, "How shall we prevent mice from gnawing bark off fruit trees?" Kill the mice, of course. A dead mouse never gnaws bark.

After two applications of St. Jacobs Oil, the great pain-cure, they were entirely cured and I have not been troubled with them since.

Consul General Merritt at London and Consul Packard at Liverpool will re-appoint the sanitary inspectors chosen during the cholera alarm last summer to examine all vessels sailing from London and Liverpool to the United States.

Don't let anyone convince you that those pains around your heart are not heart disease, they are, do not delay but procure DR. GRAVES' HEART REGULATOR. Thirty years have proved its value. Free pamphlet of F. E. Ingalls, Cambridge, Mass.

Frank Merrill, a clerk in the hotel at Ashuelot, was severely stabbed on the 14th inst. by a crazy man named James Roach, who was afterward secured.

It is Not Strange

That the "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon" whiskey has grown in popularity since its high character has been maintained from the beginning. Druggists sell it. See that the signatures of the proprietors, Chester H. Graves & Sons, is over each cork.

FAST.

Notwithstanding governors may proclaim a day of fasting, humiliation and prayer; notwithstanding, with due regard for the wishes of the executive and due respect for the observance of the day, we abstain from our usual avocation as far as printing a paper for Friday morning extends; in spite of our annual reference to this spring solemnity, candor compels us as truthful journalists to admit that the custom of keeping Fast has of late become "More honor'd in the breach than the observance."

This is doubtless owing to the fact that in all religious observances people have come more to think for themselves as to their duties and obligations, and even in our own New England, where we so highly venerate the past, Fast has come to be regarded as a holiday instead of a holy-day.

There was a period between the times when the day was generally observed, when all our churches were opened and the attendance of worshippers twice in the day was the rule, and the present, when the ministers, by some kind of implied or rather assumed license, took the occasion to "have it out" with their congregations—to express their minds freely upon what they regarded as political or public sins, when they struck out right and left, and spared not.

But the exercise of this custom proved a frigid day for the ministry. Parishioners took offence at rebukes, under which their fathers would have winced but not rebelled. They got even with the pastors by failing to appear in their wonted places of worship at the next anniversary, and the ministers soon preached to but few of their congregations on this day set apart for the people's "humiliation." The pews declined to be humiliated by the pulpit, and a solemn silence succeeded on these days, in many a church edifice, where before on this anniversary was the most energetic and closely-followed pulpit oratory. Thus decreased in number the churches opened for religious observances, and the ministers then inaugurated a co-operative service, which suited a few but tired the many, and people began to become weary of two Sundays a week, and thought it no harm to make journeys, pay visits, and indeed to bring up any possible arrears of secular work which might have accumulated at such times.

So we see that in a religious sense, there is not much significance to Fast except as a day of rest injected into our otherwise busy life, while to many it is a stupid holiday, occurring too early in our usually late spring-time for enjoyable out-of-doors recreation, or to be other than an idle and to many an uncomfortable day. Still, to those who can achieve enjoyment by its observance, the occasion is perhaps welcomed, and for all such, as well as for the sake of the traditional customs of early days, not to forget the many to whom as a day of cessation from toil it is of essential benefit, we should be sorry to forego its observance.

Gen. Grant's Condition.

Gen. Grant on Tuesday night, the 14th, and Wednesday, was "about holding his own," but not perceptibly gaining. He was cheerful and brave as ever.

The Central American War.

A despatch dated La Libertad, San Salvador, April 14th, says: "The bases of peace were to-day accepted by San Salvador and Guatemala. Hostilities have ceased. A general amnesty has been proclaimed, and awaits the approval of the allies. The plenipotentiaries will meet in Acajutla to arrange a definite treaty of peace."

Russia and England.

Advices of the 14th inst. from London say "the military preparations of the British government continue unabated. The government has decided to purchase four more steamers similar to the America, and to equip them as armed cruisers. The number of British men-of-war now being prepared for active service is so great that it is believed that active officers cannot be found for them all, and that it will be necessary to resort to the retired list. The steel armor-plated turret ship Colossus, of 9150 tons register and 7490 horse power, one of the most formidable iron-clads in the British navy, will soon be ready for sea, and it is believed will be attached to the Baltic fleet. Gibraltar and other British strongholds are to be put in a complete state of defence. Additional supplies of torpedoes of the latest approved pattern are being forwarded to all the naval stations, both at home and abroad. Seventy thousand animals for the transport service of the Indian army are proceeding to Pishing. The harbor of Bombay has been lined with torpedoes so as to prevent a Russian fleet from entering it in the event of war, and 4,000,000 cartridges have been landed at Bombay."

Centre District Medical Society.

The Centre District Medical Society of New Hampshire held their quarterly meeting at Concord on Tuesday, the 14th inst. Dr. H. C. Cummings gave a dissertation on "Theories of Generation," in which ancient theories were compared with the ascertained facts of the present age.

A discussion upon the adulteration of cow's milk and its influence upon the mortality of infants was opened by Dr. Irving A. Watson, secretary of the state board of health, and some of the ablest physicians of the state participated in the discussion.

Dr. William Child read an interesting essay entitled "Country Homes; Their Sanitary Condition."

Hon. Thomas E. O. Marvin, president of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, who was present by invitation, addressed the meeting upon the sale, for food, of the flesh of diseased cattle, and the use of the milk of cows suffering from cancerous affections. Col. Marvin mentioned cases of the most outrageous abuse of their credulous customers, by unscrupulous butchers and milk dealers, which had been detected by the agency of the S. P. C. A.

"Chloroform vs. Ether," was the theme of Dr. George Cook's elaborate and scientific essay.

The meeting was a success in point of numbers, in the papers contributed and in the interest manifested.

Horrible Mystery.

In a trunk in a room at the Southern hotel, at St. Louis, Mo., on the 14th inst., was found the much decomposed body of a man, the head being severed from the body. On a paper inside the trunk were the printed words, in large letters, "So Perish all Traitors to the Great Cause." The room had been last occupied by a man who registered as "Walter H. Lenox Maxwell, M. D.," of London, England. Maxwell was intimate at the hotel with a young man who registered as "C. Arthur Preller of London, Eng." Both men have disappeared, and it was at first suspected that the remains were those of Preller and that he was murdered by Maxwell; but later clues indicated that deceased might be some third person.

Washington advices of the 15th inst. said the president had decided upon Gen. M. T. McMahon as collector of the port of New York.

MARITIME NOTES.

There was not a sailing vessel of any kind to be seen at the north end wharves on Wednesday of this week,—not even one lying up. The Clara Batemen steamer occupied one side of Appledore wharf, and the Appledore island landing stage the other, and that was all the "shipping" to be seen.

The schooner Lillie, Perkins master, from Wells with wood, went up the river on Tuesday of this week, to load with bricks for Boston after discharging her inward cargo.

The schooner D. K. Ham went up river on the 15th inst. for her first load of bricks for this season; the J. Chester Wood sailed for Boston, loaded; and the Hattie Lewis arrived from Boston, light, completing her first round trip for this year. The schooner Wingaersheek, Donnell master, arrived from Newburyport with 112 tons of Plum island sand—her first visit to this port this season.

Mr. Lewis Holmes has commenced operations at refitting his fleet of letting boats for service during the coming warm season.

The War in the Soudan.

A despatch from Gen. Ricci, commander of the Italian expedition on the Red sea, states that the Egyptian garrisons of Senneit, Amadib and Ghary, which have been beleagured for many months by hostile Arabs, have escaped and reached Massowah, where they are safe under the protection of the Italian flag. The refugees brought with them hundreds of their women and children.

The Manitoba Troubles.

The hostile Indians and half-breeds were on the 14th inst. reported as having disappeared from Battleford, and were supposed to have gone to Fort Pitt. A despatch of the same date from Ottawa, Ont., said: "Mr. Royal returned here yesterday, and simultaneously with his arrival a rumor was set afloat that an engagement has been made by which a conflict with the half-breeds under Riel will be avoided. It is reported to-day that negotiations looking to peace were opened yesterday by telegraph between Gen. Middleton and Louis Riel, and that such negotiations are still proceeding."

March April May

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N. Y.

Do Not Delay

delay; if you are sick use Sulphur Bitters.

The Vice President of the Bank of Waverly, Iowa, SMITH P. HUNT, says: I have suffered with Catarrh for the last ten years, and also severe Biliousness and Liver Complaint. Since 1873 my Catarrh grew rapidly worse, so that my life was despaired of. At that time I weighed one hundred and seventy-five pounds, but grew emaciated so rapidly that I weighed only one hundred and thirty. After consulting the most celebrated physicians in the Western States and spending many hundred dollars, from which no relief was obtained, I was induced to try your

Sulphur Bitters

Bitters; after taking six bottles my Headache, Vomiting, and all the effects of my Catarrh, Biliousness and Liver Complaint left me, I now weigh one hundred and sixty-five pounds, and consider that Sulphur Bitters have saved my life.

Mrs. HIRAM JORDAN, Lewiston, Me., says: For years I was a terrible sufferer with Scrofula, caused by salivation from the use of mercury and calomel; terrible sores broke out on my body, which twisted my limbs so that I could hardly move. The doctors all gave me up to die. Four bottles of Sulphur Bitters entirely cured me, and I am now able to do all my housework.

Builds Up the Weak.

The wife of the Superintendent of Repairs, Pacific Mills, Lawrence, Mass., Mrs. JOHN BARTON, the eloquent temperance advocate, says: When all other remedies failed, Sulphur Bitters cured me of Dyspepsia and those deathly Sick Headaches.

not, Sulphur Bitters will cure you.

Miss HELEN JONES, eleven years in charge of the Package Department, Boston & Maine depot, says: I have been a sufferer from Biliousness, Water Brash, and General Debility for several years. Most of the time I felt miserably and life seemed a burden. I was induced to try your Sulphur Bitters, and was completely surprised to see how much better I felt, and I am now enjoying better health than for years before. I shall always keep a supply of Sulphur Bitters on hand, for they have done me a world of good. Sulphur should be kept in every family.

A Boston & Albany R. R. engineer, F. B. CHAMBERLAIN, of Springfield, Mass., says: For years I have suffered from Chronic Bilious attacks, with a narrow escape each time from Typhoid Fever. About two years ago I commenced taking Sulphur Bitters, and since that time I have had no trouble from my old enemy. Living in a malarial district, I have had no trouble from that cause, being a marked exception among my neighbors, and I give the credit for that to Sulphur Bitters. It is an invaluable remedy, and one which no household should be without.

There will be appropriate services in the North church at half past ten o'clock this forenoon. Sermon by Rev. Mr. McGinley; subject—"It is written." Those who have no service at their own churches, and the public generally, are cordially invited.

This afternoon, at the Franklin parlor skating rink, Mr. Edward C. Stickney, the champion heavy-wight lifter, will endeavor to beat all previous records at putting up the 50-lb. dumbbell, commencing at 3:30 o'clock. Skating as usual, in the afternoon.

At the Portsmouth skating rink, to-day, sessions afternoon and evening; afternoon, from two to five; evening, usual hours; music at both sessions.

This evening, at Franklin theatre, the best representation on the modern stage of the honest, sturdy New England farmer, will be given by Denman Thompson. "Uncle Joshua Whitcomb" is a character to be admired as well as laughed at, and his soiree this evening should be largely attended. Tickets at Goodrich's.

THE NORTH PARISH ENTERTAINMENT.

There was a large attendance at the entertainment given by the Young Peoples' Association of the North Parish on Tuesday evening of this week, and as was intended, it was one of the best entertainments of its kind given in this city for a long while. Great credit is due Mr. W. W. McIntire for arranging the musical part of the programme, and to Miss Flora B. Dow and Miss Emma L. Grace, who arranged the tableaux; also to other members of the society, who aided in making it a success. The following was the programme of the evening:

The Kinder Symphony, a finely arranged musicale, ten different instruments being played upon,—Miss Fannie Butler, gluckenspeil; Miss Ida Anthony, triangle; Miss Grace Brown and Miss Mattie Hutchinson, piano; Mr. Will C. Hatch, bones; Mr. J. Frank Shannon, canary whistle; Charles Gray, ocarina; Samuel Kingsbury, flute; Mr. McIntire, bugle; Goodwin E. Philbrick, harmonica; Everett L. Marston, devil's fiddle.

The piano solo by Miss Florence P. Whidden was very fine, she being obliged to respond to the encores of the audience, again and again.

The harmonica duet by Mr. G. E. Philbrick and W. W. McIntire was excellent, as was also the singing by the male quartette, and chorus. The whistling by Miss Flossy Hayes was very nice, she being obliged to repeat, to the delight of the audience. The tableaux were some of the finest ever seen in this city, thirteen in number:

TABLEAUX.

1. "Japanese Five o'clock Tea." Misses Mattie Kimball, Lizzie Foster, Hattie Jones, May Cobbett and Carrie Stearns.

2. "Yes or No." Miss Annie Fletcher, holding in her hand the picture of a gentleman, and in the act of deciding what answer to return.

3. "The Barefoot Boy." Miss Mabel Woodward read one of Whittier's poems, and it was illustrated by Master Johnnie Sweetser as the barefoot boy.

4. "Contrast"—In two scenes. Mrs. Willis G. Myers, Miss Alice Brewster and Master George Dewey.

5. "A Flour Barrel"—in two scenes. Miss Flossie B. Coleman.

6. "Courting." Mr. F. W. Sweet read a poem from the works of James Russell Lowell, and it was represented in three scenes, with Miss Fannie Hanscom as the girl, Miss Mary Hanscom as the mother and Mr. Charles Gray as the young man. This was the most laughable tableau of the evening, the first scene representing a young man looking into a window, trying to get a glance at his girl; the second scene represented him as having got into the house, standing first on one foot and then on the other; and the third scene represented the young pair as having been caught by the girl's mother as the lover was in the act of kissing her, (country style of courting.)

7. "Portrait." Miss Fannie Butler represented the "portrait," and a very pretty picture she made too, in a frame.

8. "Abou Ben Adhem and the Angel." This poem was read by Miss Susie Shackley, and was represented in two scenes, by Miss Edith Thacher and Mr. Byron Chadwick.

DID'NT KNOW IT WAS LOADED.

About four o'clock Wednesday afternoon, 15th inst., at Kittery Foreside, a boy named Willie Jackson, son of Mr. Joseph Jackson, took a pistol belonging to his father from a cornet case, aimed it at Mrs. Peter Saxon, who was in the room, and snapped it, when to his consternation it went off, the bullet entering Mrs. Saxon's cheek and passing toward the back of her head, where it lodged. Dr. Wentworth was called, but by the latest account we received Wednesday evening, had not succeeded in extracting the ball. The boy did not know the pistol was loaded.

ALABAMA CLAIMS AWARDS.

In the Court of Commissioners of Alabama Claims at Washington, on the 14th inst., a large number of judgments were announced, among them being the following, the sums mentioned bearing interest at four per cent from the dates named:

No. 1077. John S. Pray, $1916, Feb. 20th, 1865.

No. 1582. Margaret Bush, administratrix, $887, August 28th, 1864.

No. 2834. Ellen P. Fernald, $1177, April 21st, 1865.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

Commodore Johnson has been absent from the navy yard for a few days; meanwhile Capt. Henry Erben, executive officer, has been acting commandant.

Mr. A. C. Cleborne has been appointed as copyist on the yard, with pay at $3.00 per day.

Mr. G. H. Jenness of Rye beach commenced his official duties as clerk to the chief executive officer on Wednesday, April 15th.

A board of naval officers consisting of Capt. Henry Erben, Naval Constructor Thomas E. Webb, Chief Engineer William B. Brooks, Medical Inspector A. S. Oberly, Com'dr E. C. Merriman, Com'dr Wm. C. Wise, Com'dr F. M. Green, Lieut. Col. C. D. Hebb and Paymaster F. H. Hinman have been appointed to make an inventory of all the government property on the navy yard, and report to Secretary Whitney with as little delay as possible.

The large three-masted schooner Daylight, of New Haven, Hodgdon master, finished discharging her cargo of 1000 tons of coal for the equipment department at the navy yard, on the 13th.

Lieut. Col. Clement D. Hebb, U. S. M. C., has reported for duty in command of marines at this station.

Fast day will be observed at the yard, but Capt. Erben, acting commandant, has granted Constructor Webb permission for his men to keep at work upon the Omaha.

The commandant of this station has been directed by the secretary of the navy to ascertain and report if there are employed in any of the departments, in any capacity, those whose services can be dispensed with, and by whose order they are now employed. The commodore has sent to the head of each department for a statement responsive to the required information, and if there are any inefficient and incompetent men now on the rolls there will be an opportunity to be relieved of their presence. It is a movement in the interest of economy and efficiency in the administration of affairs on the navy yard.

A musicale will be given by Christ church choir and the choir chapter of St. John's Guild, at Rechabite hall, Saturday, April 18th, at 8 P. M. Tickets twenty-five cents. Can be procured at Preston's and Kimball's drug stores.

Mrs. J. M. Tebbetts announces her annual spring and summer opening of fine millinery goods, in our columns to-day. Mrs. Tebbetts has just returned from New York, where she purchased a large and varied assortment of the finest millinery goods to be found, which she will be pleased to show to her numerous patrons.

Manager Ayers has made arrangements for the appearance of the Miller & Dixie Boston opera company, which was booked for Music hall April 20th, 21st and 22d, in Franklin theatre on the same dates. The company will give two performances of Pinafore, and one each of the Mascot and Iolanthe. Prices 10, 20, and 30 cents.

Seeing some cucumbers as long as a man's finger, and as succulent-looking as a rat-tail file, in a local provision store on Wednesday of this week, we enquired the price, and were pleased to learn that they were only twenty-five cents apiece, having been fifty cents apiece when they first reached this market. Everybody can have cucumbers now.

President Lord of the Boston & Maine railroad, Hon. N. G. White of the direction, and Superintendent Furber, arrived in this city on Wednesday, and were met at the station by Hon. Frank Jones, Mayor Page and Aldermen Eldredge and Janvrin, and a general inspection was had of the north millpond, relative to the abatement of the "north pond nuisance" which has troubled our citizens and annoyed our visitors for years. The city authorities explained what the citizens desired to have done, and the railroad officials reported that they would consider the matter. Messrs. Lord, White and Furber left about one o'clock on a special train to Dover.

Inspector General Elbert Wheeler has notified Capt. John S. Perry, commanding the Portsmouth Cavalry, that he (the inspector) has recommended to the adjutant general the disbandment of the company.

C. M. Gignoux, Esq., as general agent of the Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York, on Wednesday of this week paid $10,036 to the estate of the late Medical Inspector Charles H. Burbank, formerly of this city.

Parties who are having built a steamer eighty-five feet long, eighteen feet wide and six feet deep, to run on Sunapee lake, were in town on the 15th inst., negotiating with the Portsmouth Machine Works for the construction of an engine and boiler for her.

The Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York has paid $2010 death claim on the late Commander S. Dana Greene, who shot himself at the navy yard some months ago.

By a fire at Lebanon, Me., a few days ago, property owned by Lewis B. Gerrish of Kittery and valued at $1200, was destroyed; partially insured.

ECZEMA & SALT RHEUM.

Another Clear and Positive Recovery —An Elderly Lady's Letter.

Among the numerous letters received by Dr Kennedy testifying to notable SALT RHEUM cures, the following will be found of interest to our readers, who may accept our assurance of its perfect authenticity and truthfulness:

WORCESTER, MASS., March 23, 1884.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

DEAR SIR: Until recently I have been for three years a sufferer from salt Rheum. It followed upon an attack of Erysipelas, for which I was for a long time under medical treatment. I placed myself again in the hands of the physicians who did, I suppose, all that could be done. One thing is sure, however, I was none the better for all the medicine they gave me. The painful and unsightly disease made continual progress, until I began to fear I should never get rid of it.

By means of one of those accidents that often result in a most blessing I had my attention called to your FAVORITE REMEDY, which I was told would surely do me good. I used it, and within a much shorter time than I would have believed possible, I received a permanent cure. I am now perfectly free from Salt Rheum. What a comfort this is, and how it places your wonderful medicine in my opinion, you may guess at, but never know. I keep it now constantly in the house as a family medicine. Yours truly,

MRS. DINAH PHAIR.

Mrs. Phair sometime since, when on a visit to Kansas, found a case of salt Rheum, could not get FAVORITE REMEDY, sent to New York City for it, and cured the case.

For all diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, Bladder and Digestive Organs, Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, Rondout, N. Y

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an unfailing friend—a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. $1 bottle, 6 for $5, by all druggists.

One Bottle instead of a Dozen.

"And it took only one bottle to do it," said a gentleman, speaking of Parker's Hair Balsam. I had a run of fever, and when I got well of that my hair began to fall out so fast as to alarm me. I really didn't know what to do, until one day a friend said, 'Try Parker's Hair Balsam.' That was some months ago. What surprised the man the fact that one bottle was enough. I expected to use up a dozen." Clean, highly perfumed, not oily, not a dye. Restores original color.

Secretary Bayard having discovered that a too great preponderance against the colored man was not just exactly the correct thing in the present exigency, now denies that he ever insulted Minister Williams or withheld the senatorial courtesy from Ex-Senator Bruce. In fact, the secretary fairly gushes with his protestations of regard for those in humbler walks of life than those in which he treads.

Worlds of Good.

Probably no other woman in the world receives so many "letters of thanks" as Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., Mrs. B—— of Enfield, N. H., says: "I will simply say that your Vegetable Compound is all you recommend it to be. It has done me worlds of good." Another lady writes from Ottawa as follows: "I have just to-day bought the seventh bottle of your Vegetable Compound, have used two boxes of Pills and several packages of your Sanative Wash, and think it but right to tell you how much good I derived from your medicines. They are a regular God-send. All the pains and aches have almost disappeared, my stomach is much stronger too, and I feel myself improved in every way."

Cream and Cold Weather.

What a luxury is a bath in summer. Surely, but a greater luxury is a clear head in winter; just when almost everybody is sneezing and snuffing with a cold in the head. When you are attacked use Ely's Cream Balm. It cures colds in the head, and what is better, it cures the worst cases of chronic catarrh and hay fever. Not a liquid, not a snuff. Pleasant to use. Quick relief. Radical cure.

James H. Bell was taken from jail at Pierre, Dakota, April 16th, and hanged by a mob, for the murder of Forest G. Small.

An off Year.

This is going to be an off year. No political booms for "Plumed Knights" or "Reform" will help keep up the health and strength of the vast multitudes whose faith is pinned on the glowing party promises of election year. Multitudes of such will need a reliable tonic to tone up the system, a purifier to work off the bad blood, and a sure remedy for lame backs, rheumatism, biliousness, etc. Such a remedy is Kidney-Wort. It has long stood at the head of the list of kidney remedies, and it receives the highest praise from all that use it.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM

I was attacked last winter with inflammatory rheumatism of severe type—my first serious illness since 1876. I had various kinds of treatment with only temporary partial relief. After seven weeks I was reduced in weight 35 pounds, had no strength or appetite, and was growing weaker every day. In this condition I began Swift's Specific, and in three days began to improve, and in three weeks I was free from disease and up attending to my regular business. My appetite returned and I rapidly gained my flesh. I have waited this long to be certain that my cure was permanent.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS

The finest tonic for nervous people is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which insures perfect digestion and assimilation, and the native performance of their functions by the liver and bowels. As the system acquires tone through the influence of this benign medicine, the nerves grow stronger and more tranquil, headaches cease, and that nameless anxiety which is a peculiarity of the dyspeptic, gives way to cheerfulness. To establish health on a sure foundation, use the peerless invigorant. For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

A Camel Race at Dongola.

Pony races and foot races appealed but little to the native mind, but a camel race, open to all comers, was a matter of warmest interest to all, both Englishmen and natives. The Mudir himself, who, with a large following, attended the meeting, was most enthusiastic on the subject of this race, and had entered his best camel for it, his example being followed by the owners of all the best camels in Dongola. The scene at the starting point was quaint in the extreme. Camels were there of every size and hue, bellowing one and all, as though in direst agony; some of them bestridden by English soldiers on their red leather saddles, some by officers who preferred the Soudan saddle, some by naked Bischari or Abedeh, sons of the desert, who, not infrequently, disdaining saddles of any kind, sat perched on the rump of the animal as on a jackass, and guided their beasts by the nostril string alone. Here and there among the crowd were Bashi Bazouks on slim-necked, slender-legged animals, whose rich accoutrements showed that their owners found war a paying trade, and townfolk who, perched on their light wooden saddles, their long robes bound closely round their waists, intended, evidently, to make a desperate struggle for victory. At last, profiting by a moment when all the competitors seemed to be in line—a result to obtain which had taken some three-quarters of an hour—the signal was given to go, and the camels started. Then some trotted, some galloped, some turned themselves round and round, seeking to tie themselves in knots and refusing to move forward; others threw themselves on the ground and rolled their riders off, and one or two, disengaging themselves from the crowd, started off in a mad, break-neck gallop toward the hills, their riders, albeit wild sons of the desert, unable to more than cling to the beasts for dear life. Every now and then occurred a terrific collision between two eager competitors, which flung both camels and riders to the ground.

As the beasts rounded the turning-post the confusion became proportionate to the excitement. Many camels never got round the post at all, but fell to fighting one another on the far side of it, in which conflict the riders, when natives soon took part with right good will. Others sought to cheat, diminishing the distance by 100 yards or so, but these defaulters were promptly "spotted" and hounded off the course by the watchful stewards. The winner was greeted, as he passed the post, by such cheers as completely disconcerted the poor brute, and, had not his rider warily forestalled him, he would have turned back in flight from before the crowd of spectators. The race was a good one, and one of the most interesting features about it was the fact that, although the winning camel was ridden by a native, the English soldiers, whose acquaintance with camels dated from but a fortnight, seemed to hold their own very fairly against the natives, who were, so to speak, born and bred camel-riders. As to knowledge of the habits of the brute and adaptability to a long journey, the superiority of the native is, of course, incontestible; but at this short trial of speed the Englishmen showed themselves not much his inferiors.—Egyptian Letter to the London Times.

A Hawk "Out" on a Lark.

While Alexander Shaw, at Kinetra, was in the fields the other day he heard cries of a bird apparently in distress. Looking up he saw a lark hotly pursued by a hawk, which by a series of fierce dashes tried to secure his prey, but the lark was successful in evading the attacks. The hawk, however, was gaining the mastery, and the lark, terror struck, seeing the man below, came down like an arrow and fluttered actually into his hand, where it cowered trembling. The pursuer followed until within six yards, but seeing what had occurred he flew off in disgust. After a time the lark was liberated, when it soared upward, singing doubtless a song of gratitude to its deliverer. The circumstance is remarkable as showing how the great terror conquered the less—the instinct of preservation in the bird triumphing over its natural timidity.—Elgin (Scotland) Courier.

The Earth a Great Magnet.

Everything on the earth and in the air above is permeated with the earth's magnetic force—it goes through your clothes, it penetrates your bodies, it saturates your brain—it is a part of life itself. Gaus, the illustrious German astronomer, has computed (taking as a unit of his measure a magnet, fourteen inches long, one inch wide, one-fourth inch thick, weighing one pound, made of the hardest steel and of the strongest magnetic force possible) the earth's magnetic force as equal to 8,464,000,000,000,000,000,000 such magnets. The attracting or lifting power of such a magnet is about ten pounds, which would make the attractive power of the earth 42,310,000,000,000,000,000 tons. If this magnetism were equally distributed throughout the mass of the earth, the magnetic intensity of each cubic yard would be equal to six of these magnets, or about sixty pounds attractive force. Prof. Mayer has shown that this magnetic influence, this invisible force, is a power filling space to an unknown distance and radiating in the lines of magnetic force very much as the rays of the sunlight, the lines of the earth's magnetic force being from south to north, as indicated by the compass needle.

Edinburgh is the healthiest large city in Great Britain.

"Over and Over Again."

Repetition is sometimes the only way to impress a truth upon the mind. Accordingly take notice that Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets," (the original Little Liver Pills) continue to be wonderfully effective in cases of sick nervous headache, constipation, indigestion, rush of blood to the head, cold extremities, and all ailments arising from obstruction of the bodily functions. Their action is thorough yet gentle, and the ingredients being entirely vegetable, they can be taken with impunity into the most delicate stomach. All druggists.

There is said to be now no doubt tha the dead body found in a trunk at St. Louis was Arthur Preller, and that he was murdered by "Dr." Maxwell for his money. Maxwell has been traced to San Francisco, and to the steamer City of Sydney, which has sailed for Honolulu and New Zealand.

Mothers, always use Dr. Seth Arnold's Soothing and Quieting Cordial for children. A mild, safe tonic. 25c.

The largest gun yet made for the United States government has just been completed by the South Boston Iron company. It is thirty-two feet in length, weighs fifty-four tons, and is of twelve-inch calibre; it carries an 800-pound shot, and uses 150 pounds of powder in one discharge.

Your system is now more susceptible to the benefit of a reliable medicine than at any other season. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Endorsing the Administration.

To the average republican editor, who after years of warding off the criticisms upon the administration of national affairs by his political friends, and acting to a great extent on the defensive, and even at times the apologetic, there seemed last month about to begin an era of happy existence when he could cast instead of being obliged to dodge missiles, and might return the carping comments of his democratic brethren of the press, so long endured while the latter served in the grand army of the outs.

But, singular as it may seem, the democratic journals appear to have but little especial commendation of President Cleveland, while at the hands of the republican press generally there is found nothing but good words for the commander-in-chief.

True, our esteemed cotemporary the Times, with possible anticipations of something substantial for its excellent proprietor and editor, stated the other day that it as yet had discovered nothing to criticise in President Cleveland, or words to that effect, (we do not recall the exact language, though we saw this piece of loyalty quoted in some distant democratic sheet,) but we fail to behold that whole-hearted support of the new president which should manifest itself at least at the commencement, if it does not develope through the continuance of an administration.

On the other hand, we recognize everywhere the seeming fairness with which the republican journals discuss the presidential acts. The president comes to his office with an apparent determination to decide all questions which may come before him, upon their merits, and divested from the incentives of party precedent, political expediency, or the persuasion of interested advisers. Mr. Cleveland appears not only to have "influence" with his administration, but to be manager.

Do the interested silver speculators seek to load their find upon the country, Mr. Cleveland, without pretending to know all about the complicated question of finance, simply states that this kind of currency will not properly serve the country, the idea is unsound, and no matter how adroitly the operators in these schemes may have manipulated the democracy, he sees but one safe course to follow, and that is to cease the silver coinage. Are the representative democracy rampant for free trade, Grover says "Go slow there. Randall appears to be nearer a sound position than any one, and the country will prosper, the administration be better off, and indeed the democratic party too, for that matter, with keeping off tariff legislation at present, till we can see about the vast surplus. We will wait till Manning has time to count the money." Does the indiscreet Black seek to punish Miss Sweet because her father foiled Jacob Thompson's nefarious schemes in the secession attempt to pillage northern cities during the rebellion, the president blushes at the blunder of the commissioner, and sends him word to peruse the statute relating to appointments to office, when he subsides, and we hear no more of the ignorance of the "Black" man. Does Secretary Bayard seek to compel a respectable colored man to resign an office to which he was appointed and confirmed last month, simply because the ambitious secretary desires to show his southern friends how much he despises the colored race, the president is reminded that an officer properly appointed and confirmed has certain rights which even the secretary of state is bound to respect. And so we might multiply instances of this nature, did space permit.

Now we do not affirm that the president is adopting republican ideas or carrying out republican policies, but we notice that he does not adopt the vagaries of ancient democrats, nor does he believe in the obsolete theories of his party friends. The question he seems to study is, what is best for the country now, what is the present outlook,—not what Andrew Jackson did in years gone by, but what must Grover Cleveland do today?

The first question which has been decided apparently without appeal is, that Mr. Cleveland is president, and no one "runs" him. Men whom it was suppose would control his actions, find him made of far more substantial and unimpressionable clay than they had reckoned. He has the firmness of Jackson, but without the ignorant prejudice which allowed the hero of New Orleans to be so easily engineered by designing men. He has astonished every one by his independence, and as he declines to be kept in leading strings it makes it embarassing for democratic journals to indicate just where they stand in this unprecedented condition of political affairs. While some of them are peering through the clouded political skies to catch an observation, that they may be able to safely steer between their chances to receive an appointment to a good place from which some republican "rascal" is to be turned out, and a proper demonstration of loyalty to the time-honored party which has long lived on its great expectations, we are inclined from force of habit to step in and "endorse" the sound and sagacious acts of the administration until our brethren on the other side can catch their breath and decide under which banner to enrol themselves.

Gen. Grant's Condition.

Gen. Grant on the 16th inst. walked down stairs unaided, entered the dining room where the family were at lunch, seated himself at the table, and ate some cold mutton and macaroni. He returned to his room by the elevator. The midnight despatch that night reported him as sleeping quietly in his chair, his pulse beating seventy, of good volume, and his temperature normal.

The 8:30 A. M. despatch on the 17th reported the general as having rested better than for many previous nights, and that he felt strong enough to get up and dress for the day. He took his nourishment without pain in swallowing, and did not cough from midnight to morning.

A later despatch said: "Gen. Grant's progress toward convalescence for the past two days has been truly phenomenal. His physicians now openly express their opinion that he will recover. Dr. Shrady said he was prepared for any change, but did not anticipate any at present; though it would be premature to say that the general was out of danger, he felt very hopeful for the future."

It is thought by many that the doctors were mistaken in their diagnosis, and that instead of cancer, the disease is malignant sore throat.

The Central American War.

Senor de Peralta, the Costa Rican minister at Washington, has received the following telegram from President Zaldivar of San Salvador, who was in command of the army of that republic at the battle of Chalchuapa:

SANTA ANNA, April 15th.

Peralta, Washington: Peace of Central America signed; new triumph, doing great honor to Salvador. ZALDIVAR.

Thomas Samon, the Laconia murderer, was hung in the state prison at Concord on Friday.

On the 15th inst. the morning freight train for Boston leaving Nashua before daylight discovered a lot of railroad ties scattered along the track of the Boston & Lowell railroad, near Little's station, being placed in a position to wreck this train, but they were removed. A train following later met the same obstructions, which had been replaced by would-be train wreckers. Fortunately the light was such that they were plainly seen and no damage was done.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Chilion, Call master, loaded with bricks from one of the upriver yards, sailed for Boston on Thursday last, and arrived there Friday morning.

Mr. Benjamin M. Bailey was on Thursday engaged in calking the schooner Wingaersheek, which arrived at this port the previous day from Newburyport with a cargo of sand.

The schooner Annie F. Conlon, Seaward master, was towed up to C. E. Walker & Co.'s wharf on Thursday, the 16th inst., by the tug Clara Bateman. The schooner has about 840 tons of coal, from Philadelphia.

The "pinque" Lucy was bending her sails on Friday, the 17th, and getting ready for service in Mr. Lemuel B. Caswell's fishing operations at Smuttynose island, Isles of Shoals, this summer. The schooner will be sailed this season by Capt. James Burke.

The fishing schooner Flying Dart came off the marine railway at Kittery on Friday, and the scow Daisy was at hand, waiting to be hauled out at high water on Saturday. The coasting schooner John Lenthall, of Exeter, was at Neal's wharf, Kittery, waiting to take her turn on the ways as soon as the Daisy should come off.

Messrs. Bailey & Adams will shortly proceed to Wolfeboro' to caulk the steamer May Flower preparatory to her commencing the summer trips on Lake Winnipesaukie.

The schooner Joseph Warren, a new vessel which is to fish this season out of Biddeford Pool, and made her first trip on the 14th inst., has on board a library of 100 volumes.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others; its worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PEEK, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter of a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was 'permanently cured.'" J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

Do Not Delay

delay; if you are sick use Sulphur Bitters.

The Vice President of the Bank of Waverly, Iowa, SMITH P. HUNT, says: I have suffered with Catarrh for the last ten years, and also severe Biliousness and Liver Complaint. Since 1873 my Catarrh grew rapidly worse, so that my life was despaired of. At that time I weighed one hundred and seventy-five pounds, but grew emaciated so rapidly that I weighed only one hundred and thirty. After consulting the most celebrated physicians in the Western States and spending many hundred dollars, from which no relief was obtained, I was induced to try your Sulphur Bitters, and was completely surprised to see how much better I felt, and I am now enjoying better health than for years before. I shall always keep a supply of Sulphur Bitters on hand, for they have done me a world of good. Sulphur Bitters will cure you.

Miss HELEN JONES, eleven years in charge of the Package Department, Boston & Maine depot, says: I have been a sufferer from Biliousness, Water Brash, and General Debility for several years. Most of the time I felt miserably and life seemed a burden. I was induced to try your Sulphur Bitters, and should be completely surprised to see how much better I felt, and I am now enjoying better health than for years before. I shall always keep a supply of Sulphur Bitters on hand, for they have done me a world of good. Sulphur Bitters will cure you.

Sulphur Bitters

Bitters; after taking six bottles my Headache, Vomiting, and all the effects of my Catarrh, Biliousness and Liver Complaint left me. I now weigh one hundred and sixty-five pounds, and consider that Sulphur Bitters have saved my life.

Mrs. HIRAM JORDAN, Lewiston, Me., says: For years I was a terrible sufferer with Scrofula, caused by salivation from the use of mercury and calomel; terrible sores broke out on my body, which twisted my limbs so that I could hardly move. The doctors all gave me up to die. Four bottles of Sulphur Bitters entirely cured me, and I am now able to do all my housework.

should be kept in every family.

A Boston & Albany R. R. engineer, F. B. CHAMBERLAIN, of Springfield, Mass., says: For years I have suffered from Chronic Bilious attacks, with a narrow escape each time from Typhoid Fever. About two years ago I commenced taking Sulphur Bitters, and since that time I have had no trouble from my old enemy. Living in a malarial district, I have had no trouble from that cause, being a marked exception among my neighbors, and I give the credit for that to Sulphur Bitters. It is an invaluable remedy, and one which no household should be without.

Builds Up the Weak.

The wife of the Superintendent of Repairs, Pacific Mills, Lawrence, Mass., Mrs. JOHN BARTON, the eloquent temperance advocate, says: When all other remedies failed, Sulphur Bitters cured me of Dyspepsia and those deathly Sick Headaches.

IN COMMISSION.

The U. S. S. Omaha went into commission at the navy yard on Thursday afternoon, the 16th inst., at one o'clock. Her roster is as follows:

Capt. T. O. Selfridge, (commanding,) Lieut. Comdr. Frank Courtis, (executive officer,) Surgeon E. Kershner, Paymaster George H. Griffing, Chief Engr. George W. McGee, Lieutenants W. W. Gilpatrick (navigating officer) and Albert Mertz, Passed Asst. Engrs. John Pemberton and George B. Ransom, Lieutenants (junior grade) William Winder, M. A. Shufeldt and Charles M. McCartenay, Passed Asst. Surgeon Charles W. Rush, Ensigns Charles H. Harlow, L. S. Van Duzer, Guy W. Brown and H. G. Dresel, Asst. Engr. W. D. Weaver, 1st Lieut. Paul St. C. Murphy, U. S. M. C., Pay Clerk H. D. Alexander, Boatswain John J. Killin, Carpenter Josiah E. Keen.

The Omaha is a second-rate twelve-gun screw steamer, her armament being as follows: Ten nine-inch smooth-bore muzzle-loaders; one eight-inch rifle; one sixty-pounder breech-loading rifle; two twenty-pounder rifles; one three-inch breech-loading rifle; one twelve-pounder brass howitzer; one Gatling gun.

She is fitted with a steam capstan, steam steering gear, 155 electric lights, and all other approved modern appliances, and is good for a number of years of active service.

DON'T HURRY, GENTLEMEN.

Hon. Frank Jones left for Florida on Thursday morning. He goes for a trip to regain his health, and on his way home will stop in Washington for a day or two, just to see how matters are progressing in relation to the promised land.

As Mr. Jones is in need of rest, at this time, and Mr. Sulloway is busy preparing his report to be submitted next month to the stockholders of the Northern railroad, perhaps it would be well for expectant democrats to hold up a little in their applications for places under the administration, and to remember that Mr. Cleveland apparently believes that instead of an early slaughter of the innocents, appointments made late in the term will prove of more advantage to him than an earlier dispensation of patronage.

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

THURSDAY, April 16th.

George Fleming, who claimed to be an old soldier, promised that if let off by the court he would not again be caught drunk in this city, and was allowed to depart for the state of Maine.

Joseph H. Hussey, for drunkenness, was fined $5, costs $6.90, and was sent to the county farm at Brentwood for not paying.

George W. T. Brown, colored, regular customer of the court, drunk, sixty days at Brentwood, costs $6.90.

FRIDAY, April 17th.

Four tramping bummers, out of a lock-up full, were brought before the court.

Thomas Conners, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $6.90. Brentwood.

Frank McCarty, for brawl and tumult, was fined $5, costs $6.90. Brentwood.

John Wilson and Thomas Williams, for brawl and tumult, were fined $5, costs $6.90, each. Jail for this pair.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

The Red Stocking base ball club of this city went across the river in the forenoon, Fast day, and played a game with a picked nine from the U. S. S. Omaha's men, the Red Stockings winning by a score of fourteen to seven. In the afternoon the Red Stockings had a game at the Plains with a nine picked from among the brewery men and the roundhouse employes, the club being again the victors, by a score of nineteen to eight. There was a larger crowd of spectators at the Plains than has been seen there for several years, and a couple of minor accidents occurred. Mr. Thomas Russell, a railroad man and a spectator of the game, while standing behind the catcher was hit on the nose by a passed ball, and had that useful protuberance considerably demoralized; and another looker-on was hit across the neck by the flying half of a broken bat.

On the same day there was played a match game of ball between Dodge's Chinese base ball club, from Dodge's shoe factory, and the Fear Not club, also of this city, resulting in favor of the Fear Nots by a score of twenty-five to fifteen.

The Portsmouth cricket club had some practice on the afternoon of Fast day, at their grounds near Frenchman's lane.

At the Franklin hall skating rink, Fast day afternoon, Mr. Edward C. Stickney, champion heavy-weight lifter of this city, beat "The World's Record" on one point. The "Record" says that on Dec. 2d, 1882, at Lynn, Mass., Charles O. Breed lifted fairly from the floor, with the right hand only, a 50 1-2 pound dumb-bell 7600 times in one hour and thirty minutes; but Mr. Stickney lifted with one hand only a bell of the same weight 10,000 times in an hour and a half, scoring 7600 times in an hour and four minutes.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

Mr. H. R. Billings of Kittery Point, a republican, was on the 16th inst. appointed captain of the watch on the navy yard, vice Thomas Entwistle of this city, removed. Mr. Billings was an acting master in the navy during the war, and served on several vessels as executive officer.

The schooner Daylight, having discharged her cargo of coal at the navy yard, went down the river in the afternoon on Friday.

SUPREME COURT--SMITH J.

The grand jurors are as follows: Joseph B. Sanborn, Fremont; Nathan Berry, Greenland; Francis H. Sawyer, Hampstead; Joseph A. Dearborn, Hampton; Daniel E. Pevear, Hampton Falls; Harrison Rowe, Kensington; Henry French, Kingston; George E. Anderson, Londonderry; Thaddeus Tarlton, Newcastle; Frederic W. deRochement, Jr., Newington; Robert G. Bennett, Newmarket; Henry W. Gould, Newton; John Leavitt, North Hampton; Ezra Tasker, Northwood; John C. Hill, Nottingham; Isaac H. Pollard, Plaistow; Richard L. Randall, Portsmouth, (excused;) George L. Hardy, Richmond; Thoms W. Rand, Rye; Jonathan B. Gardner, Salem; Horace T. Grover, Sandown; Jeremiah A. Locke, Seabrook.

On the opening day of the court the case Horne vs. Boston & Maine railroad was set for trial on the 20th inst. Ida M. Brogg, of Nottingham, was divorced from William A. Brogg, and Hattie V. Ramsbottom, of Epping, from David S. Ramsbottom.

A musicale will be given by Christ church choir and the choir chapter of St. John's Guild, at Rechabite hall, Saturday, April 18th, at 8 P. M. Tickets twenty-five cents. Can be procured at Preston's and Kimball's drug stores.

The old favorite "Pinafore," is to be presented in the Franklin theatre on Monday evening by the Boston Comic Opera Co., with tickets at popular prices, for which see advertisement. Reserved seats on sale to-day, at Goodrich's.

Diamonds, watches, jewelry, fire-arms. Bargains at the Collateral Loan Co.'s sale in Boston next week.

Messrs. Edward S. Fay and Leonard Leach were drawn as petit jurors from ward two, on Friday to report at the supreme court in Exeter on Monday, the 20th inst.

There was a very good attendance at the Portsmouth skating rink on Wednesday evening, the 15th inst., when the cheese-cloth and fancy dress masquerade was given. The two prizes offered, for the most elegant costume and the best original make-up, were awarded—the first to Miss Clara E. Marshall and the latter to Miss Ida F. Blaisdell.

Messrs. Robinson & Haley brought in to Randall & Caswell on Friday 1300 lobsters taken off Rye.

Mr. Jabez H. Sears, who has charge of the rebuilding of the Rockingham house, has at the request of the proprietors of Music hall prepared a model for an iron brace which will at a moderate cost render the truss which supports the roof perfectly secure and strong, and prevent any future results from heavy accumulations of ice and snow on the roof.

George Dame, a son of Winthrop Dame of Eliot neck, in company with another young man, started at about three o'clock Friday morning on a gunning expedition up river, in a gunning float. On their return, while getting out of their boat, a large shot gun was accidentally discharged, the contents taking effect in the right arm of Mr. Dame. Dr. Potter, who was sent for, found that about an inch of the bone of the arm was shot away, but the main artery was not injured, and an attempt to save the arm will be made, although it is considered a doubtful case.

A DEMOCRATIC GROWL.

Mr. Editor: The removal of Thomas Entwistle as captain of the watch at the navy yard has excited some surprise. If a democrat had been substituted for him it would not have been strange, for Tom has at some times rendered himself very obnoxious to the democratic party, however popular he might be with individual democrats. But a republican has been placed there, who never smelt gunpowder except when a salute was "fired in honor of the arrival of a distinguished personage at the yard. Thomas was a prisoner at Libby and at Salisbury. For his bravery at the attack on Fort Wagner he was granted a furlough. Being a prisoner at the time of the attack on Fort Fisher, near Wilmington, N. C., while being conducted into the interior by the confederates from fear of rescue by the union forces, he made his escape by jumping from the railroad train; and being concealed in the woods by the negroes, succeeded in making his escape within the union lines. J. W. S.

*Our friend is mistaken on this point. Mr. Billings, the new appointee, served in the navy during the war, and we are informed saw some very active service. —Ed.

ECZEMA or SALT RHEUM.

Another Clear and Positive Recovery —An Elderly Lady's Letter.

Among the numerous letters received by Dr Kennedy testifying to the wonderful SALT RHEUM cures, the following will be found of interest to our readers, who may accept our assurance of its perfect authenticity and truthfulness:

WORCESTER, Mass., March 23, 1884.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

DEAR SIR: Until recently I have been for three years a sufferer from one of those terrible diseases, brought upon an attack of Erysipelas, for which I was for a long time under medical treatment. I placed myself under the care of some of the physicians who did, I have no doubt, all that could be done. One thing is sure, however, I was none the better for all the medicine they gave me. The painful and unsightly disease made continual progress, until I began to fear I should never get rid of it.

By means of one of those accidents that often result in so much blessing I had my attention called to your FAVORITE REMEDY, which I was told would surely do me good. I used it, and within a much shorter time than I would have believed possible, I received a permanent cure. I am now perfectly free from Salt Rheum. What a comfort this is, and how it places your wonderful medicine in my opinion, you may guess at, but never know. I keep it now constantly in the house as a family medicine. Yours truly,

MRS. DINAH PHAIR.

Mrs. Phair sometime since, when on a visit to Kansas, found a case of oak Rheum, could not get FAVORITE REMEDY, sent to New York City for it, and cured the case.

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex Favorite Remedy is commonly proving itself an unfailing friend—a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Worlds of Good.

Probably no other woman in the world receives so many "letters of thanks" as Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., Mrs. B—— of Enfield, N. H., says: "I will simply say that your Vegetable Compound is all you recommend it to be. It has done me worlds of good." Another lady writes from Ottawa as follows: "I have just to-day bought the seventh bottle of your Vegetable Compound, have used two boxes of Pills and several packages of your Sanative Wash, and think it but right to tell you how much good I derived from your medicines. They are a regular God-send. All the pains and aches have almost disappeared, my stomach is much stronger too, and I feel myself improved in every way."

James M. Morgan, appointed consul-general to Melbourne, Australia, is an ex-officer of the rebel navy. He was one of the officers of the pirate Georgia, and the author of a paper recently published in the New York Graphic on the exploits of that ship. Since the war he has been in the service of the khedive of Egypt under Gen. Stone.

For costiveness, biliousness, headache and all feverish habits use Dr. Seth Arnold's Bilious Pills. 25c.

The announcement on Friday of the death of Edwards Pierrepont was an error. The telegraph reported the death of Edward Pierrepont at Rome, the son of Judge Edwards Pierrepont, formerly minister to England.

Cream and Cold Weather.

What a luxury is a bath in summer. Surely, but a greater luxury is a clear head in winter; just when almost everybody is sneezing and snuffing with a cold in the head. When you are attacked use Ely's Cream Balm. It cures colds in the head, and what is better, it cures the worst cases of chronic catarrh and hay fever. Not a liquid, not a snuff. Pleasant to use. Quick relief. Radical cure.

Henry D Fairchild, a Lynn, Mass., shoemaker, has left his home in that city, deserting his wife and child, who are in destitute circumstances. It is supposed that another woman is the cause of the trouble.

Heart Pains.

Palpitation, dropsical swellings, dizziness, indigestion, headache, sleeplessness cured by "Wells' Health Renewer."

At New Haven, Conn., Friday, Marvin H. Amesbury and Charles H. Amesbury, father and son, were convicted of almost murdering Sing Won, a Chinese laundryman, on Jan. 5th last, to obtain $200 which he had saved. Sentence was deferred.

PEARLINE. With this article, it is claimed, the family washing can be done with ease, with economy and despatch, and as it is thoroughly disinfectant, it will be seen that whenever used the result is pure and healthful. As there are imitations of this in the market, be sure and get the genuine, manufactured only by JAMES PYLE, New York.

Mr. Edward Pierrepont, who died last Thursday at Rome, was the son of Judge Pierrepont, ex-minister to England. The latter, accompanied by his wife, sailed from New York on the 15th inst., hoping to nurse their son in his expected convalescence.

A Japanese Baby.

When Kine, the little Japanese baby, was one hundred days old she was carried to the temple, just as some American parents take their children to the church to have them christened, though Kine's parents do not know or worship the true God. The priest wrote a prayer on a piece of paper and put it into the prayer-bag, which was small and made of red crape, embroidered in white flowers and drawn together by silk cords. This bag containing the prayer was the "guard from evil," and it is devoutly believed by all Japanese to have the power of keeping children from evil spirits, from delusion by foxes,—for the people think that foxes can cheat or enchant people,—and from all dangers. This little red bag was attached to the girdle behind. After bestowing a gift in money upon the priest, the parents and relatives returned home with the little girl and held a great feast in her honor. Kine was carefully nursed, and carried on the back of a faithful servant, who fastened her there by a long string or bandage drawn around the waist and legs of the child, and crossed over the neck and shoulders of the maid. Her little head and bright eyes would bob on every side as her nurse walked and ran, and here she would go soundly asleep, or play as any baby would. She was never carried in any person's arms. Japanese babies seldom are. When Kine's aunts or cousins wished to coax her away from her nurse or mother, they would hold their backs invitingly, and she would put out her little arms and go to one or another as she chose. Clasping tightly the neck of the favored one, and held there by the feet or legs, she would be as happy as if cuddled up in the arms. As the baby grew and began to walk, little sandals made of straw were put on her feet. These were fastened on by putting the great toe through a loop. When she was a year old her hair, which had been shaved, was allowed to grow a little, and then tied on the top in a very funny fashion. Every year it was worn differently.—M. C. Griffis, in St. Nicholas for March.

The Real Fourth of July.

Few Americans ever entertain a doubt about the date of the signing of the Declaration of Independence being July 4, 1776; yet through the efforts and scholarship of Judge Millen Chamberlain, chief librarian of the Boston public library, it has been conclusively proven that it was not signed on that day. The true history of that memorable document Mr. Chamberlain has found to be that on the 2d of July, 1776, the Continental congress at Philadelphia passed the resolution declaring that the united colonies were and of right ought to be free and independent states; and in a letter to his wife dated July 3, 1776, John Adams said: "This day will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America. I ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty." On July 4 the Declaration was read and agreed to, but was not signed. According to direction of congress, it was ordered to be authenticated and printed during the same afternoon and evening, and on the following day copies were sent throughout the colonies. On the 19th of July it was resolved that the Declaration passed on the 4th be fairly engrossed on parchment and signed by every member. On the 2d of August the Declaration was signed by nearly all the members. Hon. Matthew Thornton, of New Hampshire, did not affix his name till November 4 of the same year, nor did Hon. Thomas McKean until some time in 1781. Moreover, the New York members, who, according to the printed journal, signed on the 4th of July, were not authorized to do so until the 9th, and the authorization was not laid before congress until the 15th. Chase, of Maryland, and Carroll, of Carrollton, were not present on the 4th of July, and Rush, Clymer, Taylor, and Ross, of Pennsylvania, whose names appear in the journal, were not chosen until July 20. Notwithstanding the great paper was not signed on the 4th of July that day still deserves to be commemorated above any of the others, for it was then that the sentiments and determination of the American people were proclaimed to the world.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Stabling the "Old Hoss."

An anecdote is told of the early days and the time when court was first held in this county in a log tavern. The adjoining log stable was used as a jail, the stalls answering as cells for the prisoners. Judge T. was on the bench, and in the exercise of his judicial functions severely reprimanded two young lawyers who had got into a personal dispute.

A herculean backwoodsman, attired in a red flannel shirt, stood among the auditors in the apartment. He was much pleased at the judge's lecture—having himself been practicing at "another bar"—and hallooed out to His Worship (who happened to be cross-eyed):

"Give it to 'em, old gimlet-eyes!"

"Who is that?" demanded the Judge.

He in the flannel shirt, proud of being thus noticed, stepped out from among the rest, and, drawing himself up to his full height, vociferated:

"It's this her old hoss!"

The Judge called out in a peculiarly dry, nasal tone: "Sheriff, take that 'old hoss,' put him in 'the stable,' and see that he is 'not stolen' before morning."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Good Job, Quickly Done.

It was telegraphed from the isthmus of Panama, last week, that the officers of the Columbian government at Colon on the 15th inst. selected 100 of the worst ruffians of the 400 who did the burning and murdering at that place, put them on board a steamer, took them out into the bay, and drowned them. That was very nice.

"Over and Over Again."

Repetition is sometimes the only way to impress a truth upon the mind. Accordingly take notice that Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets," (the original Little Liver Pills) continue to be wonderfully effective in cases of sick nervous headache, constipation, indigestion, rush of blood to the head, cold extremities, and all ailments arising from obstruction of the bodily functions. Their action is thorough yet gentle, and the ingredients being entirely vegetable, they can be taken with impunity into the most delicate stomach. All druggists.

Miss Vena Rothwell, formerly a clerk in the millinery store of Mr. J. M. Tebbetts, is now very pleasantly located as a clerk in Grace's millinery store, with sign of "The Bouquet," on Tremont street, Boston.—Times.

An unknown man was found in the suburbs of Worcester, Mass., Friday, dead, with a bullet in his head, evidently a case of suicide. The body is that of a man forty-eight years old, five feet five inches high, heavy built, and was dressed in a black broadcloth suit and soft felt hat.

"In the Tennessee Mountains:" by Charles Egbert Craddock, an author well known as a writer of juvenile books, and also a contributor of short stories to the "Youth's Companion" and "Wide Awake." The Nation (New York) says: "This is something more than mere short stories. We have not only one mountain valley, but a whole country of hills—not a man and a woman here and there, but the people of a whole district—not merely a day of winter or of summer, but all the year—not lives, but life. Mr. Craddock is a master of the art of description. The style is admirable, with marked characteristics of its own." Published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston; ninth edition, 16 mo.; $1.25. No mother should be without the new magazine "Babyhood," a periodical devoted to the care of infants and young children. The magazine has taken up a niche in periodical literature not before occupied, and fills it admirably. It contains each month articles by specialists on the care of children in sickness and health, what food is best for them, their wardrobe—in fact every topic concerning nursery life is discussed in its pages. It also contains communications from mothers all over the country on practical topics, and answers by the editors to questions propounded by its subscribers. One number often contains information worth more than the year's subscription. It is edited by Leroy M. Yale, M. D., and Marion Harland, and published by the Babyhood Publishing Co., No. 18 Spruce street, New York, at $1.50 a year, fifteen cents a number.

—Things one would rather have left unsaid: He—"Yes, I know Bootle slightly, and confess I don't think much of him!" She—"I know him a little, too. He took me in to dinner a little while ago!" He—"Ah, that's just about all he's fit for!"

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, Rockingham, ss.

By the Hon. Judge of Probate for said County.

TO the heirs at law and creditors of the estate of Henry S. Hartshorn, late of Portsmouth, in said County, deceased, represented insolvent, and to all concerned, GREETING:

YOU are hereby notified that the Report of the Commissioner of Insolvency on said estate will be offered for acceptance at a Court of Probate to be holden at Portsmouth, in said County, on the second Tuesday of May next, at 10 o'clock A. M., when and where you may appear and show cause, if any you have, against the acceptance of said report.

And it is ordered that Marcellus Bickford, administrator of said estate, give notice by causing this citation to be published three weeks successively in the PORTSMOUTH DAILY CHRONICLE, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth, in said County, the last publication thereof to be at least one week prior to said court.

More Trouble.

There is a good deal of adverse comment here-to-day upon Secretary Bayard's appointment of H. Sidney Everett as chief of the diplomatic bureau of the state department. Mr. Everett is the son of Edward Everett. He has been a life-long republican, and was appointed as a republican by Mr. Evarts, when he was secretary of state, to the secretaryship of the Berlin mission. Mr. Everett is about fifty years of age. He has lived abroad for a great many years, and has been in London for a long time. He is one of the most extreme of Anglomaniacs, and is much more aristocratic in his inclinations than Minister Phelps. He is a worshipper of English methods. The diplomatic bureau, under his direction, will be run in the interests of English people. He has no sympathy with his own countrymen, and little kindness for the country. Mr. Everett undoubtedly owes his appointment to his family connection. The politicians might forgive Mr Everett his pedigree and his Anglomania if he were only a democrat, but to select a republican of this unfortunate type adds to the opposition against Mr Bayard.—New York World, ultra democratic.

We incline to the belief that the appointment was made to free the democracy from any obligation to appoint Sidney's brother William, who rendered such service to the democrats in Massachusetts. Probably Judge Endicott knew what an incubus the professor would prove to the administration, and advised this move. Then it seems, no matter what manner of man an appointee may be, so he is "only a democrat." That is not the doctrine to preach to the mugwumps, and the democratic leaders know better than to heed it

Naval Battle.

Pay Inspector Stevenson, of the navy, nominally on duty at the fleet paymaster of the North Atlantic squadron, which is now expected at Annapolis, has been here for some time engineering a movement against A. J. Smith, the present chief of the bureau of provisions and clothing, and paymaster general of the navy. Stevenson had a pretty lively time a few years ago, when he was up for examination for promotion to his present grade, and came very near a failure. Indeed, one board reported against his being morally and professionally qualified for promotion, and it required considerable eloquence on the part of Robert Ingersoll to offset the arraignment of him as a paymaster and a gentleman made by Mr. Simons, of the attorney general's department. Stevenson is now a candidate for the office of chief of the bureau, in which there is likely to be a change, and has the credit of aiding the publication of some pretty lively accusations against Mr. Smith, who was appointed through the influence of Mr. Blaine and Wm. E. Chandler a few years ago.—Washington paper.

Smith was on the Kearsarge at the fight with the Alabama. His appointment to this bureau duty was criticised at the time as a jump over several competent seniors. But no matter what the investigation may disclose, Smith, the protege of Blaine and Chandler, may as well first as last begin to fold his tent, and whether he has been honest or otherwise he will be permitted one steal—that of stealing a way from his snug little office in the navy department, and giving way to a new incumbent.

Whiskey and Democracy.

The vast majority of the consumers of whiskey in this country are democrats. Out of every ten persons who die from whiskey nine are democrats. Republicans as a rule, if they drink at all, drink wine and beer, containing but little alcohol. It is the forty per cent of alcohol in whiskey, added to the poisons with which whiskey is adulterated, which savages all the democrats in such frightful numbers. Mea-uring the 7,000,000 voters in the north by the figures which the statisticians give us of the number of deaths from whiskey every year, it is within bounds to say that three-fourths of one per cent, or 57,000, perish annually, of which 52,000 at least are democrats, leaving a gross democratic deficit or party loss of votes every year of 47,000; or at every presidential election a loss of 188,000 sent to their graves by whiskey. This of itself will suffice in large part to explain the mystery why the democrats, who gain so largely on the republicans from Europe an emigrants, still make a headway on them in the aggregate results of the elections in the north.—Chicago Tribune.

Here is food for reflection. The investigating democrat will at once admit the far-sightedness of President Cleveland, who sees from these vital statistics that the election of a democratic president can never be accomplished by the votes of the thirsty democrats, as Mr. Curtis was pleased to describe them, without the aid of the mugwumps. The impatient democrat then must be content hereafter when the president, who knows what he is about, appoints a representative mugwump to office. This will be bread cast upon the waters.

Gone Off With the Soldiers.

Jenny E. Stead of Dover, a young girl aged sixteen, who with her mother worked in Sawyer's woolen mills, left her home last Thursday afternoon without saying where she was going, or even mentioning the fact that she intended leaving home. As she was a great friend of Singing Gertie, a salvation army cadet who was at one time in Dover, and has kept up a correspondence with her since she left, her mother thinks she has gone to join her. When Mrs. Stead got up, Fast day morning, she called her other children, and then went to Jenny's room and knocked. There being no answer, she went in and found the bed unbrushed, and a letter on the table, which read: "Good-by, you will never see me again. It is no use to kiss or cry."

New Hampshire Patents.

The following list of patents granted April 14th, to citizens of New Hampshire is specially reported by Franklin H. Hough, Solicitor of American & Foreign Patents, 925 F. Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.:

No. 315,887, (and two others.) A. Ball, assignor to Sullivan Machine company, Claremont, Core-breaker and lifter for annular rock-drills, three patents.

No. 315,891. G. H. Bartlett, Sunapee, Hanc.

No. 315,914, (and two others.) E. S. Cram, Laconia, Sewing-machine, three patents.

No. 315,752. W. T. Elliott, Meredith, Apparatus for paring and slicing apples.

The whole number of patents granted to citizens of the United States for the week ending April 14th was 518, being the largest number ever issued in a single week.

In the supreme court at Bath, Me., April 16th, in the case of Martha P. Chase vs. the Maine Central railroad, the jury returned a verdict of $3775 for plaintiff, whose husband was killed by defendant's train at a crossing in Iceboro, in 1882.

The Concord railroad pays a dividend of five per cent May 1st.

The Maine Central railroad continues to handle an increasing and very profitable freight business, and is running more trains than ever before. Eight new locomotives from the Mason works, Rhode Island, will soon be added to the rolling stock of the road.

The Teachers' Institute for Rockingham county commences on Wednesday forenoon of this week at the Congregational vestry in Epping, to continue three days.

The tearing down of the partition walls in the store on the southerly corner of Daniel street and Market square is so difficult as to show that the structure was well and strongly put up, as was customary with buildings in the olden time. It is planned that the store shall be modernized in its outward appearance as well as in its internal arrangements.

In the Circuit court of the United States for the district of Massachusetts, in the case Lewis W. Parsons vs. William Sheafe, an action to recover for services as confidential clerk and agent of the defendant, a verdict was rendered in November last for the plaintiff in the sum of $16,275.15. In January the defendant moved for a new trial upon the ground of newly discovered evidence; and a decision has now been given by Judge Webb granting a new trial in the case, upon the payment of the plaintiff's costs in the former trial.

"Summer boarders" have already commenced to arrive at Ogunquit, Wells.

It would not be surprising if Mr. Bayard, who has shown such utter want of decency and lack of tact in the Williams affair and who is at heart at variance with Mr. Cleveland's ideas upon several important questions, would be the first man to step down from his present position in the state department.

Mr. Cleveland has his troubles. No sooner does he remedy the blunder by Garland, relative to Chesley, and get over the trouble made by Black with Miss Sweet, than there comes the colossal insult of Bayard to the colored race, the worse fix of all; and yet sometimes the democrats affect to think that Mr. Cleveland has nothing else to attend to but distribute offices.

That Tired Feeling

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, affect almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. C. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N.Y.

Do Not Delay

delay; if you are sick use Sulphur Bitters.

The Vice President of the Bank of Waverly, Iowa, SMITH P. HUNT, says: I have suffered with Catarrh for the last ten years, and also severe Biliousness and Liver Complaint. Since 1873 my Catarrh grew rapidly worse, so that my life was despaired of. At that time I weighed one hundred and seventy-five pounds, but grew emaciated so rapidly that I weighed only one hundred and thirty. After consulting the most celebrated physicians in the Western States and spending many hundred dollars, from which no relief was obtained, I was induced to try your Sulphur Bitters, and commenced using them. The first bottle gave me great relief, and I now feel that I am on the road to perfect health. I can recommend your Sulphur Bitters to all my friends as the best medicine I ever knew.

Miss HELEN JONES, eleven years in charge of the Package Department, Boston & Maine depot, says: I have been a sufferer from Biliousness, Water Brash, and General Debility for several years. Most of the time I felt miserably and life seemed a burden. I was induced to try your Sulphur Bitters, and was completely surprised to see how much better I felt, and I am now enjoying better health than for years before. I shall always keep a supply of Sulphur Bitters on hand, for they have done me a world of good. Sulphur Bitters should be kept in every family.

A Boston & Albany R. R. engineer, F. B. CHAMBERLAIN, of Springfield, Mass., says: For years I have suffered from Chronic Bilious attacks, with a narrow escape each time from Typhoid Fever. About two years ago I commenced taking Sulphur Bitters, and since that time I have had no trouble from my old enemy. Living in a malarial district, I have had no trouble from that cause, being a marked exception among my neighbors, and I give the credit for that to Sulphur Bitters. It is an invaluable remedy and one which no household should be without.

Builds Up the Weak.

The wife of the Superintendent of Repairs, Pacific Mills, Lawrence, Mass., Mrs. JOHN BARTON, an eloquent temperance advocate, says: When all other remedies failed, Sulphur Bitters cured me of Dyspepsia and those deathly Sick Headaches.

THE CHURCHES.

There were no services at the Universalist and Methodist churches on Sunday, the former being without a pastor, and Rev. Mr. Robins, of the Methodist church, being absent in attendance on the annual conference. The Unitarian pulpit was supplied by Rev. Mr. Williams, the pastor, Rev. Alfred Gooding, having been taken severely ill shortly after the close of the morning service the previous Sunday, and not having recovered sufficiently to resume his pastoral duties. Rev. J. D. Waldron, pastor of the Pearl street church, preached in the North church for Rev W. A. McGinley, who was sick; and Rev. George E. Merrill of Greenland preached in the Court street Christian church, Rev. John A. Goss, the pastor, being absent on account of the illness of his mother. At the close of the service in the Court street church the resignation of Rev. Mr. Goss as pastor, to take effect the last Sunday in May, was read.

SUPREME COURT--SMITH J.

The grand jury reported at noon on Saturday, having found fifty-three indictments, among them being the following:

Daniel Rivers, Patrick J. Peer and John Chase, tramps.

Fred Bailey, Exeter; John Smart, Portsmouth; grand larceny.

Mary Donnelly, Candia; arson.

Louis Martel, Victor Paul, Newmarket; William Craig, Bridgeport; breaking and entering and stealing.

Henry T. Moulton of Portsmouth, two indictments for aggravated assault.

Heber Mudgett and Rose Hartford of Epping, adultery.

Arthur Hill, two indictments, cruelty to cattle.

William Mullen, Exeter, highway robbery.

John Willey, Derry, receiving stolen goods, and one indictment accessory before the fact to larceny.

E. C. Howard, Boston, larceny.

George H. Quimby, larceny.

William S. Gilpatrick of South Newmarket, two indictments, one for gross and habitual cruelty to a child, and the other for aggravated assault on the same child. [This is the case in which it has been charged that a small boy was tortured to death by long-continued and brutal inhumanity.]

There were also twenty-three indictments for violation of the prohibitory liquor law.

THE "EMERALD'S" TIME TABLE.

NAVY YARD "REFORM."

The following despatch from Washington to the Boston Globe of Saturday will be read with interest by many persons in this vicinity, to whom navy yard changes are just now of much concern:

Secretary Whitney has begun the work of reform so badly needed in the navy yards. Twenty-five bosses at Mare island navy yard have been removed in the last few days, and more are to follow. In the Mare island yard the most notorious kind of political rascality has been carried on for years. Mr. Whitney has decided that every one of the bosses in that yard must go.

When he gets through with Mare island he will turn his attention to the eastern navy yards, and there is very little doubt that he will find sufficient reason for the removal of some at Boston. Mr. Whitney several days ago issued a circular to commandants of navy yards, asking for a list of the number of men employed and the salaries paid, etc. As soon as the lists are received the work of removal will be begun.

"PINAFORE."

This evening, at Franklin theatre, there will be a chance to enjoy the favorite comic opera "H. M. S. Pinafore," the most popular production among modern musical conceits. To-morrow evening "the Mascot" will be given; and on Wednesday evening "Iolanthe." On Wednesday afternoon there will be a matinee with "Pinafore" as the attraction. See the advertisement in another column, of the Boston Comic Opera Co.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Dreadnaught, Robertson master, arrived at this port on Saturday from Newport News, Va., with 756 tons of coal to J. Albert Walker; the British schooner Moss Glen, Harrington master, arrived from Port Medway, Nova Scotia, with 3650 sleepers for the Eastern railroad, and five passengers, fishermen who are to sail this season with Capt Elias Tarlton of Newcastle; and the British schooner Orinda, Fisher master, from St. John, N. B., with lumber to T. E. Call & Son. The schooner Mary C. Wheeler, Foster master, arrived from Virginia on Friday evening with oysters for a Dover party, and proceeded up the river on Saturday.

The barque Furness Abbey, of this port, Marcy master, which arrived at Iloilo, Philippine islands, March 1st, from Hong Kong, China, was to load 1500 tons of sugar for Boston.

The brick schooners Triton, Freeman master, and G. W. Rutt, Coleman master, sailed from Portsmouth bridge for Boston on Friday night, this being the Triton's second trip this season. The D. K. Ham, Capt. Garland, and the Hattie Lewis, Capt. Lowe, sailed for Boston on Saturday evening. The schooners Chilton, Lillie and J Chester Wood arrived at Boston on Friday, and the Satellite, Estella and Triton on Saturday, all with bricks from this port.

The schooner John Lenthall, Capt. Sawyer, which laid up at Exeter during the past winter, came down the river on Thursday of last week, and on Sunday was on the marine railway at Kittery, receiving an examination preparatory to sailing for New York.

Winter fishing from this port is about at an end for this season. Several vessels that came in last week with good fares left for Gloucester without disposing of their fish

Sunday was the most pleasant day since the advent of spring. The wind was south, veering toward the east however, which caused a disagreeable sensation to rheumatics. A fog bank was to be seen over the sea at the eastward. Vegetation is rapidly advancing.

The connection of Mr. John D. Randall with the Portsmouth skating rink, of which he has been manager since it was opened to the public, ceased last week.

Captain Albert Dow, of Rye, planted early peas and potatoes on the 16th inst. Allen Greenough is reported to have planted early vegetables at his farm on Boyd's road, Portsmouth, on the 17th. Mr. James Douglass is engaged in early farm operations at the ancient pound, on South road.

Indications of spring multiply. The pump maintained during the warm season by Mr. James Miller on Miller avenue has been put in place, and the Rye farmers on their trips to and from the city will from now until next winter be able to refresh their horses at that spring, the water of which has always been especially popular with the animals.

On Saturday evening next there will be a ring tournament at the Portsmouth rink, the person taking the ring to receive a pair of all clamp nickel-plated Winslow skates.

Mr Editor: Why does your ubiquitous reporter deprive the public of knowledge as to the many duties of our valiant police force? One of its most efficient members was on Fast day busily engaged in amusing an admiring crowd of bystanders by exhibiting the prowess of his dog, in the shape of a cruel dog fight. I am informed that this was not his initial performance in this line, as dog fighting has frequently been indulged in at the instigation and on the encouragement of this valiant M. P. ADMIRER.

Mr William Betton left this city on Saturday for Brooklyn, N. Y., where he will join the band of Barnum's greatest show on earth, in which he is to play the piccolo during the summer campaign. The circus, which has been exhibiting in Brooklyn for five weeks, starts on the road to-day.

Arrangements have been made between the management of the Portsmouth skating rink and the Laighton Brothers of Appledore, Isles of Shoals, in accordance with which the Laightons will run their steamer in from the islands one or two evenings each week during "the season," to enable the guests of the hotels there to enjoy skating at the rink. The Ladies' Band of the Bijou theatre, Boston, has been engaged for the Appledore house this summer, and will play at the rink each evening the steamer runs.

The last assembly to be given this season by the Sons of Veterans will be a grand May Party, to be given on the evening of May 1st, at Congress hall, and it is expected that it will be very largely attended. The young men have very successfully managed their assemblies and ball, which have given very good satisfaction to those who have attended them. We feel sure that their last party will be as successful as any of the others.

Rev. John A. Goss of this city, who attended the meeting of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars held in Portland, Me., last week, reports that the meeting was very largely attended and very interesting. Grand Templar Bailey, of New Hampshire, was in attendance on the Grand Lodge.

The treasurer of current expenses of the Chase Home for Children gratefully acknowledges the receipt of $57.95 from the children's entertainment given in the Franklin theatre on the 11th inst.

In Salem, Virginia, on the 2d inst., Mr. Wm. B. Bowles, a "grandson of Portsmouth," being the son of Wm. B. Bowles, late of this city, was united in marriage to Miss Emma J Griffin of Salem, the pair immediately after the ceremony leaving for Birmingham, Alabama, where the groom is in business.

There will be a May Flower party at the Portsmouth skating rink on the evening of may 4th; skating from eight o'clock to ten, and dancing from ten to twelve; ladies and gentlemen in evening dress; music by the rink band for skating, full orchestra for dancing. Each person will receive a bouquet of May flowers at the door.

Department Commander Collis, G. A. R., on Saturday received from Kentucky a check for $71.25, being the share due the New Hampshire department of the unexpended balance of the contributions sent last year to the sufferers by the great floods.

Mr. Jeremiah Keefe of Greenland, formerly baggage-master at Newmarket Junction, has been appointed a railway postal clerk, on the route between Portland, Me., and Worcester, Mass., via Nashua.

ECZEMA & SALT RHEUM

Another Clear and Positive Recovery —An Elderly Lady's Letter.

Among the numerous letters received by Dr Kennedy in styling his valuable DAILY HERO cures, the following will be found of the great to our readers, who may accept our assurance of its perfect authenticity and truthfulness:

WORCESTER, Mass., March 23, 1884.

Dr D. Kennedy, Rondout N. Y.

DEAR SIR Until recently I have been for three years a sufferer from salt Rheum. It followed upon an attack of Erysipelas, for which I was for a long time under medical treatment. I placed myself again in the hands of the physicians who did, I say no doubt, all that could be done. One thing is sure, however, was none the better for all the medicine they gave me. The painful and unsightly disease made continual progress, until I began to fear I should never get rid of it.

By means of one of those accidents that often result in so much blessing I had my attention called to our FAVORITE REMEDY, which I was told would surely do me good. I used it and within a much shorter time than I would have believed possible, I received a permanent cure. I am as perfectly free from salt Rheum. What a comfort this is, anyone who has suffered from this loathsome disease can easily realize. You may use this as you think best.

Yours truly,
JERUSHA PHAIR.

Mrs Phair's mother, sister, when on a visit to Kansas, found a case of salt Rheum, could not get FAVORITE REMEDY sent to New York City for it, and cured the case.

For all ill-ceases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys Bladder and Digestive Organs, Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, Rondout, N. Y

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

FAVORITE REMEDY

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete without it. It includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an unfailing friend—a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. $1 bottle, 6 for $5, by all druggists.

"Gentle Spring."

Among spring preparations, do not neglect that which is most important of all—your own body. During the winter the blood absorbs many impurities, which, if not expelled, are liable to break out in scrofula or other disease. The best spring medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It expels every impurity from the blood, and gives strength to every function of the body. Sold by all druggists.

Miss R. O. Young, teacher of one of the schools in South Berwick, has given up the position, having been engaged as an assistant in the bank of that place.

One Bottle instead of a Dozen.

"And it took only one bottle to do it," said a gentleman, speaking of Parker's Hair Balsam. I had a run of fever, and when I got well of that my hair began to fall out so fast as to alarm me. I really didn't know what to do, until one day a friend said, 'Try Parker's Hair Balsam.' That was some months ago. What surprised me was the fact that one bottle was enough. I expected to use up a dozen." Clean, highly perfumed, not oily, not a dye. Restores original color.

Dense volumes of smoke were seen arising from the direction of South Elliot on Sunday forenoon—possibly from burning buildings, but more likely from a brush fire kindled by some wicked democrat, that being a democratic town.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

They are Liable!

The doctors are all liable to be mistaken. They were in my case. It cost me $200.00, because they said I had the heart disease, and then told me I must die. Grandmother said it was liver complaint, and $2.00 worth of Sulphur Bitters cured me.—Jennie Poor, Rockport, Mass.

Take Warning.

At this season of the year when so many people become subject to attacks of biliousness, kidney troubles, constipation and all the list of troubles that arise from being housed up, or that are brought on by colds or exposure, it is the part of prudence to take warning from the experience of others and provide ourselves with means of escape from similar troubles. So wide is the fame of Kidney-Wort, that great remedy for all kidney and liver trouble, that almost every one knows of its great virtue for such cases. It should be kept in every household ready for an emergency.

The Soudan war is completely put out of sight by the Afghan complication. A despatch from Suakim says a rumor is current there that Osman Digna has been murdered by his own followers.

Why throw away so much hard-earned money trying worthless medicines, when for 35 cents a remedy can be procured that will cure coughs, colds, sore lungs and croup? Give it a trial. Adamson's Balsam will do it. Trial bottle 10 cents.

B. T. Cox, editor of the Boothbay, Me., Register, was publicly cowhided in the street Saturday afternoon. The assailant was Mr. Lewis Best, who immediately went before a magistrate and was held in $500 for his appearance in court. An alleged slanderous article in Cox's paper was the cause.

A RELIABLE PREPARATION.

WETHERELL'S SARSAPARILLA.

Never before in the History of Medicine has a Preparation been so Universally praised as Wetherell's Sarsaparilla with Iodide Potassium. It goes right to the spot, and builds the system up as no other Medicine.

By its great and thorough blood purifying properties, it cures all humors, from the worst scrofula to a common blotch, pimple or eruption. Mercurial diseases, mineral poisons and their effects are eradicated and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, salt rheum, fever sores, scaly or rough skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful purifying and invigorating medicine.

Whist Not Bumblepuppy.

It is singular that, being so fine a game as it is, whist should be so little known. I have said that every one in England loves whist. I should have said that every one loves a game which is supposed to be whist. But ninety-nine out of a hundred of those who suppose they play whist hardly know what the game is. The game at which they really play has been called by the ingenious Pembridge bumblepuppy. It is a sort of blunder-blindfold game, which must be interesting, I suppose, since so many play it. Nay, let us be honest. Even we who know what whist is (which is by no means claiming to play finely) have most of us had a period of bumblepuppy.

Can we not remember how we sat gravely down to what we called whist? When our hands were delivered to us we set down in our minds each ace as a card to be led at the first opportunity. We had little fear about our kings, for we knew that the aces over them would be led out by the other players just as frankly as we should lead out our own. Even queens had a fair chance. But the single card was our chief delight. That was led out at once, and so our little trumps were safely made, for no one would think of leading out trumps while there seemed to be a chance of using any in ruffing. Somehow a trick made by ruffing seemed worth two made in any other way. If no chance came for a ruff trumps were reserved to the last. But even then our game retained its beautiful simplicity of character. The ace came out first, and then in due order the king and the queen. To have led a small card from ace, queen and others would have seemed wild audacity, which might indeed succeed at times, but was too imprudent to be encouraged.

This game, however, the whist of the home circle and of Western America, (in the Eastern States many Americans know true whist "real well") is not whist at all. It owes its interest solely to chance. A player of this bumblepuppy game, who has been lucky in getting a number of good hands, does indeed arrogate to himself the character of a good player. He seems to regard his luck as something due to personal influence. Indeed, oddly enough, while a good whist player, even if, without a good partner, he has to play against two bumblepuppy players, will never be assured of success, knowing how uncertain the chances are, you will generally find one of these know-nothings boasting confidentially that he will win.

Another way of recognizing the whist duffers is by their manner when the cards favor them. A good player, when he and his partner have made five or six by cards, will not be loudly jubilant, though, touching on the help received from the cards, he may congratulate his partner on some successful stroke of strategy; but the player of bumblepuppy, when he and his partner, having all the honors and five out of six of the remaining high cards, have won the odd trick and so made a treble, will say, "He knew they would win," "He always does win," and otherwise take credit for a success which not even the skill of a Deschapelles could have managed to avert. But though domestic whist or bumblepuppy has "these violent delights" for its exponents, it is not a game worth playing or talking about.—R. A. Proctor, in Longman's Magazine.

A Witty Clergyman.

Rev. Dr. Byles was at times noted for his ready wit, which bubbled forth spontaneously. He was once engaged in nailing some list on his doors to exclude the cold when a parishioner saw him.

"The wind bloweth wheresoever it listeth, Dr. Byles."

"Yes, yes," retorted the old man, "and man listeth wheresoever the wind bloweth."

Byles was once arrested as a Tory and afterward tried, convicted and sentenced to confinement on board a guard ship and to be sent to England with his family in forty days.

This sentence was changed by the Board of War to confinement in his own house. A guard was placed over him. Then the guard was removed, replaced and again removed, which evolutions the doctor described by saying he had been guarded, regarded and disregarded, while his sentinel he called his observ-a-tory.

Punch Drinking in Washington.

The punch that is made in Washington society is no child's drink. This is the recipe for the standard Washington punch: One part of sour lemonade, one part of claret, one-half part of rum, one-half part of best whisky. This concoction is then carefully sweetened and given additional flavor by strong dashes of various liquors. Sometimes champagne is substituted for the claret. The average glass in which this punch is served is round, broad and deep. It will hold as much as a teacup. This punch is iced to perfect coldness, and in some places is served from a huge block of ice, which is cut in the shape of a bowl. This punch is drank at receptions indiscriminately by young and old without regard to sex. The young people are the greatest patrons, perhaps. Warmed up by the exercise of the dance the young people rush to the punch bowl to satisfy their thirst. It is not an uncommon sight to see young gentlemen drink five or six glasses, nearly a pint, of this strong mixture. I have seen young ladies drink from two to three glasses of this punch. How many people are there whose general habits are temperate who can safely drink two or three teacupfuls of rum, whisky and claret?

Not His Property.

"Will you be kind enough to take that gripsack off that seat," said a countryman, who got on a train at Luling, Texas.

"No, sir, I don't propose to do anything of the sort," replied the drummer, who was sitting on the other side of the seat.

"Do you say that you are going to let that grip-sack stay right there?"

"Yes, sir; I do."

"In case you don't remove that grip-sack, I shall be under the painful necessity of calling the conductor."

"You can call in the conductor, the engineer, and the brakeman if you want to. Perhaps you had better stop at the next station and send a special to old Jay Gould himself about it."

"But the conductor will put you off the train."

"I don't care if he does. I am not going to take that grip-sack from that place where it is."

The indignant passenger went through the train, and soon returned with the conductor.

"So you refuse to remove that grip-sack, do you?" asked the conductor.

"I do."

Great sensation.

"Why do you persist in refusing to remove that grip-sack?"

"Because it's not mine."

"Why didn't you say so at once?"

"Because nobody asked me."

A Man's Thanks.

A well known business man of Wilmington, N. C., writes to express his thanks for the benefit which his wife has derived from the use of Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. "It is with pleasure," he says, "that I write to express to you my gratitude for the relief and benefit your Vegetable Compound has been to my wife, who has been troubled with ulceration and a tumor weighing 2 1-2 lbs., so the doctor said. She has been under the treatment of the doctor for six years. Finally he said he could do nothing more for her, that she would die in 24 hours. Then I commenced using your compound, and as soon as she commenced to take it she commenced getting better and now she can attend to her domestic affairs as well as she ever could."

A Call on the Vice President.

Recently, as Col. Stone, chairman of the democratic state committee, and a political friend, were passing through the corridors of a hotel in Washington, they encountered a time-honored democrat from the White Mountain regions who seemed in excellent spirits, and greeting his friends said to them eagerly, "Come in here. I want to show you somebody."

In a twinkle he had knocked at a door, and entering with his fellow democrats in tow and approaching a venerable but disappointed-looking man who seemed to occupy the room, said: "Mr. Hendricks, allow me to introduce Col. Stone, chairman of our state committee." The vice president with a somewhat dazed look said, "I thought you said you were chairman of that committee!" "I am not now," said the perpetrator of divers tales of a highly-wrought character, "I was once!"

A cold wave seemed to float over the party, and our Belknap county lawyer and his fellow traveller took their departure. Not, however, before the gay mountaineer had enquired for Mrs. Hendricks, and on being informed that she was "not at home" expressed his regrets, as he would have liked to have introduced his New Hampshire friends to her. It was quite apparent that the colonel had seen the vice president before, and felt that he was on pretty good terms with him. His friends from New Hampshire, however, felt a trifle awkward at the situation, while the man from the Pequaket region seemed not at all to share in the embarrassment.

The Norfolk Route.

The Boston managers of the Merchants & Miners' Transportation Co.'s business have issued the following circular, which is self-explanatory:

To members of the Society of the Army of the Potomac:

As an agreeable mode of transportation to the annual reunion of your society, to take place at Baltimore May 6th and 7th, we respectfully invite your attention to the attractions our "Norfolk Route" offers, namely: Unsurpassed passenger accommodation; entire freedom from noise and dust, thus affording perfect rest for body and mind; a delightful sea-trip.

Our steamers traverse the waters made famous by the naval battle between the Merrimac and Monitor, and pass in full view of Fortress Monroe, old Annapolis, the naval academy, and Fort McHenry, and arrive at Baltimore within sixty hours after the time of departure from Boston. Rates — Boston to Baltimore, $9.00; Boston to Baltimore, and return, $16.00; these rates include meals and state-room berth.

For tickets, full information, etc., call on or address, C. P. Gaither, 290 Washington street, or Solomon Howes, 55 Central wharf, Boston.

Gen. Grant's Condition.

The reports of Gen. Grant's health continued favorable on Monday, the improvement, though slow, being plainly perceptible. The doctors disagree as to the nature of the disease, but those who have been attending him maintain that it is a mild form of cancer, not necessarily fatal immediately, but like to end his life within two months, though he may live through the summer. The general is very cheerful.

Gen. Grant drove out on Monday.

The Boston Advertiser has been showing up the manner in which liquor dealers have escaped penalties after indictments in the lax courts of Massachusetts, and the Evening Record has exposed the gambling dens, told who own the houses let for such purposes, and informed the police where the law is broken nightly. The Advertiser folk apparently do not relish their new political bed-fellows, or there is for some reason a falling out, which developed these disclosures.

President Cleveland on the 17th inst. issued a proclamation reversing President Arthur's executive order of February 27th, which restored to the public domain the lands of the Old Winnebago and Crow Creek Indian reservations of Dakota. President Cleveland, in his proclamation, says this step is taken after a careful examination of the Indian treaties bearing upon the subject, fortified by an opinion of the attorney-general deciding that, as these lands were treaty reservations, President Arthur had no lawful power to restore them to the public domain. The president, in his proclamation, also warns all persons occupying these lands to remove from them within sixty days. If President Cleveland intends to inaugurate an era of justice for "the nation's wards," he should be supported by unanimous public opinion.

Edward E. Collum, a young married man of Newburyport, Mass., who has made himself conspicuous as a prohibitionist and by prosecuting liquor dealers, was arrested Saturday on a charge of distributing obscene and immoral letters. These letters were placed in the pockets of high school girls by Collum while they were going home from school. He was detected by the father of one of the girls, and positively identified by several girls. The court held Collum in $5000 to wait action in the superior criminal court, which meets in May. He went to jail in default of bail. The offence is a serious one, only punishable by confinement in state prison, the full penalty being ten years.

On the 12th inst. the steam tug Britannia towed into St. George, Bermuda, the derelict brigantine O. B. Stillman, of Baltimore, loaded with staves. She was completely waterlogged, and very much broken up. She is stripped bare of all material except one mast and anchor. The vessel was abandoned on September 24th, off the coast of Florida.

Four convicts escaped from the state prison at Charlestown, Mass., on Saturday, but one was quickly recaptured by a citizen, and another was arrested in Lynn that night.

A Washington special says: "Admiral Jouett's recent utterances about French intrigues at Panama are being explained. The admiral has been in possession of evidence leading, as he believes, to a conviction that De Lesseps' agents have been fomenting the recent revolutionary movements in Colombia, with the view of having the Panama route in the hands of his tools as a new government. The story goes that a transit way, with jurisdiction, was to be sold to the canal company, and in that way a foothold secured for France in this hemisphere. It is now whispered that the administration has itself become convinced that something of the sort has been at the back of the recent pending troubles. Hence its prompt action in forwarding troops."

Reuben Richardson, eighty years old, stopped at Jeffersonville, Ind., recently, on his way to Dardanelle, Ark. He had walked the entire distance from the state of New Hampshire.

The Manchester & Lawrence railroad pays a dividend of five per cent, May 1st.

"First-Class Goods,"

In which merit is at once recognized, are now, and always have been, imitated, especially the manufactured article. After years of labor, and the expenditure of a fortune, in perfecting and placing before the public that which people appreciate and demand, some one who never had an original idea offers a counterfeit or substitute to compete with the genuine. Curtis Davis & Co., makers of the "Welcome Soap," find the above true in their case at least, the excellence of whose productions are everywhere acknowledged as the "standard" of quality, being imitated in every way that competition can suggest. But in the use of these goods, the consumer realizes the full benefit of value received. Welcome Soap confirms and sustains their great reputation.

A social hop will be given by Messrs. Spencer & Haskins on Thursday evening, April 23d, in Franklin upper hall; music by Turner's full orchestra.

The May party in Franklin hall on Tuesday evening, May 5th, promises to be a great affair. Eastman's orchestra, of Manchester, will furnish the music.

A valuable dog belonging to Mr. H. Fisher Eldredge was unable to resist the temptation to take a stroll when he felt the soft spring air of Sunday morning. As long as he like a sedate dog kept the Sabbath properly and went his way in a sober manner, all was well; but for some reason he attempted to jump a fence which had sharp pickets, and not clearing the top he was impaled in one leg, and hung over, unable to move. From this predicament he was released, and slowly limped home, taking good care to keep out of the sight of the members of the S. P. C. A., as he overheard one of them remark that it would probably be necessary to kill the poor creature to relieve his torture. However, he arrived home about church time with a leg somewhat painted red, and was cared for. Dr. Whittier being sent for appeared at the bedside of the wounded canine, examined the injured limb and took a few stitches, closing up the wound, and leaving orders that the patient should be kept quiet. Sunday proved a day of rest, and we are glad to add recuperation for the dog, which is a great favorite of Mr. and Mrs. Eldredge, and which we are pleased to know is rapidly recovering from the effects of his mistake of the Sabbath morning.

Notice as to Ashes and Refuse.

THE attention of citizens is called to the fact that the city teams can only remove such ashes and refuse as are placed on the edge of the sidewalk, in barrels or boxes of suitable size and weight, so as to be readily handled and emptied into the carts.

The city will not attempt to remove ashes or refuse placed in large barrels, boxes or hogsheads, filled so as not to be capable of being easily lifted and emptied, and all such will in every case be left where the owners place them, and at their risk.

Miss Elizabeth N. Nowell, daughter of Mr. William Nowell, formerly a police officer in this city but now connected with the Prouty Press Manufg company, of Boston, was married on the 15th inst. to Mr. Edward N. Davenport of Boston. The wedding ceremony was performed at Mr. Nowell's residence in Dorchester, Mass.

A horse and wagon belonging to George Simpson of Cider hill, York, were taken from his stable one night of last week, and found home the next morning, the horse having apparently been driven all night. Mr. Simpson says he will give $50 reward to any person informing him of the temporary thief.

Mr. Joseph T. Cunningham will have charge of the office of the Oceanic hotel, Star island, this summer.

Some of the many friends of Mr. George Manent, who for years has been a member of the Christian church choir at Kittery Foreside, invaded his house on the evening of the 11th inst. and presented him with a silver ice-pitcher and goblet, the presentation speech being made by Capt. E. A. Duncan, and neatly responded to by Mr. Manent. Among the visitors who made remarks was Carpenter Joseph Cox, U. S. N., who is eighty-seven years of age. Mrs. Manent was in the secret, and a fine collation was consequently in readiness for the guests.

That Tired Feeling

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N.Y.

Do Not Delay

delay; if you are sick use Sulphur Bitters.

The Vice President of the Bank of Waverly, Iowa, SMITH P. HUNT, says: I have suffered with Catarrh for the last ten years, and also severe Biliousness and Liver Complaint. Since 1873 my Catarrh grew rapidly worse, so that my life was despaired of. At that time I weighed one hundred and seventy-five pounds, but grew emaciated so rapidly that I weighed only one hundred and thirty. After consulting the most celebrated physicians in the Western States, and spending many hundred dollars, from which no relief was obtained, I was induced to try your

Sulphur Bitters

Bitters; after taking six bottles my Headache, Vomiting, and all the effects of my Catarrh, Biliousness and Liver Complaint left me, I now weigh one hundred and sixty-five pounds, and consider that Sulphur Bitters have saved my life.

MRS. HIRAM JORDAN, Lewiston, Me., says: For years I was a terrible sufferer with Scrofula, caused by salivation from the use of mercury and calomel; terrible sores broke out on my body, which twisted my limbs so that I could hardly move. The doctors all gave me up to die. Four bottles of Sulphur Bitters entirely cured me, and I am nowable to do all my housework.

not, Sulphur Bitters will cure you.

Miss HELEN JONES, eleven years in charge of the Package Department, Boston & Maine depot, says: I have been a sufferer from Biliousness, Water Brash, and General Debility for several years. Most of the time I felt miserably and life seemed a burden. I was induced to try your Sulphur Bitters, and was completely surprised to see how much better I felt, and I am now enjoying better health than for years before. I shall always keep a supply of Sulphur Bitters on hand, for they have done me a world of good. Sulphur should be kept in every family.

A Boston & Albany R. R. engineer, F. B. CHAMBERLAIN, of Springfield, Mass., says: For years I have suffered from Chronic Bilious attacks, with a narrow escape each time from Typhoid Fever. About two years ago I commenced taking Sulphur Bitters, and since that time I have had no trouble from my old enemy. Living in a malarial district, I have had no trouble from that cause, being a marked exception among my neighbors, and I give the credit for that to Sulphur Bitters. It is an invaluable remedy, and one which no household should be without.

Builds Up the Weak.

The wife of the Superintendent of Repairs, Pacific Mills, Lawrence, Mass., Mrs. JOHN BARTON, the eloquent temperance advocate, says: When all other remedies failed, Sulphur Bitters cured me of Dyspepsia and those deathly Sick Headaches.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY,
WASHINGTON, March 18th, 1885.

WHEREAS, by satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that "The New Hampshire National Bank of Portsmouth," in the City of Portsmouth in the County of Rockingham and State of New Hampshire has complied with all the provisions of the "Act of Congress to enable National Banking Associations to extend their corporate existence and for other purposes," approved July 12th, 1882:

Now therefore I, John S. Langworthy, Deputy and Acting Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that "The New Hampshire National Bank of Portsmouth" in the City of Portsmouth in the County of Rockingham and State of New Hampshire is authorized to have succession for the period specified in its amended articles of association, namely until close of business on March 22, 1905.

In testimony whereof witness my hand and seal of office this 18th day of March, 1885.

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

MONDAY, April 20th.

Timothy Wholley, a tramp, was held in $200 for the supreme court, October term; in default of bail he will rest and recuperate in jail until the time mentioned.

William DeCourcy, a tailor, was charged with the larceny of a pair of trousers from Frank H. Bean, but the charge was not sustained.

Paul Bergen, assault on Mary Morrissey, case placed on file.

METHODIST APPOINTMENTS.

The annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church closed at Littleton on Monday. The appointments in this vicinity were as follows:

Portsmouth, O. H. Jasper; Greenland, O. S. Baketel; South Newmarket, C. M. Dinsmore; Newmarket, D. W. Downs; Hampton, H. B. Copp; Epping, James Pike. Rev. J. E. Robins was appointed presiding elder of the Claremont district; in this district C. M. Dunning is presiding elder.

THE COMIC OPERA.

"H. M. S. Pinafore" was given,—and very pleasingly given,—in Franklin theatre on Monday evening by Miller & Dixie's Boston Comic Opera Co., to a large audience. The old favorite was heartily received. The part of Josephine was sung by Miss Irene Murphy, who possesses a very sweet soprano voice and knows how to use it; Harry F. Dixie was very fair as the admiral, and May Leyton Dixie was a first-rate Little Buttercup; Robert Evans, a big chap with a voice of the same size, made an excellent Dick Deadeye; Miss Rose Dana as Hebe was satisfactory enough to justify Sir Joseph's final choice, (no surrender,) and the other characters ranged from fair to good. There is dramatic and musical ability enough in the company to make it a strong exponent of comic opera.

This evening The Mascot will be presented. See advertisement.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Clara E. Simpson, of this port, is not wearing out her sides chafing against wharves under her new master, Capt. John Hontvet. She sailed for Boston on the 17th inst. from Baltimore, with a cargo of coal.

The schooner Maggie Ellen, Littlejohn master, arrived at this port on Sunday from Port Johnson, N. J., with 324 tons coal to E. F. Sise & Co.

The ship Grandee, of this port, Capt. B. F. Jacobs, cleared at Philadelphia on Friday last for Anjier, for orders.

The brick schooners D. K. Ham and Hattie Lewis, which sailed from this port Saturday, arrived at Boston on Sunday.

The contractor's schooner Yankee was towed to her position at Gangway rock on Monday by the steamer Clara Batemen.

The big sloop Stephen Orr, Aderton master, which was last season engaged in the brick-carrying trade between this port and Boston, arrived from Portland on Monday, and proceeded up river to load.

Capt. Cheney, of the gondola H. P. Spinney, on Monday brought down to the Portsmouth Brewing Co. 30,000 bricks, from Rowe's brickyard in Eliot.

The marine railway at Kittery is being almost continually occupied, and some vessels even have to leave sometimes for repairs elsewhere. It would seem that some of the shipwrights here would endeavor to construct new ways for hauling up vessels at one of the many convenient spots on this side of the Piscataqua.

The Fire Alarm Telegraph.

A meeting of the aldermanic committee on fire department was held at the city rooms Saturday, for the purpose of establishing the fire alarm telegraph in this city. Another meeting was held on Monday, when Mr. Mendell of the company which is to put in the apparatus, was present.

Mr. Mendell was also accompanied by Mr. Rodgers, the master mechanic, and these gentlemen, accompanied by the fire department committee made a partial location of the sites for the alarm boxes. These locations, of course, are not arbitrary, and may be changed.

The boxes will be located as follows:

No 1, At the Police station.

No. 2, At the corner of Russell and Market streets.

No. 3, At the corner of Court and Water streets.

No. 4, At the corner of Washington and Gates streets.

No. 5, At the South school-house.

No. 6, On Haymarket Square.

No. 7, At the corner of Union and Middle streets.

No. 8, At the corner of Islington and Cabot streets.

No. 9, At the corner of Hanover and Pearl.

No. 10, At the corner of Elm and Dennett.

Private box at Eldredge's brewery.

A large tract of second-growth timber on the Dover side of the Piscataqua river, between Piscataqua bridge and the Durham road, was on fire Sunday afternoon. This is probably what caused the dense smoke seen from this city, which gave rise to the belief that there was a big fire in the westerly part of Eliot.

The price of admission to the several afternoon sessions at the Portsmouth skating rink is now ten cents, which also includes the use of skates.

Hon. Frank Jones arrived at Savannah, Ga., on Sunday, having sailed from Boston on Thursday afternoon. He will be the guest of Hon. John G. Sinclair at Orlando, Fla., for a few days, and will return via Washington.

At Hutchings & Pryor's yard at City Point, South Boston, the yachts Altaire, Unknown, Marie and Vera are being rapidly put in order for launching.

The youthful journalist—it will take at least twenty-five years' experience to make him a "newspaper man" — who "does" Portsmouth for the Manchester Union, says "The removal of Thomas Entwistle and the appointment of another republican in his place is causing a fearful bitterness between the Maine and New Hampshire wings of the g. o. p." If by "g. o. p." he means the democratic party, he may be right in his statement, as we are not in the inner councils of that party; all the "bitterness" over the appointment of Mr. Richard H. Billings, that we have heard of, has been developed among the democrats.

Out door work was commenced in earnest on the morning of the 20th inst. around the residence of Hon. Frank Jones, and the gardeners are busily at work on the new parks there.

The weather on Monday was very fine —pleasant and comfortably warm. The roads are now in good condition, in consequence of which there was much travelling into town. The Parade was well occupied by teams loaded with hay, charcoal, baskets, etc., and Mr. Henry Moulton's team, from York, was there with a load of ladders for buildings and gardens, and some of the very nice chairs of his peculiar construction. Hay sold quite readily at $16 per ton.

In the municipal court at Boston, Monday afternoon, Mrs. Emma L. Lunt, wife of Samuel O. Lunt, a well-known conductor on the Eastern railroad, was arraigned upon a complaint in which she was charged with assaulting Etta C. Belser on Washington street, near Court avenue, Boston, one day last week. A continuance was requested, and the hearing was postponed until Wednesday, the 22d inst., Mrs. Lunt being held in $100 for her appearance at that time. Mrs. Lunt, who is said to be a little woman, attacked Mrs. Belser, who is a big woman, on the street, tore her hat and knocked her down, and carried off her switch as a trophy of victory. Jealousy caused the trouble.

Miss Helen Adelaide Russell, who sang in the Middle street church on the evening of March 26th to the delight of a crowded audience, is with the Miller & Dixie Comic Opera Co., and takes the leading character in "Iolanthe" on Wednesday evening.

The thermometer stood at seventy degrees above zero in the shade on Monday, shortly after noon. The street sprinklers were out, for the first time this year. The tank on Charles street, from which the sprinklers are filled, leaked like a seive when water was pumped in, but soon "took up."

Joseph L. Bolster, Esq., financial agent of the Burton Stock Car Co., of Boston, is in town for a day or two in the interest of the company. Mr. Bolster has a few hundred shares of the preferred stock, which he is selling at par. Sixty-nine railroads in the United States are using the Burton car; and all shippers of live stock are eager patrons of the improved cars which brings cattle to market in a comfortable manner and healthful condition. Some of the shrewdest financiers of the country have invested in the stock. The Burton company has the patent right and the revenues must soon be enormous.

There will be a meeting in the interest of the Woman's Baptist Home and Foreign Missions in the Middle street chapel on State street, Wednesday, April 22d. Services at 10:30 A. M. and 1:30 P. M. Speakers from abrond will be present. A cordial invitation to all.

The Cooking Club of Portsmouth, consisting of sixteen young misses, will produce the drama "Rebecca's Triumph" in Franklin theatre on Thursday, the 23d inst., for charitable purposes.

A Gloucester, Mass., despatch of April 17th says: "The New England mackerel fleet now numbers 148 vessels, one-half (74) from this port, twenty-three from Portland, Me., and fifty-one from other Massachusetts and Maine ports. Of this number thirty-two have landed mackerel, 2825 barrels in all. There have been no receipts since Tuesday at New York or elsewhere. Schooner Nellie N. Rowe, of this port, is high line of the fleet, having landed two fares, 170 barrels, and stocked $2200.

A $20.00 Biblical Reward.

The publishers of Rutledge's Monthly offer twelve valuable rewards in their Monthly for May, among which is the following:

We will give $20.00 to the person telling us how many verses there are, having only two words each, in the New Testament Scriptures (not the Revised edition,) by May 10th, 1885. Should two or more correct answers be received, the reward will be divided. The money will be forwarded to the winner May 15th, 1885. Persons trying for the reward must sent twenty cents in silver or postal notes, (no postage stamps taken,) with their answer, for which they will receive the Monthly for June, in which the name and address of the winner of the reward and the correct answer will be published, and in which several more valuable rewards will be offered. Address "Rutledge Publishing Company, Easton, Penna."

ECZEMA or SALT RHEUM.

Another Clear and Positive Recovery —An Elderly Lady's Letter.

Among the numerous letters received by Dr Kennedy testifying to notable SALT RHEUM cures, the following will be found of interest to our readers, who may accept our assurance of its perfect authenticity and truthfulness:

WORCESTER, Mass., March 23, 1884.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

DEAR SIR: Until recently I have been for three years a sufferer from salt Rheum. It followed upon an attack of Erysipelas, for which I was for a long time under medical treatment. I placed myself under the care of the ablest physicians who did, I have no doubt, all that could be done. One thing is sure, however, I was none the better for all the medicine they gave me. The painful and unsightly disease made continual progress, until I began to fear I should never get rid of it.

By means of one of those accidents that often result in so much blessing I had my attention called to your FAVORITE REMEDY, which I was told would surely do me good. I used it, and within a much shorter time than I would have believed possible, I received a permanent cure. I am now perfectly free from Salt Rheum. What a comfort this is, and how it places your wonderful medicine in my opinion, you may guess at, but never know. I keep it now constantly in the house as a family medicine. Yours truly,

MRS DINAH PHAIR.

Mrs. Phair sometime since, when on a visit to Kansas, found a case of Salt Rheum, could not get FAVORITE REMEDY, sent to New York City for it, and cured the case.

For all diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys Bladder and Digestive Organs, Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, Rondout, N. Y

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex Favorite Remedy is confidently proving itself an invaluable friend—a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. $1 bottle, 6 for $5, by all druggists.

The Root of the Evil.

To thoroughly cure scrofula it is necessary to strike directly at the root of the evil. This is exactly what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, by acting upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing it of all impurities, and leaving not even a taint of scrofula in the vital fluid. Thousands who have been cured of scrofula by Hood's Sarsaparilla, testify to its wonderful blood-purifying qualities. Sold by all druggists.

One Bottle instead of a Dozen.

"And it took only one bottle to do it," said a gentleman, speaking of Parker's Hair Balsam. I had a run of fever, and when I got well of that my hair began to fall out so fast as to alarm me. I really didn't know what to do, until one day a friend said, 'Try Parker's Hair Balsam.' That was some months ago. What surprised me was the fact that one bottle was enough. I expected to use up a dozen." Clean, highly perfumed, not oily, not a dye. Restores original color.

Take Warning.

At this season of the year when so many people become subject to attacks of biliousness, kidney troubles, constipation and all the list of troubles that arise from being housed up, or that are brought on by colds or exposure, it is the part of prudence to take warning from the experience of others and provide ourselves with means of escape from similar troubles. So wide is the fame of Kidney-Wort, that great remedy for all kidney and liver trouble, that almost every one knows of its great virtue for such cases. It should be kept in every household ready for an emergency.

A RELIABLE PREPARATION.

WETHERELL'S SARSAPARILLA.

Never before in the History of Medicine has a Preparation been so Universally praised as Wetherell's Sarsaparilla with Iodide Potassium. It goes right to the spot, and builds the system up as no other Medicine.

By its great and thorough blood purifying properties, it cures all humors, from the worst scrofula to a common blotch, pimple or eruption. Mercurial diseases, mineral poisons and their effects are eradicated and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, salt rheum, fever sores, scaly or rough skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful purifying and invigorating medicine.

. A Lost Continent.

Captain William Churchill delivered an interesting lecture on "A Sunken Continent," before a large audience in the hall of the Academy of Sciences. He sought to show by the records of deep-sea soundings and from archæological remains that the Pacific islands are only the remnants of a submerged continent, whose mountain peaks and lofty heights are all that remain above the surface of the ocean. He dwelt at length on the subject of a Polynesian antecedent civilization as revealed through ancient implements, statues, and sculptured stone slabs found on a few of the groups, more notably the Feejees. The studies of zoophytes and coral formations taken from a depth of 2,000 fathoms and more also confirmed this belief of the subsidence of the prehistoric continent. On Pitcairn's Island, and also on Tahiti and Tonga-Tabu had been found remains which showed the existence of a long-forgotten tribe. At Tonga-Tabu a monster trilithon is to be seen. It is composed of gray, volcanic stone, with neatly dressed edges. It is 10x12 feet square, and stands twenty feet out of the ground. It is surmounted by a huge kava bowl. Captain Churchill considers this relic to be of great archæological value. He described the implements and metals in use by the natives of several of the groups before the advent of the white voyagers, and said that iron and steel were unknown to them before their discovery by civilized persons. Captain Churchill gave a minute description of monolithic statues of stone and sculptured wood found on Easter Island. The monoliths were found standing in rows of five or six, only a few feet apart. They were hewn from volcanic rock and were either very crude in workmanship or else they had suffered from the ravages of time. One row of these statues was quite well preserved. Each of them was ten feet high and they represented human heads and bodies, with a kind of cap or other head covering on the top. These were the same statues seen and described by Captain Cook in his works on travel and discovery. A finely sculptured hand of a dancing girl and some polished wooden slabs, on which were numerous hieroglyphical figures in long rows, had been discovered in an ancient and half-ruined stone house on Easter Island. This was the only relic of a native written language ever found in the Pacific Islands.—San Francisco Chronicle.

What Constitutes a Pound Sterling?

This question was asked of Sir Robert Peel, in the House of Commons, and he replied by pitching a sovereign to the querist. No better answer is possible. Some years ago, when teaching political economy at University College School, I presented to my pupils a curious problem as follows: Our currency is all based on the sovereign, and the sovereign, as defined by act of Parliament, is the 1-1096 of forty pounds troy, or, otherwise stated, anybody taking ingots of standard gold to the mint may have them coined without charge into sovereigns, at the rate of 1,869 for every forty pounds troy; these 1,869 weighing forty pounds, the same as the ingot gold. This being the case, what is the troy weight of each sovereign? I offer the same problem to my readers. Those who attempt to work it out will find that they have to face a problem something like squaring the circle. I have gone as far as thirteen places of decimals showing the weight of a sovereign to be nearly 128.27447833066537 grains. How much farther one might go without arriving at the actual weight I can not say. Nothing could be clumsier than this. It has caused volumes to be written by currency paradoxers who have denounced the abomination of fixing the price of gold. Why, say they, should we not have free trade in gold? Why should the Government arbitrarily fix its price at £3 16s 10½d per ounce instead of allowing supply and demand to fix the price of this commodity, as of other things? Had the weight of the sovereign been the simple fraction of an ounce, say one-quarter of an ounce, this question would have answered itself at once by showing that because four sovereign weigh one ounce the value of gold measured by sovereign (i. e. its price) must be £4 so long as the weight of the coin remains unchanged and no charge is made for stamping it. It is the present complex fraction that has obscured this very simple subject.—Gentleman's Magazine.

There is a distressing report about the famous O'Neil jugs, seized in the express office two years ago and put in the Court House basement to await judicial movements. They were all full of liquor and the officials carefully sealed them. The number was so great that the property had a considerable money value and the courts began to adjudicate upon the ownership. The decision is not yet reached, but an examination shows that about half of the fluid has disappeared.—Rutland (Vt.) Herald.

Martin H. Blanchard, who died in Bloomingdale, N. J., at the age of 94 years, left behind him a progeny which has seldom been exceeded in number. He married in 1805 at the age of 14 years, and was a father when but 15 years old. A year and a half later his wife bore twins, so that he had three children before he was 17. His first wife died in 1859, having borne nineteen children. His second wife had eleven more. He was a grandfather before he was 30. It is believed that his descendents number between 600 and 700. During the war he declared he could muster a full company of his own male children and grandchildren.

A Bargain in Corner Lots

Is what most men desire, but to keep from filling a grave in a cemetery lot ere half your days are numbered, always keep a supply of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" by you. When the first symptoms of consumption appear lose no time in putting yourself under the treatment of this invaluable medicine. It cures when nothing else will. Possessing, as it does, ten times the virtue of the best cod liver oil, it is not only the cheapest but far the pleasantest to take. It purifies and enriches the blood, strengthens the system, cures blotches, pimples, eruptions and other humors. By druggists.

From B. F. Liepsner, A. M., Red Bank, N. J. I have been troubled with catarrh so badly for several years that it seriously affected my voice. I tried Dr.——'s remedy without the slightest relief. One bottle of Ely's Cream Balm did the work. My voice is fully restored and my head feels better than for years.

In regard to Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh, my answer is, I can recommend it as the best remedy I ever used.—Dr. J. S. Vaughan, Dentist, Muskegon, Mich. See adv't.

A Man's Thanks.

A well known business man of Wilmington, N. C., writes to express his thanks for the benefit which his wife has derived from the use of Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. "It is with pleasure," he says, "that I write to express to you my gratitude for the relief and benefit your Vegetable Compound has been to my wife, who has been troubled with ulceration and a tumor weighing 2 1-2 lbs., so the doctor said. She has been under the treatment of the doctor for six years. Finally he said he could do nothing more for her, that she would die in 24 hours. Then I commenced using your compound, and as soon as she commenced to take it she commenced getting better and now she can attend to her domestic affairs as well as she ever could."

MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK CORNER, ME., April 20th.

A six-weeks-old child of Will J. Brooks was buried yesterday.

Mrs. Clarissa McIntire died on Friday, aged about seventy years.

Dr. Stewart sprained his ankle quite badly in jumping from his carriage yesterday morning.

Timothy Ferbish is building an addition to his house; Mr. John P. Grant superintends the job.

Mr. Asa L. Moulton can do a big day's work when he sets out. On the 9th inst. he went to Portsmouth, came home and dressed a hog, and then weighed off about nine tons of pressed hay. On the same day Walter P. Moulton, his son, walked to Portsmouth and back, and then walked to Elliot to see a loadstone who is visiting there.

Elder Smith preached again at the Christian church yesterday.

Elder Andrews preached his farewell sermon at the Methodist church.

The building of the proposed new road between Long and Short beaches will be let out to the lowest responsible bidders by the selectmen on Wednesday, 22d inst. It is variously estimated to cost from $1500 to $2500. When completed it will be of great value. By vote of the town it is to be completed by July 1st. J. P. Norton, Esq., of brick-yard fame, and Hon. E. C. Moody, are said to be viewing the ground preparatory to bidding. P.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., April 21st.

The annual meeting of the Eliot & Kittery Mutual Fire Insurance company will be holden on Monday, May 4th, in the vestry of the First Methodist Episcopal church at North Kittery.

Mr. Joseph Lewis will be with his stallion, "Hunter Duroc," at the stable of S. L. Shortridge of Brookfield, N. H., during the month of June.

Rev. Perry Chandler and Rev. Alexander Hamilton left town Tuesday to attend the Methodist conference held in Biddeford this week.

The Free High school opened last week with fifty-seven scholars, several of whom enter for the first time. The schoolroom has been changed somewhat in the interior; a recitation room and a dressing room have been finished off, making it more convenient for teachers and scholars. Mr. Rowell, the efficient principal of the school, will be ably assisted in his duties by Miss Amanda Abrams, a graduate of the Gorham Normal school, class of '85.

Henry Muchmore, son of Geo. W. Muchmore, Esq., has left the machine shop of the Eastern railroad at East Boston, where he has been employed the past three years, having been an apprentice there, and has accepted a position in the shops of the Ohio Central railroad at Marshalltown, Ohio. Woodbury Plaba, formerly of this town, is employed by the same company.

Merrill Lodge, I. O. G. T., of North Kittery, will give an oyster supper at the First Methodist church vestry on Tuesday evening, the 28th inst.; ice cream will be served. Admission twenty cents.

The trial of Wm. Dickson, foreman of the jury on what was known as the first star route trial, indicted for "corruptly endeavoring to influence jurors," has begun in the criminal court at Washington.

The president of Salvador has designated Senor Paralta to represent that republic in Washington. Senor Paralta is already accredited as minister from Costa Rica.

Fort Pitt is reported to have been captured by the Indians under Louis Riel. A son of Charles Dickens commanded the post.

Two excellent shots were made on the 20th inst. at Oakdale junction, near Chattanooga, Tenn. Pat Cain, an hostler, and Jim First, a noted desperado, became engaged in a bitter quarrel in a saloon, when First drew a pistol and shot Cain through the breast. As the latter was falling he fired at First, the bullet taking effect in his abdomen and causing a fatal wound.

In the United States circuit court at New York, Mrs. Elmira Clare has recovered a verdict for $5000 damages against the owners of the steamer Stonington. Mr. Clare was killed or drowned in a collision between that steamer, on which he was a passenger, and the Narragansett, on the sound four years ago.

A St. Petersburg, Russia, despatch says: Thirty-two men-of-war are in complete readiness to put to sea from Cronstadt, in response to the orders issued Monday morning.

The Russian corvette Stritax, with 180 men, four days out from Havana, arrived at the naval anchorage, Norfolk, Va., on the 20th inst., and was followed an hour later by the British man-of-war Garnet from Vera Cruz, with 250 men and twelve guns. The Garnet came to anchor a quarter of a mile below the Stritax.

James Murray of Taunton, Mass., said to be one of the most expert card sharpers in the state, was sent to the house of correction on Monday, for victimizing a New Bedford man at the central passenger station in Taunton a short time ago.

Laura Keegan, a woman with a sensational record, visited the Adelphi theatre in Cleveland, Ohio, Saturday evening, and attempted to shoot Edward Thomas, the proprietor. The cartridge failed to explode, and then she proceeded to pound Thomas over the head with a poker. Thomas was married on Friday, which was the occasion of Miss Keegan's wrath. She was taken ill after the fracas, and will probably die.

Miss Cleveland the other day took up the remark, "Pray, what do ladies find to think about besides dress and parties?" made by a fine looking army officer who has been doing guard duty in Washington during the past seventeen years. "They can think of the heroic deeds of our modern army officers," she said, smiling pleasantly.

We have received "The Season" for May, containing the newest fashions and most elegant designs in fancy work, with three colored plates and numerous illustrations of the latest and best styles of ladies' dresses. The "ubiquitous reporter" of the CHRONICLE was not aware of any tremendous fight of dogs on the street, Fast day. He abhors fights of whatever nature, among men or beasts. But upon calling upon the police force he finds that there was on the day specified a short contest between two rat terrier dogs, one of which unfortunately belonged to a member of the police force, who, very much to the disgust of the dog, picked the animal up and carried him off under his arm. That Tired Feeling

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. FIELPS, Rochester, N.Y.

Do Not Delay

delay; if you are sick use Sulphur Bitters.

The Vice President of the Bank of Waverly, Iowa, SMITH P. HUNT, says: I have suffered with Catarrh for the last ten years, and also severe Biliousness and Liver Complaint. Since 1873 my Catarrh grew rapidly worse, so that my life was despaired of. At that time I weighed one hundred and seventy-five pounds, but grew emaciated so rapidly that I weighed only one hundred and thirty. After consulting the most celebrated physicians in the Western States and spending many hundred dollars, from which no relief was obtained, I was induced to try your Sulphur Bitters, and I now weigh one hundred and sixty-five pounds, and consider that Sulphur Bitters have saved my life.

Mrs. HIRAM JORDAN, Lewiston, Me., says: For years I was a terrible sufferer with Scrofula, caused by salivation from the use of mercury and calomel; terrible sores broke out on my body, which twisted my limbs so that I could hardly move. The doctors all gave me up to die. Four bottles of Sulphur Bitters entirely cured me, and I am now able to do all my housework.

not, Sulphur Bitters will cure you.

Miss HELEN JONES, eleven years in charge of the Package Department, Boston & Maine depot, says: I have been a sufferer from Biliousness, Water Brash, and General Debility for several years. Most of the time I felt miserably and life seemed a burden. I was induced to try your Sulphur Bitters, and was completely surprised to see how much better I felt, and I am now enjoying better health than for years before. I shall always keep a supply of Sulphur Bitters on hand, for they have done me a world of good. Sulphur Bitters should be kept in every family.

A Boston & Albany R. R. engineer, F. B. CHAMBERLAIN, of Springfield, Mass., says: For years I have suffered from Chronic Bilious attacks, with a narrow escape each time from Typhoid Fever. About two years ago I commenced taking Sulphur Bitters, and since that time I have had no trouble from my old enemy. Living in a malarial district, I have had no trouble from that cause, being a marked exception among my neighbors, and I give the credit for that to Sulphur Bitters. It is an invaluable remedy, and one which no household should be without.

Sulphur Bitters

Builds Up the Weak.

The wife of the Superintendent of Repairs, Pacific Mills, Lawrence, Mass., Mrs. JOHN BARTON, the eloquent temperance advocate, says: When all other remedies failed, Sulphur Bitters cured me of Dyspepsia and those deathly Sick Headaches.

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

TUESDAY, April 21st.

James Nelson, a tramp, for drunkenness was fined $3, costs $6.90. Brentwood.

HONOR TO WHOM 'TIS DUE.

Editor of Chronicle: If Sport, Mr. Eldridge's dog, could have told his own story last Sunday morning, it would have been a very different one from that which appeared in your issue of Tuesday. It was an officer of the S. P. C. A., who, attracted by the cries of the wounded dog, ran out of her house and succeeded in lifting him from the fence, to the no small detriment of her "Sunday clothes" in so doing, from the poor creature's fast-flowing blood. Despatching one of the frightened children who stood helplessly around, to give notice to the dog's master of his condition, she then as soon as possible accompanied him home, not, as your informant asserts, to defend him from his best friends, but to see that men and boys not members of that much abused society, did not annoy him. Had she met any fellow-member on the way he would gladly have aided her in helping the poor beast along, but none such was encountered; and she did not leave him till he was safe in the hands of a messenger from his owner.

If the suggestion of killing the dog was made at all, it must have been made by one of the Levites who passed by on the other side. M. A. F.

COMPLIMENTARY RESOLUTIONS.

At a meeting of the Christian society of Rye, on the 20th inst., the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas we, members of the Christian church and society of Rye, N. H., have received the resignation of our beloved pastor, Rev. Lewis Phillips, therefore be it

Resolved, That it is with feelings of regret and sorrow that we reluctantly accept his resignation, and would not do so only at his own urgent request.

Resolved, That we appreciate his high Christian character and pure life, and that we will endeavor to profit by the sound doctrine of Christianity which he has faithfully and untiringly dispensed to us.

Resolved, That we are thankful to our Creator for sending him among us, and as he retires he will carry with him our strongest feeling of Christian fellowship, and the confidence and respect of the citizens of our town.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be entered on the records of the society, and a copy sent to our pastor, Rev. Lewis Phillips.

F. H. MARDEN, Clerk.

"GO LIGHT," GENTLEMEN.

The attention of citizens is called to the mayor's notice concerning the placing of ashes and other refuse matter in casks or other receptacles too large for the city workmen to handle with reasonable ease. During the winter, when the carts are mounted on low runners, the two men accompanying each team on the regular rubbish-removing rounds each Wednesday and Saturday can "dump" a hogshead or box of almost any size with comparative ease; but now that the use of high wheels necessitates a lift of some five feet, no reasonable householder will fill his barrels too full. Unreasonable ones, who put out three-barrel casks packed full of solid ashes, need not growl if they find the casks at night just where they were put in the morning, and with their contents intact. That's what they will find, growl or no growl.

THE COMIC OPERA.

Miller & Dixie's company had another large audience at the Franklin theatre on Tuesday evening, when "The Mascot" was presented, the performance, dramatic and musical, being fully up to that of Monday evening, and as well received by the audience.

This afternoon "Pinafore" will be repeated, for the convenience of ladies and children; and this evening "Iolanthe" will be the attraction. See advertisement for prices.

SUPREME COURT--SMITH J.

Peter J. Horne vs. Boston & Maine railroad. Action to recover for damages incurred by pliff. in alighting from a train in Reading, Mass., in 1882. Plaintiff is over seventy-three years old. Case has been to the United States court, and been remanded to this court. The evidence was put in on Monday, and the case argued on Tuesday; verdict for deft. Marston & Eastman for pliff.; Copeland for railroad.

MRS. GEORGE VANDENHOFF.

Mrs. George Vandenhoff, who died suddenly in New York on Monday, was the wife of the well known actor and elocutionist, George Vandenhoff. She was herself an actress of note, having made her first appearance on the stage at the Metropolitan theatre in New York in 1854, as Miss Makeath. She played in Philadelphia and Boston soon afterward. In August, 1855, she was married in Boston to Mr. Vandenhoff, and for some years she supported her husband in his starring engagements. She retired from the stage in a few years, and has since that time devoted herself to giving lessons in elocution in New York. Mrs. Vandenhoff was for several years a resident on Deer street in this city, in the house which her husband purchased of the heirs of the late Peter Jenness.

NAVY YARD PATRONAGE.

A Washington despatch says: Secretary Whitney has inaugurated a rather startling change in his department by placing the navy yard patronage exclusively in the hands of the commandants of the yards. This was announced to those who came to ask for places at the Norfolk navy yard, where over 1000 men are usually employed. "Gentlemen," said the secretary, "there are many navy yards in this country. It would be a physical impossibility for me to examine a moiety of the applications, and I should be in danger of never doing right, so I have turned the whole thing over to the commandants, and I shall hold them accountable."

"THE SILVER KING," APRIL 29th.

Boston Theatre Co.

This strong and well known company of favorites will make their return and farewell appearance here on the evening of April 29th, at the Franklin theatre, and extra exertions are being made to set the piece in a superb manner. "The Silver King" is one of the very best melodramas ever seen here, and the Boston Theatre Co., with Coulter, Maginnis, Eberle, Burbeck, Thorne, Chase, Craven, Rachel Noah, Grace Thorne and a star cast of twenty-six artists, combined with a car-load of scenery and appointments, will be a strong enough attraction to fill this cosy little house. Reserved seats will be on sale Saturday morning at H. B. Buzzell & Son's store.

One of the recently-removed navy yard officials it is said threatens to "peach"—but what on is not stated.

MARITIME NOTES.

The new schooner Agnes E. Downs, built for Portsmouth parties and intended to be employed in the fisheries under command of Capt. Levi Downs, was successfully launched at Hodgdon's Mills, Me., on Monday, the 20th inst. She was masted and rigged on the stocks, and is expected to sail for this port early next week.

The steamer James Sampson, Capt. Duncan, after laying up all winter, resting, and being put in good repair this spring, on Monday last commenced to run on her old route between this city and Kittery Point, touching at Newcastle on the way.

The schooner Corvo, Averill master, from Rondout, N. Y., with 700 barrels of cement, arrived at Broughton's wharf on Tuesday, the 21st inst. The schooner Mary Willey, Williams master, sailed from Broughton's wharf on the 21st for Bangor, touching at Fort McClary on the way down the harbor to land a quantity of shingles to be used in repairing the roofs of buildings in the fort.

It is said that the man who on Monday charged De Courcy, the tailor, with stealing his trowsers, has "skipped the town," and left the disputed property in the hands of the tailor.

Besides the immense quantities of coal handled by J. Albert Walker at the Concord railroad wharves, he does an extensive business in lime, ground plaster and cements. Persons in want of any of these articles will find large stocks of them there.

Hon. Frank Jones is about to erect a brick blacksmith shop at his brewery, with two forges, so that after it is in operation all the smith work required about the establishment can be done on the premises, as well as the shoeing of his cattle and horses.

The third social assembly of the Red Stocking base-ball club will be given in Congress hall on Tuesday evening, April 28th; music by Lord & Medcalf's orchestra.

It is reported that the "independent democrats" of this city will organize a club in a few days, and that its membership will be very large.

There will be a meeting in the interest of the Woman's Baptist Home and Foreign Missions in the Middle street chapel on State street, Wednesday, April 22d. Services at 10:30 A. M. and 1:30 P. M. Speakers from abroad will be present. A cordial invitation to all.

Economy is the order of the day, and it is a fact that the great bargains offered by G. W. Simmons & Co., of Boston, will enable you to save money by supplying your wants of them. All the cabs, herdics and hansoms at the Boston depots are free to those who wish to use them.

This season's trade is something enormous, especially at this present time, when the magnificent wholesale stock of Knowles & Leland is being closed by Messrs. Simmons & Co. at retail.

Notice as to Ashes and Refuse.

THE attention of citizens is called to the fact that the city teams can only remove such ashes and refuse as are placed on the edge of the sidewalk, in barrels or boxes of suitable size and weight, so as to be readily handled and emptied into the carts.

The city will not attempt to remove ashes or refuse placed in large barrels, boxes or bogsheads, filled so as not to be capable of being easily lifted and emptied, and all such will in every case be left where the owners place them, and at their risk.

ECZEMA or SALT RHEUM.

Another Clear and Positive Recovery —An Elderly Lady's Letter.

Among the numerous letters received by Dr Kennedy testifying to notable SALT RHEUM cures, the following will be found of interest to our readers, who may accept our assurance of its perfect authenticity and truthfulness:

WORCESTER, MASS., March 23, 1884.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

DEAR SIR: Until recently I have been for three years a sufferer from salt Rheum. It followed upon an attack of Erysipelas, for which I was for a long time under medical treatment. I placed myself again in the hands of the physicians who did, I have no doubt, all that could be done. One thing is sure, however, I was none the better for all the medicine they gave me. The painful and unsightly disease made continual progress, until I began to fear I should never get rid of it.

By means of one of those accidents that often result in so much blessing I had my attention called to your FAVORITE REMEDY, which I was told would surely do me good. I used it, and within a much shorter time than I would have believed possible, I received a permanent cure. I am now perfectly free from Salt Rheum. What a comfort this is, and how it places your wonderful medicine in my opinion, you may guess at, but never know. I keep it now constantly in the house as a family medicine. Yours truly,

MRS. DINAH FRIEL.

Mrs. Friel sometime since, when on a visit to Kansas, found a case of salt Rheum, could not get FAVORITE REMEDY, sent to New York City for it, and cured the case.

For all diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys Bladder and Digestive Organs, Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, Rondout, N. Y.

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an unfailing friend—a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. $1 bottle, 6 for $5, by all druggists.

Easy to See Through.

How can a watch—no matter how costly—be expected to go when the mainspring won't operate? How can anyone be well when his stomach, liver or kidneys are out of order? Of course you say "He cannot." Yet thousands of people drag along miserably in that condition; not sick abed, but not able to work with comfort and energy. How foolish, when a bottle or two of Parker's Tonic would set them all right. Try it, and get back your health and spirits.

Richard Livingstone of Philadelphia, aged thirty-one years, cut his throat Saturday in four places, at his boarding place. The reason assigned for his rash act by the boarders is that the unfortunate man was desperately in love with a young miss of seventeen summers, who failed to reciprocate his affection, and who was, in fact, unaware that she was the object of his love. Livingstone told several of the boarders of his infatuation, but he never had the courage to address the young lady.

A Man's Thanks.

A well known business man of Wilmington, N. C., writes to express his thanks for the benefit which his wife has derived from the use of Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. "It is with pleasure," he says, "that I write to express to you my gratitude for the relief and benefit your Vegetable Compound has been to my wife, who has been troubled with ulceration and a tumor weighing 2 1-2 lbs., so the doctor said. She has been under the treatment of the doctor for six years. Finally he said he could do nothing more for her, that she would die in 24 hours. Then I commenced using your compound, and as soon as she commenced to take it she commenced getting better and now she can attend to her domestic affairs as well as she ever could."

At the annual meeting of the Dover horse railroad, April 21st, the treasurer reported the net profit for the previous year to have been $830.12. The directors elected were Z. S. Wallingford, Charles H. Sawyer, J. E. Lothrop, C. M. Wiggin and F. B. Williams.

Take Warning.

At this season of the year when so many people become subject to attacks of biliousness, kidney troubles, constipation and all the list of troubles that arise from being housed up, or that are brought on by colds or exposure, it is the part of prudence to take warning from the experience of others and provide ourselves with means of escape from similar troubles. So wide is the fame of Kidney-Wort, that great remedy for all kidney and liver trouble, that almost every one knows of its great virtue for such cases. It should be kept in every household ready for an emergency.

A RELIABLE PREPARATION.

WETHERELL'S SARSAPARILLA.

Never before in the History of Medicine has a Preparation been so Universally praised as Wetherell's Sarsaparilla with Iodide Potassium. It goes right to the spot, and builds the system up as no other Medicine.

By its great and thorough blood purifying properties, it cures all humors, from the worst scrofula to a common blotch, pimple or eruption. Mercurial diseases, mineral poisons and their effects are eradicated and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, salt rheum, fever sores, scaly or rough skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful purifying and invigorating medicine.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

The finest tonic for nervous people is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which insures perfect digestion and assimilation, and the active performance of their functions by the liver and bowels. As the system acquires tone through the influence of this benign medicine, the nerves grow stronger and more tranquil, headaches cease, and that nameless anxiety which is a peculiarity of the dyspeptic, gives way to cheerfulness. To establish health on a sure foundation, use the peerless invigorant. For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

Stopped for Red Lights.

"Do you see that poor old bloat walking up the track, there?" remarked a switchman to some loungers in his little shanty; "see how groggy he walks. He's a wreck, no good on earth any more to himself or any body else. Two years ago that man was the crack engineer of this road. He had all the posts of honor. If there was a flying special to be run with the president or directors or some big bugs on the private car he was always selected. His regular job was pulling the limited. A better man never thumbed a throttle. But red lights ruined him. Yes, sir, red lights got away with him, and now he couldn't get a freight engine and hasn't run a mile in six months. All owing to them infernal red lights."

"What do you mean? Did he fail to stop some time for a red light and thus cause an accident?"

"Oh, no; it wasn't that, sir. He never had a wreck of no kind, save himself. He always stopped for red lights, and that was just the trouble. He got so he couldn't walk up the street but he would stop at every place where there was a red light out. Now look at him."—Chicago Herald Train Talk.

The Seat of War In Egypt.

General R. E. Colston, formerly a boy in Egypt, contributes the opening illustrated article in the March Century, from which we quote the following description of a portion of the present seat of war: "He who has not traveled through the desert cannot form a just idea of that strange and marvelous region, in which the ordinary conditions of life are completely changed. It is essentially a waterless land, without rivers, creeks, rivulets, or springs. Once away from the Nile, the only supply of water is derived from deep wells, few, scanty, and far apart. Long draughts are frequent. When I explored the great Arabian Desert between the Nile and the Red Sea; it had not rained for three years; and when I traveled over the Suakim route and through Kordofan, no rain had fallen for two years. Between the twenty-ninth and the nineteenth degree of latitude it never rains at all. Water becomes precious to a degree beyond the conception of those who have never known its scarcity. Members of the Catholic mission at El Obeid, where water is much more plentiful than in the deserts, assured me that, the summer before, water had been sold as high as half a dollar a gallon by the proprietors of the few wells that had not dried up. When long droughts occur, the always scanty crop of doura fails away from the Nile, and the greater parts of the flocks and herds perish, as well as a considerable part of the population. It follows naturally that when undertaking a journey through the desert, the paramount question is water. A supply must be carried sufficient to last to the next well, be it one or five days distant. It is usually carried in goat and ox skins suspended from the camels' pack-saddles. These are the water-bottles of Scripture, which become leaky from wear, and always lose a considerable portion of their contents by evaporation. The first thing after reaching a well is to ascertain the quantity and quality of its water. As to the former, it may have been exhausted by a preceding caravan, and hours may be required for a new supply to ooze in again. As to the quality, desert water is generally bad, the exception being when it is worse, though long custom enables the Bedouins to drink water so brackish as to be intolerable to all except themselves and their flocks. Well do I remember how at each well the first skinful was tasted all around as epicures sip rare wines. Great was the joy if it was pronounced 'moya helwa,' sweet water;; but if the Bedouins said 'moosh tayib,' not good, we might be sure it was a solution of Epsom salts. The best water is found in natural rocky reservoirs in deep narrow gorges where the sun never shines. As to 'live springs,' I never saw more than half a dozen in six thousand miles' travel."

The American Sailor.

The American sailor is to be so radically altered in appearance, so far as his service in the United States navy is concerned, that he will hardly be recognizable. All of the pictures of him now extant will suddenly become obsolete. The navy clothing board has been for a month in daily session in this city for the purpose of refashioning the naval-uniforms, which have for a long time been considered ridiculously antique. A great number of exhibit suits have been made and pondered, and a decision has been practically reached. The blue will remain as the dominant color, but the shapes are to be thoroughly reformed. The familiar expansion of the trousers from a tight knee to a petticoatish bottom will give place to a cut of legs more nearly in conformity to civilian fashion. The other sweeping innovation decided on a hat, in place of the traditional snug-banded, visorless, overhanging topped cap, which has a wonderful capacity for catching the wind and none at all for shading the eyes from sunlight. The hat which the board has adopted is exactly like one worn generally about ten years ago. It is made of cloth, not pressed felt, and has a rather low, round top, with a moderately wide brim, which at usual times turns up evenly all round, but can be turned down when protection of the face is desired. The new hats and trousers will take from the sailors about all the distinctiveness which their dress has heretofore given to them, but it is calculated that there will be a gain in utility.—Brooklyn Eagle.

"Work, Work, Work!"

How many women there are working to-day in various branches of industry—to say nothing of the thousands of patient housewives whose lives are an unceasing round of toil—who are martyrs to those complaints to which the weaker sex is liable. Their tasks are rendered doubly hard and irksome and their lives shortened, yet hard necessity compels them to keep on. To such Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" offers a sure means of relief. For all female weaknesses it is a certain cure. All druggists.

Nathaniel Crandon, a young drug clerk at Rutland, Vt., recently discharged because he had become dissipated, committed suicide by taking morphine.

The combination, proportion and process in preparing Hood's Sarsaparilla, are peculiar to this medicine, and unknown to others.

On Saturday, 18th inst., a daughter of Gilbert Cummings of North Lubec, Me., while playing with a bonfire, was burned to death. Age eleven years.

From B. F. Liepsner, A. M., Red Bank, N. J. I have been troubled with catarrh so badly for several years that it seriously affected my voice. I tried Dr. ——'s remedy without the slightest relief. One bottle of Ely's Cream Balm did the work. My voice is fully restored and my head feels better than for years.

In regard to Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh, my answer is, I can recommend it as the best remedy I ever used.—Dr. J. S. Vaughan, Dentist, Muskegon, Mich. See advt.

Mrs. Wm. Knight, wife of a bank president at Providence, R. I., killed herself April 21st. She was fifty-five years old, and her mind was unsettled.

This is the best season in which to purify the blood, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier. 100 Doses One Dollar.

Some rioting at Panama was reported on the 21st inst.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, Especially Valuable for Children.

Dr. J. R. Frayser, Memphis, Tenn., says: "I have used Scott's Emulsion for many years, and regard it as a valuable medicine for the diseases of adults, for infants teething, and broken down systems in children."

Cuticura

THE ONLY REMEDIES FOR THE SKIN AND BLOOD UNIVERSALLY COMMENDED.

Wm. T. Totten, 672 North Tenth Street, Philadelphia, reports that one of his customers stated to him incidentally that he was feeling so well and had gained twenty-seven pounds in the last year, all of which he attributed to a systematic course of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, which has proved effectual when all other remedies failed.

SORES ON NECK.

Chas. Brady, Somerville, Mass., who refers to Dr. J. J. Wood, druggist, of that city, certifies to a wonderful cure of running sores on the neck which had been treated by hospital physicians without cure, and which yielded completely to the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

CURED BY CUTICURA.

My skin disease, which resisted several popular remedies and other remedies advised by physicians, has been cured by your CUTICURA REMEDIES. They surpassed my most sanguine expectations and rapidly effected a cure.

VINCENNES, IND. J. C. ARENTRUE.

KNOW ITS VALUE.

All of your CUTICURA REMEDIES give very good satisfaction. The CUTICURA I especially recommend for the diseases for which it is used. I know from experience its value.

The World-Renowned Notre Dame.

The sisters of the most noted Catholic ladies seminary in the United States, the famous Notre Dame, at Govanstown, near Baltimore, Md., on the 30th of last January made public a card, certifying to the beneficial results attending the use of Red Star Cough Cure in that institution. They state that they found it efficious alike for relieving coughs, oppression on the chest and irritations of the throat. The board of health endorses it.

The court of claims has rendered a judgment against the United States, in favor of the Atlantic and Pacific railroad for $51,357.

Hardly a newspaper printed but speaks of a sudden death by heart disease. Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator would have cured it; strong assertion, but many have said they were saved from the grave by it. $1.00 per bottle at druggists.

"Can Any Good Thing Come Out of Nazareth?"

The republican party, founded upon the need of a reform and which had effected the abolition of slavery, had, according to the notions of some of its members, been so much occupied and manipulated by men who had learned the trade of politics by an early apprenticeship in the democratic party, that it was considered that the last presidential contest was a proper occasion to cast over the deck-load and change captains.

It perhaps did not occur to many of the independents that their efforts to reform would be aided by the democracy after they had attained the power. The party men who are the spoils men now have one view of the situation, but there are others in the organization who regard the present status of the democracy as a condition of being under bonds to be of good behavior until the next term.

It therefore astonishes the average republican when he reads the announcement that cabinet ministers and others in authority do not at once siege upon all the offices in the land as the legitimate spoils of office, and distribute them among the victors in the late presidential contest.

But the democracy, if not good, are at least shrewd. The secretary of the navy desires to rehabilitate the efficiency of our navy. He doubtless has ascertained that a smart contractor with skilled workmen, can construct a ship equally as well and at far less cost than can the government in its own dock-yards, if the practice of handicapping the bureau of construction with men employed for political considerations or at the request of congressmen and local politicians to serve their own purposes, is to prevail.

Mr. Whitney is a clear-headed man. He is altogether too much of a business man and too independent a politician to become simply a manager of an employment bureau, for the benefit of ambitious congressmen and the aggrandizement of local politicians. He rises above the duty of designating at his standpoint, who shall be a watchman or a sweeper in the navy yard at Mare island or Kittery. He has other duties, far more consequential, and he cannot be a mere man of details and at the same time a cabinet minister capable of grasping broad and important problems. In whichever of these characteristics a man may excel, he will be found deficient in the other.

Now the secretary purposes, if we understand his late order, not to be annoyed by private correspondents who wish a job on the navy yards. He has matters of more importance requiring his attention. These details will be left with the commandants. The latter generally know who is king; at least, they will early and easily be made to ascertain this fact, if there should be anywhere found an officer entirely devoid of the customary intelligence of naval officers in this respect.

Now whether all this programme is sincere or not, there can be no doubt, if we are to re-establish our navy by construction of ships of war in the navy yards, the efficiency of which it has been charged was allowed to be deteriorated under the late administration because of the theory that the contractors' yards and not the government's were the places in which work for the navy should be done, there must be a state of things which will result in the government having the service of the best men at the same price it has often paid for inefficient and indolent employees; and if the secretary seeks to obtain, in behalf of the government, such results as can only be achieved by the employment of the right kind of workmen on the navy yards, we opine that every one but the drones who seek a soft billet without rendering an equivalent therefor will say amen.

The republican politician may shake his head and exclaim, "This is all bosh; there is a cat in the meal somewhere," but we affirm that the democracy under Mr. Cleveland will be led to adopt many measures of this nature, because the party has great expectations as to its control of the government in the future; and when its officials in any reform in the administration rise above the party, it may at first surprise, but it will nevertheless receive the commendation of fair-minded republicans all over the country, who will admire the sagacity, even if they fail to commend the motive of the reformed democrats in this new role.

Our New York Fashion Letter.

SMALL MEN, BEWARE.

Full of doleful possibilities for the men is the coming season; especially for those who lack stature. Such an one, after months of happy reflection that he is taller by an inch than his inamorata, is now liable to find any day that the inch is replaced by a foot, and a foot on the wrong side. It is her twelve-inch sugar-loaf hat that has done it, and when we add that her brim may be of such dimensions that he can no longer whisper, but must speak in loud tones to be heard, no heart can deny him sympathy. Men of all degrees, indeed, are in a precarious situation, for even the tall man may discover the little creature whom he used loftily to patronize, now almost his equal, and protected by a very defiant expanse of brim. Even with a crown flat unto pancakedness there is no safety, since in many such cases the brim soars aloft to the most unseasonable and unreasonable heights. There is a crown-and-brim fever abroad. These cited are the most malignant cases, but any one might be seized, and short men about to propose would do well to consider risks. Unobtrusive types show a craving for the immoderate; the leading style of round hat has quite a high crown, while the trimming massed with turret effect in front shows unmistakable longing after the vertical, and even the capote bonnet displays trimming placed over the forehead with bristling result.

TRIMMINGS.

With scarfs likewise, which measure in length two and a half yards, by eighteen inches in breadth, he who runs may read that the hat of 1885 can become a notable affair. Totally unmanageable but for regiments of little pins. Long scarfs are bunched and twisted by their aid into reasonable shape, and their gilt heads glitter fashionably among soft, gauzy folds to the number, as an extreme example, of fifty on one bonnet. Heraldic handkerchiefs are likewise held in position, and more than one capote is made of a handkerchief deftly pinned on, the centre forming a crown. Intermixtures of velvet greet us constantly; combined with anything it comes in acceptably, not only as trimming but for strings, while in a new departure we observe velvet flowers—jonquils, daffodils and other garden glories—to say nothing of delicate muslin flowers attended by rich velvet foliage. Spanish and French laces are freely used, and though not so novel as the wool and ribbon bows with coquettish perch, give answering touches to bows on costumes, which this year are in especial favor.

MATERIALS.

Velvet in millinery affords, in like manner, an answering touch to costumes where velvet or its substitute, Nonpareil velveteen with fast pile and rich shadowings, forms a component part or often the entire dress, with finish of lace. Black lace is in especial demand for these very attractive outfits; reaching even to entire lace dresses, but in this case, the foundation is silk or satin. Very pretty costumes will be made of camel's hair with sampler stich borders for vest, collar, cuffs and partial skirt adornment. For evening, white wools are being made with trimmings of gold cord put on richly or in touches, and pale colored silken cordings. The idea, indeed, of imparting character to a dress by the trimming, is a feature this season. Silks are relieved of plainness by entire fronts of rich passementerie, independent passementeries, put on more lightly, as also silken cords, while for evening, a key note is afforded by the above, for lovely possibilities too numerous to mention. Cording is used to some extent for serviceable wool outfits, but not nearly so much as braid; the latter forming a very favorite and, doubtless, the most stylish garniture for solid wools with or without tailor finish.

NOTES.

Black silk stockings are stylish, but this season will not be much worn with white dresses, while, for colored costumes, a stocking to match is greatly liked, or in case two or more colors appear in the dress, the leading one can be in solid hosiery, or choice might be made of stripes where the two are combined.——Having previously recommended Button's Raven Gloss as the only shoe dressing which does not injure leather, it is gratifying to find, on inquiry, that ladies now concede it to be the best in the market. A little higher priced, but cheaper in the end, as it really improves the boot or slipper.——A short wrap, of brocaded material, trimmed sometimes with chenille fringe, but oftener with lace, is the favorite street garment for spring. Colored brocade is more stylish than black, the latter, however, being worn to a great extent. LUCY CARTER.

Eben F. Pillsbury has been appointed collector of internal revenue for the Boston district, to fill the vacancy caused by the decease of Charles W. Slack. Mr. Pillsbury was a Maine man until after the failure of his plan to steal the state from the legal voters in the Garcelon period, which failure so chagrined him that he moved to Massachusetts.

Gen. Bragg no longer loves Grover Cleveland "for the enemies he has made." Ex-Confederate Gardner of Watertown, Wis., was Bragg's candidate for the post-office in that place, and George W. Bird, of Jefferson, Wis., was appointed. Gardner left his Wisconsin home at the beginning of the war, and went south for the express purpose of going into the confederate army. Since his return to the north he has flaunted his gray uniform in the faces of all good citizens, and made himself generally obnoxious as an unreconstructed and unrepentant rebel; and he boasted that his record would secure him the postoffice, and Gen. Bragg was his champion.

The New York World, with other democratic journals, severely criticises Mr. Bayard for making Mr. Phelps minister to England. In concluding a lamentation for this mistake, the World says, "that the appointment was practically not the act of the president, who is trustful as well as conscientious. Mr. Bayard demanded this appointment, almost as a right, after making the most extravagant statements in favor of his Vermont friend, who had thrice advocated his nomination for the presidency—against Tilden, against Hancock and against Cleveland. The cabinet, in disregard of all precedent, was not allowed to decide or vote upon the appointment. Practically the cabinet did not know of it, and no one is responsible for it but the secretary of state."

Portsmouth, N. H., April 21st, 1885.

Capt. Charles H. Chase, of Portland, has been appointed collector of internal revenue for the district of Maine. During the war he was as virulent and blatant a copperhead as Eben F. Pillsbury, and was Pillsbury's worthy associate in engineering the Garcelon steal. The two have been bitter and unscrupulous partisans for the last quarter of a century, and their appointment to office will be balm to the feelings of those democrats who had begun to fear that party zeal was not to be duly rewarded.

Spring Medicine

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N.Y.

Do Not Delay

delay; if you are sick use Sulphur Bitters.

The Vice President of the Bank of Waverly, Iowa, SMITH P. HUNT, says: I have suffered with Catarrh for the last ten years, and also severe Biliousness and Liver Complaint. Since 1873 my Catarrh grew rapidly worse, so that my life was despaired of. At that time I weighed one hundred and seventy-five pounds, but grew emaciated so rapidly that I weighed only one hundred and thirty. After consulting the most celebrated physicians in the Western States, and spending many hundred dollars, from which no relief was obtained, I was induced to try your

Sulphur Bitters

Bitters; after taking six bottles my Headache, Vomiting, and all the effects of my Catarrh, Biliousness and Liver Complaint left me, I now weigh one hundred and sixty-five pounds, and consider that Sulphur Bitters have saved my life.

Mrs. HIRAM JORDAN, Lewiston, Me., says: For years I was a terrible sufferer with Scrofula, caused by salivation from the use of mercury and calomel; terrible sores broke out on my body, which twisted my limbs so that I could hardly move. The doctors all gave me up to die. Four bottles of Sulphur Bitters entirely cured me, and I am now able to do all my housework.

The wife of the Superintendent of Repairs, Pacific Mills, Lawrence, Mass., Mrs. JOHN BARTON, "a eloquent temperance advocate, says: When all other remedies failed, Sulphur Bitters cured me of Dyspepsia and those deathly Sick Headaches.

not, Sulphur Bitters will cure you.

Miss HELEN JONES, eleven years in charge of the Package Department, Boston & Maine depot, says: I have been a sufferer from Biliousness, Water Brash, and General Debility for several years. Most of the time I felt miserably and life seemed a burden. I was induced to try your Sulphur Bitters, and was completely surprised to see how much better I felt, and I am now enjoying better health than for years before. I shall always keep a supply of Sulphur Bitters on hand, for they have done me a world of good. Sulphur should be kept in every family.

A Boston & Albany R. R. engineer, F. B. CHAMBERLAIN, of Springfield, Mass., says: For years I have suffered from Chronic Bilious attacks, with a narrow escape each time from Typhoid Fever. About two years ago I commenced taking Sulphur Bitters, and since that time I have had no trouble from my old enemy. Living in a malarial district, I have had no trouble from that cause, being a marked exception among my neighbors, and I give the credit for that to Sulphur Bitters. It is an invaluable remedy, and one which no household should be without.

THE WEATHER.

For New England To-day:

Generally fair weather, temperature nearly stationary.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 42 degrees above zero.

Foggy.

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

WEDNESDAY, April 22d.

Frank Kane, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $6.90, and instead of paying will work it out at Brentwood.

Joseph Ham was up for drunkenness. He is an old man, having reached the regulation three-score years and ten, and related that he was on a tramp from Augusta, Me., to Boston, to visit a sister, when he was overcome by the potency of Portsmouth beverages. He begged to be allowed to continue his journey, and the court, after giving him some advice just too lovely for anything, about not attempting to carry off any more Portsmouth liquor, allowed him to depart.

THE COMIC OPERA.

The Boston Comic Opera Co, finished there three days' engagement at Franklin theatre on Wednesday evening, the 22d inst., performing "Iolanthe, or the peer and the peri," to another large audience. The company is a very strong one, both in acting and singing, and its members work quite well together, though the organization of the company is recent; the ladies are attractive in appearance, and there are among them as well as among the gentlemen of the party some voices of much more than ordinary excellence. Miller & Dixie's company would be well received here should they return at a future day.

MARITIME NOTES.

Mr. Stephen L. Davis is engaged in finishing the outboard joiner work of the steam yacht Venture, which has been hauled up and covered over all winter at Raynes yard. A house was built on her in the temporary shed, where she now lies, by Mr. Luther E. Martin last winter. She will soon be ready for summer cruising.

The following-named vessels were on Tuesday being fitted for salt fishing at Randall & Caswell's wharf: The "Grace Chote," Captain Ed. Robinson, about ready to sail to Gloucester for salt; her ceiling has been so far removed as to allow her floor to be cemented between the timbers. The "Flying Eagle," Captain Gilman Trussel, formerly of the Newcastle weirs, which will be discontinued this year. The "Bonita," Capt. Clif. Woodbury. They are being caulked by Adams' gang.

Mr. Wilbur I. Trafton, who is an applicant to take charge of the Gamewell Fire Alarm telegraph about to be introduced here, seems to be a person well qualified for such a place. Mr. Trafton about six years ago introduced the telephone into this city, and since that time has given most of his leisure time to the study of electrical machinery and phenomena; should he receive the appointment he proposes to strike Boston time every day at twelve o'clock, noon, upon the alarm, by means of an attachment to be connected with the regulator at his store.

Now is the time to read James R. Yeaton & Co.'s advertisement of garden and field seeds.

The eels of Great bay are very abundant this spring, and persons fishing along the shores have secured what they wished of them.

Mr. John D. Randall has removed his job printing office to No. 5 Congress street, the old Mercantile Library Association hall.

Mr. Daniel Mason, in making an excavation in front of his house on Green street, to fix the underpinning, when about a foot below the surface and only a few feet from the front doorstep came upon an oblong iron slab of small size, which on being raised disclosed a well or reservoir of the existence of which he previously knew nothing. How big the cavity was we are not informed, but it was bigger than Mr. Mason cared to have right in front of his door, so he had his workmen fill it with earth.

Mr. Harry P. Kent, who has been dangerously sick at Salem, Mass., was able to be out to ride on Monday of this week, which his many friends are glad to hear of.

The new draw of the Kittery Point bridge has been put in, and the bridge is again open for travel.

There will be a private skating party in the Franklin skating rink on Friday evening.

The monthly false alarm of fire on the navy yard was sounded at about half-past eleven o'clock Wednesday forenoon of this week, the yards and docks store being the point indicated by the alarm as in danger. The drill was satisfactory, the new horses working admirably on the engines; one pair in particular acted as though long used to the situation, standing unmoved among clouds of smoke, and paying not the slightest attention to the exhaust of the steam or the sounding of the whistles.

The wife of Albert A. Payne, Esq., is reported to be very seriously ill at her residence on Myrtle street.

The annual city reports for the year 1884 have been printed, and are ready for distribution. Taxpayers can obtain them by calling at the city rooms.

Smoke has of late been seen arising from the forests of the towns all about here, the fires in which have in some instances required much labor to subdue.

Officer Smart of the police force was "lumping" on Tuesday, and brought in sixteen lump-fish. Some other persons caught considerable quantities of lumps. Gourmands are very fond of them.

Another invoice of Mormon immigrants passed through here Tuesday on the railroad. They were said to be from Wales, and were mostly young women, very well appearing, tastefully dressed, and noticing everything as they passed along. The persons in whose charge they appeared to be were well looking young Englishmen, who seemed to have plenty of British gold in their pockets, and who must have proper confidence in the United States government, as they exchanged their money in George Lane's for United States currency, at the regular value, $4.84 to the pound sterling.

FARES TO BOSTON SAVED!

Those who for any reason feel they must make a little money go a great ways in this year's purchases, will go to Boston and visit G. W. SIMMONS & CO., 32 to 44 North street, before choosing this season's clothing.

The only suit for strong, healthy, growing boys is the guaranteed indestructible and imperishable one, which they sell so many of to Boston lads. It is the best suit made.

You can often save your fares to Boston on the purchase of a single suit, or light-weight overcoat. G. W. SIMMONS & CO. are now closing at retail the great wholesale stock of Knowles & Leland, and it is generally conceded that no such clothing bargains for Men, Youth or Boys were ever before offered in the city of Boston.

Men's Complete Suits, of the undoubted value of $8, $10, $12, $14, $16, $18 and $20, we shall offer to close at $2.58, $2.87, $3.59, $3.75, $5.19, $6.88, $7.83, $8.34, $9.40, $9.68 and $11.22.

☞ Boys' Suits and Men's Spring Overcoats in the K. and L. stock are offered in the same ratio.

In their Custom Department, they are making suits to order from THE VERY FINEST IMPORTED ENGLISH, FRENCH AND GERMAN GOODS, AT RIDICULOUSLY LOW PRICES.

Cabs, Herdics, and Hansoms, which you will find at the Depots, will bring you to their store without charge.

If you have not seen their new Catalogues of G. A. R. Goods, Polo, Base Ball, Foot Ball, and Bicycle, send your address. They will mail either one you desire. Address

G. W. Simmons & Co., 32 to 44 North St., BOSTON.

Notice as to Ashes and Refuse.

THE attention of citizens is called to the fact that the city teams can only remove such ashes and refuse as are placed on the edge of the sidewalk, in barrels or boxes of suitable size and weight, or so to be easily handled and emptied into the carts.

The city will not attempt to remove ashes or refuse placed in large barrels, boxes or hogsheads, filled so as not to be capable of being easily lifted and emptied, and all such will in every case be left where the owners place them, and at their risk.

ECZEMA & SALT RHEUM.

Another Clear and Positive Recovery —An Elderly Lady's Letter.

Among the numerous letters received by Dr Kennedy testifying to notable SALT RHEUM cures, the following will be found of interest to our readers, who may accept our assurance of its perfect authenticity and truthfulness:

WORCESTER, Mass., March 25, 1884.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

DEAR SIR: Until recently I have been for three years a sufferer from salt Rheum in it followed upon an attack of Erysipelas, for which I was for a long time under medical treatment. I placed myself again in the hands of the physicians who did, I have no doubt, all that could be done. One thing is sure, however, it was none the better for all the medicine they gave me. The painful and unsightly disease made continual progress, until I began to fear I should never get rid of it.

By means of one of those accidents that often result in so much blessing I had my attention called to your FAVORITE REMEDY, which I was told would surely do me good. I used it, and within a much shorter time than I would have believed possible, I received a permanent cure. I am now perfectly free from Salt Rheum. What a comfort this is, and how it places your wonderful medicine in my opinion, you may guess at, but never know. I keep it now constantly in the house as a family medicine. Yours truly,

MRS. DINAH PHAIR.

Mrs. Phair sometime since, when on a visit to Kansas, found a case of salt Rheum, could not get FAVORITE REMEDY, sent to New York City for it, and cured the case.

For all diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys Bladder and Digestive Organs, Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, Rondout, N. Y.

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine
DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

has wrought-in opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an unfailing friend—a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. $1 bottle, 6 for $5, by all druggists.

Three Reasons

Why every one needs, and should take, Hood's Sarsaparilla in the spring:

1st: Because the system is now in its greatest need. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength.

2d: Because the blood is sluggish and impure. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies.

3d: Because, from the above facts, Hood's Sarsaparilla will do a greater amount of good now than at any other time. Take it now.

A dozen Indian children, six boys and six girls, called on the president on the 20th inst., and after being introduced to the Great Father, were shown all around the White House, much to their amusement. Their errand was to obtain permission to stay a year longer at the Hampton school, and the request was granted.

They are Liable!

The doctors are all liable to be mistaken. They were in my case. It cost me $200.00, because they said I had the heart disease, and then told me I must die. Grandmother said it was liver complaint, and $2.00 worth of Sulphur Bitters cured me.—Jennie Poor, Rockport, Mass.

A Man's Thanks.

A well known business man of Wilmington, N. C., writes to express his thanks for the benefit which his wife has derived from the use of Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. "It is with pleasure," he says, "that I write to express to you my gratitude for the relief and benefit your Vegetable Compound has been to my wife, who has been troubled with ulceration and a tumor weighing 2 1-2 lbs., so the doctor said. She has been under the treatment of the doctor for six years. Finally he said he could do nothing more for her, that she would die in 24 hours. Then I commenced using your compound, and as soon as she commenced to take it she commenced getting better and now she can attend to her domestic affairs as well as she ever could."

Much excitement has been caused in certain circles in Brooklyn, N. Y., by the announcement that Maud McAllister, aged fifteen, has been married to F. Darling, nineteen years of age, and Ella Jones, seventeen year of age, to Charles L. Peckham, aged nineteen. The girls, who were married without their parents' consent, gave fictitious ages to the clergymen who performed the ceremony. The two young fellows are dudes who frequent the skating rinks, where the girls met them, and they have no visible means of support. The parents of the girls are going to institute divorce proceedings.

Take Warning.

At this season of the year when so many people become subject to attacks of biliousness, kidney troubles, constipation and all the list of troubles that arise from being housed up, or that are brought on by colds or exposure, it is the part of prudence to take warning from the experience of others and provide ourselves with means of escape from similar troubles. So wide is the fame of Kidney Wort, that great remedy for all kidney and liver trouble, that almost every one knows of its great virtue for such cases. It should be kept in every household ready for an emergency.

A common freight car loaded with horses arrived at Exeter on Friday, the 17th inst., with the animals in a state of great exhaustion from long confinement on the train, deprived of food and water. They were put in the car on the previous Monday morning, and not unloaded for food, water or rest until they reached Exeter on Friday forenoon.

Alice O'Keefe, nee Saalfield, formerly a governess, has brought suit for divorce against Ross R. Winans, a millionaire of Baltimore, who is worth exactly the amount of his money, and no more. The story told is one of disgraceful immorality.

A RELIABLE PREPARATION.

WETHERELL'S SARSAPARILLA.

Never before in the History of Medicine has a Preparation been so Universally praised as Wetherell's Sarsaparilla with Iodide Potassium. It goes right to the spot, and builds the system up as no other Medicine.

By its great and thorough blood purifying properties, it cures all humors, from the worst scrofula to a common blotch, pimple or eruption. Mercurial diseases, mineral poisons and their effects are eradicated and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, salt rheum, fever sores, scaly or rough skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful purifying and invigorating medicine.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS

The finest tonic for nervous people is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which insures perfect digestion and assimilation, and the active performance of their functions by the liver and bowels. As the system acquires tone through the influence of this benign medicine, the nerves grow stronger and more tranquil, headaches cease, and that nameless anxiety which is a peculiarity of the dyspeptic, gives way to cheerfulness. To establish health on a sure foundation, use the peerless invigorant. For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

Ordered to Sot Down.

At the session of the Lime-Kiln Club last evening, Professor Moses Day White, chairman of the Committee on Social Philosophy, desired to submit a report. His committee had been asked to wrestle with the query: "Does crime, suicide, etc., sweep over the world in waves?" The committee purchased four quarts of peanuts and three bottles of pop and sat down to deliberate the question, and the members had unanimously concluded that the query must be answered in the affirmative. He would, therefore, ask that the report be accepted and the committee be discharged from further consideration of the subject.

"Brudder White," replied the president, "perhaps your committee also diskivered vartue an' justice also sweep over de kentry in waves?"

"No, sah, we didn't."

"Well, it am a poo' rule dat won't work boaf ways, an' de report won't be accepted. If dur' am any wavin' dun de good should wave befo' or arter de bad. If dar' comes a wave which makes everybody want to kill hisself, it should be followed by one which would make everybody hanker to lib to a good old age. You kin let out your suspenders an inch an' sot down."—Detroit Free Press.

Comfort for Consumers of French Wines.

Closely following the abstract of this paper, in the "Journal of the Chemical Society," is another from the French "Journal of Pharmaceutical Chemistry," vol. v, pp. 581–583, to which I now refer, by-the-way, for the instruction of claret-drinkers, who may not be aware of the fact that the phylloxera destroyed all the claret grapes in certain districts of France, without stopping the manufacture or diminishing the export of claret itself! In this paper, by J. Lefort, we are told, as a matter of course, that "owing to the ravages of the phylloxera among the vines, substitutes for grape juice are being introduced for the manufacture of wines; of these, the author specially condemns the use of beet-root sugar, since, during its fermentation, besides ethyl, alcohol, aldehyde, it yields propyl, butyl, and amyl alcohols, which have been shown by Dujardin and Audige to act as poisons in very small quantities." In connection with this subject I may add that the French Government carefully protects its own citizens by rigid inspection and analysis of the wines offered for sale to the French wine-drinkers; but does not feel bound to expend its funds and energies in hampering commerce by severe examination of the wines exported to "John Bull on the Ile," especially as John Bull is known to have a robust constitution. Thus, vast quantities of brilliantly-colored liquid, flavored with orris-root, which would not be allowed to pass the barriers of Paris, but must go somewhere else, is drunk in England at a cost of four times as much as the Frenchman pays for genuine grape-wine. The colored concoction being brighter, and skillfully cooked, and duly labeled to imitate the products of real or imaginary celebrated vineyards, is preferred by the English gourmet to anything that can be made from simple grape-juice.—W. Mattieu Williams, in Popular Science Monthly for March.

Describing the White House, the Washington correspondent of the Cleveland Leader says: "The Cabinet-room is richly furnished, and the Cabinet meetings are, you know, always secret. Just off of it is the library, and when Webster was Secretary of State it was noticed that the Cabinet meetings were reported in full in certain of the newspapers. Various means were undertaken to find out who was the leaky member of the Cabinet, but each member up and down denied that he had told anything to any one. One day Webster excused himself and went out into the library while the others talked as usual. He found he could hear every word uttered within. He came back and said he thought the secret must have gotten out through a correspondent listening in the library. After this the library was locked during Cabinet sessions, and the reports immediately ceased."

Professor Li Shan-lan, who died at Pekin a few months ago, was the greatest mathematician that China has produced within the present century. Western mathematicians define a point as that which has no parts and no magnitude—that a point is mere position without magnitude. Li Shan-lan took exception to this definition, maintaining that a point must be an infinitesimally small cube.

In Vermont, while only $5 of a laboring man's wages are exempt from process, a farmer may hold tens of thousands of dollars' worth of property and never pay a cent of his debts. In a recent case a farmer paid two cents on the dollar, and the courts allowed him to keep ten sheep exempt from attachment which were worth $10,000, while in another case a calf worth $1,500 was held to be exempt.

The Wyoming ranch of Morton Frewen, son-in-law of Leonard Jerome, is a two-storied log house, built of entire pine trees, plastered and ceiled inside. The drawing-room has a piano and plenty of books. A large hall is built of immense, rough-hewn logs, covered here and there with the skins of beaver caught in the river and bison caught on the prairie, and the decoration consists of the heads of elk, of black-tailed and white-tailed deer, big-horned sheep, and other creatures. There is a telephone connected with a post-office and a telegraph office twenty-two miles away.

Young and middle-aged men suffering from nervous debility, premature old age, loss of memory, and kindred symptoms, should send three letter stamps for large illustrated treatise suggesting sure means of cure. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

From B. F. Liepsner, A. M., Red Bank, N. J. I have been troubled with catarrh so badly for several years that it seriously affected my voice. I tried Dr. ——'s remedy without the slightest relief. One bottle of Ely's Cream Balm did the work. My voice is fully restored and my head feels better than for years.

In regard to Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh, my answer is, I can recommend it as the best remedy I ever used.—Dr. J. S. Vaughan, Dentist, Muskegon, Mich. See adv't.

Mr. John Roach has not yet consented to another trial trip for the despatch boat Dolphin, but he has consented to what else has been asked of him in the way of facilities to enable the secretary of the navy's new board to make examinations. The secretary is now considering the subject of how to build the new cruisers authorized at the last session of congress; they will probably be built by contract.

One Bottle instead of a Dozen.

"And it took only one bottle to do it," said a gentleman, speaking of Parker's Hair Balsam. I had a run of fever, and when I got well of that my hair began to fall out so fast as to alarm me. I really didn't know what to do, until one day a friend said, 'Try Parker's Hair Balsam.' That was some months ago. What surprised me was the fact that one bottle was enough. I expected to use up a dozen." Clean, highly perfumed, not oily, not a dye. Restores original color.

The World-Renowned Notre Dame.

The sisters of the most noted Catholic ladies seminary in the United States, the famous Notre Dame, at Govanstown, near Baltimore, Md., on the 30th of last January made public a card, certifying to the beneficial results attending the use of Red Star Cough Cure in that institution. They state that they found it efficious alike for relieving coughs, oppression on the chest and irritations of the throat. The board of health endorses it.

Despatches received in London state that a terrible volcanic eruption has occurred at Passarvean, a province in the east end of the island of Java. A number of plantations have been devastated, and it is feared that fully 100 persons have been killed. A despatch to Amsterdam from Java says that Smerou mountain, the largest and most active volcano in Java, near Probolingo, has burst into a state of eruption. A large coffee plantation east of the mountain has been destroyed. The neighboring premises of the West Colonial bank have not been hurt.

While performing an aerial bicycle feat at the rink in Rockland, Me., April 22d, the De Coma Brothers met with a serious accident by the pulling out of a bolt which held one end of the elevated wire, precipitating the three performers heavily to the floor. John P. DeComa and John G. Bardisth, who were on the trapeze bar, were badly hurt, De Coma receiving a terrible cut on the head and being otherwise injured; Bardisth was hurt internally, but it could not be told to what extent. The performer in the saddle was uninjured.

The New President of the Mutual Life Insurance Company.

The policy holders of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York have cause for congratulation in the unanimous election of Richard A. McCurdy as their president. Mr. McCurdy's father, as we learn from a sketch of the new president in the Independent, was one of the original directors of the company. The son early became familiar with life insurance. He is a graduate of Harvard, and a lawyer of ability. At the age of twenty-eight he became solicitor of the company, and three years later was chosen its vice-president, a position he has since filled to the entire acceptance of the board of directors.

The Mutual Life has a proud record in every respect. Pre-eminently is this true in respect to its financial management, which has resulted in gaining the confidence of careful men all over the country, while it has challenged the admiration of every one who has watched its onward career of increasing wealth. Mr. McCurdy has for many years been practically manager of the finances of the company. He combines a rare knowledge of the principles as well a familiarity with the workings of life insurance, with a trained financial mind. He is at once progressive and conservative. Of ample means and sterling integrity, he is above the temptation of attaining any selfish ends in this fiduciary position. The assured will feel that while there is missed in the councils of the management an officer of the sagacity, honesty and ability of the late president, they have in his successor a gentleman abundantly qualified from his training, his experience in this peculiar business which demands so many important qualifications in its managers, and his wide repute in financial circles, to maintain in every respect the enviable position which this unrivalled company now occupies in the foremost rank of the institutions of this character in the civilized world.

A Monopoly Which Needs Curbing.

Bell Telephone shares sell at more than a hundred per cent above par. Of course this is in consequence of its enormous dividends. A monopoly like this, if properly managed, can but pay extensive dividends to its shareholders. A few persons control the telephone lines in this state. The charges for the use of their instruments are exorbitant, and beyond the means of most persons. If there is anything which the legislature next June should investigate, regulate, reform, tax and put under proper control, it is these non-resident, grasping monopolies which charge so much for the use of their instruments that everywhere customers are becoming sick of them, and are giving them up. What should be a convenience, afforded at a reasonable rate, is simply a squeeze upon the people's necessities. To be sure, the excuse is that ere long this invention will be supplanted by something better, and it must make hay while the sun shines; but even this is not a sufficient reason why the patient public should be fleeced and bled at the same time. Some one, we hope, in the next legislature, will take this subject in hand.

Another Explosion.

An explosion took place in the British admiralty office at London about eleven o'clock in the forenoon on the 23d inst., but more consternation than actual damage resulted. Edwin N. Swainson, assistant secretary, was injured, but not dangerously, and no great harm was done the building. Gun cotton is supposed to have been used.

The news from London on the 23d inst. was decidedly warlike. The hope of maintaining peace with Russia had nearly disappeared.

A despatch of April 23d from Colon said: "Trouble is imminent in Panama. Aizpuru has issued a pronunciamento against Americans. Their pickets have been fired on. One hundred marines have been ordered to reinforce Heyward. Refugees are leaving the city. Aizpuru has 800 men. He will probably remain quiet until the arrival of government troops, which are embarking at Buena Ventura."

RAILROAD NOTES.

The Boston & Maine railroad will increase the facilities for summer travel to the mountains and the seashore in various respects this year. One change, which will be especially appreciated by residents of Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill, Dover and the interior tributary to that portion of the main line, will be the running of a section of the White Mountains express of the Eastern that way, the two portions to be joined at Salmon Falls. This will enable these passengers to go directly to North Conway, over a road now in the Boston & Maine system, instead of changing cars as hitherto for the Eastern at Salmon Falls, or for the Portland & Ogdensburg at Portland. Another change will enable people from the same region to visit the Point of Pines and other parts of Revere beach, Mass., without changing cars on reaching Boston, as in former years. The summer-tourist business of the consolidated roads is an important and growing feature. As the great west grows in wealth its people travel to the Atlantic coast and the White Mountains in yearly increasing numbers. At home they enjoy the best of railroads and the most luxurious cars. They have a right to expect equal or superior facilities here. The Boston & Maine, the Maine Central and the Old Colony cover this field, so rich in historic interest and natural attractions, and these enterprising corporations intend to be equal to their opportunity. Among other facilities will be the opportunity for residents on the line of the Eastern division of the Boston & Maine road to have a day on Winnipesaukie. The excellent steamer of the Boston & Maine traverses the entire lake, and passes in review of all its beautiful scenes.

At Concord, April 22d, in the supreme court before Associate Justices Carpenter and Bingham, counsel for the Northern railroad made application for a modification of the temporary injunction granted by the first-named judge in the suit of Dow et al. vs. Northern railroad et al., Jan. 27th, 1885, so as to permit the sale on two weeks' notice of nearly 4200 shares of Concord railroad stock, or any other stock or bonds held by the Northern railroad or its directors. The matter was postponed until Wednesday forenoon, April 29th, without action.

The Boston & Maine railroad pays a dividend of four dollars a share, May 15th. The balance due the Eastern railroad from the Boston & Maine for the year ending Sept. 30th, under the lease, was $245,000. It has recently been paid over by the Boston & Maine road.

The Massachusetts independents console themselves at the appointment of Pillsbury of Maine to the internal revenue collectorship at Boston, on the ground that he did good service against Mr. Blaine! The leading democrats, when interviewed, seem to have remained discreetly silent relative to this appointment.

It is stated that a large number of members of the legislature of 1879 have been called upon to attend court at Ossipee where the question of the validity of Isaac Adams' will is to be tried before the supreme court for Carroll county. Mr. Adams was a resident of Ossipee. He was a wealthy man and a Jacksonian democrat. Whether the conduct of a man in the general court is a fair test of his capacity to make a will is a novel question. The indications are that if nothing more than the eccentricities of a wealthy democrat when he late in life enters the political arena, can be shown, the will is likely to be sustained.

Spring Medicine

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PEELPS, Rochester, N.Y.

MAKE HENS LAY

delay; if you are sick use Sulphur Bitters.

The Vice President of the Bank of Waverly, Iowa, SMITH P. HUNT, says: I have suffered with Catarrh for the last ten years, and also severe Billiousness and Liver Complaint. Since 1873 my Catarrh grew rapidly worse, so that my life was despaired of. At that time I weighed one hundred and seventy-five pounds, but grew emaciated so rapidly that I weighed only one hundred and thirty. After consulting the most celebrated physicians in the Western States, and spending many hundred dollars, from which no relief was obtained, I was induced to try your

Sulphur Bitters

Bitters; after taking six bottles my Headache, Vomiting, and all the effects of my Catarrh, Billiousness and Liver Complaint left me. I now weigh one hundred and sixty-five pounds, and consider that Sulphur Bitters have saved my life.

Mrs. HIRAM JORDAN, Lewiston, Me., says: For years I was a terrible sufferer with Scrofula, caused by salivation from the use of mercury and calomel; terrible sores broke out on my body, which twisted my limbs so that I could hardly move. The doctors all gave me up to die. Four bottles of Sulphur Bitters entirely cured me, and I am now able to do all my housework.

Builds Up the Weak.

The wife of the Superintendent of Repairs, Pacific Mills, Lawrence, Mass., Mrs. JOHN BARTON, an eloquent temperance advocate, says: When all other remedies failed, Sulphur Bitters cured me of Dyspepsia and those deathly Sick Headaches.

not, Sulphur Bitters will cure you.

Miss HELEN JONES, eleven years in charge of the Package Department, Boston & Maine depot, says: I have been a sufferer from Billiousness, Water Brash, and General Debility for several years. Most of the time I felt miserably and life seemed a burden. I was induced to try your Sulphur Bitters, and was completely surprised to see how much better I felt, and I am now enjoying better health than for years before. I shall always keep a supply of Sulphur Bitters on hand, for they have done me a world of good. Sulphur

should be kept in every family.

A Boston & Albany R. R. engineer, F. B. CHAMBERLAIN, of Springfield, Mass., says: For years I have suffered from Chronic Bilious attacks, with a narrow escape each time from Typhoid Fever. About two years ago I commenced taking Sulphur Bitters, and since that time I have had no trouble from my old enemy. Living in a malarial district, I have had no trouble from that cause, being a marked exception among my neighbors, and I give the credit for that to Sulphur Bitters. It is an invaluable remedy, and one which no household should be without.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, April 23d, Mayor Page in the chair:

Present the full board.

The records of the last meeting were read and approved.

Request of C. O. Keefe for relay of sidewalk on Washington street was referred to the committee on streets, with power.

Petition of Benj. Russell and T. S. Tredick for widening Washington street was referred to Ald. Cook, Billings and Locke as a special committee, to report.

Peat island was let for a year to John Wood, for $5.

A discount of ten per cent by the Gas Co. on the bill for gas used at police station, was reported; and as reduced, the bill was ordered to be paid.

City marshal's quarterly report was approved.

Bills amounting to about $900 were reported by the committee on accounts, and ordered paid.

The annual appropriation bill, amounting to $118,390.72, was reported, read once and referred.

Report was made as to the indebtedness of the late treasurer, to the city, stating that the apparent indebtedness had been very largely reduced by the discovery of errors in the books; that the actual indebtedness on the 1st of January, 1885, was $2583.64, and is now $1757.28. The mayor said this statement was apparently correct, and the city clerk was authorized to make the proper corrections to the books. On motion of Ald. Coffin, the board passed a vote requesting an immediate settlement by the late treasurer.

The mayor reported that no communication from the Boston & Maine railroad management, relative to the north pond nuisance, had been received; but from verbal information he did not expect any favorable consideration by the road.

The usual discounts on taxes were voted.

John S. Wendell was appointed special police without pay, at the south end, and John Turner at the Portsmouth Machine shop.

A proposition to place the Pleasant street burying ground under John S. Wendell's care was referred to the committee on burying grounds.

Ald. Billings reported that the liquor saloons on Daniel street were kept open Sundays. He was requested to confer with the police.

Committee on city lands and buildings were instructed to see if some suitable place for the boys to play ball could be found.

A. B. Sherburne resigned as a member of the board of instruction. The resignation was accepted, and the election of a successor deferred to the next meeting.

Adjourned for two weeks.

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

THURSDAY, April 23d.

William Woods, drunk, fine $3, costs $6.90; jail in default of payment.

MATRIMONIAL.

Assistant Engineer Gould H. Bull, U. S. N., was united in marriage on Wednesday evening, April 22d, with Miss Margie L. Macomb, daughter of Chief Engineer David B. Macomb of the Charlestown navy yard, at the St. John's Episcopal church on Devens street, in the Charlestown district of Boston. The marriage ceremony took place at 6:30 P. M., and was performed by Rev. Canon Sprague, assisted by Rev. William Bull, a cousin of the groom. The vestibule of the church was decorated with flowers and evergreens, and the edifice was literally packed with people. The bride looked beautiful, and was dressed in white satin, trimmed with duchesse lace, and wore a white tulle veil, the whole costume being ornamented with diamonds, a present from the groom. The bridesmaids were Misses Alice Macomb, Annie Bull, Elizabeth Prince, Daisy Gavith, Lizzie Barnard and Nina Eastman, and the groomsmen were Assistant Engineers Carr and Harney, Ensign Reuben O. Bitler, Messrs. Percival Pope, George Broome and H. Prince. Three of the bridesmaids were attired in blue satin and the other three in pink, with ornaments. The three officers who acted as groomsmen were in full dress uniform and wore pink badges, while the three civilians wore blue ones; the badges were attached by silver pins, unique in design, and were presented to them by the bride. After the marriage a wedding reception was held in the residence of the bride's parents on the navy yard, which was attended by at least 200 persons. All the officers attached to the station were present, with their ladies, as also Capt. Percival C. Pope of the marine corps, and wife, of Portsmouth, Mr. and Mrs. Bull of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Tufts of Charlestown, Maj. Williams and family from Dorchester, Miss Cochrane of Brooklyn, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Lamb of Philadelphia, the Misses Crocker and Payson of Charlestown, Mr. and Mrs. Green of Portsmouth, Miss Porter of Boston, and many others. The wedding supper was furnished by Caterer Henry Webber. Mr. and Mrs. Bull were the recipients of many valuable, useful and ornamental articles from their friends. The newly married couple contemplate an extended wedding tour.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner John Lenthall, of Exeter, went on the marine railway at Kittery on the 22d inst., the schooner W. B. Keen, of Salem, Mass., being the next in turn.

The schooners Annie F. Conlon and Maggie Ellen, bound east, were towed down the river on the 23d inst. by the tug Clara Batemen; and the schooner Mary E. Whort was towed down from Dover by the tug Ann. The brickers Hattie Lewis and J. Chester Wood arrived from Boston, and the schooner Satellite and sloop Stephen Orr were at Portsmouth bridge, loaded for Boston and waiting for wind. The Mary Willey, for Bangor, and the Golden Gate and Loella, also bound out, were in the lower harbor. The schooner Oregon, from Weehawken with a cargo of coal for Kittery, arrived on the 23d.

The little steamer Fearless, which left this port for St. John, New Brunswick, at half-past eleven o'clock Saturday night, the 11th inst., arrived at her destination on Monday, the 20th.

A meeting of the Christian society was held at the church on Court street, Wednesday evening of this week, to take action on the resignation of Rev. John A. Goss, who has received a call from a church in Haverhill, Mass. The meeting was largely attended, the whole society being much interested in the matter. Remarks deploring the resignation were made, and no motion to accept the resignation was put, so the motion not to accept was carried almost unanimously. Those who did not vote with the majority afterward explained that they had been personally requested by Mr. Goss to vote to let him go. A committee consisting of Messrs. Plaisted, Littlefield and Morrison, to wait upon Mr. Goss and endeavor to induce him to remain, was appointed, and the meeting adjourned.

Thursday, April 23d, was Fast day in Maine, and all work was suspended on the navy yard excepting that on the U. S. S. Omaha.

The plaice fishermen have been obtaining many of those fine fish—some persons so regard them, but we don't—along the creeks of the Piscataqua.

Piscataqua Lodge, I. O. O. F., of this city, will celebrate the 66th anniversary of American Odd Fellowship on the 27th inst., at Odd Fellows hall.

THE "SILVER KING."

The Boston Theatre Co., with a host of favorites, in the "Silver King," are having a series of perfect ovations on the New England circuit, and the papers are unanimous in praise. At Portland they had a packed house, and the largest advance sale ever in that city. At Bangor the Opera house was packed from the orchestra rail to the upper tier in the gallery. At Lowell, Huntington hall was fairly jammied. At Manchester the audience was large and enthusiastic and the same at Milford, Mass., and the Journal said, "A first-class company, and gave the finest play ever on Music hall stage." And so they go on their triumphal tour, reaching us for a return and farewell performance at Franklin theatre on Wednesday, April 29th. R[illegible] on sale Saturday night at Buzzell's bookstore.

Lieut. Nathan E. Niles, U. S. N., of this city, has been detached from the Iroquois, Pacific station, and ordered to return home and report arrival.

As a two-seated carriage containing two ladies turned into State street from Pleasant street, Thursday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock, one of the hind wheels went to pieces without any apparent cause, dropping that side of the vehicle and throwing the ladies out. The horse was going at a moderate pace, and was easily stopped by the driver; and no harm was done beyond the breaking of the wheel.

Miss Florence P. Whidden of this city, and a few of the advanced pupils of Prof. John Orth, the noted pianist of Boston, will give a grand piano concert at Tremont Temple in that city on Friday evening, May 1st. Miss Whidden's numbers on the programme are Concert Stuck op. 79, by Weber, and Polonaise E flat, by Rubinstein. Her proficiency in music is fast gaining for her a metropolitan recognition which cannot fail to be very encouraging to our young townswoman.

Wanted in Portsmouth!

An energetic business woman to solicit and take orders for The MADAME GRISWOLD Patent Skirt-Supporting Corsets. These corsets have been extensively advertised and sold by lady canvassers the past ten years, which, with their superiority, has created a large demand for them throughout the United States, and any lady who will give her time and energy to canvassing for them can soon build up a permanent and profitable business. They are not sold by merchants, and we give exclusive territory, thereby giving the agent entire control of these superior corsets in the territory assigned her. We have a large number of agents who are making a grand success selling these goods, and we desire such in every town.

Notice as to Ashes and Refuse.

THE attention of citizens is called to the fact that the city teams can only remove such ashes and refuse as are placed on the edge of the sidewalk, in barrels or boxes of suitable size and weight, so as to be readily handled and emptied into the carts.

The city will not attempt to remove ashes or refuse placed in large barrels, boxes or hogsheads, filled in such a way as to be incapable of being easily lifted and emptied, and all such will in every case be left where the owners place them, and at their risk.

ECZEMA or SALT RHEUM.

Another Clear and Positive Recovery —An Elderly Lady's Letter.

Among the numerous letters received by Dr Kennedy testifying to notable SALT RHEUM cures, the following will be found of interest to our readers, who may accept our assurance of its perfect authenticity and truthfulness:

WORCESTER, Mass., March 23, 1884.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

DEAR SIR: Until recently I have been for three years a sufferer from Salt Rheum. It followed upon an attack of Erysipelas, for which I was for a long time under medical treatment. I placed myself again in the hands of the physicians who did, I have no doubt, all that could be done. One thing is sure, however, I was none the better for all the medicine they gave me. The painful and unsightly disease made continual progress, until I began to fear I should never get rid of it.

By means of one of those accidents that often result in good, my attention was finally directed to your FAVORITE REMEDY, which I was told would surely do me good. I used it, and within a much shorter time than I would have believed possible, I received a permanent cure. I am now perfectly free from Salt Rheum. What a comfort this is, and how it places your wonderful medicine in my opinion, you may guess at, but never know. I keep it now constantly in the house as a family medicine. Yours truly,

MRS. DINAH PHAIR.

Mrs. Phair sometime since, when on a visit to Kansas, found a case of Salt Rheum, could not get FAVORITE REMEDY, sent to New York City for it, and cured the case.

For all diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys Bladder and Digestive Organs, Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, Rondout, N. Y

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

Life Preserver.

If you are losing your grip on life, try "Well's Health Renewer." Goes direct to weak spots.

A terrible flood is reported at Medicine Lodge city, Kansas, on the night of April 20th, probably caused by the same waterspout or cloud-burst that damaged Kingwan. Many lives were lost, the estimate being over fifty.

"Rough on Piles"

Cures piles or hemorrhoids, itching, protruding, bleeding, internal or other. Internal and external remedy in each package. Sure cure, 50c. Druggists.

In Dublin, Ireland, April 21st, ten thousand Sunday school children with banners and music marched out to Phœnix park and presented an address to the Prince and Princess of Wales.

The English war office has issued a notice calling out the first class of the army reserves, comprising fifteen regiments, for immediate and permanent service.

"Rough On Itch."

"Rough on Itch" cures humors, eruptions, ringworm, tetter, salt rheum, frosted feet, chilblains.

Advices from Dongola say it is reported there that the rival Mahdis have met in battle, and that the original Mahdi was defeated, losing two governors. El Obeid, it is also reported, has been plundered and burned.

Educated and Experienced.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass., who have a thorough knowledge of pharmacy, and many years practical experience in the business. It is prepared with the greatest skill and care, under the direction of the men who originated it. Hence Hood's Sarsaparilla may be depended upon as a thoroughly pure, honest, and reliable medicine.

Advices from Cape Blanco, west coast of Africa, state that the Spanish settlers were recently attacked by the natives, and were compelled to seek refuge on a Spanish gunboat.

The housekeeper who has not used PYLE'S PEARLINE should not wait a day longer without having it in the house. As an article to make washing easy, without injury to the finest fabric, it is unequalled.

The annual convention of the National Reform Association met in Indianapolis, Indiana, April 21st. Delegates from New York, Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Kansas and Iowa were present. The object of the association is the recognition of divine authority in national affairs. It opposes the carrying of mails on Sunday, polygamy and easy divorces, now so common, and licenses for the liquor traffic under any form.

Dr. Seth Arnold; My Dear Sir;—"The Cough Killer you kindly sent me is almost gone, and I want it always in the house. I wish the world knew its value." —Rev. Jefferson Hascall, Medford, Mass.

Mr. A. M. Wyman has resigned his place as United States treasurer, to become vice president of a bank in Kansas. His successor is Mr. Conrad N. Jordan of the Third National bank of New York. Jordan is the expert who prepared the new forms of debt statement, and of assets and liabilities, adopted last month and now in use by the department.

Easy to See Through.

How can a watch—no matter how costly—be expected to go when the mainspring won't operate? How can anyone be well when his stomach, liver or kidneys are out of order? Of course you say "He cannot." Yet thousands of people drag along miserably in that condition; not sick abed, but not able to work with comfort and energy. How foolish, when a bottle or two of Parker's Tonic would set them all right. Try it, and get back your health and spirits.

Mrs. Ellen Clark, aged fifty-two, of West Haven, Conn., widow, while burning brush in her yard had her clothes catch fire, and was so badly burned that she died.

Frank Leuz of Jamaica, L. I., is in trouble over the deaths of twin children borne by his wife. Murder is more than suspected.

The bodies of the murderers Capone and Santore, who were executed at Thomaston, Me., were delivered to the Maine medical school.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

A Man's Thanks.

A well known business man of Wilmington, N. C., writes to express his thanks for the benefit which his wife has derived from the use of Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. "It is with pleasure," he says, "that I write to express to you my gratitude for the relief and benefit your Vegetable Compound has been to my wife, who has been troubled with ulceration and a tumor weighing 2 1-2 lbs., so the doctor said. She has been under the treatment of the doctor for six years. Finally he said he could do nothing more for her, that she would die in 24 hours. Then I commenced using your compound, and as soon as she commenced to take it she commenced getting better and now she can attend to her domestic affairs as well as she ever could."

The Para Rubber Shoe company of South Framingham, Mass., which reduced the wages of its operatives ten per cent three months ago, has restored the rates in all the departments.

Gum arabic is rapidly rising in price. The average annual consumption is 9,000,000 pounds; the amount in market is only 4,000,000 pounds, and even if the war in the Soudan should be over in a few months, no part of the new crop could be received in Alexandria until next December.

The sixty-first annual Methodist conference of Maine was organized on Thursday last at Biddeford, Bishop W. L. Harris presiding. The following-named officers were elected: George C. Andrews, secretary; J. M. Frost and H. Foss, assistants; E. C. Rogers, financial secretary; W. S. Jones, statistical secretary; T. F. Jones and W. F. Marshall, assistants.

Take Warning.

At this season of the year when so many people become subject to attacks of biliousness, kidney troubles, constipation and all the list of troubles that arise from being housed up, or that are brought on by colds or exposure, it is the part of prudence to take warning from the experience of others and provide ourselves with means of escape from similar troubles. So wide is the fame of Kidney Wort, that great remedy for all kidney and liver trouble, that almost every one knows of its great virtue for such cases. It should be kept in every household ready for an emergency.

The forty-ninth anniversary of the battle by which Texas established her independence was generally celebrated in every hamlet in the state, on the 21st inst. Business was largely suspended in the cities, where the militia and firemen held their annual parades.

Why throw away so much hard-earned money trying worthless medicines, when for 35 cents a remedy can be procured that will cure coughs, colds, sore lungs and croup? Give it a trial. Adamson's Balsam will do it. Trial bottle 10 cents

The state auditor of Virginia has directed the state treasurer not to receive coupons for taxes, notwithstanding the decision of the United States supreme court. The auditor informs the treasurer that it will be time enough to violate a state law when compelled to do so, and if any party feels aggrieved he can apply a mandamus.

A RELIABLE PREPARATION.

WETHERELL'S SARSAPARILLA.

Never before in the History of Medicine has a Preparation been so Universally praised as Wetherell's Sarsaparilla with Iodide Potassium. It goes right to the spot, and builds the system up as no other Medicine.

By its great and thorough blood purifying properties, it cures all humors, from the worst scrofula to a common blotch, pimple or eruption. Mercurial diseases, mineral poisons and their effects are eradicated and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, salt rheum, fever sores, scaly or rough skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful purifying and invigorating medicine.

A Story of Thurlow Weed.

The late Thurlow Weed, who was sometimes called "The Priam of the Press," because he was the father of so many newspapers, once told me an interesting incident of his life which has been inadvertently omitted from his Memoirs. It was during the war of 1812, when he was living in Coopers-town, N. Y., the house of the yet unfledged novelist, and was setting type as a journeyman printer. "I was 19 years old, and I fell in love with Catherine Ostrander, my landlady's daughter, two years younger than I was. Her folks objected, very properly, to her marrying a strolling printer, without money or anything else, and I agreed to wait.

"About this time I got into a bad scrape. I, with three other young fellows, who were rather a hard lot, was arrested on complaint of four girls whom we met at a prayer-meeting. I had never seen them before, but we walked home with them, and they made a charge of improper conduct against us all. The others got bail, but I had no rich relatives, and prepared to go to jail. At the examination I told the justice I had no lawyer and no money to pay one, when, to my great surprise, a leading attorney of the town, whom I had never spoken to and did not know, stepped forward and gave bail for me and offered to defend me. It was Ambrose L. Jordan. I was delighted. I did not go to jail, and at the trial the girls voluntarily declared that I was not a party to the offensive transaction. I left town for a while, but came back in a year or two and Catharine Ostrander accepted me and we were married. I never forgot Jordan.

"Some fifteen years after that, when I was in Albany in a position of some influence, we were making up the Whig State ticket in convention. The principal officers had been placed in nomination, when somebody said, 'Now for Attorney General. We must have a man down in the middle of the State.'

"I named Ambrose L. Jordan and he was made our candidate and elected.

"When he came up to Albany he said to me: 'I have some conscientious scruples about accepting this office. You gave it to me because I defended you in Cooperstown when you wanted a friend.'

"'Not entirely or exactly,' I said. 'I merely reasoned that a man who would come to the rescue of an unknown and penniless youth for the sake of seeing justice done had the right ideas to make a good Attorney General.'

"'Well,' he answered, 'I am not entitled to the credit you give me for either sagacity or right feeling. I gave bail for you and defended you because Catharine Ostrander came and made a fuss about you and wouldn't give me any peace till I did it. Better appoint your wife Attorney General."

"It was the first I knew of her agency in the matter. She had never told me during all those happy married years."

The General's Coffee Pot.

Gen. M—— was a good officer. His division of infantry was well kept in hand in camp and on the pitched field. Rail-stealing was a bucking offense, and straggling in the presence of the enemy well nigh a capital one. The consequence was that method and promptness characterized all his subordinates, and, from posting a sentinel to mustering on the battle front, there was celerity and precision. Perhaps the best organized corps under the despot was his household body of detailed servants. But above all these, towered Jim, in authority Jim, the major-domo of the military family.

One moonlit evening, two days before Lee's surrender, Gen. M—— was informed by Jim that some supper could be gotten at a house near by. For three days the wagons had not been up, and the General was anxious about them.

"Jim," said he, as we swept through the country, now and then pausing to pick our way across a gully, "how about the wagons?"

"The wagons, sur, is all rite," said Jim, rather hesitatingly.

"How about the horse team?" said the General.

"Yes' left it, sur, safe an' soun'," was the reply.

"And the mule team? My English coffee-pot is in that, you know."

"Yes," said Jim, "I know. Pretty rough times for it, too. 'Twas packed in a hurry, and—"

"What!" said the General, suddenly halting. "You don't mean to say that anything has happened to my coffee-pot? Why, I wouldn't take a mint of money for it!"

"Oh, no," replied Jim, "it's all right; only I'm afraid it's got ramjammed a little."

"Ramjammed? Thunder and lightning! Who dared to ramjam my coffee-pot?" roared the major-general.

"I dunno who's dun it," said Jim, tremblingly.

"You'd better know," said the General, as he rode forward. If there was one man rejoiced at Lee's surrender, it was Jim, for, like everything else of value, the coffee-pot disappeared at Appomattox.

In a lecture in Lowell, the other day, on "The Arithmetical Progress of National Growth," General F. A Walker, of the Census Bureau, stated that from various considerations, including the influence of the civil war in increasing the death rate, it is highly probable that the population of the United States in 1900 will fall a little below 80,000,000.

A Gospel Temperance Band.

Rev. Mr. Pearson, one of the gospel temperance mission at Portland, Me., has introduced a novel method of worship in competition with the salvation army. On the platform are seated upwards of twenty-five people, men on one side and women on the other. Each man is armed with a toy tin trumpet, painted in several colors, such as may be seen in the hands of children. Each woman has a small japanned tin pitcher, with a cover; these pitchers each contain a handful of beans. Mr. Pearson himself manages a large policeman's rattle. A gospel hymn is sung to organ and cornet accompaniment, and in the chorus as much noise as possible is made with instruments. The origin of the idea may be found in Judges, vii, 16: "And he (Gideon) divided 300 men into three companies, and he put a trumpet into every man's hand, with empty pitchers, and lamps within the pitchers."

The Confederate Bond Craze.

News and Courier, Charleston, S. C., explains the mystery of the confederate bond craze as follows: "Judiah P. Benjamin, secretary of state of the confederacy, from 1862 until its collapse, was the originator of the plan by which a demand was created for the bonds. At different times the confederate congress voted large sums for secret service, the principal deposits being in London and Paris banks. The funds were placed to the credit of citizens of Great Britain and France who were friendly to the south. At the close of the war there was an unexpended balance of $5,080,000. Mr. Benjamin consulted with these agents as to the disposition of the money, and it was agreed that it should not be surrendered to the United States. The question was then how to disburse the money so as to best benefit those entitled to it. It was concluded that the people who had given their means to the confederacy for its bonds were entitled to the money, and the bonds were advertised for, and, to cover the real object of the movement, it was hinted that the bonds were to be held by speculators, and that suit was to be instituted against the United States for their payment."

THE YORK COUNTERFEITER.

Editor of the Gazette: The account of the counterfeiter of York in a late Gazette, under the head of "Legends of Tonomes Pond," was not quite correct. An old resident, who was well acquainted with the facts at the time, says that Nathaniel Parsons of York, the person referred to, was joined with two persons who came from Vermont. They constructed a small building near the edge of the woods, a little remote from the dwelling house of Parsons, but very far from the pond, and ostensibly engaged in the manufacture of potash. This they actually did during the day time, but it is supposed they devoted their energies to making money by night. The former business was a blind, and gave them the advantages of a furnace.

Soon after starting, the Vermont parties, or one of them, was arrested at Dover, N. H., gave bail, and disappeared, forfeiting the bail. This ended the potash business; but it is supposed that Parsons quietly continued his manufacture of "the queer" at his house. His arrest was accomplished as follows:

Hiram Shaw, a collector of taxes, called upon Mr. Parsons for his rates, and was paid in full in the spurious currency, which he received knowing it to be such. So much of the base coin had been put in circulation, and its source had become so evident, that the public deemed it time to have the business closed up. Upon the evidence of his guilt complaint was made, and arrest and conviction followed. The tools of the operator were found concealed in his house about the time of the arrest, by Capt. James Bragdon, who was engaged in the search, and whose attention was attracted to a particular part of the ceiling against which Parsons' wife persistently stood, upon tapping against which he found a moveable panel, which when removed disclosed the "kit" of the counterfeiters. Instead of being thrown into a pond these tools were used as evidence to convict, and were subsequently broken up by Mr. George Williams, a blacksmith of the village, in his shop.

Parsons was sent to prison, but was pardoned out before the expiration of his term of sentence, on account of his extreme age. He was what may be deemed a crank in money matters, and used to go around digging for money by night, with his second wife, who was somewhat below par mentally.

The gentleman who narrated these facts was well acquainted with all the circumstances of the case at the time, and as to the destruction of the tools he derived the information from Mr. Williams himself. Moreover he has a couple or more pieces of the money in his possession, and says that when the tools were found there was a dollar found in a mould which had been left there to cool off, and had been overlooked by Parsons. He made money of small denominations as well as the larger, and it contained silver to the amount of about one-fourth part. S.

The board of commissioners of Asbury Park, N. J., has passed resolutions condemning as a nuisance the meetings of the salvation army, and instructing the chief of police to prohibit the gathering of crowds at the doors of the "barracks." An ordinance is being prepared prohibiting all street parades, excepting by permission of the board. This ordinance will be passed by the board next week.

S. M. Smith, a nephew of Joseph Smith, the so-called Mormon prophet; E. D. Davis of Salt Lake district, Utah; and Stewart, the Mormon bishop of Salad, Idaho, are all likely to retire to private life for a time; they have been arrested on charges of licentious and unlawful cohabitation.

At a meeting of the actors' fund trustees in New York, on the 23d inst., as the board was adjourning Mrs. Hattie Edwards, the mother of "Baby Venus," who died in Cincinnati on Tuesday, April 21st, rushed into the room and frantically stated that she was taking her child to Salem, Mass., for interment. She had run short of money, and the people at the Grand Central depot had threatened to "have the thing removed to the morgue" unless it was taken away at once. President Harry Miner directed that $25 be given her, and she went on her way greatly relieved.

The panic among the law-breaking polygamists of Salt Lake City is so great that mail carriers find difficulty in leaving letters at the houses, as the inmates refuse to tell who live there.

The will of Thomas Hedge of Franklin Pa., provides that "should any of the officials of the Venango National bank become conscience stricken, and conclude to return to his executors the $55,000 they stole from him, he bequeaths that sum to the cemetery."

Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury retains possession of the fine old homestead of his father, the late Judge Levi Woodbury, on the Creek road, which property it is understood he has always refused to sell, although having received advantageous offers for it. It is now in charge of Asa Ham, Esq. Mr. Ham is now a gentleman of quite advanced age, despite which he steps off with as lively a gait as thirty years ago. The adjacent grounds have already been planted partially with early vegetables, and the place generally is in good order.

W. W. Bull, thirty-five years of age, cousin of Assistant Engineer Bull of the navy, died suddenly in the Revere house at Boston on Thursday, April 23d. His body was found on the floor of his room. He had partly prepared for bed when death occurred. He belonged in Philadelphia, and was present at St. John's church, Charlestown, Wednesday evening, the 22d, at the wedding of his cousin to the daughter of Chief Engineer D. B. Macomb. Death resulted from natural causes.

HANNAH JENNESS.

Portsmouth, April 22d, 1885.

The selectmen of York on the 22d inst. contracted with Dr. J. C. Stewart and Mr. J. P. Norton of that town, the latter being proprietor of the extensive brickyard on York river, to build the new road from York harbor to Long beach, one and three-quarters miles, the work to be done by the first of July; price $2,200. The contract was let by auction, bids beginning at $3,000. There was quite a large gathering at the auction.

Mr. Hartley Lord of Boston is investing $100,000 in a residence and grounds at Kennebunk, and the Biddeford Journal says it will be the finest and most expensive private establishment in the county of York.

March April May

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N.Y.

Do Not Delay

delay; if you are sick use Sulphur Bitters.

The Vice President of the Bank of Waverly, Iowa, SMITH P. HUNT, says: I have suffered with Catarrh for the last ten years, and also severe Biliousness and Liver Complaint. Since 1873 my Catarrh grew rapidly worse, so that my life was despaired of. At that time I weighed one hundred and seventy-five pounds, but grew emaciated so rapidly that I weighed only one hundred and thirty. After consulting the most celebrated physicians in the Western States, and spending many hundred dollars, from which no relief was obtained, I was induced to try your Sulphur Bitters; after taking six bottles my Headache, Vomiting, and all the effects of my Catarrh, Biliousness and Liver Complaint left me, I now weigh one hundred and sixty-five pounds, and consider that Sulphur Bitters have saved my life.

Mrs. HIRAM JORDAN, Lewiston, Me., says: For years I was a terrible sufferer with Scrofula, caused by salivation from the use of mercury and calomel; terrible sores broke out on my body, which twisted my limbs so that I could hardly move. The doctors all gave me up to die. Four bottles of Sulphur Bitters entirely cured me, and I am now able to do all my housework.

Miss HELEN JONES, eleven years in charge of the Package Department, Boston & Maine depot, says: I have been a sufferer from Biliousness, Water Brash, and General Debility for several years. Most of the time I felt miserably and life seemed a burden. I was induced to try your Sulphur Bitters, and was completely surprised to see how much better I felt, and I am now enjoying better health than for years before. I shall always keep a supply of Sulphur Bitters on hand, for they have done me a world of good. Sulphur Bitters will cure you.

A Boston & Albany R. R. engineer, F. B. CHAMBERLAIN, of Springfield, Mass., says: For years I have suffered from Chronic Bilious attacks, with a narrow escape each time from Typhoid Fever. About two years ago I commenced taking Sulphur Bitters, and since that time I have had no trouble from my old enemy. Living in a malarial district, I have had no trouble from that cause, being a marked exception among my neighbors, and I give the credit for that to Sulphur Bitters. It is an invaluable remedy, and one which no household should be without.

Builds Up the Weak.

The wife of the Superintendent of Repairs, Pacific Mills, Lawrence, Mass., Mrs. JOHN BARTON, the eloquent temperance advocate, says: When all other remedies failed, Sulphur Bitters cured me of Dyspepsia and those deathly Sick Headaches.

THE EX-TREASURER'S ACCOUNT,

The following detailed statement of the accounts between the city and Mr. Wm. E. Hadley, late city treasurer, we take from the Times report of the late meeting of the board of mayor and aldermen:

A communication from ex-city treasurer Hadley and Ex-city clerk Vaughan, relative to the discrepancy in their accounts, was received. Mr. Hadley, who arrived home March 19th, and who, together with Mr. Vaughan, have in the five weeks since that date been at work on the city books from July 1879 to Jan. 1st, 1885, make the following statement which seems to bring some order out of chaos:

Errors against Mr. Hadley and with which amounts he should have been credited by Mr. Vaughan.
1880. Temporary loan made Dec. 1879 and which should have been credited in 1880	$7000 00
1879. Amount not credited on insane account of Overseers of Poor	56 45
Duplicate charge on Austin fund	250 00
1881. Overcharge to Hadley on real estate sold for taxes	13 00
1882. Overcharge on Interest account	5 72
Overcharge on additional tax	2 33
1884. Overcharge on real estate sold for taxes	30
	$7327 86
Errors in Mr. Hadley's favor and with which he should have been charged:
1881. Amount not posted	$53 77
Transfer bill, fuel O. D. P.	193 40
1882. Rents, 5 and 75.	80 00
Real estate sold for taxes	19 97
Sidewalks	26 47
Transfer bill, fuel O. D. P.	297 85
1883. Transfer bill, fuel O. D. P.	108 95
1884. Real estate sold for taxes	50 87
	$885 98

These figures are accompanied by the following:

To the Hon. Calvin Page, Mayor:

The undersigned have carefully examined the books of the city since July, 1879, and have found the above errors for which corrections should be made in the treasurer's account.

W. E. HADLEY,
D. J. VAUGHAN.

Portsmouth, April, 1885.

From these figures it will be seen that the

Errors against Hadley found on books are	$7327 86
Errors in his favor	833 98
Net errors against him	$6493 88
Balance due from Mr. Hadley as per his books	$9975 52
Errors with which he should be credited	6493 88
Balance due the city Jan. 1st, 1885	$3263 64

Since Mr. Hadley's return to this city in March he has paid to the present city treasurer $826.36, leaving a balance unpaid at the time the above report was made of $1,757.28. Of this sum, about $900 is in unpaid taxes, the most of which is supposed to be collectable. (A part of the balance of about $800 has, we understand, been paid to-day.) The Mayor stated to the board that he had examined the work of Mr. Hadley, and was of the opinion that the above corrections should be made, and it was so voted, and on motion of Alderman Coffin it was voted that Mr. Hadley be requested to make an immediate settlement of his accounts.

THE OLD WELL IN GREEN STREET

The tan yard, vestiges of which (in the shape of a well and several tan pits) were recently discovered at Daniel Mason's residence on Green street, originally belonged to William Langdon, after whom it was owned by Nathaniel Jackson. Mr. Jackson gave it to his foreman, Matthew Clark. It was afterward transferred to Jackson & Walker (Nathaniel Jackson, now of Christian Shore,) and lastly was occupied by Daniel D. Dearborn, now of Oakland, California, who carried on the tanning business there until 1842, when the late Daniel Spinney removed the buildings and established a wood-yard and wharf there. Hon. Moses H. Goodrich worked there in 1835, '36 and '37, when he removed to his present location, where he has ever since been engaged. Previously to leaving work there, he cleaned out all the vats, and there was nothing left in them. The well was used generally for the supply of the pits. Sometimes warm water was brought across the street from John Hill's distillery opposite, by elevated troughs, which some people recollect. Green street was not used so much then as now, but when an occasional carriage too high to pass under, came along, the troughs were temporarily removed. The well was twenty-six feet deep, eight feet in diameter, and when discovered by Mr. Mason's workmen this week contained about seven feet of water; it was securely covered, being rudely arched over with stone, and is now filled up. VIATOR.

MARITIME NOTES.

The brick schooner D. K. Ham, Garland master, arrived from Boston on the evening of the 23d inst. with 200 hogshead of salt for Randall & Caswell, making the run from Boston in six hours.

The following-named seamen, comprising the crew of the new schooner Agnes E. Downs, sailed from this port for East Boothbay, Maine, this morning, in the sloop Helena, Capt. Creamer, to join the vessel and bring her around to this harbor: William Catlin, Hooker Randall, Frank Garland, Edie Robinson and Frank Hidden, the latter in charge of the dory. The schooner will probably arrive here about the middle of next week, and after taking on her gear for seining will sail for the capes of Delaware, and follow up the schools of mackerel as they advance northward.

The schooner Satellite, Aderton master, which arrived at Portsmouth bridge on Thursday from one of the up-river brickyards with a load of bricks for Boston, and made fast to the draw pier of Portsmouth bridge to wait for a favoring wind, was attached on Friday on some claim in connection with a collision between the schooner and the Gangway rock band-stand, many months ago. Mr. Thomas Entwistle was on board Friday, as keeper.

Eighty-eight degrees above zero in the shade at two o'clock Friday afternoon; a nice spring day.

Immigrants are continually passing through here by rail from the British provinces and England, skipping from the expected war. They mostly show signs of being well brought up, are well dressed and have considerable money, and are young. Sometimes some of them make temporary stops here, and express a liking for New England if they could get enough employment. A gentleman travelling on business said he saw 500 at one time in Portland, who had just arrived from St. John, N. B.

There was a very large audience in Franklin theatre on Thursday evening last, when "Rebecca's Triumph" was presented by the Cooking club of this city, composed of sixteen young ladies, assisted by Mr. Frank Leavitt in the character of a colored damsel. The young ladies made a very attractive appearance, and as amateur actresses were decidedly successful, the audience being much pleased. Miss Carrie Critchley received special applause for her rendering of several musical selections of a comic character.

The "Mayor's Bombshell" seems to have been of the "Quaker" brand.

The Boston Traveller of the 24th inst. says: "It is reported that the Boston Post has been purchased by Hon. Frank Jones of Portsmouth, N. H., who will take possession the 1st of May, and cause the paper to be conducted as a strictly democratic organ, with morning, evening and Sunday editions. It is also reported that a reorganization of the editorial corps is probable."

Rev. Henry E. Hovey on Thursday received from Rev. Albert Elwyn, of Philadelphia, a check for $200 to be devoted to the Cottage hospital.

The Boston Post of last Friday says: "Ephraim C. Spinney of Kittery, a leading democrat of that ancient town, was in town Wednesday. Mr. Spinney looks ten years younger than he did just prior to Cleveland's election. He makes no bones in saying that as at present advised he is in favor of turning the rascals out, and if he had his way he would begin work at the Kittery navy yard."

Mr. Willis G. Myers and wife, accompanied by Miss Edith Thacher, started on a western trip on Monday of this week, travelling in company as far as Chicago, from which point Miss Thacher proceeded to Minneapolis, Minnesota, Mr. Myers and wife going to Kansas City, Missouri.

Tobias E. Burke, is making new boilers for Daniel Mason's engine at the Portsmouth Machine company's works.

A Newburyport paper reports the purchase by J. Albert Walker, Esq., of this city, at public auction, of the engine house property on Pleasant street, Newburyport, for $3800.

While a party from Manchester were having supper at Wood's hotel, in Newmarket, on the evening of the 22d inst., some roughs attempted to get in. Henry Beauchemin went to call a constable, and was assailed by two of the party outside, named Levi and Aleck Ladderbush. Beauchemin was stabbed by Aleck Ladderbush five times, and the wounds perhaps will prove fatal. The Ladderbushes were arrested and held. Beauchemin is a clerk in the Manchester postoffice. The Ladderbushes being unable to furnish the bail ($1200 each) demanded, were brought to this city and lodged in jail.

Mr. Wm. Wherrin of Eliot fell from the gable end of his house on Wednesday, the 22d inst., falling about twenty-five feet. He struck upon his shoulder and head, sinking into the soft ground several inches. He received no serious injury, on account of the yielding nature of the ground.

Wanted in Portsmouth!

An energetic business woman to solicit and take orders for The MADAME GRISWOLD Patent Skirt-Supporting Corsets. These corsets have been extensively advertised and and by lady canvassers the past ten years, which, with their superiority, has created a large demand for them throughout the United States, and any lady who will give her time and energy to canvassing for them can soon build up a permanent and profitable business. They are not sold by merchants, and we give exclusive territory, thereby giving the agent entire control of these superior corsets in the territory assigned her. We have a large number of agents who are making a grand success selling these goods, and we desire such in every town.

Notice as to Ashes and Refuse.

THE attention of citizens is called to the fact that the city teams can only remove such ashes and refuse as are placed on the edge of the sidewalk, in barrels or boxes of suitable size and weight, so as to be readily handled and emptied into the carts.

The city will not attempt to remove ashes or refuse placed in large barrels, boxes or hogsheads, filled so as not to be capable of being easily lifted and emptied, and all such will in every case be left where the owners place them, and at their risk.

ECZEMA or SALT RHEUM.

Another Clear and Positive Recovery —An Elderly Lady's Letter.

Among the numerous letters received by Dr Kennedy testifying to notable SALT RHEUM cures, the following will be found of interest to our readers, who may accept our assurance of its perfect authenticity and truthfulness:

WORCESTER, Mass., March 23, 1884.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

DEAR SIR: Until recently I have been for three years a sufferer from Salt Rheum. It followed upon an attack of Erysipelas, for which I was for a long time under medical treatment. I placed myself again in the hands of the physicians who did, I have no doubt, all that could be done. One thing is sure, however, I was none the better for all the medicine they gave me. The painful and unsightly disease made continual progress, until I began to fear I should never get rid of it.

By means of one of those accidents that often result in so much blessing I had my attention called to your FAVORITE REMEDY, which I was told would surely do me good. I used it, and within a much shorter time than I would have believed possible, I received a permanent cure. I am now perfectly free from Salt Rheum. What a comfort this is, and how it places your wonderful medicine in my opinion, you may guess at, but never know. I keep it now constantly in the house as a family medicine. Yours truly,

MRS. DINAH PHAIR.

Mrs. Phair sometime since, when on a visit to Kansas, found a case of salt Rheum, could not get FAVORITE REMEDY, sent to New York City for it, and cured the case.

For all diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys Bladder and Digestive Organs, Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, Rondout, N. Y

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an unfailing friend—a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Catarrh of the Bladder.

Stinging, irritation, inflammation, all kidney and urinary complaints, cured by "Buchu-Paiba." $1.

Daniel Flaherty, aged forty-eight years, while working on a ledge at Williamstown, Mass., April 23d, was struck by a falling rock and killed instantly. He leaves a family.

Luke Bray, a ledge man, aged fifty-eight, was instantly killed by the accidental falling of a boom at the quarry of M. G. Gannon, in West Concord, last Thursday. He leaves a widow.

"Water Bugs, Roaches."

"Rough on Rats" clears them out, also beetles, ants, insects, rats and mice, 15 and 25c. boxes.

The strikers at the Worcester (Mass.) steel works are returning to work. New men will be hired to fill the places of such as do not return, and the works will be in full operation in a day or two.

William F. Blake, a shoemaker of Claremont, aged sixty years, committed suicide by hanging on Thursday, while insane. He leaves a widow and two daughters.

SICK HEADACHE.—Thousands who have suffered intensely with headache say that Hood's Sarsaparilla has completely cured them. One gentleman thus relieved, writes: "Hood's Sarsaparilla is worth its weight in gold." Reader, if you are a sufferer with sick headache, give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial. It will do you positive good. Made by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists. 100 Doses One Dollar.

The estate of the late Isaac Adams of Sandwich, whose will is to be contested at the present term of the supreme court in Carroll county, has been appraised at $510,000.

Dr. Seth Arnold; My Dear Sir;—"The Cough Killer you kindly sent me is almost gone, and I want it always in the house. I wish the world knew its value." —Rev. Jefferson Hascall, Medford, Mass.

The wages of the weavers in the Great Falls Woollen company's mill at Great Falls having been cut down ten per cent, the weavers struck on the 22d inst. against further continuing the cut-down. Agent Buffum offered an advance of five per cent, which was accepted, and the weavers resumed work.

They are Liable!

The doctors are all liable to be mistaken. They were in my case. It cost me $200.00, because they said I had the heart disease, and then told me I must die. Grandmother said it was liver complaint, and $2.00 worth of Sulphur Bitters cured me.—Jennie Poor, Rockport, Mass.

A deficiency of $200 in the accounts of Mrs. Flora A. Roberts, agent of the Protestant Industrial association of New Haven, Conn., which furnishes poor women with sewing, has been found, and she has been removed, but out of sympathy will not be prosecuted.

A Great Benefactor of Women.

Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., is often spoken of as the great benefactor of women and frequently receives letters like the one we quote from, written by a lady in San Francisco, she says: "I am taking your Vegetable Compound and find great benefit from it. It has done me more good than all the doctors." Mrs. T. of Vincennes, Ind., writes: "Having taken 11 bottles of your Vegetable Compound and cured by its use, I feel very anxious that every woman afflicted with womb disease should make use of it." Another lady in Birmingham, Mich., was suffering from weakness and displacement. She says: "I began taking your compound and it helped me so soon, I feel like proclaiming to the world its great virtues as a healing agent for women."

—"Good wine needs no bush," says an old proverb. But moonshine whiskey—bless your simple soul, the bush is the very thing it does need. They daren't make it anywhere else.

One Bottle Instead of a Dozen.

"And it took only one bottle to do it," said a gentleman, speaking of Parker's Hair Balsam. I had a run of fever, and when I got well of that my hair began to fall out so fast as to alarm me. I really didn't know what to do, until one day a friend said, 'Try Parker's Hair Balsam.' That was some months ago. What surprised me was the fact that one bottle was enough. I expected to use up a dozen." Clean, highly perfumed, not oily, not a dye. Restores original color.

—"Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?" There is no definite reason in the world for it, unless it be that he has humbugged his wife into thinking there isn't another man in the world like him.

Housed Up.

For the last three months a great many people have been housed up, because they have not felt able to withstand the stormy wintry weather that has prevailed. But unfortunately the confinement and the close air of modern houses during the winter season, is very enervating, and the system needs help to enable all the organs to do their proper work. If these organs have been inactive the consequences are showing themselves in the bilious condition of the system, or in constipation of the bowels, or in disorders of the kidneys, with all the aches and pains that accompany these complaints. If you are in this condition from any cause you should make a faithful trial of that well known remedy Kidney-Wort. It acts at the same time on the kidneys, liver and bowels, and is therefore especially fitted to correct this torpid condition of the system.

—Seventy-five per cent of the League players have adopted the flat bat. Now what is wanted is a rule forbidding players from striking the umpire with the sharp side of it.

Physic is necessary at times for biliousness, costiveness, etc. Use Dr. Arnold's Bilious Pills. 25c.

—"Johnny, do you know the tenth commandment?" "Yes'm." "Say it." "Can't." "But you just said you knew it Johnny." "Yes'm, I know it when I see it."

Under False Colors. Notwithstanding the protection with which the law encircles patent rights and trade marks, no sooner does a valuable patent or proprietary article make its appearance than a horde of unprincipled persons try by every means to imitate the original. PYLE'S PEARLINE, celebrated as a washing compound, has had a score of imitations, but the superiority of the genuine article over the counterfeits is so plainly apparent that very few people have been deceived.

WETHERELL'S SARSAPARILLA

Is the best remedy ever devised for all diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, giving immediate and permanent improvement. No remedy has ever before been so compounded as to bring together in one bottle so many active ingredients, which are known to all physicians as a specific for impure blood, the fountain-head of all diseases.

Bilious Headache.

I have suffered for a long time from bilious headache, and have tried many preparations of Sarsaparilla, but found no relief. I was induced by my friends to try Wetherell's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, with Iodide of Potassium. After taking one bottle I am entirely cured, and feel better now than for years. I cheerfully give you the use of my name, believing that many who suffer as I did will be cured by your wonderful medicine. J. A. ROWELL, Brentwood, N.H.

WRITING FOR A MAGAZINE.

The Thorns That Beset the Pathway of Those Ambitious for Literary Fame.

Magazine writing is often mentioned as a score of profit to litterateures, but it is a very limited industry. There are scarcely half a dozen magazines for mature readers in the whole Republic, and he who should appear in all their pages once a month would seem to be everlastingly before the public. Hardly any one contributor is so often in print; but, if he should be, $900 to $1,200 would be a very generous estimate of his annual earnings. Nobody outside the profession has any idea how the magazines are crowded, and what masses of MSS. the editors continually receive. Each periodical has sufficient accepted matter on hand to publish it for at least two years, without any addition to the stock. Consequently the editors have a habit of returning all articles regardless of the writers unless they have been pre-engaged. There is barely a chance for a new writer, even if he writes exceedingly well, so great and incessant is the pressure. A man who should talk of supporting himself by contributing to the magazines would be regarded here as a man who should talk of gaining a livelihood by picking up gold eagles in Broadway.

There are fewer magazines than there have been, and the opportunities for writers are, therefore, materially less. Some of them do not pay much more than half what they used to, and are presumed to be issued at a steady loss. In truth, only two of the number are really prosperous, and they cover the ground that eight or ten would ordinarily cover. Several of the monthlies that has expired richly deserved death, so badly were they managed, so odiously unjust were they to contributors. Their rule was never to pay until publication, which might be within a season or a year, or several years. The poor contributor might starve or commit suicide meantime, if he chose to; that was no affair of the editor, always obliged to pay the publisher and his exactions. Not frequently, long after its acceptance, an article would be sent back as if it had been rejected, and it was useless to present the facts. No redress could be obtained. When an article had been written to order, and there had been meanwhile a change in the editor's mind or the publisher's opinion, the writer would have to suffer, of course. His MS. would be returned and the blame put on him, although he had fulfilled every condition to the last iota. A paper would be carefully prepared by request, with the assurance that it should appear the next month, and it might not appear in twelve months—perhaps not at all. When the writer would protest against such violation of a promise, he would be graciously told that he could take away his article when he liked. But no hint of recompense or reparation would be conveyed. The editor acting for the publisher was so accustomed to the grossest injustice as to seem unconscious of doing wrong.

The editor of a very clever, though peculiarly administered monthly, was so wanting in decision that he printed this form for the benefit of contributors:

DEAR SIR—Your article has been accepted; but if you should wish at any time to withdraw it, you may do so by applying for it, giving the number (9,999) as herein stated. Respectfully yours,
THE EDITOR.

Magazines are not so bad as they formerly were, but they are bad enough, from the writer's point of view. Some of them still refuse to pay on acceptance—the only equitable method, since it is plain that a worker should receive his wages when his work is done. What inducement is there to prepare an article if one cannot tell when one will get the money for it? Articles unpaid for are notoriously naturally neglected and delayed, and often allowed to spoil by the passage of time, in which case the author bears the entire loss. On him, indeed, the whole burden and responsibility are placed, and he is made answerable generally for every editorial mistake and all the publisher's vagaries.

In years they have reigned Queen Victoria stands ninth among the sovereigns of the world.

Fifty years ago the average weight of beef cattle was 800 pounds, and now it is 1,400.

Prince Victor Napoleon has not only attracted all the young Bonapartists to his side, but many of the leading functionaries of the second empire throng his bachelor parlors every Thursday for chat and a cup of tea—the only refreshment served. He is rather a silent young man, and is going into training for full Napoleon V. Of course, he has no connection with the house over the way—his papa's. But he is a long way off from the throne, about as distant as the Comte de Paris. The republic is very portly and healthy; has no signs of premature death, and the only danger it has to encounter is—Bismarck's love.

Ella Wheeler-Wilcox has a bracelet which her friends describe as "a poem written in gems." It is a gift from her husband. A golden horse-shoe, studded with turquoises, bears the date of their first romantic meeting; a small gold plaque, set with superb rubies, the date of the first letter ever written by Mr. Wilcox to Miss Wheeler; a Roman gold star, set with sapphires, represents the engagement week. Several other days and events are symbolized in beautiful designs—the whole completed by the "wedding bangle," an exquisite anchor and crown set with six rubies and six diamonds. The bracelet was designed by Mr. Wilcox, and presented as a surprise to his wife. —Milwaukee Sentinel.

The trustees for the bond holders of the Portland & Ogdensburg railroad have filed a petition in the United States Circuit court, in the Mercantile Trust Co. case, for an order to be made by the court authorizing Receiver Anderson to issue and sell fifty thousand orders of receiver's certificates of indebtedness, the proceeds to be used to remove certain mortgages upon the terminal facilities of the railway in Portland, these mortgages having priority over the mortgages given to secure the bond of the corporation in this suit claimed. Judge Colt has made an order for a hearing to be held in this city on May 12th, and notice has been served upon the parties to the record in the suit referred to.

The Boston Advertiser says a suit has recently been brought by Mr. L. K. H. Lane of North Hamptom, N. H., in the superior civil court of that city, against the Fitchburg railroad company for damages of a novel character. Mr. Lane claims that he went to the station in Athol, on the company's road, on February 26th last, to take a train west, which was due in about thirty-five minutes. He found the gentlemen's room of the station locked, but gained admission to the ladies' room. He had only been there a moment when he was ordered out of the building by the station agent, who said the rooms, which were all filled with tables, had been reserved for a party of Raymond excursionists who were to dine there. The day was extremely cold, and Mr. Lane was forced to wait on the outside on the platform, with others, for the arrival of the train. From the effects of this exposure Mr. Lane contracted a severe sickness, which confined him to his bed and room several weeks. He now brings suit for damages, laying his claim at $7000.

Scales vs. Chandler.

Some one has taken the trouble to send us a sixteen-page pamphlet purporting to be a "reply to Hon. Wm. E. Chandler's letter to the Dover Daily Republican." This seems to be an uninteresting paper warfare between Mr. John Scales, editor of the newspaper in question, and Mr. Chandler, who as secretary of the navy endeavored to convince the country that it was better to close the navy yards and have the government repairs and new work done by contractors, and still bubbling with this idea, seeks to attain the senate as an opportunity to carry out his projects. If Mr. Chandler excels in one thing above another it is in his ability to write frequent letters for the public eye, a kind of amusement in which he and Mr. Scales seem just now to be employed, doubtless with more satisfaction to themselves than to any one else. This being a document pertaining to the legislature we read it the first time by its title, and refer it to the reform pigeon hole, whence perhaps later on, we may draw it out to be read for information. It is a great pity, however, that the writers of such effusions could not be induced to prepare a condensed copy for editorial use, and thus save time to those who do not care a rap for the writers, but yet are obliged to know just what it is that worries them at this juncture.

Bayard's Blunders.

The president recently sent for Mr. Bayard, and talked over the annoyance which has resulted from the blunders of his secretary of state. Mr. Cleveland in the selection of this member of his cabinet did perhaps the best he could with his limited knowledge of public men and the kind of advisers he met before his inauguration. But of all the mistakes made, the errors of Bayard tower over all. A prominent democrat and a warm personal friend of the president remarked recently:

Nothing better was to be expected of Bayard than the appointment of an ex-confederate whose political disabilities have never been removed, as minister to Russia. A worse selection could not have been made. In the darkest days of the rebellion, when England and France were both against us, and were eagerly watching and impatiently waiting for some pretext to break the blockade of the southern ports and recognize the southern confederacy, a Russian fleet under sealed orders appeared in the waters of the United States. Russia was our firm friend, and had either England or France openly taken sides with the rebel government she would have had Russia as well as the United States to fight.

Could anything be more inappropriate then, than for President Cleveland to send to Russia as the diplomatic representative of the United States a man who took up arms against the union, and whose political disabilities have not been removed? The administration ought to appoint as minister at St. Petersburg a man who represented during the war that sentiment of loyalty and nationality for which Russia showed such warm and substantial sympathy. It may be well enough to send to England a northern democrat who was opposed to the efforts to preserve the union, and to France a southern democrat who warmly sympathized with the southern rebels, but it is not just the right thing, in my judgment, to pick out a man with a record like General Lawton's and accredit him to the only government in Europe that was friendly to us during the war.

The Central American War.

In the early part of last week the United States forces on the isthmus were distributed as follows: Two battalions, consisting of 374 marines and 140 sailors, with a battery of Hotchkiss and Gatling guns and a Dahlgren howitzer, under command of Captain Higbee of the marine corps, stationed at Aspinwall. Capt. Collum's company was at the Protestant chapel and the hospitals; Lieut. Harrington and his detachment at Lighthouse point and at the general superintendent's residence and offices; Lieut. Allibone and his command at the Royal Mail wharf, and Captains Reid and Muse at the Pacific Mail wharf. Captain Reid's company was furnishing a guard to trains on the Panama railroad, making six trips daily, with cars armed with Gatling and Hotchkiss guns. At Matachin, Captain Hutington of the marine corps, with 150 men and a battery of three guns, had suppressed the troubles.

At Panama the first battalion, consisting of 320 marines and fifty sailors, with six guns, under command of Col. Heywood of the marine corps, was comfortably housed in the large warehouses of the canal company, and had complete command of all the approaches to the railroad and canal property at the Panama station. The members of the battalion had no communication with the town. Strict discipline was enforced. The health of the officers and men was excellent, only two, with light fevers, being on the sick list. Later in the week 100 men and a Gatling gun were sent from Aspinwall to reinforce Col. Heywood's command.

A Panama despatch of the 25th says: "Yesterday morning strong barricades were being erected in the streets near the cable company's office, which would have cut off all communication, had not the same been summarily removed, as the cable office is situated in that part of the town near the battery and two cuartels. Seven hundred government troops left Buenaventura, under command of General Vila, this morning at one o'clock, being towed in a hulk by the Colombian gunboat Boyaca, and on a schooner towed by the canal company's tugboat. An attack would have taken place immediately on the arrival of these troops Sunday night or Monday morning, but at half-past two yesterday afternoon the United States forces appeared on the scene as if by magic, three taps of the drum being the signal by which they started. Three columns entered the city and had full possession in about ten minutes, knocking down the barricades as they passed through the streets. At a call of the bugle the Colombian guards withdrew into the cuartels. The splendid coup de main has undoubtedly prevented another disaster similar to the burning of Colon. General Aizpurn, the revolutionary chief, and his ministers, were captured. When Aizpurn was arrested he fainted several times and fell in the street, and acted hysterically when taken to the consulate. He is held a prisoner at Shuber's hotel. The troops are in good health."

Caspar Wingaar, a young clerk, and Mrs. Wm. Evans, were found dead in a room of Mr. Evans' residence at New Orleans on the 24th inst., having evidently been killed while asleep. Mr. Evans is under arrest.

Many of the republican papers are willing that papers like the Boston Advertiser should condemn the appointment of men like Pillsbury. The Advertiser as well as the republican press knows that one such appointment as this will do more toward electing a republican president in '88, than the retention of ninety and nine honest republicans in office could effect.

Mr. Asa Caswell on Thursday last finished his operations in trying out cod liver oil, at his place on Commercial wharf. During the winter he has manufactured 121 barrels, averaging forty-five gallons each. Mr. Caswell will start for Fulton Ferry slip, New York city, on Tuesday, to engage in the refining of cod-liver oil.

Mr. James H. Hurd has moved from this city to Salem, Mass., where he takes charge of out-of-door work on the cars of the Boston & Maine road, at the car shops.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered terribly with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." L. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PERM, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter of a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

Do Not Delay

delay; if you are sick use Sulphur Bitters.

The Vice President of the Bank of Waverly, Iowa, SMITH P. HUNT, says: I have suffered with Catarrh for the last ten years, and also severe Biliousness and Liver Complaint. Since 1873 my Catarrh grew rapidly worse, so that my life was despaired of. At that time I weighed one hundred and seventy-five pounds, but grew emaciated so rapidly that I weighed only one hundred and thirty. After consulting the most celebrated physicians in the Western States, and spending many hundred dollars, from which no relief was obtained, I was induced to try your

Sulphur Bitters

Bitters; after taking six bottles my Headache, Vomiting, and all the effects of my Catarrh, Biliousness and Liver Complaint left me. I now weigh one hundred and sixty-five pounds, and consider that Sulphur Bitters have saved my life.

Mrs. HIRAM JORDAN, Lewiston, Me., says: For years I was a terrible sufferer with Scrofula, caused by salivation from the use of mercury and calomel; terrible sores broke out on my body, which twisted my limbs so that I could hardly move. The doctors all gave me up to die. Four bottles of Sulphur Bitters entirely cured me, and I am now able to do all my housework.

Builds Up the Weak.

The wife of the Superintendent of Repairs, Pacific Mills, Lawrence, Mass., Mrs. JOHN BARTON, eloquent temperance advocate, says: When all other remedies failed, Sulphur Bitters cured me of Dyspepsia and those doubly Sick Headaches.

Not, Sulphur Bitters will cure you.

Miss HELEN JONES, eleven years in charge of the Package Department, Boston & Maine depot, says: I have been a sufferer from Biliousness, Water Brash, and General Debility for several years. Most of the time I felt miserably and life seemed a burden. I was induced to try your Sulphur Bitters, and was completely surprised to see how much better I felt, and I am now enjoying better health than for years before. I shall always keep a supply of Sulphur Bitters on hand, for they have done me a world of good. Sulphur should be kept in every family.

A Boston & Albany R. R. engineer, F. S. CHAMBERLAIN, of Springfield, Mass., says: For years I have suffered from Chronic Bilious attacks, with a narrow escape each time from Typhoid Fever. About two years ago I commenced taking Sulphur Bitters, and since that time I have had no trouble from my old enemy. Living in a malarial district, I have had no trouble from that cause, being a marked exception among my neighbors, and I give the credit for that to Sulphur Bitters. It is an invaluable remedy, and one which no household should be without.

AN AWKWARD QUESTION.

During the recent conference of Boston & Maine railroad officials with members of our city government, relative to the taking of measures to abate the north millpond nuisance, it is said that President Lord of the Boston & Maine asked Mr. Alderman Eldridge "what caused the mill ponds to fill with refuse matter." This, considering that one of Mr. Lord's directors has a brewery which drains into the pond, was rather a singular question to propound to the president of the other brewery company, but that personage answered that doubtless if there were no inhabitants living around the pond the water would be pure enough. The railroad officers failed to see what their corporation had to do with the trouble, and we shall have to fall back upon the pledges of the present city government as outlined in the mayor's inaugural, copies of which from the steam printing establishment of our neighbor of the Times can be had at the city clerk's office. We shall expect to see something or nothing done as to the millpond, pretty soon.

THE LATEST "SLATE."

City Solicitor Call returned last week after a somewhat prolonged absence in Washington. It is understood that he has arranged a slate for the custom-house positions, subject to the ratification of Mr. Jones when he reaches Washington this week. The present schedule reads—for collector of the port, Alpheus A. Hanscom; inspectors of customs, Henry F. Wendell, Andrew J. Sides, John W. Caswell; collector of internal revenue, Calvin Page. It is stated that Mr. Call has intimated to the president his readiness to accept the appointment to the office of fourth auditor of the treasury, a position at one time sought by Hon. Wm. A. Cromwell of Maine, but who, on learning that Mr. Call desired the office, promptly withdrew in his favor. The appointment is said to be narrowed down to the selection of Mr. Call or a distinguished politician in Ohio, with a decided good showing for the silver-tongued orator, who certainly deserves a recognition for his oratorical efforts in behalf of Mr. Cleveland's election.

SUPREME COURT--SMITH J.

On Thursday, the 23d inst., the case Healey vs. Batchelder, relating to water rights and flowage, was taken from the jury and referred to Hon. Jeremiah Smith, J. C. Burley and R. H. Fellows; Wiggin & Fuller for plff.; Frink and Drury for deft. Heber Mudgett and Rose Hartford pleaded guilty to a charge of adultery; Mudgett was sentenced to six months in jail, and fined $1 and costs; the woman was sent to jail for four months, and fined $1 and costs. Daniel Rivers and John Chase, indicted as tramps, pleaded guilty to vagrancy, and were sentenced to three months each at the county farm, and to pay costs. Nicholas Wright, assault, fined $20 and costs, and ordered to give bonds in $200 to keep the peace for one year. Frank Leavitt, indicted for larceny, no appearance of defendant; bonds forfeited. Arthur Hill, two indictments for cruelty; William Mullen, larceny from the person; and Patrick J. Pierre, tramp, were arraigned and pleaded not guilty.

On Friday, the 24th, William Mullen of Exeter retracted his plea of not guilty, pleaded guilty of larceny from the person of Freeman Dudley of Brentwood, and was sentenced to one year in state prison. John Smart of Portsmouth pleaded guilty of stealing a sum of money under $20, and was sentenced to one year in Portsmouth jail; he is a young fellow yet, probably not out of his teens, but he is a thief from the word go. Wm. Cragg, of Massachusetts, pleaded guilty to larceny under $20, (the theft was committed in a residence in this city,) and was sentenced to one year in Portsmouth jail.

MARITIME NOTES.

The British schooner Pleasantville, Publicover master, which arrived at the Eastern railroad wharf on Thursday of last week from La Have, N. S., brought 2650 ties to the Boston & Maine railroad.

The schooner Satellite, which was seized on Friday by a United States deputy marshal, was taken on a libel filed by Solon S. Andrews of Biddeford in the United States district court for the district of Maine, in a cause of collision, civil and maritime, wherein Andrews claims compensation for damages alleged to have been caused to the drill-platform over Gangway rock in this harbor several years ago, by the collision with it of the said schooner. This case was tried once in the state court, at Saco, the jury finding for the defendant, Capt. Aderton of the Satellite.

The brick schooner Triton arrived from Boston on Friday, and the Lillie and Estella on Saturday; the Chilion, Hattie Lewis and J. Chester Wood, brick laden, sailed for Boston on Saturday, and the Satellite would have sailed had not the law prevented. The schooners Nathan Cleaves and Charles F. Atwood, with oysters from Virginia, arrived on Saturday, as did also a coal steamer, two coal schooners, and a schooner from Rockland with lime.

The schooner John Lenthall, Sawyer master, came off the ways at Kittery on Saturday forenoon, and sailed for Hoboken, N. J., to load with coal for Exeter.

The steam tug Confidence, of and from Boston, having in tow the schooner Annie & Millard, bound to the Kennebec to load ice for a southern port, was in the lower harbor on Sunday. The tug came up to town, leaving her tow below, the weather not being favorable for proceeding.

Messrs. Adams & Hanscom are engaged in caulking the schooner Active, which has been hauled up since last fall at Randall & Caswell's wharf, and which after going on the railway for examination and repairs will proceed on freighting voyages under command of Capt. Matthews of York.

Mr. Henry F. Wendell sold two horses belonging to the city at noon on Saturday, on the Parade, by auction, one being purchased by Charles W. Brackett, for $139, and the other by John W. Caswell, for $79.

At the brokers' board in Boston, Saturday, 150 shares of Eastern railroad stock sold at 49 3-4, and 100 shares at 49 7-8. Portsmouth & Dover stock brought 112 3-8. Eastern railroad 6s of 1906 sold at 120 1-2, and Boston & Maine stock at 175.

Three converts, one male and two females, were baptised at Noble's island at half-past nine o'clock Sunday morning, by Rev. C. R. Crossett of the Advent church.

Rev. J. E. Robins, late pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church in this city, and now presiding elder of the Claremont district, preached in the North church on Sunday, the pastor, Rev. Mr. McGinley, being afflicted with a severe cold and hoarseness. There was a very large attendance at the Methodist church on Sunday, when the new pastor, Rev. O. H. Jasper, preached his first sermon here in that capacity.

A large bat amused itself by flying around over the heads of the congregation in the Unitarian church during divine service on Sunday forenoon.

Tickets for the Silver King, to be produced at Franklin theatre on Wednesday evening by the Boston Theatre Co., can now be procured at Buzzell's bookstore.

The annual meeting of the South Parish will be held this afternoon.

Forty men were discharged from the construction department at the navy yard, and three ship keepers, Saturday.

The remains of Capt. Henry J. Bishop, U. S. M. C., were brought to this city on Saturday and buried in the family lot of his wife's father in the Proprietor's cemetery, with Masonic ceremonies by St. Andrew's lodge, of which organization he was a member.

There were fourteen horses at the city stable, Saturday morning, all showing good grooming and care.

Messrs. Bailey & Adams have returned from Lake Winnipesaukie, after caulking the steamers there.

The agreeable weather of Saturday brought in many visitors, and the Parade was well occupied; the sale of the city horses attracted some attention, and it was thought they brought big prices. On Sunday the wind was around to the east-southeast, and shortly after noon a much-needed rain began to fall.

Mr. James Kehoe has reopened his shop near the Spring market for the purchase and sale of fresh fish and lobsters during the warm season.

Native dandelions were selling in this market the last part of last week at thirty-five cents a peck.

The drill-platform, alias "band-stand," over Gangway rock, was placed in position on Friday, and the work of excavating the ledge will be pushed from now until some schooner blunders against the stand and knocks it over, as has been customary in years past.

Hon. E. H. Winchester and wife reached their home in this city on Friday, after a sojourn of over four months in San Francisco.

FARES TO BOSTON SAVED!

Those who for any reason feel they must make a little money go a great ways in this year's purchases, will go to Boston and visit G. W. SIMMONS & CO., 32 to 44 North Street, before choosing this season's clothing.

The only suit for strong, healthy, growing boys is the guaranteed indestructible and imperishable one, which they sell so many of to Boston lads. It is the best suit made.

You can often save your fares to Boston on the purchase of a single suit, or light-weight overcoat. G. W. SIMMONS & CO. are now closing at retail the great wholesale stock of Knowles & Leland, and it is generally conceded that no such clothing bargains for Men, Youth or Boys were ever before offered in the city of Boston.

Men's Complete Suits, of the undoubted value of $8, $10, $12, $14, $16, $18 and $20, we shall offer to close at $2.58, $2.87, $3.59, $3.75, $5.19, $6.88, $7.83, $8.34, $9.40, $9.68 and $11.22.

☞ Boys' Suits and Men's Spring Overcoats in the K. and L. stock are offered in the same ratio.

In their Custom Department, they are making suits to order from THE VERY FINEST IMPORTED ENGLISH, FRENCH AND GERMAN GOODS, AT RIDICULOUSLY LOW PRICES.

Cabs, Herdics, and Hansoms, which you will find at the Depots, will bring you to their store without charge.

If you have not seen their new Catalogues of G. A. R. Goods, Polo, Base Ball, Foot Ball, and Bicycle, send your address. They will mail either one you desire. Address

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY,
WASHINGTON, March 28th, 1885.

WHEREAS, by satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that "The Rockingham National Bank of Portsmouth," in the City of Portsmouth in the County of Rockingham and State of New Hampshire has complied with all the provisions of the "Act of Congress to enable National Banking Associations to extend their corporate existence and for other purposes," approved July 12th, 1882:

Now therefore I, Henry W. Cannon, Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that "The Rockingham National Bank of Portsmouth," in the City of Portsmouth in the County of Rockingham and State of New Hampshire is authorized to have succession for the period specified in its amended articles of association, namely until close of business on April 1st, 1905.

In testimony whereof witness my hand and seal of office this 28th day of March, 1885.

Notice as to Ashes and Refuse.

THE attention of citizens is called to the fact that the city teams can only remove such ashes and refuse as are placed on the edge of the sidewalk, in barrels or boxes of suitable size and weight, so as to be readily handled and emptied into the carts.

The city will not attempt to remove ashes or refuse placed in large barrels, boxes or hogsheads, filled so as not to be capable of being easily lifted and emptied, and all such will in every case be left where the owners place them, and as their risk.

ECZEMA or SALT RHEUM.

Another Great and Positive Recovery —An Elderly Lady's Letter.

Among the numerous letters received by Dr Kennedy testifying to notable Salt Rheum cures, the following will be found of interest to our readers, who may accept our assurance of its perfect authenticity and truthfulness:

WORCESTER, Mass., March 23, 1884.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

DEAR SIR: Until recently I have been for three years a sufferer from Salt Rheum. It followed upon an attack of Erysipelas, for which I was for a long time under medical treatment. I placed myself again in the hands of the physicians who did, I have no doubt, all that could be done. One thing is sure, however, I was none the better for all the medicine they gave me. The painful and unsightly disease of continual progress, until I began to fear I should never get rid of it.

By means of one of those accidents that often result in so much blessing I had my attention called to your FAVORITE REMEDY, which I was told would surely do me good. I used it, and within a much shorter time than I would have believed possible, I received a permanent cure. I am now perfectly free from Salt Rheum. What a comfort this is, and how it places your wonderful medicine in my opinion, you may guess at, but never know. I keep it now constantly in the house as a family medicine. Yours truly,

MRS. DINAH PLAIR.

Mrs. Plair sometime since, when on a visit to Kansas, found a case of Salt Rheum, could not get FAVORITE REMEDY, sent to New York City for it, and cured the case.

For all diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys Bladder and Digestive Organs, Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, Rondout, N. Y

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

FAVORITE REMEDY

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to Damps, changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an unfailing friend—a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. $1 bottle, 6 for $5, by all druggists.

"Buchu-Paiba."

Quick, complete cure, all kidney, bladder and urinary diseases, scalding, irritation, stone, gravel, catarrh of the bladder. $1. Druggists.

Ensign Charles S. Ripley has been ordered to duty on the coast survey.

"Gentle Spring."

Among spring preparations, do not neglect that which is most important of all —your own body. During the winter the blood absorbs many impurities, which, if not expelled, are liable to break out in scrofula or other disease. The best spring medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It expels every impurity from the blood, and gives strength to every function of the body. Sold by all druggists.

Burr Edwards, eighteen years old, was robbed and fatally beaten at Jamaica, L. I., April 24th.

For 25 years I have been afflicted with Catarrh so that I have been confined to my room for two months at a time. I have tried all the humbugs in hopes of relief but to no success until I met with an old friend who had used Ely's Cream Balm and advised me to try it. I procured a bottle to please him, and from the first application I found relief. It is a wonderful remedy. 50 cents.

The Canadian forces had a fight at Batouche, in the Saskatchewan district, on Friday, with a body of Riel's Indians and half-breeds, in which two soldiers were killed and about fifty wounded. The rebels retreated, their loss not being known.

Easy to See Through.

How can a watch—no matter how costly—be expected to go when the mainspring won't operate? How can anyone be well when his stomach, liver or kidneys are out of order? Of course you say "He cannot." Yet thousands of people drag along miserably in that condition; not sick abed, but not able to work with comfort and energy. How foolish, when a bottle or two of Parker's Tonic would set them all right. Try it, and get back your health and spirits.

An extra session of Congress is probable in case England and Russia go to war, as now seems inevitable without a square back-down of one or the other.

A lady writes: "Your Hop Porous Plaster does the work every time; I do not have that awful pain in the side now." Your experience will be the same. Sold everywhere, 25c.

—A theatrical manager says about the proper pronunciation of the word drama: "It depends upon what part of the country one is in. In Boston I call it drawmah, in New York drahma, in Chicago drammer, but in St. Louis, in order to make myself solid with the citizens, I have to talk about the draymy."

Mothers, teething and fretful children need Dr. Arnold's Soothing & Quieting Cordial. Druggists, 25c.

—Last week, says the Detroit Free Press, the editor of the New York Tribune sat in a room 168 feet from the sidewalk and wrote an editorial condemning the erection of all buildings more than 150 feet high. As the young man remarked at the boarding-house, "Take off the griddle; I'm through."

—"Mother, I think the spinal vertebræ of the frigid season have received a severe fracture," remarked a high school girl to her mother. "Yes," replied the old lady, "I expected your father would hurt that dog when he threw the poker at it."

Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Consumption.

All Throat, Breast, and Lung Affections cured by the old-established "SWAYNE'S WILD-CHERRY." The first dose gives relief, and a cure speedily follows. 25 cts. or $1.00 at Druggists.

Liver, Kidney or Stomach Trouble.

Symptoms; Impure blood, costive bowels, irregular appetite, sour belching, pains in side, back and heart, yellow urine, burning when urinating, clay-colored stools, bad breath, no desire for work, chills, fevers, irritability, whitish tongue, dry cough, dizzy head, with dull pain in back part, loss of memory, foggy sight. For these troubles "SWAYNE'S PILLS" are a sure cure. Box (30 Pills), by mail, 25 Cts., 5 for $1.00. Address, DR. SWAYNE & SON, Phila., Pa. Sold by Druggists.

He became publisher of the Sun in 1868, previous to which time he had been connected with Charles A. Dana on the Chicago Republican.

A Great Benefactor of Women.

Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., is often spoken of as the great benefactor of women and frequently receives letters like the one we quote from, written by a lady in San Francisco, she says: "I am taking your Vegetable Compound and find great benefit from it. It has done me more good than all the doctors." Mrs. T. of Vincennes, Ind., writes: "Having taken 11 bottles of your Vegetable Compound and cured by its use, I feel very anxious that every woman afflicted with womb disease should make use of it." Another lady in Birmingham, Mich., was suffering from weakness and displacement. She says: "I began taking your compound and it helped me so soon, I feel like proclaiming to the world its great virtues as a healing agent for women."

Druggist John Miner, M. D., and his son Charles, of Brooklyn, N. Y., have been arrested on the charge of having murdered Dr. Robert Cowle. The accused pushed Dr. Cowle out of their store, when he fell and received the injuries which caused his death.

Housed Up.

For the last three months a great many people have been housed up, because they have not felt able to withstand the stormy wintry weather that has prevailed. But unfortunately the confinement and the close air of modern houses during the winter season, is very enervating, and the system needs help to enable all the organs to do their proper work. If these organs have been inactive the consequences are showing themselves in the bilious condition of the system, or in constipation of the bowels, or in disorders of the kidneys, with all the aches and pains that accompany these complaints. If you are in this condition from any cause you should make a faithful trial of that well known remedy Kidney-Wort. It acts at the same time on the kidneys, liver and bowels, and is therefore especially fitted to correct this torpid condition of the system.

Mrs. Lena Vogel, wife of a Pittsburg, Pa., coal miner, the mother of four children and the grandmother of fifteen, has eloped with a nephew who recently arrived from Germany, taking with her $1000, her husband's entire savings. The husband is very anxious to recover the money.

Physic is necessary at times for biliousness, costiveness, etc. Use Dr. Arnold's Bilious Pills. 25c.

WETHERELL'S SARSAPARILLA

Is the best remedy ever devised for all diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, giving immediate and permanent improvement. No remedy has ever before been so compounded as to bring together in one bottle so many active ingredients, which are known to all physicians as a specific for impure blood, the fountain-head of all diseases.

Bilious Headache.

I have suffered for a long time from bilious headache, and have tried many preparations of Sarsaparilla, but found no relief. I was induced by my friends to try Wetherell's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, with Iodide of Potassium. After taking one bottle of the medicine, and feel better now than for years. I cheerfully give you the use of my name, believing that many who suffer as I did will be cured by your wonderful medicine. J. A. ROWELL, Brentwood, N.H.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS CELEBRATED

The finest tonic for nervous people is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which insures perfect digestion and assimilation, and the active performance of their functions by the liver and bowels. As the system acquires tone through the influence of this benign medicine, the nerves grow stronger and more tranquil, headaches cease, and that nameless anxiety which is a peculiarity of the dyspeptic, gives way to cheerfulness. To establish health on a sure foundation, use the peerless invigorant. For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

CANCER FOR MANY YEARS.

A family servant has been afflicted for many years with a cancer on her nose, and was treated by some of the best physicians, and the old remedies used without benefit. Finally we gave her Swift's Specific and she has been completely cured. JOHN HILL, Druggist, Thomson, Ga., August 16, 1884.

Nose Eaten Off!

John Naves, a young man near here, had a cancer on his face which had eaten away his nose and part of his cheek, and was extending up to his eyes. As a last resort he was put on Swift's Specific, and it entirely cured him. His face is all healed over with new flesh, and his general health is excellent. His recovery is wonderful.

Before the Battle.

On the hill we stood silent. Away o'er the farm-lands,
In the blue of the distance came marching the foe,
Yellow-ripe are the fields, and blood-red is the reaper—
Hush! the tread of the Southron swells faint from below.

Are we ready? Stand fast! Have ye death in your muskets?
Is the fuse in your guns? Have ye heart for the fight?
If ye win on this day victors' peace is your guerdon;
If the enemy triumph God pity the right.

Are we ready? Stand fast! Trust your souls to your Maker,
Loose the steel of your belts, feel your daggers of lead—
Hush! the chant of destruction anon shall be pealing,
And the iron-mouthed choristers mourning their dead.

Are we ready? Stand fast! Keep the thought ever with you
That the grip of the foe holds the hammer of Thor,
That 'tis swung for this battle pitched here in the gateway,
Here the keystone of union, the keystone of war.

* * * * * *

Was I ready? Faint heart. But the scene was inspiring!
There, the grand panorama the painter had wrought,
And my goddess of war there so proud in her beauty—
Shame! carpet-knight suitor, for defeat have you fought?

Then I charged once again at the heart of my lady,
As we stood on the hill for the battle that day—
O! marvel of war, before the battle I won her,
And her humble word "Yes!" was the truce to the fray.
—William Hudson Harper, in the Current.

Some Poet's Horses.

It is a very curious fact that poets see nothing of the natural animal in the horse. As a beast, a quadruped, they absolutely ignore it. It is only in its artificial varieties that they recognize it at all, and even then so seldom as to surprise the student of these pages. About the horse particular, individual steeds of fame, a volume might easily be gathered from our poets. But of the creature in nature they say nothing. The beast has become so thoroughly relative that it has lost all individuality. It is either the other half of a cavalier, a warrior, a war chariot, a plow, a coach, or a cart, or something else, that it cannot be contemplated apart from its rider, its accoutrements, or the vehicle it draws. All other animals have characters of their own. The horse has none. It varies only according to the kind of man on its back or the kind of thing behind it. Attach a plow to it and it becomes at once "heavy" and "dull;" set a soldier upon it and it is "fiery" and "proud." When ladies ride their horses turn to "milk-white palfreys;" the hero of a poem, whether knight or highwayman, bestrides, as a rule, a "courser." There are also "swift-heeled Arabians," and "barbs," and "jennets;" but these are not meant for real horses. There is, of course, nothing surprising in the fact that poets have but little in sympathy with stable boys or bookmakers. When they do speak of grooms they rate them as second-class horses, and the "horsy" gentleman as an inferior amateur groom. This is probably as it should be; but, on the other hand, when we remember that nearly all history has been made on horseback, and that it is to the character of that animal that man is indebted for the moiety of his achievements, it strikes strangely to find the poets so consistently disregarding the strongly marked individuality of the horse. Its sympathy with human beings—as is the case with the poets' dogs also—has, doubtless, much to do with the doubling-up of the animal with its master. Whatever nature it may show, it is always in accordance with that of its rider. It's temper always matches its trappings, is strictly in keeping with its harness.—The Gentleman's Magazine.

The Significance of Gesture.

In his essay on the philosophy of style Herbert Spencer indicates as to writing the same theory that Mr. Irving reduces to practice in acting. "How truly," says Spencer, "language must be regarded as a hindrance to thought, though the necessary instrument of it we shall clearly perceive on remembering the comparative force with which simple ideas are communicated by signs. To say 'Leave the room' is less expressive than to point to the door. A beck of the hand is better than 'Come here.' No phrase can survey the idea of surprise so vividly as opening the eyes and raising the eyebrows. A shrug of the shoulders would lose much by translation into words. Again it may be remarked that when oral language is employed the strongest effects are produced by interjections, which condense entire sentences into syllables."

An Economical Idea.

"I took to-day the queerest order yet," said a dealer in monuments recently. "An old lady wanted a little pillar of marble to mark the last resting-place of her husband. She wanted it made so that she could always use it for a hitching post. The epitaph, you see, is to be at one end and the ring and staple at the other. Whenever she wants to use the post for a gravestone she has only to cart it around to the graveyard and stick the end with the staple in it down into the limestone socket at the head of the dear departed. Then when she wants to make a hitching-post out of it she merely needs to cart it back and stick the end with the epitaph on it into the ground. I think it's a beautiful idea, though it never struck me before. It's as neat as a reversible overcoat, and deserves to become as popular among economical people."—Birmingham Mercury.

There are three prominent candidates for the collectorship of customs at Portland: Bion Bradbury, who is noted for his historic democracy; Gen'l Sam'l J. Anderson, who wants four years of peaceful rest in the public service; and Nathan Cleaves, who just now is regarded as likely to win. The papers of these men are now on file, and each makes a good showing as far as credentials go.

The Laconia Car company's works at Laconia, after being nearly closed since November, on account of no orders, will resume business with a full force of hands—about 150—next week, having orders ahead to last until fall. One order is for 100 Burton stock cars. All the hosiery mills are running on full time.

"The Slough of Despondency"

In which you are wallowing, on account of some of those diseases peculiar to you, madame, and which have robbed you of the rosy hue of health, and made life a burden to you, you can easily get out of. Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" will free you from all such troubles, and soon recall the rose-tint of health to your cheek, and the elasticity to your step. It is a most perfect specific for all the weaknesses and irregularities peculiar to your sex. It cures ulceration, displacements, "internal fever," bearing down sensations, removes the tendency to cancerous affections, and corrects all unnatural discharges. By druggists.

The local Odd Fellows' organizations of Concord observed the sixty-sixth anniversary of the institution of the order by attending a special service at First Baptist church Sunday afternoon, at which an address was delivered by Rev. A. T. Hillman.

The Central American War.

The following despatch, dated Panama, April 26th, was received in New York on the same date: "All the troops were withdrawn from this city last night. The consequences cannot be foreseen, but that there will be serious trouble on the arrival of the Colombian troops, due here to-night, is certain. Gen. Aizpurn has proposed to the commander of the United States forces here to withdraw his troops to the station of the Panama railway company, Gen. Aizpurn guaranteeing the security of the city. Gen. Aizpurn, however well disposed, will not be able to prevent the destruction of property and life. Barricades are being erected in the streets, and sand-bag defences are being constructed on the balcony of the barracks. This shows that the insurgents are determined to fight in the town. The native feeling here is very strong. It is considered cruel for the United States forces to occupy the town and then to withdraw, leaving the people helpless, and the city in control of a lawless mob. President Seymour of the Central & South American Telegraph company, to-day telegraphed as follows to Secretary of State Bayard: 'All American troops were withdrawn from Panama last night. The town is in the hands of the rebels. The streets are now barricaded. The consequences cannot be foreseen. I have telegraphed as follows: 'Demand in writing from the American consul or commandant of the United States forces protection to our property and men. At present the United States has by treaty all the rights and obligations that Colombia has, and must be held responsible for damage done to American property, or for failure to keep open communication.'"

A despatch of April 26th, from Colon via Galveston, was as follows: "Superintendent of the Panama railroad sends the following cable despatch: 'The American forces occupied Panama Friday as a case of necessity. I understand Washington orders are to withdraw as soon as possible. This will be fatal if carried out. I will withdraw every American employe and proceed with them to New York. Transit cannot be kept open unless Panama is held by the United States forces or by a good government.'"

The Colombian minister at Washington on April 5th notified the United States government that the Colombian government had issued a decree declaring the ports of Sabanilla, Santa Marta and Barranquilla closed to foreign commerce, and also declaring the vessels in the service of the insurgents to be pirates. Secretary Bayard has informed the Colombian minister that neither of the positions can be conceded by the United States, both being contrary to international law, as was decisively illustrated during the American civil war, when the maritime nations of Europe refused to submit to a "paper blockade" of the southern ports, and when blockade-runners and rebel cruisers were not treated as pirates.

Watching and Waiting.

The Russian corvette Strylax and the British man-of-war Garnet were at Norfolk, Va., all last week, watching each other. The Garnet came from Vera Cruz, met the Strylax at Havana, and steamed out of that harbor two hours after the Russian. Both ships have taken in large quantities of stores and coal. Capt. Hand of the Garnet says when the Russian vessel left Havana, April 14th, he followed on his own motion for Charlestown, but afterward concluded to put in at Hampton roads for orders. When the Garnet was boarded at Cape Henry by the pilot, Capt. Hand asked if any Russian war ships had been seen outside, and when told that the Strylax had put in there he determined to go up also. Capt. Sarydloff of the Strylax thinks there will be war, and says he feels that if war is declared soon he will be in a bad position, as he has information that two English cruisers are coming this way from the south. Capts. Hand and Sarydloff have sent and received many cablegrams from their respective governments since their arrival; and the crew of neither vessel is allowed to go on shore, and steam is kept up. It looks as though they are keeping in trim, ready to leave at a moment's notice. Should war be declared, it is believed that the silence of the two vessels will be of short duration, and the people of that vicinity will witness a combat off the coast which will recall the memorable naval duel between the Kearsarge and the Alabama, near Cherbourg, France. But in order to have a fight, whichever one of the two ships went to sea first would have to wait for the other a full day, as the second one would be detained by our government twenty-four hours after the departure of the first one.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Post remarks: "There is a good deal more vigor than sense displayed in the criticisms of Mr. Pillsbury's appointment as internal revenue collector. The purport of the diatribes is that Pillsbury is an offensive partisan." Oh! no; the purport of the diatribes is that Pillsbury is a recklessly unscrupulous partisan, stopping at nothing when party success is the end in view. In the attempt to steal the state of Maine for Garcelon and reform, perjury, falsifying of returns, and the most shameless violation of official oaths were all employed, and Pillsbury, Chase & Co. have always had the "credit" of engineering that campaign. But Pillsbury and Chase are certainly representative democrats, and we do not see why anybody but mugwumps should expect the appointment of a different set of men by a democratic president.

The New York Post and Times, and the Boston Advertiser, are shocked at the appointment of such offensive partisans as Pillsbury, Chase and Troup as collectors of internal revenue; while the Boston Post rejoices that the president has at last began to make appointments on strictly political grounds. The independents may as well first as later on submit quietly to the programme to be carried out by Bayard and Manning. The question whether the president can carry out his pronounced civil service ideas as against the demands of his party is being rapidly solved. He may be annoyed for a while at the comments upon some of the worst of the selections made for him, but he will submit earlier or later to the party's call. The only regret is that the best men in the party appear to have no showing for recognition, and the other fellows are likely to get away with the offices, to the protracted and inconsolable disgust of the independents, who had not only hoped but had promised better things. These men can now estimate how much worse than Pillsbury and Chase would have been the incumbents in their places had Mr. Blaine been chosen.

A recent arrival at Nogales, Arizona, from Sonora, states that a battle has occurred between the Yaqui Indians and Mexicans, in which the latter were defeated with a loss of ninety killed and wounded. The Mexicans are preparing to attack the Yaquis with two Gatling guns.

It turns out that the Canadian forces under Gen. Middleton were badly defeated by the Indians and half breeds at Batouch on Friday last. The Indians were strongly posted in timber land on the bank of a ravine, and inflicted great loss on their assailants, who fell back five miles after the fight; it is feared the entire detachment will be destroyed.

The funeral of thirty-two victims of the fire in Vicksburg, Miss., on the night of the 21st inst., took place on Sunday afternoon. Five of the deceased, members of the volunteer fire department, and six colored citizens, were identified; the other twenty-one were merely charred remnants of bodies, totally beyond recognition.

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter of a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago." ☞

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

PARISH MEETING.

The annual meeting of the South Parish was held in the church on Monday afternoon.

William H. Rollins was moderator; and the wardens of last year, namely, William H. Sise, William W. Cotton, John W. Parsons, Wallace Hackett and A. Coburn Hoyt, were re-elected.

Joseph B. Upham, Jr., was elected parish clerk, succeeding Jos. Hiller Foster, deceased.

The usual appropriations were voted.

It was voted that the vesper service be maintained until June 1st, and then discontinued, the time of resumption being left with the pastor.

A committee consisting of Rev. Mr. Gooding, Jos. H. Thatcher and Wallace Hackett, was appointed to prepare suitable resolutions of respect to the late Jos. Hiller Foster, who for so many years served the parish as its clerk.

A MARE'S NEST.

The following item is going the rounds of the press:

A new discovery has been made about the silver dollar. The man who designed it was named Morgan. He hit upon a bright project for making himself immortal when he was about the job, and he carried it out very successfully. On each side of the coin he worked in his initial "M," and he did it cleverly, too. Anybody with a silver dollar and a pair of sharp eyes, can see for himself, although in one case most people will need a magnifying glass. On one side the initial is at the base of the neck of the Goddess of Liberty, and on the other it is in the left-hand side of the knot that ties together the olive branches.

This seems very much like a mare's nest, as letters much more prominent and distinct than the "M's" on the new dollars can be found on many of our coins. A look over half a dozen silver coins (borrowed for the occasion from the official demon) shows that on a Canadian half-dollar the letters "L C W" are on the lower edge of the Queen's neck, where it would join the body if there was any body; on an American half-dollar of 1858 is a very self-assertive "O," and on one of 1876 we find "C C," in both cases the mystic letters being in the otherwise blank space below the eagle; and on quarters of 1876 and '77 we find a very distinct "S." Possibly all the coins may be marked with initial letters; we do not know, nor do we know what the letters signify; but it is evident that the modest "M" on the new dollar is not much to wonder at.

MARITIME NOTES.

The dangers of the north millpond are multifarious. The yacht Mystery, in attempting to cross a few nights ago, ran aground on Clam island. Captain Bates, not being able to get off until the tide rose, and being afraid of incurring a malarial fever in consequence of the pestiferous almosphere, made a grand outcry which brought to his aid the night shifting hands of the railroad, who speedily relieved him, very much to his gratification.

The schooner Charles F. Atwood, which arrived last week from the Chesapeake, brought a cargo of extra fine Virginia oysters to W. Freeman.

The brick schooners J. Chester Wood, Hattie Lewis and Chilion, and the sloop Stephen Orr, from this port arrived at Boston on Sunday, the 26th inst.

The schooner Flying Dart, Capt. Thomas Jamieson, sailed from this port Monday forenoon for Gloucester, Mass., where she will take on board her salt for a fishing trip to the banks.

The fishing schooner Maud S., Capt. A. C. Wallace, while running for Portland harbor from Jaffrey's in a blinding snowstorm on Sunday, the 26th inst., in company with a number of other fishermen, was capsized off Halfway rock, and went to the bottom like a stone, carrying the captain down with her. The rest of her crew were saved by other fishing vessels, but one of the men, named John Burgess, was fatally hurt.

Mr. Lewis Holmes has added to his fleet of pleasure boats a fine whale-boat, which he is entirely renovating. She formerly belonged to Daniel Clark.

The ship Grandee, of this port, Jacobs master, sailed from Philadelphia on Tuesday, the 21st inst., for Anjier for orders.

To-morrow evening, at Franklin theatre, one of the most absorbingly interesting melodramas ever produced, "the Silver King," will be presented by the Boston Theatre Co., which includes such popular favorites as Rachel Noah, Grace Thorne, Dan Maguinnis, Coulter, Eberle, Burbeck and others. Tickets at Buzzell & Son's.

The young ladies of the Universalist Sunday school have been busily engaged in rehearsals for a beautiful musical entertainment to be given at the vestry on Pleasant street next Friday evening, May 1st, when the cantata "Fairy Queen" will be rendered by a dozen or more young ladies who scarcely need wings, in personating fairies, to make the illusion complete. There will be polite ushers in attendance to seat the audience. The price of the evening's entertainment is only fifteen cents.

We have received from the bureau of education two publications of more than ordinary interest and value, namely, an essay on the "City school systems of the United States," by John D. Philbrick, LL. D., making a pamphlet of over 200 pages; and "Planting trees in school grounds," by Dr. Franklin B. Hough, chief of the forestry division in the department of agriculture, the same covers enclosing "Trees and tree planting," with copious suggestions for the celebration of "arbor day."

Mr. Henry C. Hodgdon of this city went to Dover to sing at the firemen's fair held in that place on Monday and Tuesday evenings of last week, and his efforts were highly commended. He has a remarkable falsetto voice, which has attracted the attention of all musical people who have heard it. He sang at the York hotels last season, and although unknown, so captivated the summer habitues there that some wealthy Bostonians volunteered their aid to assist him in getting a musical education.

Mr. Rufus Preble supplies to Elvin S. Newton at Manchester 1500 lobsters weekly, from Newcastle.

The whistle on the brewery of the Portsmouth Brewing Co. now gives a "go to dinner" blast at twelve o'clock, noon.

The street commissioner has done a good job in grading up Pleasant street from the city building to State street, with crushed stone and a skimming of gravel.

The boys have of late been finding an abundance of the trailing arbutus in the woods.

Mr. Otis Haley, whose health has been impaired by hard work during the winter in Newton's fish store, proposes to pass the coming summer in the vicinity of Lake Winnipesaukie.

In anticipation of discharges on the navy yard, many of the employes are preparing to go whale-boat fishing this summer.

Mr. Daniel S. Broderick, of O'Reilley & Broderick, New York, arrived home on a flying visit Monday evening.

Henry L. Richards Camp, No. 12, S. O. V., of this city, was inspected on Monday evening at Grand Army hall by Capt Libbey of Great Falls, inspector of this district. There was a large attendance.

The number of rooms engaged for next season at the Marshall house in York is much larger than at this time in any previous year. Mr. Marshall is to reside in his new house this season, and the attractive cottage which he has occupied summers, near the hotel, will be filled with guests. The new ocean road from the Marshall house to the Hotel Bartlett will prove a great addition to the attractions of York, and is an improvement in keeping with the advanced sentiment of the town in these affairs.

It is now stated that Mr. William Wnerrin of Eliot, who fell from a staging at his house on the 22d inst., was much more severely hurt than was at first reported.

Mr. William H. Emery of Eliot, a draughtsman in the department of construction at the navy yard, was thrown from his wagon on Friday of last week through the breaking of the whiffletree bolt, and was considerably jarred, though he was not so badly hurt but that he was able to drive his team home.

In addition to the regular national and district camp-meetings at Old Orchard this year, it is expected that there will be a reunion of the chaplains of both the the union and confederate armies. The reunion will be held immediately after the national encampment of the Grand Army at Portland.

The people of Eliot get the Boston Sunday Globe early in the forenoon, by pony express from Dover.

YORK, ME., April 27th.

"That comical Brown" gives one of his entertainments at the town hall on Thursday evening, 30th inst. He is always well received here, and has a full house every time. He has been reported dead, but he says he isn't, and if the audience finds he is, he will refund the admission fee.

J. P. Norton, Esq., and Dr. Stewart, bid off the building of the new road, 570 rods, for $2200; the first bid was $2500.

The supreme judicial court for York county convenes at Alfred on the third Tuesday of May; Judge Haskell of Portland will preside. John K. Weare and Charles W. Junkins have been drawn as traverse jurors from this town.

Ernest Baston's Houdan hens are laying some monstrous eggs, some measuring 7x9 inches nearly.

Walter don't want his name in the paper any more, so we won't say anything about Saturday night.

On Saturday a five-years-old son of Mr. John H. Roberts attempted to run by where Geo. Kimball was pitching manure, just in time to receive the outside tyne of the fork through the upper lid of one eye, the steel entering at the outer side of the eye and passing through, just grazing the ball and coming out again through the lid near the nose. A narrow escape for the little chap. Dr. Stewart was called, and informs us that Georgie is doing well. F.

The Dover Republican is having all alone by itself a vigorous, determined and exhaustive discussion of the question whether Senator Rollins should have been elected four years ago or not. The Republican has long had a reputation as an antiquarian, and seems bound to retain it at all hazards.—Mirror.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY, WASHINGTON, March 28th, 1885.

WHEREAS, by satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that "The Rockingham National Bank of Portsmouth," in the City of Portsmouth in the County of Rockingham and State of New Hampshire has complied with all the provisions of the "Act of Congress to enable National Banking Associations to extend their corporate existence and for other purposes," approved July 13th, 1882:

Now therefore I, Henry W. Cannon, Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that "The Rockingham National Bank of Portsmouth," in the City of Portsmouth in the County of Rockingham and State of New Hampshire is authorized to have succession for the period specified in its amended articles of association, namely until close of business on April 1st, 1905.

In testimony whereof witness my hand and seal of office this 28th day of March, 1885.

[L.S.] H. W. CANNON, Comptroller of the Currency. [No. 1025.] tuy2

Notice as to Ashes and Refuse.

THE attention of citizens is called to the fact that the city teams can only remove such ashes and refuse as are placed on the edge of the sidewalk, in barrels or boxes of suitable size and weight, so as to be readily handled and emptied into the carts.

The city will not attempt to remove ashes or refuse placed in large barrels, boxes or hogsheads, filled so as not to be capable of being easily lifted and emptied, and all such will in every case be left where the owners place them, and at their risk. CALVIN PAGE, Mayor. tap28

ECZEMA or SALT RHEUM.

Another Clear and Positive Recovery —An Elderly Lady's Letter.

Among the numerous letters received by Dr Kennedy testifying to notable SALT RHEUM cures, the following will be found of interest to our readers, who may accept our assurance of its perfect authenticity and truthfulness:

WORCESTER, Mass., March 23, 1884.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

DEAR SIR: Until recently I have been for three years a sufferer from salt Rheum. It followed upon an attack of Erysipelas, for which I was for a long time under medical treatment. I placed myself again in the hands of the physicians who did, I suppose, their best, but it came on, one thing is sure, however, I was none the better for all the medicine they gave me. The painful and unsightly disease made constant progress, until I began to fear I should never get rid of it.

By means of one of those accidents that often result in so much blessing I had my attention called to your FAVORITE REMEDY, which I was told would surely do me good. I used it, and within a much shorter space than I would have believed possible, I received a permanent cure. I am now perfectly free from Salt Rheum. What a comfort this is, and how it places your wonderful medicine in my opinion, you may guess at, but never know. I keep it now constantly in the house as a family medicine. Yours truly,

MRS. DINAH PHAIR.

Mrs. Phair sometime since, when on a visit to Kansas, found a case of salt Rheum, could not get FAVORITE REMEDY, sent to New York City for it, and cured the case.

For all diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys Bladder and Digestive Organs, Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, Rondout, N. Y

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an unfailing friend and blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. $1 bottle, 6 for $5, by all druggists.

JAMES E. TEATON & CO.

A terrible epidemic of malarial typhoid fever is raging in Plymouth, Pa., a town of 7000 to 8000 inhabitants about three miles from Wilkesbarre. The disease only showed itself with the advent of hot weather, and already there have been over 1000 cases of sickness, and upward of forty deaths. The epidemic is the direct result of filth, there not being any sewerage system nor even a well-constructed surface gutter in the town, nor a paved street; the cesspools have never been cleaned out, the custom having been to cover one with earth when it got full, and make a new one; and filth and garbage of all kinds have always been thrown either into the back yards or the streets. No wonder the people of the place are dying.

"Well, that alters the case," replied the bridegroom; "I thought she baked it."

The Root of the Evil.

To thoroughly cure scrofula it is necessary to strike directly at the root of the evil. This is exactly what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, by acting upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing it of all impurities, and leaving not even a taint of scrofula in the vital fluid. Thousands who have been cured of scrofula by Hood's Sarsaparilla, testify to its wonderful blood-purifying qualities. Sold by all druggists.

Floods and freshets are reported on the St. Lawrence and Hudson rivers, in the Aroostook district of Maine, and in New Brunswick.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, ESQ.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

BOSTON, January 1, 1885. eodly

Mrs. George Smith of Roxbury, Mass., was last week tried by the West Roxbury Congregational church, of which she is a member, for unchristian conduct in hastening the death of her late husband by systematic cruelty and heartlessness displayed toward him for years, and especially in his last illness. The charges were proved, and she was suspended from active membership for one year, and at the end of that time to be dropped from the rolls unless she in the meantime make confession of wrong.

Young or middle-aged men suffering from nervous debility, loss of memory, premature old age, as the result of bad habits, should send three letter stamps for illustrated book offering sure means of cure. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Great Benefactor of Women.

Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., is often spoken of as the great benefactor of women and frequently receives letters like the one we quote from, written by a lady in San Francisco, she says: "I am taking your Vegetable Compound and find great benefit from it. It has done me more good than all the doctors." Mrs. T. of Vincennes, Ind., writes: "Having taken 11 bottles of your Vegetable Compound and cured by its use, I feel very anxious that every woman afflicted with womb disease should make use of it." Another lady in Birmingham, Mich., was suffering from weakness and displacement. She says: "I began taking your compound and it helped me so soon, I feel like proclaiming to the world its great virtues as a healing agent for women."

Joe Eaton, a noted desperado residing near Fairfield, Benton county, Mo., shot and killed Clay Jeans, city marshal of Warsaw, Mo., April 25th, while resisting an attempt to arrest him. The sheriff of the county then shot Eaton three times, wounding him mortally. Eaton killed a man a year ago.

Housed Up.

For the last three months a great many people have been housed up, because they have not felt able to withstand the stormy wintry weather that has prevailed. But unfortunately the confinement and the close air of modern houses during the winter season, is very enervating, and the system needs help to enable all the organs to do their proper work. If these organs have been inactive the consequences are showing themselves in the bilious condition of the system, or in constipation of the bowels, or in disorders of the kidneys, with all the aches and pains that accompany these complaints. If you are in this condition from any cause you should make a faithful trial of that well known remedy Kidney-Wort. It acts at the same time on the kidneys, liver and bowels, and is therefore especially fitted to correct this torpid condition of the system.

William Haley, aged thirty, belonging in Canada, but sent to jail from North Adams, Mass., under a six months' sentence for vagrancy, hanged himself in his cell at Pittsfield on the 23d inst.

Physic is necessary at times for biliousness, costiveness, etc. Use Dr. Arnold's Bilious Pills. 25c.

WETHERELL'S SARSAPARILLA

Is the best remedy ever devised for all diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, giving immediate and permanent improvement. No remedy has ever before been so compounded as to bring together in one bottle so many active ingredients, which are known to all physicians as a specific for impure blood, the fountain-head of all diseases.

Bilious Headache.

I have suffered for a long time from bilious headache, and have tried many preparations of Sarsaparilla, but found no relief. I was induced by my friends to try Wetherell's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, with Iodide of Potassium. After taking one bottle I am entirely cured, and feel better now than for years. I cheerfully give you the use of my name, believing that many who suffer as I did will be cured by your wonderful medicine. J. A. ROWELL, Brentwood, N.H.

CANCER FOR MANY YEARS.

A family servant has been afflicted for many years with a cancer on her nose, and was treated by some of the best physicians, and the old remedies used without benefit. Finally we gave her Swift's Specific and she has been completely cured. JOHN HILL, Druggist, Thomson, Ga., August 16, 1884.

Nose Eaten Off!

John Naves, a young man near here, had a cancer on his face which has eaten away his nose and part of his cheek, and was extending up to his eye. As a last resort he was put on Swift's Specific, and it entirely cured him. His face is all healed over with new flesh, and his general health is excellent. His recovery is wonderful.

SPOOPENDYKE'S TETONS.

Mrs. Spoopendyke Enlightened as to the Make-Up and Characteristics of Her Husband's New Subjects.

"Why, that's just too sweet for anything!" squealed Mrs. Spoopendyke as she absently dropped her thimble into her coffee-cup in mistake for a lump of sugar.

Mr. Spoopendyke was standing on the hearth-rug, his face flushed, his left hand supporting his coat-tails, and his right extended holding the letter which told him of his succession to the chieftainship of the Tetons.

"It's just lovely!" reiterated Mrs. Spoopendyke, "and we'll go and live in a tent out on the prairies, and I'll be a queen, and when the Teutons——"

"Dod-gast the woman!" snorted Mr. Spoopendyke, "she thinks I'm the Kaiser Wilhelm. What d'ye suppose these Teutons are anyway? Think I'm going to be a long-haired German with spectacles and an ophiclelide? D'ye fancy Spoopendyke proposes opening a lager-beer hall and laying an embargo on American hogs? Show me the man that suspects me of hankering after sauerkraut and duelling! Bring on your man! Produce your measly individual!" and he waved the letter threateningly at the stovepipe. "They're Tetons, that's what they are; the aboriginal vermilion-tinted children of the wind-swept Sierras! Tetons!"

"Well, Tea-things, then," moaned Mrs. Spoopendyke. "But I know what they are. They are Indians, and they live on a reservation and dog sausages, and there won't be any more buttons for us to sew on. And we'll live in a tent and teach baby the war whoop, and—and—and will they all come and sit round us in a circle and say 'Waugh! the pale-faced brother speaks well' when we call them together?"

"We! an' what d'ye suppose you've got to do with this thing? You'll be one of my squaws," shouted Spoopendyke.

"Wh-ow-w-w!" whined his spouse, "I won't be a squaw, and you shan't have more than one of me, will you darling?"

"Well, don't you go thinking you've got to run this tribe. If you do, when any Pocahontas comes along——"

"Well, but I won't," gurgled Mrs. Spoopendyke. "I'll just sit and bead moccasins for you, and I'll make myself a sacque of wigwam trimmed with elk-teeth."

"Wigwam! eh? Don't you mean wampum?" snarled Mr. Spoopendyke. "Think I'm going to let the chief's squaw go round in a full suit of tents? Suppose you're going to have a skirt made of pine lumber faced with brick? Going to give orders to a contractor for a full suit of underwear made of Ohio sandstone with granite trimmings, and a Queen Anne left wing to 'em. Like to have your boots made of fire-clay, and a mansard roof to your bonnet trimmed with lightning-rods?"

"No, of course I didn't; but I'll have a sacque made of wampum, trimmed with elks' teeth and eagle feathers, and baby shall have a beaded pelisse and a hood edged with pemmican and——"

"Great Scott!" shouted Mr. Spoopendyke, kicking over a chair; "what d'ye think pemmican is? Want to disgrace me by your ignorance before the whole tribe? Perhaps you'd like to see baby in a night dress of hash and a cloak made of fricasseed chicken, trimmed with parsley? Want to have him dressed in olives with a hood made of fish balls? Think the government is so liberal with its rations that the Tetons can afford to flaunt themselves in full-dress suits of jerked buffalo meat and crackers?"

"Well, I thought pemmican was something to dress in. It sounds like it," murmured Mrs. Spoopendyke as she recommenced fishing for the lost thimble with her little finger. "But," as she sucked her finger to dry it, "we will go out, won't we? and they will call me the pale-faced lily of the land of the rising sun, and I'll wheel over the prairies on a beautiful milk-white steed and scour——"

"Guess you will," puffed Mr. Spoopendyke. "I'd like to see my wife sitting on a measly, pink-eyed cayuse. You'll wheel the baby-carriage, that's all you'll do, while Spoopendyke holds the reins of government, and you can scour the dod-gasted tin dishes."

"Well, but that's what Indian princesses always do," expostulated Mrs. Spoopendyke, "and they call the steed Quecoha, and they carry a bow and arrow and shoot eagles with it, and at night they gather round the fire and light the peace pipes of the braves and sing lullabies to the dusky papooses, and——"

"Oh, you know all about Indians, don't you? You've spent your life on an agency, haven't you? You only need a tabulated statement at one end and to be mailed to a confiding constituency to be a report of the secretary of the interior. You only want to embezzle a few million dollars and keep to bald-headed clerks to be an Indian bureau at Washington. If you were sold for 20 cents and had a plug tobacco advertisement on your hind cover you would pass for a seaside edition of the 'Last of the Mohicans.' You've studied the red men, haven't you? You say your prayers in Chinook, and talk Sioux to the baby, don't you? Oh! there's nothing worth knowing about frontier life and buffalo-hunting that you are not up in," snorted Mr. Spoopendyke, as he pranced away to compose his address to the president.

"Well, I don't mind," soliloquized Mrs. Spoopendyke. "I'll go and get his Sunday pants, and cut them down to half his size, and put a fringe of red flannel up the sides, and if he don't like them, they'll do for the baby when he grows up."

And she wiped the thimble on the corner of the tablecloth, and went upstairs to get the pants.—Minneapolis Tribune.

A bookseller in Philadelphia says he can name men to whom he would not hesitate to sell a bill of goods—"men whom I would trust," to use his own words, "with my watch and pocket-book, but I would not leave them five minutes behind the shelves of this store." The literary kleptomaniac is described by him as well-dressed usually; he has a studious, if not cultured look; he may be a young man, not through with his studies; or he may be of mature age.

Vegetine purifies the blood, renovates and invigorates the whole system.

Miss Ella Taylor, a handsome young lady of twenty years, was passing by a cemetery at Middletown, Ohio, Saturday night, the 25th inst., with a number of young people, when one of the party exclaimed, "There's a ghost!" All but Miss Taylor started to run. She fell and expired before aid could be summoned.

"That tired feeling" from which you suffer so much, particularly in the morning, is entirely thrown off by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The Langdon house, located at Warren, formerly the Moosilauk house and owned by J. F. Langdon, has been bought by Capt. G. H. L. Head of Warren, who will take possession and control of the house this season.

Easy to See Through.

How can a watch—no matter how costly—be expected to go when the mainspring won't operate? How can anyone be well when his stomach, liver or kidneys are out of order? Of course you say "He cannot." Yet thousands of people drag along miserably in that condition; not sick abed, but not able to work with comfort and energy. How foolish, when a bottle or two of Parker's Tonic would set them all right. Try it, and get back your health and spirits.

A barn belonging to the Plummer estate at Ossipee was burned on the night of April 26th, with 100 barrels of flour, farming tools and household goods stored in the barn. The loss is $2000; no insurance.

Cuticura

THE ONLY REMEDIES FOR THE SKIN AND BLOOD UNIVERSALLY COMMENDED.

Wm. T. Totten, 672 North Tenth Street, Philadelphia, reports that one of his customers stated to him in mentally that he was feeling so well and had gained twenty-seven pounds in the last year, all of which he attributed to a systematical course of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, which has proved effectual when all other remedies failed.

SORES ON NECK.

Chas. Brady, Somerville, Mass., who refers to Dr. J. J. Wood, druggist, of that city, certifies to a wonderful cure of running sores on the neck which had been treated by hospital physicians without cure, and which yielded completely to the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

CURED BY CUTICURA.

My skin disease, which resisted several popular remedies and other remedies advised by physicians, has been cured by your CUTICURA REMEDIES. They surpassed my most sanguine expectations and rapidly effected a cure.
VINCENZO, IND. J. C. ARENTRUE.

KNOW ITS VALUE.

All of your CUTICURA REMEDIES give very good satisfaction. The CUTICURA I especially recommend for the diseases for which it is used. I know from experience its value.
DR. H. J. PRATT, MONTELLO, WIS.

CUTICURA ABROAD.

Through a home-returned Norwegian, I have learned to know your CUTICURA, which has in a short time cured me of an ECZEMA that my physician's medicines could not heal.

The case of Bishop Hiram B. Clawson, for unlawful cohabitation, was closed in the commissioner's court at Salt Lake, April 25th. Being asked his plea he said: "It is not necessary to examine any witnesses. I admit all the facts as set forth in this complaint." The bishop had said before that he would not run, neither would he permit any member of his family to run.

Great excitement and activity exists among the settlers on the Crow Creek and Winnebago lands opened to settlement by President Arthur. Meetings are being held on the reservation and at towns contiguous thereto regarding President Cleveland's proclamation. Money is being raised and societies organized to prosecute the settlers' case in the courts, and to present it to the department at Washington.

The Central American War.

Panama advices of the 27th say that on the previous day "an extraordinary assembly was summoned to consider the situation. Gen. Aizpurn was confirmed in his position as president, which he will hold until the arrival of Gen. Vila and the troops from Buenaventura, when a peace commission will be despatched on board the gunboat Boyaca for the purpose of negotiating for an amicable arrangement of the troubles and cessation of hostilities. Speeches of a pacific nature were made by several prominent citizens. Other citizens strongly deprecated the American occupation of the town. Everything continues quiet, but great uneasiness is still shown. The United States steamer Iroquois arrived here yesterday."

Admiral Jouett and Commander McCalla have informed the navy department that the American forces were withdrawn from Panama because of promises made by the rebel Aizpurn that he would not interfere with American interests in that city, and that he would not erect barricades in the streets. The American troops were marched a short distance from the city to the Panama railroad company's property.

The Central & South American Telegraph Co. in New York on the 27th received the following despatch from Panama: "The city is quiet. The moral effect of the occupation by the American forces has been very great; not a shot has been fired since. Colombian troops from the south are expected to arrive here this evening. An excited meeting was held here on Sunday; seditious speakers were stopped, under pain of arrest by Aizpurn."

The War in the Northwest.

Details of the fight at Batouche show that it was a kind of Braddock's-defeat affair, the commander, Gen. Middleton, sending raw troops to attack accomplished sharpshooters and woodsmen in a very strong position. Eight deaths had occurred among the white troops up to the 27th, and a captain and lieutenant were lying at the point of death. Another fight was expected on the 27th or 28th.

Russia and England.

A despatch of April 27th from St. Petersburg to London says: "War between Russia and England is now regarded inevitable. The czar leaves to-day for Moscow, and from that historic city he will issue his manifesto or declaration of war, if such extreme measure becomes necessary."

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the London News on the 27th telegraphed that in another battle on the Afghan frontier, of 1700 Russians engaged in the attack nearly all were killed. A Brussels paper of the same date published "under reserve, but from an excellent source, a report of a fresh battle between the Russians and Afghans, in which the former were defeated and retired, having met with a heavy loss."

In the British house of commons, on the 27th, the war credit of $55,000,000 was passed without a division, and without any conditions. Gladstone made a speech which was regarded as a virtual declaration of war.

The War in the Soudan.

The report that the followers of El Mahdi have defeated the Italian troops at Massowah is denied. The Gallabat garrison, consisting of 1000 men, has been relieved and is marching to Massowah. Only Hirza and Kassala are now beseiged. It is reported Osman Digna's followers, who number 600, are willing to surrender Osman if they receive a guarantee of English protection. Small pox is decimating Omdurman, opposite Khartoum. The garrison of Senaar defeated the forces of the Mahdi which made an attack upon that place. The troop ship Jumna, with 1000 coolies on board intended for the Berber railway, has been ordered to return from Suakim to Bombay, the men being required to man the monitors in Bombay harbor.

The government of New South Wales has offered England the Australian contingent now in the Soudan for service in India.

The Suez canal commission has decided to place prizes captured in naval warfare traversing the Suez canal upon the same footing as men-of-war.

The Cholera.

Reports from Europe indicate that cholera is more widely prevalent there than is generally known. It is said to exist in France, Spain and Russia. After the severe losses which France, Spain and Italy suffered last year because of the reports sent out concerning the disease, it is probable that as far as possible its existence will be kept secret this year. These reports show the urgent necessity for taking every possible precaution to guard against the introduction of the epidemic into the United States.

The marine hospital bureau at Washington has been informed that cholera is prevailing in Calcutta to an alarming extent.

Big Hauls of Mackerel.

A despatch of April 27th from New York says: "Never since the opening of the Fulton fish market has there been such a glut of fresh-caught fish as occurred this morning. Fish Commissioner Blackford said: "There are now in the harbor no less than seventy-three smacks and schooners of the Portland and Gloucester fleets, which are absolutely packed full of fresh-caught mackerel. Forty of these are now discharging on the market slips, while the remainder are at the foot of Fulton street, at Brooklyn and Staten island, waiting for a chance to run in and obtain berth room. From the official returns received by me, I put the mackerel catch at a few thousand above 1,100,000 fish. The mackerel average three-quarters of a pound each, and are retailing today at a cent apiece."

The Boston Post of the 28th says: "Fine plump No. 1 mackerel were on sale in Boston markets yesterday at fifteen to twenty cents each, the first really nice ones brought here in any quantity this season. Great quantities of small mackerel, averaging three to a pound, were sold yesterday at fair prices."

E. M. Boynton has entered suit in the United States court against Hussey, Howe & Co., steel manufacturers of Pittsburg, Pa., claiming that the defendants refused to deliver a large order for steel plates which had been contracted for because the price of steel advanced several cents before the date of filling the order. The suit, which involves $600,000, will be tried May 11th. Gen. Benjamin F. Butler is counsel for the plaintiff.

Mrs. Alice Williams Bradbury, wife of Hon. Bion Bradbury of Portland, Me., died April 27th. Mrs. Bradbury was regent for Maine of the Woman's Centennial commission in 1876, and prominent in charitable work and social circles in Maine.

Why the Lucky Bay City Man Smiles.

Gen. A. Spear, who drew $75,000 in The Louisiana State Lottery, has not changed, except that his face is bedecked with smiles. Sudden wealth has not elevated him. He said: "I will collect the money through the banks, the same as I would a draft, sending the lottery ticket as a draft. I am working in the store, just as though nothing had happened." He received a New York Banker's sight draft for $54,850, in payment of his claim against The Louisiana State Lottery.—Bay City (Mich.) Tribune, March 27th.

Criticism—judicious criticism, too—by the Boston Post: "Any one who will read Admiral Porter's articles in the Century will at once realize that 'there wasn't very much fighting outside of the battles engaged in by the admiral." The "Art Amateur" for May contains a charming colored plate. Attractive designs are also given for a dessert plate, a panel of carved wood, a brass plaque and a variety of other decorative work. An illustrated notice of the principal American pictures to be shown at the coming Paris Salon is of special interest. The wide circulation of this excellent magazine will doubtless be handsomely increased by the publisher's liberal prize offer for 1885 of ten dollars' worth of books and periodicals of their own selection to be given to persons sending in clubs of ten. A specimen copy of the Art Amateur will be sent to any address for twenty-five cents; regular price thirty-five cents; per annum, $4. Montague Marks, publisher, No. 23 Union square, New York.

That Tired Feeling

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influence so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N.Y.

"A CHEAP WEDDING."

Under the above heading the Times relates the following story: "A pastor in this city had a somewhat unsatisfactory call upon his professional services a few days since. A man called at his door, and after some hems and haws, inquired how much it cost to get married, and was informed upon the subject. An engagement was made for the afternoon of the same day. The appointed time arrived, and the caller of the forenoon arrived bringing with him his blushing bride. The knot was tied, and the two loving souls were thus made happy. When about to depart, the groom took the reverend gentleman aside and explained that he had forgotten his money, but was a piano-forte tuner, and would bring $25 later in the day. The clerical gentleman was obliged to put up with this reply, and at last accounts had seen neither the money nor the man, and didn't expect to. We cannot compliment the young lady, whoever she is, upon having made a remarkably good choice."

Further information regarding this marriage indicates that the bridegroom was quite as "cheap" an article as his wedding ceremony. The bride, who is a young woman employed at one of the hotels, was deserted after two brief days of wedded bliss by the "Professor," who "rusled" to parts unknown, very generously leaving behind him whatever bills he had been able to contract during his short but brilliant career in this city.

A LIGHTNING COFFEE-POT.

We have been told that coffee can be made in less than one minute, clear and fragrant, with only one-half the usual amount of coffee, which we regarded as wonderful indeed—if true! We are assured that it is true, and that it will be proved true at the store of J. P. Sweetser, No. 46 Market street, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, when we shall take the liberty to judge for ourselves, and shall become the possessor of one of the coffee-pots by which such a result is obtained—if it is obtained. If all this can be demonstrated, then the inventor of such an implement should receive the thanks and patronage of the public, for we are a coffee-drinking people, and one-half saved in coffee will be a big item of economy in our family expenses. We advise our readers to see them when they are tested at Mr. Sweetser's.

MARITIME NOTES.

The "pinque" Lucy sailed for the Shoals on Tuesday morning with stores for Lemuel B. Caswell, for use during his summer fishing operations at Smuttynose island. The men who went out in her were James Burke, (skipper,) Rienzi Rand, (Steward,) William C. Seavey and William Danielson.

The schooner John J. Hanson, of Dover, Stevens master, sailed from Newport News, Va., for this port, April 25th. This schooner is the latest addition to the fleet of the Dover Navigation Co., and several Portsmouth people own shares in her; she was built in Maine, and this is her first visit to her home port.

The sloop Screamer, of Gloucester, Mass., about sixty-four tons register, and the schooner Harriet, of Rockport, Mass., arrived at Philbrick's stone wharf on Tuesday afternoon, the sloop having a load of Cape Ann granite, and the schooner having a number of heavy pieces in her hold.

The schooner Edward Lameyer, coal laden, came up to C. E. Walker & Co.'s wharf just at dark Tuesday evening.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

Twenty naval apprentices from one of the training-ships arrived from Newport, R. I., Tuesday evening, and were taken across to the navy yard by steamer. They are to form part of the crew of the U. S. S. Omaha.

Paymaster F. H. Hinman has been ordered to continue his present duties at this navy yard until May 1st, 1886.

Fifteen ship-carpenters and three holeborers were discharged from the department of construction and repair at the navy yard on Tuesday evening; this leaves only six ship-carpenters on the yard.

The Biddeford Journal says "John Roberts, of Saco, is to be head teamster at the Kittery navy yard the ensuing year."

The Boston Theatre Co. at the Franklin theatre this evening, in the "Silver King," one of the best melodramas now on the stage. This is the farewell performance of the company here, as the Boston theatre will abandon the stock-company plan at the close of this season. Tickets at Buzzell & Son's.

There was some thunder and lightning at about seven o'clock Tuesday evening, and again at midnight.

The Times remarks: "The system of electric call bells at the Rockingham is being put in, and already over 100 miles of copper wire has been put in, with still a large quantity to be adjusted." A hundred miles of wire seems quite a lot; it is enough to reach from the top to the bottom of the building more than fifty times.

There will be services at the Universalist church next Sunday. Rev. James Eastwood of Brattleboro, Vt., will preach in the forenoon.

The sale of the Jones mansion at the corner of Middle and Austin streets appears to have been taken in hand by Messrs. John Jeffries & Son, the well known real estate agents of Boston, who will effect a sale if it can be done by any one.

The boarding which has concealed the front of the Rockingham house, and sheltered the workmen during the winter, has been taken away from the upper two stories, giving a chance to guess at how the renewed structure will look. From the glimpse we had we judge that it is to be what it was not before, a very handsome structure as well as imposing from its size.

The management of the Sons of Veterans dances have made arrangements to wind up their popular dances with a grand May party next Friday evening, and will present each person who attends the party with a bouquet of freshly gathered May flowers.

Stephen R. Niles, Esq., of Boston, was in this city on Tuesday.

Several of the iron columns for the new front of the store on the corner of Daniel street and Market square, were placed in position on Tuesday.

Rev. Alfred Elwyn is putting a large addition, in Queen Ann style, to the house on Lafayette road built a dozen years or so ago by the late Jonh Elwyn, and will also remodel and improve the original structure.

Mr. Stephen W. Clarke of Manchester, formerly of this city, was in town on Tuesday. His house at the junction of Deer and Vaughan streets will shortly be occupied by Dr. John J. Berry of South Norwalk, Conn., who proposes to settle down to the practice of his profession here.

The annual Methodist conference of Maine, which ended at Biddeford on Tuesday, April 28th, made appointments as follows for some of the towns in York county: Kittery, 1st and 2d churches, Perry Chandler; Eliot, J. H. Trask; South Eliot, H. F. A. Patterson; South Berwick, E. W. Hutchinson; York, J. A. Corey; Berwick, T. F. Jones, South Standish and Buxton, B. Freeman; Maryland Ridge, to be supplied; Ogunquit, I. H. Snow; Kennebunk, C. P. Parsons; Kennebunk Depot, R. H. Kimball; Kennebunkport, S. F. Wetherbee; Cape Porpoise, Alvah Cook. Presiding elder, W. S. Jones.

The Samoset Manufacturing company has been organized at South Berwick for the manufacture and sale of petroleum products, bleaching, toilet and other soaps, and other articles such as petroleum may form a constituent of, with $200,000 capital paid in.

At South Berwick, Saturday, Frank G. Pierre's place was raided by Sheriff Deering and Deputies Goldthwait and Haines, and eighteen gallons of liquor seized. Pierre was subsequently tried, and fined $100 and costs.

Biddeford has got the base-ball fever, worst kind, and has hired the usual number of professional players, belonging in other places, to uphold the honor of Biddeford in the contest for the championship pennant of the Eastern New England League. The Biddeford daily papers run a regular half-column of base-ball notes.

Kingman F. Page, a well-known lawyer and capitalist, died at New York on the 22d inst. He was born in Rochester, N. H., Oct. 10th, 1832, and was gratuated from Phillips academy at Exeter, and afterward from Bowdoin college in 1852. In 1855 he went to Washington under the special tuteiage of President Franklin Pierce, and studied law with Caleb Cushing. He was appointed special attorney to the interior department by President Pierce, and held the office until 1861.

Ferdinand Kent, aged twenty-four, and Joseph Kent, aged twenty, the only sons of Capt. Otis Kent of North Haven, Me., capsized in a small boat on Saturday, April 25th, while lobstering a few rods from shore, and were drowned. Ferdinand was recently married.

Newspapers of To-Day.

People generally, and even those who may be termed steady readers and close observers, have but a faint conception of the magnitude and influence the press of this country has attained. From a careful examination of the advance pages of the 1885 edition of the American Newspaper Directory, issued May 1st by Geo. P. Rowell & Co., of New York, it appears that there are 14,147 newspapers and periodicals published in the United States and Canada; of these the United States has 12,973, an average of one paper for every 3,687 persons. In 1884 the total number of newspapers was less by 823 than at present, and while the gain this year is not so marked as in some previous years, it is still considerable. Kansas shows the greatest increase, the number being seventy-eight, while Illinois follows with a gain of seventy-seven. It is curious to notice that New York, the scene of so much political activity during the last campaign, should have only about one-third as many new papers as the state of Pennsylvania. As an index to the comparative growth and prosperity of different sections of the country, especially the territories, the number of new papers forms an interesting study, and may well occupy the attention of the curious.

Rockingham National Bank.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY, WASHINGTON, March 28th, 1885.

WHEREAS, by satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that "The Rockingham National Bank of Portsmouth," in the City of Portsmouth in the County of Rockingham and State of New Hampshire has complied with all the provisions of the "Act of Congress to enable National Banking Associations to extend their corporate existence and for other purposes," approved July 12th, 1882:

Now therefore I, Henry W. Cannon, Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that "The Rockingham National Bank of Portsmouth," in the City of Portsmouth in the County of Rockingham and State of New Hampshire is authorized to have succession for the period specified in its amended articles of association, namely until close of business on April 1st, 1905.

In testimony whereof witness my hand and seal of office this 28th day of March, 1885.

{L.S.} H. W. CANNON, Comptroller of the Currency. [No. 1025.] tmy2

Notice as to Ashes and Refuse.

THE attention of citizens is called to the fact that the city teams can only remove such ashes and refuse as are placed on the edge of the sidewalk, in barrels or boxes of suitable size and weight so as to be readily handled and emptied into the carts.

The city will not attempt to remove ashes or refuse placed in large barrels, boxes or hogsheads, filled so as not to be capable of being easily lifted and emptied, and all such will in every case be left where the owners place them, and at their risk. CALVIN PAGE, Mayor.

ECZEMA or SALT RHEUM.
Another Clear and Positive Recovery —An Elderly Lady's Letter.
Among the numerous letters received by Dr Kennedy testifying to notable SALT RHEUM cures, the following will be found of interest to our readers, who may accept our assurance of its perfect authenticity and truthfulness.
WORCESTER, Mass., March 23, 1884.
Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.
DEAR SIR: Until recently I have been for three years a sufferer from Salt Rheum. It followed upon an attack of Erysipelas, for which I was for a long time under medical treatment. I placed myself again in the hands of the physicians who did, I have no doubt, all that could be done. One thing is sure, however, I was none the better for all the money I gave them. The painful and unsightly disease made continual progress, until I began to fear I should never get rid of it.
By means of one of those accidents that often result in so much blessing I had my attention called to your FAVORITE REMEDY, which I was told would do me good. I used it, and within a much shorter time than I would have believed possible, I received a permanent cure. I am now perfectly free from Salt Rheum. What a comfort this is, and how it places your wonderful medicine in my opinion, you may guess at, but never know. I keep it now constantly in the house as a family medicine. Yours truly,
MRS DINAH PHAIR.
Mrs. Phair sometime since, when on a visit to Kansas, found a case of Salt Rheum, could not get FAVORITE REMEDY, sent to New York City for it, and cured the case.
For all diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys Bladder and Digestive Organs, Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, Rondout, N. Y

MALARIA.
As an anti-malarial medicine
DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S
FAVORITE REMEDY
has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an unfailing blessing. Address the Proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. $1 bottle, 6 for $5, by all druggists.

Pretty Women.

Ladies who would retain freshness and vivacity. Don't fail to try "Well's Health Renewer."

At a hotel in Troy, N. Y., April 25th, Col. Joseph Egolf shot Wm. G. Carr, son of Secretary of State Carr. The bullet struck Carr in the chest, inflicting a slight flesh wound. Egolf, who is a one-armed veteran, was not arrested.

"Rough On Itch."

"Rough on Itch" cures humors, eruptions, ringworm, tetter, salt rheum, frosted feet, chilblains.

Mrs. Amelia Townsend, one of the victims of the negro Rugg, died at Oyster Bay, Long Island, N. Y., April 16th, from the result of her injuries. She was a daughter of the late General W. H. Winder, U. S. A., who served with distinction during the war of 1812, and in 1814 was adjutant and inspector general of the army.

Biliousness

Is very prevalent at this season, the symptoms being bitter taste, breath offensive, tongue coated, sick headache, drowsiness, dizziness, loss of appetite. If this condition is allowed to continue, serious consequences may follow. By promptly taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, a fever may be avoided or premature death prevented. It is positive cure for biliousness. Sold by all druggists.

The number of cases of shoes shipped from Farmington during the week ending April 23d was 687, against 460 for the corresponding week last year.

One Bottle instead of a Dozen.

"And it took only one bottle to do it," said a gentleman, speaking of Parker's Hair Balsam. I had a run of fever, and when I got well the last my hair began to fall out so fast as to alarm me. I really didn't know what to do, until one day a friend said, 'Try Parker's Hair Balsam.' That was some months ago. What surprised me was the fact that one bottle was enough. I expected to use up a dozen." Clean, highly perfumed, not oily, not a dye. Restores original color.

—It is the early hen that catches the spring garden.

Under False Colors. Notwithstanding the protection with which the law encircles patent rights and trade marks, no sooner does a valuable patent or proprietary article make its appearance than a horde of unprincipled persons try by every means to imitate the original. PYLE'S PEARLINE, celebrated as a washing compound, has had a share of imitations, but the superiority of the genuine article over the counterfeits is so plainly apparent that very few people have been deceived.

—It is said of a certain eminent politician in Massachusetts that in his young days he tried to get on, later in life he tried to get honor, and now he is trying to get honest.

For 25 years I have been afflicted with Catarrh so that I have been confined to my room for two months at a time. I have tried all the humbugs in hopes of relief but to no success until I met with an old friend who had used Ely's Cream Balm and advised me to try it. I procured a bottle to please him, and from the first application I found relief. It is a wonderful remedy. 50 cents.

—A Troy man shot at a hen with a revolver, and hit a neighbor who was sitting on the fence watching him. Both are agreed that the bullet glanced from the hen.

Mothers, teething and fretful children need Dr. Arnold's Soothing & Quieting Cordial. Druggists, 25c.

—"Use your fork, Johnie! Have you forgotten so soon what I told you about using your fingers?" "Well, mamma, fingers were made before forks." "Yes, they were; but not your fingers, my son."

Tens of Thousand Colds

Lead to consumption, fevers, settled coughs, asthma, bronchitis, whooping cough, croup, etc. Immediate relief by Dr. Seth Arnold's Cough Killer.

The steam saw mill of A. C. Wheelwright at Peterboro was burned early last Friday morning, with stock, machinery and tools. Loss $6000; insured $3,300. The fire caught from the boiler.

A Great Benefactor of Women.

Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., is often spoken of as the great benefactor of women and frequently receives letters like the one we quote from, written by a lady in San Francisco, she says: "I am taking your Vegetable Compound and find great benefit from it. It has done me more good than all the doctors." Mrs. T. of Vincennes, Ind., writes: "Having taken 11 bottles of your Vegetable Compound and cured by its use, I feel very anxious that every woman afflicted with womb disease should make use of it." Another lady in Birmingham, Mich., was suffering from weakness and displacement. She says: "I began taking your compound and it helped me so soon, I feel like proclaiming to the world its great virtues as a healing agent for women."

Physic is necessary at times for biliousness, costiveness, etc. Use Dr. Arnold's Bilious Pills. 25c.

On Thursday, April 23d, near Trenton, in the western part of Nebraska, a fight occurred between cowboys and settlers, resulting in the death of four settlers. There has been ill-feeling between cowboys and settlers owing to the fact that settlers have dared to take up homesteads on cattle ranches. On Thursday a difficulty arose between a settler and a cowboy, which resulted in the former discharging his rifle at the latter, but without effect. The cowboy then, with some companions, returned and shot to death four farmers.

WETHERELL'S SARSAPARILLA

Is the best remedy ever devised for all diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, giving immediate and permanent improvement. No remedy has ever been so compounded as to bring together in one bottle so many active ingredients, which are known to all physicians as a specific for impure blood, the fountain-head of all diseases.

Bilious Headache.

I have suffered for a long time from bilious headache, and have tried many preparations of Sarsaparilla, but found no relief. I was induced by my friends to try Wetherell's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, with Iodide of Potassium. After taking one bottle I am entirely cured, and feel better now than for years. I cheerfully give you the use of my name, believing that many who suffer as I did will be cured by your wonderful medicine. J. A. HOWELL, Brentwood, N.H.

CLOSE CORPORATIONS.

How the Railroads Watch Their Men—Danger of "Knocking Down"—Photographing Employes.

"Did ye get that job, Mac?"

"No, curse it! The boss told me I was black-listed by the Southern Pacific."

The speakers, writes an El Paso, Tex., correspondent to the San Francisco Chronicle, were two of a group of railroad men seated round a table in a beer saloon on El Paso street. In their immediate vicinity your correspondent sipped the weak and insipid lager at the establishment, which had at least the merit of being wet,—by the way, a moisture not to despise in the heat of the day, for the days here are hot already.

One of the group, who was evidently with but not one of them, ventured to inquire:

"What do you mean, Mac, by being black-listed by the Southern Pacific?"

"Well, boys, to begin at the beginning, you all know that as a machinist I'm about as good as they make them, and can hold my end up against the best of them. About a year ago I heard I could get a job in the Southern Pacific repair-shop at Deming, so I sent in my application, with testimonials, etc., to headquarters, and in due time I received a favorable reply, with a request to send on my photograph. Well, I dressed up in my best and went down to Parker's gallery, and had it taken cabinet size—worse luck! I did not think anything about it at the time. Supposed that the company had a photograph gallery of its employes, like a militia company I was once in, and wanted to have it complete. Well, after I had been working for some time, changed about from here to there, I had a few words from one of the bosses, and was fired. When I called to look after that job to-day the master mechanic looks at me queer like, and asked me to sit down in the office for a few minutes.

"In about five minutes he came back an' he says: 'Ain't your name Mac——?' 'Yes,' said I. 'Well,' said he, 'yer black listed by the Southern Pacific, an' we can't give you no work on our line.' 'It's all a mistake,' said I, 'there are more Mac——'s than one in the world, an' I never did anything to be black listed.' 'There's no mistake at all,' he said; 'ain't that your photograph?' and he showed a copy of the photograph I had taken in Parker's. Of course, that settled it, but if I thought I had myself taken for a rogues' gallery I'd have seen them an' their job in —— first."

"Did you find out anything more about it?" inquired the first speaker.

"Yes; every fellow whose photograph they want—an' that's nearly every one above a section hand—must send a copy, and then they strike off about five hundred and send them all over the lines with which they are in correspondence. Then, if the Southern Pacific wants him, none of the other lines will take him on. I call it an infernal piece of tyranny!" and the speaker struck the table until the beer-glasses danced to the music of their own jingle.

"That's what it is," was the universal indorsement, and the indignant machinist having "set them up again," resumed: "Just look at the way they're putting the crews into uniforms, from the conductor down. Why, thirty years ago they wouldn't get a free man in the country that would stand it. Now times are hard, and the boys have to sink their independence. Here, in El Paso, whether on duty or off, a man musn't enter a saloon for a glass of beer, or he may be fired. That's worse than they treat a policeman in San Francisco. It's only when he's on duty that he can't have a pleasant time with his friends."

"Yes," broke in another of the group, a brakeman on a freight train, "look how all the lines treat conductors and how they treat engineers. The conductor has to be responsible for everything under the sun; has to make out reports, remember orders, an' has the lives of men, women, an'children in his hands as much as an engineer, while an engineer gets a third more pay. How's that?"

"Why, just this—we conductors ain't organized," explained a third, "while there isn't in the United States to-day so strong an organization as the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. If there are any men driving engines in the United States that don't belong to the brotherhood, I'd like to know where they are, and so would the brotherhood. Our organization of conductors is only a rope of sand compared to theirs—no one fears it."

"Perhaps," suggested the non-railroader, "conductors are expected to knock down the difference in the salaries."

"Much show we get to knock down now! Of course, there is always more or less of it, but he'd be a clever fellow now who could knock down a third of his salary. What with spotters, railroad detectives, and sure men, he'd get fired so quick 'twould make his head swim."

"What is a sure man?"

"Well, a sure man is one whom the company knows never knocks down. He gets from $120 to $150 a month and only makes half a dozen runs or so over any one division. This is how it is: When a conductor has failed to be caught by spotters or detectives knocking down, and yet don't turn in as much as the company thinks he ought to, he is laid off and a sure man makes half a dozen or a dozen runs on his division. If the receipts fall, or remain about the average, the conductor gets back his train; if they go above he is fired."

"Don't freight conductors make something out of carrying passengers?" queried the non-railroader.

"No. There are several reasons why they can't. The people who work the freight trains are mechanics out of employment and people of that kind who have very little stuff, and who think if they give $2 to be carried over a division they are paying away up, while those who work the passenger are able to pay full fare, but don't want to. Then again, whether the brakeman or a conductor is braced on a freight, the whole crew stands in, leaving hardly enough for any one man to pay for the drinks. The passenger conductor has the soft snap, but taxes bigger risks. He'd be caught oftener if it wasn't for the passengers."

"How is that?"

"Why you see at the end of a division is where the spotters are in force. They count everyone who buys a ticket, and then just before the car starts they go through the train and count noses. Then they report the number, and the conductor's report is supposed to tally with theirs. Now there are thousands of travelers who never pay full fare and who watch the spotters as sharp as any conductor on the road. They always go to a ticket office and buy a ticket for one or two stations beyond the station they start from, and that enables the conductor to square his report.

"Drummers," he continued, "do a good deal of beating with the new-fangled 1,000-mile ticket. It is sometimes convenient for a conductor to forget to punch them, and so the 1,000 miles often become nearer 2,000. Of course, the employer never gets the advantage of this sweeping reduction in rates."

"For my part," exclaimed the brakeman, on whom frequent draughts of the filled-in lager had begun to tell slightly, "I'd beat the company every time I'd get a chance. Many a time at night I go along them box-cars an' report all right, though I could see no less nor half a dozen tramps cowerin' down among a lot of goods boxes, makin' a pretend to hide an' knowin' well I was lookin' at them all the time. The company wouldn't thank me for turnin' them out, an' ye may bet yer life when, some dark night, I fall between the cars, if the life ain't crushed out of me, it's little they'll dream of giving me a pension. No, boys, there are men in this town, as all of ye know, mumming around on crutches and on wooden legs, whose companies wouldn't give them no pass over their lines, although they get bunged up in their service. Now, when my day comes, as it comes to so many, perhaps some one of the jilted on jobs I've helped over the road may give me a lift. They may be up when I'm down, an' it wouldn't be hard for them to rise to the level of a poor devil of a brakeman on a freight train. Why, darn their mean souls, they've takin' now to paying us by the trip!"

Here someone requested an adjournment, and the whole party filed out. "Evidently men not in love with their masters," thought your correspondent, as he rose and followed in their wake.

The Law Concerning Corporations.

Directors of a Corporation—Their Liability to the Stockholders—Remedy for Breach of Trust—"Wrecking" the Corporation.

The directors of a corporation are persons selected to manage its affairs for the benefit of the shareholders; and unless it be otherwise expressly provided, the administration of all the ordinary affairs of the corporation is committed to them. In order to understand their liability it is necessary to consider the various relations which they occupy.

In courts of law they are viewed as agents of the corporation, and with reference to this relation the corporation is, for certain purposes of convenience in the administration of justice, viewed as an artificial, intangible body, distinct from the aggregate body of its shareholders. In the view of these courts, they stand toward the shareholders, whether considered separately or collectively, as mere strangers. In the courts of equity, which look more to the sense and substance than to the mere form of things, they are viewed as trustees, either of the corporation as an artificial body, or of the aggregate body of the shareholders.

The corporation itself has a remedy against its directors for negligence, fraud, breach of trust, or acts done in excess of their authority, either at law or in equity according to the nature of the wrong done. If it refuses to sue, or is under control of the guilty directors, one, two or more of the stockholders may sue in their individual name. The directors are bound to exercise the powers given them for the benefit of the corporation, as it is a position of trust, and not to acquire any adverse interest while holding the office. They will not be allowed to make any profit out of the trust relation.

In one case it was held that when a ferry company buy a steamboat for themselves as individuals, and so owning it, buy it of themselves in their character as directors for the company at a large advance upon its cost, and at a price greatly in excess of its real value, the transaction was held fraudulent as against the company, and they were held bound to restore to the company the profits so made by them. Any act which is clearly beyond their power, whereby loss happens to the corporation, they are liable for out of their own private estate. But a director whose only fault was passive negligence, who paid no attention to the affairs of the company; who had but a vague notion of what was going on; who trusted everything to the other directors, confided in them, and took it for granted that everything was all right, was held as jointly liable with the others.

The mere fact of being a director is not per se sufficient to make a person liable for the frauds and misrepresentations of the active managers of a corporation.

Some knowledge of and participation in the act claimed to be fraudulent, must be brought home to him. It is only when a director lends his name and influence to promote a fraud upon the community, or is guilty of some violation of law, that he is personally liable. The directors are not necessarily responsible for the frauds of sub-agents appointed by them, but will be if they personally and knowingly derive a benefit from the wrong. A stockholder cannot maintain an action at law against the directors for negligence in so conducting the affairs of the corporation that its assets are wasted and lost, while its shares are rendered worthless, nor for their misfeasance in delegating the whole control of its affairs to the president and cashier, who wasted and lost its capital; the reason is, that the directors are not agents of the stockholders, but of the company.

In a late case a learned judge lays down the common law liability of directors to creditors in the following language: "Aside from statutory provisions, or one of similar nature in the organic law, the directors or officers of an incorporated bank would not be individually answerable in an action at law, for an injury resulting to a creditor or depositor, unless the injury was occasioned by the malicious or fraudulent act of the party complained of. Mere non-feasance will not answer. Nothing short of active participancy in a positively wrongful act, intendedly and directly operating injuriously to the prejudice of the party complaining will give origin to the liability as above indicated."

The directors are not entitled to compensation for their services, unless provision is made in the law under which the company is organized, or in its by-laws.

It seems that a board of directors can effectively destroy the rights of a minority of the shareholders by getting and keeping control of a majority of the shares, and constantly re-electing themselves to office. "The interior organization or conspiracy," says a learned writer, "composed of the holders of a majority of the shares, bent on destroying the rights of the minority, is called a 'ring;' and the business of the conspiracy is called 'wrecking the corporation.'" This process of "wrecking," which has been seen in many cases of railway corporations, is sometimes carried on in this way: Either the property is allowed to run down, or, under some pretext of improvement, amelioration, or extension of the business, it is "bonded"—that is to say, negotiable debentures are issued, secured by a mortgage of the corporate property. The scheme is so managed that the majority of these debentures find their way into the hands of the "ring." The condition of the mortgage is, that whenever default is made in the payment of any of the interest coupons, the mortgage may be foreclosed. This event speedily happens. One of the bondholders now files a bill in equity to foreclose the mortgage, or it is done by the trustee in the mortgage, himself the agent of the "ring." The corporation and the directors are made defendants. Now, the directors all being in the "ring," the allegations of the bill are admitted in the answer which the corporation makes to the bill, and also in those made by the directors. A decree is entered "by consent" for the sale of the property. This "consent decree" provides that payment of the purchase money bid at the sale may be made in the morgage debentures. The property is sold at auction, is bid in by a member of the "ring" for the other members, they furnishing him with the bonds, in which he makes payment. Another "consent decree" is made confirming the sale. The purchaser organizes a new corporation composed of himself and other members of the "ring," which takes possession of the property. What has been the result of this proceeding? Simply this: To make further use of the slang in which those who engage in such transactions express themselves, all the stockholders of the old corporation not in the "ring" are "squeezed out." The property has been sold under a mortgage; the common stock has become valueless. Those of the stockholdess who, with the directors, were in the conspiracy, have got it all, and those who were out of it, have lost all. H. A.

Russia and England.

It was announced in the British house of commons by the under secretary of state, April 29th, that the government had received definite advices that the Russians had taken Maruchak, an important point in Afghanistan, and were in full advance on Herat. This is war in fact, if not in name.

The Central American War.

A Panama despatch of April 28th announced the arrival at Panama that morning of the Colombian national troops, "who consist chiefly of volunteers from Cauca under command of Montaya, who has sent Aizpurn notice to leave the city in forty-eight hours. Aizpurn now says he will fight. If he does not evacuate the city the national troops will try to dislodge him, and unless the United States troops interfere the city will stand a poor chance. If Aizpurn remains in the city the struggle will be indefinitely prolonged." Another despatch of the same date was as follows: "A riot occurred at Paraiso, yesterday afternoon, between resident Jamaicans and Colombians. Three of the latter were killed, and seventeen others were wounded. A company of marines under Capt. Reid have left here to keep order. Paraiso is about nine miles from Panama."

Michael McLoughlin, Jr., of Great Falls, was arrested Monday night, April 27th, for breaking and entering the offices of Dr. S. R. Ham, R. G. Pike and Woodman & Whittemore, and stealing some article from the first mentioned place. He was arraigned at Dover on the 28th, and committed for trial. He was only recently discharged from jail for larceny.

Rear-admiral Davis reports from the Asiatic station to the navy department that nearly all the English, Russian and French war ships have been withdrawn from the treaty ports of China, the English vessels having assembled at Hong Kong. The disposition of the Chinese toward foreigners, he says, remains unchanged.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Clara E. Simpson, Hontvet master, from Baltimore; the Grace K. Green, Seaward master, from Philadelphia; and the brick schooner Triton, Freeman master, from this port, arrived at Boston on Tuesday, the 28th inst.

The schooner Estella, Littlefield master, came down the river with bricks on Tuesday, the 28th inst., and tied up at the draw of Portsmouth bridge, where she remained over Wednesday, waiting for fair weather before sailing for Boston.

The new schooner Agnes E. Downs, Downs master, was in Portland harbor on Wednesday, the 29th inst., on her way from East Boothbay, Me., to this port.

The steam tug Wesley A. Gove, of Boston, put in to this port about midnight on the night of the 28th inst., to avoid the heavy gale and high sea prevailing outside. She was on her way to Boston from the Kennebec, to which place she had been with a tow.

A "Cape Clear hooker," or Irish-rigged fishing boat, came up river on the afternoon of the 28th inst., and anchored near Badger's Island, where she attracted much attention from the passengers crossing the river in the steamers the next day. She is a sloop, with great breadth of beam in proportion to her length, and with her mast stepped very nearly amidships. These "Irish boats" are great carriers, sail well, and are said to be splendid sea-boats.

That Tired Feeling

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N.Y.

Boston or Portsmouth, Which?

We often hear people in this city, and other places for that matter, remark that they can buy goods very much cheaper in Boston than they can at home. In a very few instances this may, perhaps, be true, but we cannot believe that staple goods in common use can be bought much cheaper in Boston, at all times, than in Portsmouth. There are undoubtedly some good reasons why Boston dealers are able to sell certain classes of goods cheaper than Portsmouth merchants can; there are many reasons why they are not able to do so. We are not very familiar with the details of the different kinds of trade carried on in the two cities, but we believe we have such an understanding as should enable us to explain why the consumers can buy goods as cheaply in this city as in Boston. In the first place, a dealer in this city can buy sugars, tea, coffee, dry goods, or anything else, at as low a rate as the Boston dealer can. In the second place, he pays but a very small rent compared with the rent paid by a Boston dealer. In the next place, his clerk hire is smaller, and again his living expenses are not so large, and then he saves to the purchaser the express rates which must be paid on goods bought in Boston. 'Tis better for a person to buy goods in this city, too, because the purchaser and dealer are well known to each other, and the one can rely upon the recommendations of the other. There is also a better opportunity for trade between one another, and it surely is an advantage to make an exchange of goods at home when possible. Our traders also are desirous of keeping trade which they once get, and are careful to represent the goods which they sell, just as they are. These are a few of the many reasons why our dealers can give their customers better bargains than they can obtain in Boston, but the above illustrations will serve our purpose as well as twice as many.

People will say that Boston offers a larger variety to select from. While the stocks carried by our dealers are quite extensive, and in most cases adequate to the wants of customers, this we believe to be the only good excuse our citizens can have for purchasing goods in Boston. There always have been those who have bought goods there and we suppose there always will be. Even this excuse is well answered and made to appear as a poor excuse indeed to those who know that our merchants are always ready and willing to send for additional supplies when occasion, or the wishes of the customer demands it. They will say that Boston dealers sell in larger quantities, and can thus afford to sell lower. Well, if this were the case, would not express rates and car fare offset the small amount saved on the goods. They will say that Boston dealers sell better goods. But Portsmouth dealers buy of the same manufacturers, and of the same quality. While we see no reason why people cannot trade as well here as in Boston, we do see why it is so, and has been so for some time. Our dealers are much more to blame than those who buy, for day after day they allow Boston firms to quote prices and parade them in all the Boston dailies, circulating largely in this city, which are no lower than they themselves offer, without saying a word in refutation of it. We have heard our dealers say many times that the big houses in Boston have advertised an "immense sacrifice, an unheard of reduction, great slaughter in prices, etc., etc.," and name just such prices as our people sell the goods for every day. There is only one way for our store keepers to obviate this, and that is to advertise, that people may know that they have goods to sell, and can sell them at as low prices as anyone. They should put themselves on the aggressive, instead of remaining on the defensive. Of course citizens will buy in Boston if they believe they can save money; and the only way for store keepers in this city to keep them from believing this, is to keep themselves before the people, giving their figures without fear.—Times.

We copy in full the foregoing plain, common-sense statement of facts as they exist, though it is rather long, because we cannot see just where we can "cut out" any of it without injury to the article as a whole. We have no special comment to make, excepting as to the effective advertising of Boston dealers, in Boston papers which circulate largely in this city as well as elsewhere. The Sunday Globe and Sunday Herald are sold here to the number of many hundreds each; and every Sunday, page after page is taken up with the advertisements of Jordan, Marsh & Co., R. H. White & Co., and other extensive concerns, giving the prices of hundreds of startling bargains, and setting forth in glowing language the merits of the goods offered. These papers are taken by scores of persons solely for the advertisements—we are personally cognizant of several such instances—and the result is that large numbers of orders are sent to Boston for goods which in many cases could be procured as cheaply or cheaper, and of as good or even better quality, from our local stores. The reason is plain: the Boston dealer has told the prospective purchaser what he has for sale, and what he will sell it for; the local dealer has kept this information to himself, and consequently has to keep his goods likewise. As an illustration, we may mention that in the present issue of this paper we have a single advertisement giving the prices of some of the goods offered for sale, and that advertisement is from a Boston firm.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., April 28th.

Mr. Charles H. Bartlett, of the Harbor View house, has offered his farm in North Kittery for sale at auction on Thursday, May 7th. This farm was formerly known as the Old Parker place, and contains about sixty acres; it was a noted stopping place or tavern many years ago, before the advent of railroads in this section, and when traveling by stage coach was in vogue.

Mr. Fabyan Drake of East Boston is to move this week with his family to North Kittery, and occupy the Gerry house on the post road. Mr. Drake has been employed as an engineer on the Boston & Albany railroad for the past twelve years, which position he was obliged to resign in January last on account of impaired health; he is in hope that the country air may prove beneficial to him, and that he will soon be able to assume his duties again, which we earnestly hope he may do. Mrs. Drake is a sister of Mrs. Albert S. Wilson of this town.

Miss Lizzie Thomas will teach the spring term of school in district No. 3.

Rev. Alexander Hamilton arrived home from Conference this (Tuesday) afternoon.

Mr. James D. Plaisted of North Kittery is having numerous calls for eggs from his handsome Crimson Brahmah fowls.

Mr. Charles L. Philbrick, a grandson of Mr. Jesse Philbrick of the "lower foreside," has received the contract to carry the mail between Kittery Point and Kittery depot from July 1st, '85, to June 30th, '89. We understand that he is to adopt the custom of our ancestors, and make the route on horse-back.

Potatoes have advanced a little in price lately. Mr. Samuel Dixon has been paying fifty cents per bushel, delivered in the car at the depot, the past week.

John R. Williams has finally consented to accept the office of school agent in district No. 2, to which position he was elected at the annual meeting held on the evening of the 11th inst. Leonard Foster of Eliot has been engaged as teacher, and the term will probably commence on Monday, May 4th.

John C. Foss, the celebrated violinist of Rye, N. H., was in North Kittery on Monday afternoon last, and rendered several selections on his instrument to several of the residents of Pullet hill, where he stopped.

Rev. Alexander Hamilton, of the 1st Methodist Episcopal church, will go to Cornish this year. Rev. Perry Chandler returns, and assumes charge of both churches the coming year.

Morrill Lodge of Good Templars, at North Kittery, elected officers as follows for the ensuing quarter on Friday evening last: W. C. T., Isaac H. Lambert; W. V. T., Annie M. Gerry; W. R. S., Lillian A. Brooks; W. F. S., William A. Fernald; W. T., Steven R. Amee; W. C., Geo. W. Muchmore; W. M., James D. Plaisted; W. I. G., Margery Fernald; W. O. G., Martin Gerry. Clarance S. Chick was recommended for appointment as lodge deputy for the ensuing year.

SUB ROSA.

SUPREME COURT--SMITH J.

John Willey, of Derry, was on Tuesday, April 28th, convicted of receiving butter stolen from H. P. Hook, knowing it to have been stolen; he was sentenced to nine months in jail, and to pay $100 fine and costs. Edward C. Howard and Charles A. Quimby of Boston, for stealing butter, received sentences—Howard to six months in jail, and Quimby to four months in jail, both to pay costs.

NAVY YARD "REFORM."

A Washington despatch of April 28th is as follows: "The bureau of construction and repair in the navy department is more embarrassed because of lack of funds for the present fiscal year than any other bureau in the department. There is a balance of only about $50,000 for this bureau for the next two months. To provide additional funds for repairing vessels and making payment for such work as is necessary in the bureau, it has been determined to reduce the force in the various navy yards. This reduction will be made among the 'bosses,' the former 'leading men,' etc., in the yards. There are about 400 men thus employed, and it is thought by naval officers that this number can be reduced without embarrassment to 250 or 300 men. The amount saved by the reduction would be from about $400 to $600 daily."

This is a process by which the proper regard for civil service reform can be maintained, and at the same time the republican holders of good positions on the navy yards be replaced by democrats. But it cannot justly be stigmatised as a deception, the pretence being too thin to deceive anybody.

Quite an extensive suspension occurred at the navy yard near this city on Wednesday of this week, in the department of construction, but it was said it was only to get by a temporary lack of funds. The blacksmiths and spar-makers only were retained, they being employed on work for the new cruisers.

The attention of housekeepers, cooks, skippers of fishing boats, and coffee drinkers generally is invited to the advertisement of the exhibition, at John P. Sweetser's store to-day, of the "Boss" coffee-pot, which it is claimed will make extra nice coffee in one minute, and requires only half the usual amount of coffee to secure any given strength.

The alarm of fire shortly after five o'clock Wednesday morning was caused by a slight fire at the residence of Mr. A. K. Brown on Jefferson street. The fire, which probably caught from a defect in the chimney, was mostly confined between the partition walls, and was put out by the extinguishers. The damage, which is not heavy, was caused mostly by water. The property is insured.

At the brokers' board in Boston, April 29th, 200 shares of Eastern railroad stock sold at 49 5-8. At auction Portsmouth & Dover railroad stock brought 112 1-4, and Concord railroad stock 107 1-4 and 107 1-2.

Gov. Hale on Wednesday, the 29th inst., issued an order disbanding the Portsmouth cavalry.

The Rockingham County Sunday School Association will held its tenth annual session in the Congregational church in Raymond, May 19th.

The last lecture in the illustrated course will be given by Rev. John A. Goss in the Court street Christian church next Sunday evening, at 7:30 o'clock; subject, "Naman."

Notice as to Ashes and Refuse.

THE attention of citizens is called to the fact that the city teams can only remove such ashes and refuse as are placed on the edge of the sidewalk, in barrels or boxes of suitable size and weight, so as to be readily handled and emptied into the carts.

The city will not attempt to remove ashes or refuse placed in large barrels, boxes or hogsheads, filled so as not to be capable of being easily lifted and emptied, and all such will in every case be left where the owners place them, and at their risk.

ECZEMA & SALT RHEUM.

Another Clear and Positive Recovery —An Elderly Lady's Letter.

Among the numerous letters received by Dr Kennedy testifying to notable SALT RHEUM cures, the following will be found of interest to our readers, who may accept our assurance of its perfect authenticity and truthfulness:

WORCESTER, MASS., March 23, 1884.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

DEAR SIR: Until recently I have been for three years a sufferer from Salt Rheum. It followed upon an attack of Erysipelas, for which I was for a long time under medical treatment. I placed myself again in the hands of the physicians who did, I have no doubt, all that could be done. One thing is sure, however, I was none the better for all the medicine they gave me. The painful and unsightly disease continued unabated, and at last I began to fear I should never get rid of it.

By means of one of those accidents that often result in so much blessing I had my attention called to your FAVORITE REMEDY, which I was told would surely do me good. I used it, and within a much shorter time than I would have believed possible, I received a permanent cure. I am now perfectly free from Salt Rheum. What a comfort this is, and how it places your wonderful medicine in my opinion, you may guess at, but never know. I keep it now constantly in the house as a family medicine. Yours truly,

MRS DINAH PHAIR.

Mrs. Phair sometime since, when on a visit to Kansas, found a case of Salt Rheum, could not get FAVORITE REMEDY, sent to New York City for it, and cured the case.

For all diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys Bladder and Digestive Organs, Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, Rondout, N. Y

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, Kennedy's Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an unfailing friend—and blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. $1 bottle, 6 for $5, by all druggists.

Edward J. Moran, has just been arraigned before the supreme court at Springfield, Mass., for the murder of his wife last May. He pleaded not guilty. Date for trial not fixed.

Kit O'Connell, alias Daniel O'Connell, has been arrested in Lawrence, Mass. This desperate criminal is wanted at Lewiston, Me., for burglaries committed in 1883; since when he has avoided arrest. He has served several terms in the house of correction at Lawrence for burglary and other offences; has been shot several times by officers, the marks of which he carries. A few years ago, while incarcerated in Auburn, Me., jail, he forced the jailer into a cell, took the keys from him, and made his escape.

"Rough on Catarrh"

Corrects offensive odors at once. Complete cure of even worst chronic cases, also unequalled as gargle for diphtheria, sore throat, foul breath. 50c.

—"Did you ever notice how a woman takes the cork out of a bottle?" asks an exchange. No; but we have often noticed how she tries to, and not being successful, jabs it in with a pair of scissors.

The Hope of the Nation.

Children, slow in development, puny, scrawny and delicate, use "Wells' Health Renewer."

—Don't spend your money for a motto of "Save my lambs" until you have cleaned out the back yard and disinfected the vaults and sewers. Cholera don't care a continental for mottoes.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Stinging, irritation, inflammation, all kidney and urinary complaints, cured by "Buchu-Paiba." $1.

—It is the early hen that catches the spring garden.

"Water Bugs, Roaches."

"Rough on Rats" clears them out, also beetles, ants, insects, rats and mice, 15 and 25c. boxes.

—It is said of a certain eminent politician in Massachusetts that in his young days he tried to get on, later in life he tried to get honor, and now he is trying to get honest.

Three Reasons

Why every one needs, and should take, Hood's Sarsaparilla in the spring:

1st: Because the system is now in its greatest need. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength.

2d: Because the blood is sluggish and impure. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies.

3d: Because, from the above facts, Hood's Sarsaparilla will do a greater amount of good now than at any other time. Take it now.

—"You have heard about their boring all over the country for natural gas, haven't you, Mr. Flickers?" "Yes, and I'm down on it, too." "Why so?" "Well, I think it ought to be stopped. How do we know but what the gas was put there to hold the world up, like a balloon? and after it's burnt to a certain point, down we go, kerchug."

Grandmother Says!

When she was a girl that her mother always gave her sulphur and molasses to purify her blood, but she now gives Sulphur Bitters to her grandchildren, as it is the best medicine she ever saw.—The Father.

—"Daughter, what were you looking about so much in church for. You shouldn't do that." "Why, I was just thinking what a nice skating rink it would make if all the seats were taken out."

A lady writes: "Your Hop Porous Plaster does the work every time; I do not have that awful pain in the side now." Your experience will be the same. Sold everywhere, 25c.

—A police sergeant boasted of the honesty that prevailed in his precinct "Why," he said, "you might hang your gold watch on a lamp post in the evening, and find it still there in the morning." "You don't mean to say nobody would take the watch?" exclaimed the listener. "No; I mean to say nobody would take the lamp-post," said the sergeant.

For 25 years I have been afflicted with Catarrh so that I have been confined to my room for two months at a time. I have tried all the humbugs in hopes of relief but to no success until I met with an old friend who had used Ely's Cream Balm and advised me to try it. I procured a bottle to please him, and from the first application I found relief. It is a wonderful remedy. 50 cents.

Samuel C. Abbott, engineer, and Julian A. Penniman, night watchman, of the Hotel Hoffman in Boston, are under arrest for setting the building on fire five times within two years.

Mothers, teething and fretful children need Dr. Arnold's Soothing & Quieting Cordial. Druggists, 25c.

The directors of the Nashua & Rochester railroad have elected P. E. Hall general manager, and made the duties of the president, C. S. Turner, merely nominal. Mr. Hall comes from Grand Rapids, Mich.

Tens of Thousand Colds

Lead to consumption, fevers, settled coughs, asthma, bronchitis, whooping cough, croup, etc. Immediate relief by Dr. Seth Arnold's Cough Killer.

Dr. N. W. Day, a dentist at Chicago, Ill., in whose chair a young woman named Ella Shay died on April 27th, while under the influence of chloroform, has been arrested on a charge of manslaughter, and placed in jail in default of $5000 bail.

Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Consumption.

All Throat, Breast, and Lung Affections cured by the old-established "SWAYNE'S WILD CHERRY." The first dose gives relief, and a cure speedily follows. 25 cts. or $1.00 at Druggists.

"The Slough of Despondency"

In which you are wallowing, on account of some of those diseases peculiar to you, madame, and which have robbed you of the rosy hue of health, and made life a burden to you, you can easily get out of. Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" will free you from all such troubles, and soon recall the rose-tint of health to your cheek, and the elasticity to your step. It is a most perfect specific for all the weaknesses and irregularities peculiar to your sex. It cures ulceration, displacements, "internal fever," bearing down sensations, removes the tendency to cancerous affections, and corrects all unnatural discharges. By druggists.

It is thought the avalanche which destroyed eleven miners at the Homestake mine, Col., took place about Feb. 20th; the disaster was not known until April 24th.

A Great Benefactor of Women.

Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., is often spoken of as the great benefactor of women and frequently receives letters like the one we quote from, written by a lady in San Francisco, she says: "I am taking your Vegetable Compound and find great benefit from it. It has done me more good than all the doctors." Mrs. T. of Vincennes, Ind., writes: "Having taken 11 bottles of your Vegetable Compound and cured by its use, I feel very anxious that every woman afflicted with womb disease should make use of it." Another lady in Birmingham, Mich., was suffering from weakness and displacement. She says: "I began taking your compound and it helped me so soon, I feel like proclaiming to the world its great virtues as a healing agent for women."

Easy to See Through.

How can a watch—no matter how costly—be expected to go when the mainspring won't operate? How can anyone be well when his stomach, liver or kidneys are out of order? Of course you say "He cannot." Yet thousands of people drag along miserably in that condition; not sick abed, but not able to work with comfort and energy. How foolish, when a bottle or two of Parker's Tonic would set them all right. Try it, and get back your health and spirits.

WETHERELL'S SARSAPARILLA

Is the best remedy ever devised for all diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, giving immediate and permanent improvement. No remedy has ever before been so compounded as to bring together in one bottle so many active ingredients, which are known to all physicians as a specific for impure blood, the fountain-head of all diseases.

Bilious Headache.

I have suffered for a long time from bilious headache, and have tried many preparations of Sarsaparilla, but found no relief. I was induced by my friends to try Wetherell's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, with Iodide of Potassium. After taking one bottle I am entirely cured and feel better now than for years. I cheerfully give you the use of my name, believing that many who suffer as I did will be cured by your wonderful medicine. J. A. ROWELL, Brentwood, N.H.

CANCER FOR MANY YEARS.

A family servant has been afflicted for many years with a cancer on her nose, and was treated by some of the best physicians, and the old remedies used without benefit. Finally we gave her Swift's Specific and she has been completely cured. JOHN HILL, Druggist, Thomson, Ga., August 16, 1884.

Nose Eaten Off!

John Naves, a young man near here, had a cancer on his face which had eaten away his nose and part of his cheek, and was extending up to his eye. As a last resort he was put on Swift's Specific, and it entirely cured him. His face is all healed over with new flesh, and his general health is excellent. His recovery is wonderful.

GOOD-FOR-NOTHING.

Jean Clopin was a mender of musical instruments, a small beetle-browed man, well advanced in life—a widower with six children on his hands.

That is, he called them on his hands—groaningly spoke of them as such; but, in truth, four of those children earned as much as he did.

On account of his fifth child, perhaps, he had occasion to groan and complain. This child was a boy, seven years of age—Francois by name, but called by his father, and by the elder brothers, "Little Good-for-Nothing."

Strangers, passing that way, or bringing instruments to be repaired, upon marking the stolid appearance of Jean Clopin, and his evident ignorance, wondered whence his children could have inherited their brightness.

Ah, if they had known the mother they would have found no cause for wonder.

In the earlier years of his life, while engaged in patching up scenery for a theatre, Jean became acquainted with an actress—worshiping her from afar—who occupied a leading position on the stage. She had been an actress of the first class, and an accomplished singer, also.

A terrible accident of fire, which sadly marred her face, destroying her beauty forever, and which would have caused her death had not the poor scene-mender, at the risk of his own life, saved her—obliged her to leave the stage; shortly after which, moved as much by gratitude as by love, she became Jean Clopin's wife. Jean loved her devotedly, and he had been sadly broken by her death.

Francois, at the age of seven, had grown to be a tall, slim boy, with flaxen, curling hair, a pair of large, brilliant blue eyes, and features inclined to be angular, yet exceedingly beautiful.

His sister, Madeline, the eldest of the children, was as a good mother to him; yet she did not appear to love him. She alone, of all the family, seemed to take entirely the father's habits and disposition; and, like the father, she regarded the dreaming, speculating boy as a Little Good-for-Nothing.

The instrument-mender's poor cottage was on the outskirts of the old city of Blois, the waters of the Loire flowing near to its rear porch, while the grand old castle of the Counts of Bloise, when the sun was setting, cast a shadow on it.

One dismal, rainy day Madeline found her little brother lying upon his back upon the floor of the garret, with his hands clasped above his head, seemingly asleep. She called to him thrice before he answered.

"Francois, what are you doing there?"

"Oh, Madeline, sweet sister, hearken to the music! Is it not grand? You know not what delicious dreams I have had. Do you think the angels are in the rain-drops?"

She gazed upon him in blank surprise. His rhapsody was an unknown tongue to her, and she asked him what in the world he meant.

He looked at her pityingly. Could she not hear music in the raindrops as they pattered softly on the tiles of the roof?

No, she could hear nothing of the kind; and it would be much better for him if he would wake up, and turn his attention and his energies to some useful occupation.

"Do you know," she said, with sorrow in her voice, "how you are worrying your poor father? Why will you not arouse yourself and do something to help him?"

She left him sobbing piteously. Nobody sympathized with him, but they blamed him because he could not learn to work with his hands. But anon he caught the music of the rain-drops again, and his tears were dried away. Patter, patter, patter—oh, how sweet the melodious rythm!

On the very next day after this Jean Clopin entered his shop, and found Francois seated on the floor, with M. Dupont's violin in his hands.

At that particular moment the little fellow had the mottled old instrument hugged to his bosom, as a mother would hug her darling babe.

With one hand the father carefully grasped the violin, while with the other he gave the boy a blow upon the cheek that came very near knocking him over.

"How dare you? Little Good-for-Nothing! you'll worry my life away one of these days! It is M. Dupont's violin—his Stradivarius! Go you into the house and tell Madeline to put you to bed; and hark ye: You'd better keep your bed, for I can see no use that you will ever be to anybody or anything out of it. Away you go!"

M. Dupont was chief organist and musical director of the great cathedral, and when he came for his violin the archbishop came with him.

It was a beautiful day, and the twain had been enjoying a walk upon the river's bank.

Dupont knew that Jean Clopin owned a very pretty little garden, wherein grew beautiful flowers, and while the violin was being made ready, he led the archbishop to see and admire.

This flower garden had been one of Madame Clopin's chief delights. The roses and the pinks, and the lovely and fragrant flowers of every description, had been planted by her own hands; and on her death-bed, when Madeline had brought to her a sweet bouquet, she had asked her husband to promise her that, while he lived and owned the garden, he would keep it in order, as she had kept it.

He promised, and he had kept his faith; but he never acknowledged to himself, nor would Madeline acknowledge how much the Little Good-for-Nothing did towards keeping the garden in order. Ah, but for him we fear the garden would have suffered.

The good old archbishop was a dear lover of the beautiful, and he thanked his organist for having brought him to the garden. He enjoyed every step of the way. By-and-by he stopped with his hand to his ear, and M. Dupont did likewise.

"My dear Dupont, what is it?"

"It sounds like a robin, your grace."

"There are two of them, and they are confabulating."

The twain pursued the sound, and presently came upon a boy, stretched on the velvety sward, warbling like a bird. There had evidently been a robin in the tree above his head, but it had flown away at their approach.

M. Dupont recognized the little fellow, when he had arisen, as the son of Jean Clopin, and he introduced him to the archbishop.

The aged prelate seemed most favorably impressed in the outset. There was something in the look of the boy—in the truthfulness of the great blue eyes, and in the beauty of the whole face—that charmed him.

He sat down on a wooden bench under the tree, and called the boy to his side. A few questions, with the lad's ready answers, gave the man of wide and varied experience a clear insight into his character.

"Do you think your father would let you go away from home, to come and live with me?" the archbishop asked, taking him kindly by the hand.

"Ah, good sir, of what use could I be?"

"That is not the question. Do you think your father would let you go?"

"Yes, sir. I am but a Little Good-for-Nothing here at home."

"Dupont, you said you wanted a boy for our chapel organ. Why wouldn't this boy answer the want?"

The organist liked the idea. It pleased him. But would the little fellow go? Would he like the work?

"What would I have to do?" Francois asked eagerly.

"You would have to work the bellows when I played upon the chapel organ, and also the bellows of the archbishop's own organ in the music-room of his palace; and I should expect you to keep the instruments dusted, and the white keys clean, and, occasionally you would run upon errands for me."

The boy clapped his hands in the exuberance of his joy.

"Oh, yes, sir! I should love to do that. Oh, I would be very careful! I would never do wrong, knowingly; and I should hear you play; I should live in the sweet realm of music!"

The archbishop looked from the boy to the organist. He was wonder-stricken. The body of a puny boy, with the soul of a poet!

"You are fond of music, my boy?"

The answer was not in words. Speech of tongue could not express the boy's feelings; but he clasped his hands and lifted his eyes heavenward.

A Civil Service Banquet.

Ex-Senator George H. Pendleton's notions have so disturbed the equanimity of the democrats that they have become unanimous in the belief that if he should quit the country it would be better for the party, and so Mr. Pendleton goes to Germany as minister, and on the eve of his departure is tendered the usual dinner which is so frequently given in New York to celebrities of whatever nation or walk in life. Mr. Curtis presided, and in his after-dinner remarks said he was "delighted to preside over such a splendid company of impractical visionaries and political lunatics as were before him." This of course was, as A. Ward remarked, "sarkastical." But many a true word is spoken in jest. Mr. Curtis intimated that the friends of civil service had accomplished much in defeating Blaine and electing Cleveland. Minister Pendleton of course had to say a good word for the man who had appointed him. He had entire faith in Mr. Cleveland as a true friend of civil service reform, and in his judgment, on the whole the president has done remarkably well. Singular enough neither Secretary Bayard, Postmaster-General Vilas, Minister Phelps, Frank Jones or Samuel J. Tilden were present; they, or some of them, and other prominent gentlemen, sent letters of tearful regret. It was a symposium of hopeful spirits who ignored the band of Manning and of Higgins, and saw in the new appointment, the retention of Pearson, an offset for the appointment of Pillsbury, which ere long will be followed by some selections which will make the admirers of the president's independence wince a trifle.

One War Ended.

Rear Adm. Jouett, who went from Aspinwall to Panama April 29th, late that day telegraphed Secretary Whitney as follows: "A peaceful settlement between the government troops and the revolutionists at Panama has been made to-day. I witnessed the treaty, and all points of difference were referred to me. Aizpurn surrenders unconditionally. The government forces will take possession of Panama, and the trouble on the isthmus will be practically ended."

A despatch of April 30th from Panama said: "Aizpurn has surrendered, according to yesterday's arrangement, and given up his arms, and the government troops occupy the city to-day. All is quiet, and business is everywhere resomed. This ends the revolution."

New Hampshire Patents.

No. 316,768. G. S. Foster, Concord, hoop-planing machine.

No. 316,473. R. H. Martin, Peterborough, game counter or indicator.

The whole number of patents granted to citizens of the United States during the week ending April 28th was 465.

An Avalanche of Rock.

Shelter Rock hill, in Bethel, Connecticut, towers 1,000 feet in air, with almost perpendicular sides of jagged rocks and crags. One night recently a monster rock, loosened by the frost, came crashing down from the top. It went bounding and crashing down the precipice with a rumbling roar that was heard for miles. It pulverized the rocks in its path, snapped off trees two feet in diameter as if they had been pipestems, and fetched up at the foot of the hill, striking after its last bound covering a distance of ten rods in mid air, with a crash that made the mountains tremble, and started smaller rocks on all sides. The rock is "as large as the Congregational church," and is estimated to weigh 8500 tons. The track of the monster down the mountain side beggers description. It is strewn with shattered trees, chips of crushed rocks, and every few rods the impress is wide and deep where the rolling monarch struck.

A correspondent of the Bath (Me.) Times says: "Hon. Frank Jones of Portsmouth is estimated to be worth $3,000,000. He employs, all told, some 2000 men. On his stock farm on the outskirts of Portsmouth 100 men are employed, and 250 horses kept. His mansion and grounds are among the finest in the state. The latter are laid out in landscapes with hills, valleys and artificial ponds. The head gardener draws a salary of $4000 a year, and is given carte blanche in the matter of expense and style of work. Mr. Jones is a very heavy owner of real estate in and around Portsmouth, and is now rebuilding the Rockingham house at an expense of $100,000 above the insurance on the old house. Mr. Jones will reside at this hotel winters."

The following are among the recent transfers of real estate in York county, as left for record in the office of the register of deeds: South Berwick—Solomon Walker of North Berwick to James B. Walker of South Berwick, land in South Berwick for $300; Catherine Bedell of South Berwick to Wm. G. Chaney of the same place, land and buildings in South Berwick for $700. York—Luther W. Nichols of Malden, Mass., to ——, land and buildings at Union Bluff, York, for $550; Geo. M. Moore of York to Eliza Jane Moore of same place, land and buildings in York for $80; John Matthews of York to Joseph H. Matthews of Boston, Mass., woodland at Cape Neddick, York, for $16; John Matthews of York to Geo. W. Matthews of same place, real estate in York for $50; John Matthews of York to Moses D. Matthews et al., of same place, real estate in York for $100; Newbury H. Welch of York to Jotham P. Norton of same place, stripped land in York for $50; Chas. C. Barrell of York to Jotham P. Norton of same place, woodland in York for $75; Geo. W. Norton of York to Edward A. Donnell of same place, Pew No. 42, Baptist church, Cape Neddick, for $25; Lebbeus Hill et al., of Dover, N. H., to Geo. A. Webster of same place, land at York beach for $168.

Five thousand trees have been imported from Scotland by the park commissioners of Saco. The Pepperell park in that city will in a few years be the finest in the state of Maine.

Liquor seizures were made April 29th by the selectmen of Lancaster from several hotels and saloons, and the proprietors were made to give bail for their appearance at the October term of court.

In the supreme court at Lancaster, April 29th, a verdict was rendered in favor of Samuel E. Paine of Berlin, who sought to recover $6250 from the Grand Trunk railway for personal injuries caused by a derailed car on defendant's road. The case has been on trial seven days, and these are said to be the heaviest damages ever awarded in Coos county.

Another sensational tragedy is reported from Anderson, Ind. For some time a young man named Luther Brown has been courting Cynthiana Ayleshire, who was living on the outskirts of the town. A week ago she jilted him, and transferred her affections to Eli Cummins. The rivals met at Cynthiana's house Friday night, April 24th, at a party. Hot words passed and Brown left for home. After the party was over Cummins started for home, but was waylaid by Brown, who stabbed and killed him. Brown made no effort to escape, and was arrested and put in jail.

Secretary Manning has awarded a gold medal to Marcus A. Hanna, light-keeper at Cape Elizabeth, Me., for heroic conduct in rescuing two persons—the only two survivors—from the wreck of the schooner Australia, January 28th, 1885, and a gold medal to Cornelius Roach of Boston for bravery in rescuing from drowning several persons at different times in the years 1883 and 1884.

At a meeting of the governor and council on April 29th, Patrick Killalea of Nashua, who has served a quarter part of his sentence in Hillsboro' county house of correction for assault, was pardoned. Rev. S. C. Beane of Concord was appointed a delegate from New Hampshire to the annual session of the national prison congress to be held June 5th.

The commissioner of pensions has directed the suspension at the Philadelphia agency of 102 pensions which have been drawn right along, although the pensioners are dead. In some cases the persons in whose names the pensions were drawn have been dead since 1871. The commissioner has requested the attorney general to bring suit against the pension agent and his bondsmen for the money so unlawfully disbursed.

April 27th was observed as Memorial day throughout the south. At Augusta, Georgia, business was suspended, and ladies decorated the soldiers' graves. The Survivors' Association unanimously adopted the orator's expressions of sympathy for General Grant.

That Tired Feeling

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." E. A. SAWYER, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N.Y.

FARES TO BOSTON SAVED!

Those who for any reason feel they must make a little money go a great ways in this year's purchases, will go to Boston and visit G. W. SIMMONS & CO., 32 to 44 North street, before choosing this season's clothing.

The only suit for strong, healthy, growing boys is the guaranteed indestructible and imperishable one, which they sell so many of to Boston lads. It is the best suit made.

You can often save your fares to Boston on the purchase of a single suit, or light-weight overcoat. G. W. SIMMONS & CO. are now closing at retail the great wholesale stock of Knowles & Leland, and it is generally conceded that no such clothing bargains for Men, Youth or Boys were ever before offered in the city of Boston.

Men's Complete Suits, of the undoubted value of $8, $10, $12, $14, $16, $18 and $20, we shall offer to close at $2.58, $2.87, $3.59, $3.75, $5.19, $6.88, $7.83, $8.34, $9.40, $9.68 and $11.22.

☞ Boys' Suits and Men's Spring Overcoats in the K. and L. stock are offered in the same ratio.

In their Custom Department, they are making suits to order from THE VERY FINEST IMPORTED ENGLISH, FRENCH AND GERMAN GOODS, AT RIDICULOUSLY LOW PRICES.

Cabs, Herdics, and Hansoms, which you will find at the Depots, will bring you to their store without charge.

If you have not seen their new Catalogues of G. A. R. Goods, Polo, Base Ball, Foot Ball, and Bicycle, send your address. They will mail either one you desire. Address

THE POST-OFFICE.

Elbridge G. Peirce, who for sixteen years past has been postmaster of Portsmouth, is now ex-postmaster de facto, the duties of the office having been assumed at the close of business on Thursday, April 30th, by Mr. Samuel J. Gerrish, the appointee of President Cleveland. Mr. John J. Laskey takes the place of assistant postmaster, most creditably filled for several terms by Mr. M. Wentworth Ayers. Mr. Albert S. Sides remains in the office as clerk. The business of the office has been conducted by Col. Peirce and his subordinates to the satisfaction of the public, and we feel safe in asserting that the convenience of the public will be as carefully considered by the new postmaster and his assistants.

POLICE COURT -- RATCHELDER J.

THURSDAY, April 30th.

William Garland, for drunkenness, was fined $2, (a reduction from the regular price,) and costs, $6.90; paid.

COMPLIMENTARY RESOLUTIONS.

At an adjourned meeting of the Court St. Christian Society, held on Wednesday evening, Apr. 29th, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, Our beloved pastor, Rev. John A. Goss, after thirteen years of faithful labor, with and for us in the service of our Lord and Master, has, for well considered reasons, deemed it advisable to sever his connections with us, therefore,

Resolved, That in deference to his wishes, and as a painful duty only, we accept his resignation, hoping and praying that our reluctant consent and seeming misfortune may be overruled to the lasting good of both pastor and society. Also,

Resolved, That we heartily and with confidence in him as a true christian and minister of our Divine Master, commend him to the love and sympathy of whatever people or society that in God's providence he is or may be called to labor with. Also,

Resolved, That he be presented with a copy of these resolutions, and that they be entered upon our records.

JOSEPH PHILBROOK, Clerk.

Mr. Goss will commence his labors in the church at Haverhill on the first Sunday in June.

NAVY YARD "REFORM."

The New York Evening Post (mugwump, free-trade and Anglomaniac,) expects some genuine reform work to result from Secretary Whitney's unannounced visit to the Brooklyn navy yard. The Post says that "for many years the Brooklyn navy yard has been chiefly run as an annex to the local republican 'machine,' and the openness with which the party 'bosses' have assumed and exercised command would have startled a community that had not grown hardened to such spectacles."

Seven foremen at Mare island navy yard have been removed for offensive partisanship. There are a lot at Kittery who are tarred with the same stick.—Boston Post.

The Portsmouth and Kittery yards have been run as party machines for years. A larger number of foremen and of men have been employed than were needed by the government. Secretary Whitney is inquiring into this matter, and he proposes to make some needed reforms.—Hartford Times.

The political information of the Hartford Times may be all right, but there is only one navy yard on the Piscataqua that we know of.

MARITIME NOTES.

The British schooner Fleetly arrived from Bridgewater, Nova Scotia, with ties to the Eastern railroad, on Thursday; also the new schooner Agnes E. Downs, Levi Downs master, from Boothbay, Me. The brickers Lillie, Estella and G. W. Raitt sailed for Boston, and the stone sloop Screamer for Rockport, Mass.; the British schooner Pleasantville sailed for Bridgewater, N. S.; and the colliers Lugano and Alpha for Maine ports, to load ice for places south.

The schooner Mary Willey, Capt. Williams, which arrived at Portland on Tuesday, April 28th, from this port, took a cargo of corn and cleared the same day, for Bangor, where she will load with lumber for John H. Broughton. The Mary Willey laid over the 29th in Portland, on account of the gale.

Six coasting schooners sought shelter in Star island roads, Isles of Shoals, Tuesday afternoon of this week, and all rode out the gale of that night comfortably except one, which dragged out of the roads and nearly to Half-way rock, when she was abandoned by her crew, who landed on Star island and were sheltered at the Oceanic. The vessel's anchors got a good hold, however, not far from the ledge, and she hung on until again boarded by her crew on Wednesday morning.

The gondola H. P. Spinney came down from Durham on Thursday, loaded with lumber. The grass gets scanty chance to grow on her bottom, for Capt. Cheney keeps her on the move from the fresh water creeks above to the salt water of the ocean. This was the sixth trip up and down the Piscataqua made by her within a week.

THE NEW COFFEE-POT.

Many persons called at John P. Sweetser's store on Market street, Thursday, to witness the testing of the One-Minute coffee-pot, and try a cup of the coffee made in it. There is no mysterious machinery about it; it is as simple as a buck-saw or garden-rake, and a good deal easier worked than either; and in the test which we witnessed, with the coffee weighed under our personal supervision, and double the amount of water used in the "Boss" pot to what was used in one of the usual style, the beverage poured from the "Boss" was beyond comparison superior as to flavor and rich aroma—not in bitterness, though, the mere bitter being left in the grounds, as was plainly demonstrated.

The exhibition will be continued today and to-morrow at Mr. Sweetser's store, and all are invited to call and decide for themselves.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

The U. S. S. Omaha hauled around to the naval-store wharf at the navy yard on Thursday to take in her coal. Her electric light system will be tested this evening.

There was a discharge in the steam engineering department at the navy yard on Thursday; only four boiler-makers are left in that department.

A HOPE FOR BLANEY YET.

An Augusta, Me., correspondent of a Portland paper writes that "an attempt is to be made to obtain a reprieve and change of sentence from death to imprisonment for life for Oscar E. Blaney, who was convicted with Mrs. Barrows for the murder of Thomas Barrows of Kittery. Hon. Henry B. Cleaves, who as the attorney general conducted the case on the part of the government, proposes not only to protest against the execution of Blaney, but will place all the facts connected with the case before Gov. Robie and council. It will be shown that without the testimony given by Oscar on the stand, the conviction of Mrs. Barrows, the real criminal and instigator of the murder, would have been rendered very improbable. It will also be shown that from the moment when Oscar was arrested, up to the time when Attorney General Cleaves went to Saco to try the case, it was Oscar Blaney who furnished information that enabled the officers to work up the case. When in the course of preparation of the government side o the case a point was found which the government detective could not explain, he would see Oscar, who would clear it up. This continued up to the time when General Cleaves took the case. General Cleaves did not see Blaney, did not exchange a word with him, but from the government detective he received full information of what Oscar had said, and he felt the great importance of hearing the man who was concerned with Mrs. Barrows in the plot to take the life of Thomas Barrows tells his story on the stand. There was no promise made to Oscar. Judge Virgin instructed him that he was not obliged to answer a question or to criminate himself, but he gave his evidence in a clear and convincing manner, and his testimony formed a most important link in the government's chain of evidence. General Cleaves will contend that the state cannot hang its own witness."

Apropos to the Barrows case, a correspondent of the Boston Journal writes as follows:

The statement has frequently been made by correspondents from this state that no woman has ever suffered the death penalty in Maine, and that Mrs. Barrows, sentenced to be executed for complicity in the murder of her husband, next December, would be the first woman to experience capital punishment in this state. This is a mistake. Two women have been executed in Maine. The first one, Mrs. Cornish, very peculiarly lived in York, not far distant from Mrs. Barrows' home, and was executed in 1644 for the murder of her husband. Superstition had probably more to do with her being found guilty than any direct evidence. The trial was held before the mayor of the ancient city of Gorgeana, in a recorder's court having jurisdiction over all criminal offences, and from whose findings, according to the feudal charter granted by King Charles I to Sir Ferdinand Gorges in 1639, there was no appeal. Little information can be obtained regarding the mode of procedure, except that the officers of the province, by invitation of the mayor, assisted at the trial. Governor Winthrop of Massachusetts gives the following quaint account of the affair:

"One Cornish, dwelling some time in Weymouth, removed to Accomenticus for more outward accommodation, and last month was taken up the river, his head bruised and a pole sticking in his side, and his canoe, laden with clay, found sunk. His wife coming to her husband, he died abundantly. The woman was arraigned before the mayor, Mr. Roger Goode, and others of the province of Maine, and strong presumptions came in against her, whereupon she was condemned and executed. She persisted in the denial of the murder to the death."

The next trial of a woman for murder of which we have any record was in June, 1725, when an Indian woman named Patience Sampson or Patience Boston, was tried at York, before the supreme court of judicature, for the murder of Benjamin Trott of Falmouth, a child about eight years old, whom she drowned in a well. She pleaded guilty to the crime, and sentence of death was pronounced upon her June 24th, and carried into execution the 31st of the following month.

The May Party with which the Sons of Veterans close their series of dances takes place this evening, in Congress hall.

One hundred and fifty shares of Eastern railroad stock sold at 49 7-8 at the brokers' board in Boston on Thursday, and 100 shares at 50 1-4.

The cantata "The Fairy Queen" will be given this evening in the vestry of the Universalist church by a dozen or more young ladies of the society, who have had it in rehearsal for some time; admission fifteen cents.

The governor and council of Maine gave a hearing, April 28th, on the petition to grant a pardon to Sarah Whitten of Alfred, in the state prison under life sentence for killing her infant at Kennebunk. The council voted to commute her sentence to a term of years, it being established that she was not wholly responsible at the time of the murder.

Notice as to Ashes and Refuse.

THE attention of citizens is called to the fact that the city teams can only remove such ashes and refuse as are placed on the edge of the sidewalk, in barrels or boxes of suitable size and weight, so as to be readily handled and emptied into the carts.

The city will not attempt to remove ashes or refuse placed in large barrels, boxes or hogsheads, filled so as not to be capable of being easily lifted and emptied, and all such will in every case be left where the owners place them, and at their risk. CALVIN PAGE, Mayor.

KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Cures a Terrible Case of Gravel When Other Help Failed.

What is Gravel? what causes it, and who are most liable to it? It is frequently attended with acute pain, and unless relief can be found, produces inflammation and death. Both sexes and all ages are liable to it, although men who have reached or passed middle age are its most common victims. Nothing is more urgently needed than a reliable medicine for Gravel, as the disease seems on the increase, and we are glad to say that such a specific is now before the public in the form of DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY, of Rondout, N. Y. We put in evidence the following letter, selected from many similar communications:

PITTSFIELD, MASS., March, 1884.

Dr. David Kennedy:

DEAR SIR:—You have a right to know, and I desire the public to know my experience with Gravel and my remarkable recovery through the use of your "FAVORITE REMEDY." I am a carpenter living in this place, and there are plenty of witnesses to the truth of what I say. My first compparatively slight attack of Gravel was in the year 1878. It passed away, and I had little more trouble until last July, 1883. One day when at work in my shop I was suddenly seized with a keen and shooting pain in my left side. I consulted two physicians at once. One said: "I can do nothing for you. Your case is incurable!" I was frightened and went to the second, who said little, but gave me a prescription. It did no good.

Then began a series of experiences the agony and horror of which words cannot depict. Think of it! I was sometimes taken in the streets, and would fall, writhing with agony, upon the sidewalk. It was death in life. Thank Heaven, I then heard of "KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY," through Mr. P. P. Cooley. I had not used half a bottle when I passed three stones in succession, one of which was one-half an inch long. I persevered with the medicine, the symptoms gradually abated, and I have had no more trouble since. I am well, thanks to you and "FAVORITE REMEDY." Yours most gratefully,

JAMES D. KENNEDY.

What "FAVORITE REMEDY" did in this case it has done in many others. If you desire to do so Address—Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventive of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from a impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex, Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an unfailing friend—a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. $1 bottle, 6 for $5, by all druggists.

One Bottle Instead of a Dozen.

"And it took only one bottle to do it," said a gentleman, speaking of Parker's Hair Balsam. I had a run of fever, and when I got well of that my hair began to fall out so fast as to alarm me. I really didn't know what to do, until one day a friend said, 'Try Parker's Hair Balsam.' That was some months ago. What surprised me was the fact that one bottle was enough. I expected to use up a dozen." Clean, highly perfumed, not oily, not a dye. Restores original color.

—O'Donovan Rossa is supposed to have planned for a boy to make up faces at the Prince of Wales in Ireland. The boy did it when the prince was not looking at him, and so cannot claim any part of O'Donovan's skirmishing fund.

For 25 years I have been afflicted with Catarrh so that I have been confined to my room for two months at a time. I have tried all the humbugs in hopes of relief but to no success until I met with an old friend who had used Ely's Cream Balm and advised me to try it. I procured a bottle to please him, and from the first application I found relief. It is a wonderful remedy. 50 cents.

Housed Up.

For the last three months a great many people have been housed up, because they have not felt able to withstand the stormy wintry weather that has prevailed. But unfortunately the confinement and the close air of modern houses during the winter season, is very enervating, and the system needs help to enable all the organs to do their proper work. If these organs have been inactive the consequences are showing themselves in the bilious condition of the system, or in constipation of the bowels, or in disorders of the kidneys, with all the aches and pains that accompany these complaints. If you are in this condition from any cause you should make a faithful trial of that well known remedy Kidney-Wort. It acts at the same time on the kidneys, liver and bowels, and is therefore especially fitted to correct this torpid condition of the system.

A Great Benefactor of Women.

Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., is often spoken of as the great benefactor of women and frequently receives letters like the one we quote from, written by a lady in San Francisco, she says: "I am taking your Vegetable Compound and find great benefit from it. It has done me more good than all the doctors." Mrs. T. of Vincennes, Ind., writes: "Having taken 11 bottles of your Vegetable Compound and cured by its use, I feel very anxious that every woman afflicted with womb disease should make use of it." Another lady in Birmingham, Mich., was suffering from weakness and displacement. She says: "I began taking your compound and it helped me so soon, I feel like proclaiming to the world its great virtues as a healing agent for women."

—"What are you looking for?" asked Farmer Furrow of a tramp who was prowling around the kitchen early one morning. "Oh, I was only looking for work." "Ah, yes, I see; trying to get up an appetite for breakfast, eh?" "Well, not exactly." "What, then?" "I was trying to get a breakfast for my appetite."

"100 Doses One Dollar" is true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it is an unanswerable argument as to strength and economy.

"An overseer, my boy," said the ibis, "is one who oversees or rather overlooks the best interests of the college." "Correct," remarked the jester; "now, can you tell me what a decision by the overseers is called?" "An oversight," twittered the irreverent bird.

Under False Colors. Notwithstanding the protection with which the law encircles patent rights and trade marks, no sooner does a valuable patent or proprietary article make its appearance than a horde of unprincipled persons try by every means to imitate the original. PYLE'S PEARLINE, celebrated as a washing compound, has had a score of imitations, but the superiority of the genuine article over the counterfeits is so plainly apparent that very few people have been deceived.

—Emerson says: "All the world loves a lover." That may be true, but wide observation seems to prove that the love of all the world doesn't make the lover any more contented so long as one little snip of a seventeen-year-old girl says that she can be to him only as a sister.

WETHERELL'S SARSAPARILLA

Is the best remedy ever devised for all diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, giving immediate and permanent improvement. No remedy has ever before been so compounded as to bring together in one bottle so many active ingredients, which are known to all physicians as a specific for impure blood, the fountain-head of all disease.

Bilious Headache,

I have suffered for a long time from bilious headache, and have tried many preparations of Sarsaparilla, but found no relief. I was induced by my friends to try Wetherell's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, with a double dose of Potassium. After taking one bottle I am entirely cured, and feel better now than for years. I cheerfully give you the use of my name, believing that many who suffer as I did will be cured by your wonderful medicine. J. A. ROWELL, Brentwood, N.H.

GOOD-FOR-NOTHING.

Jean Clopin could hardly believe his ears when the archbishop himself offered to hire little Francois; but he was finally made to comprehend, and his consent was not wanting. He was cheerfully willing—aye, even glad, but he feared they would find him of no use.

However, the archbishop would assume the risk, and the arrangements were finally completed.

And from that day it could never be said of Francois that he was good for nothing. He was prompt and energetic in his new calling, seeming to have but one desire, and that to please the organist and the good archbishop.

The organ in the palace was so arranged that the boy, when he worked at the brake which filled the bellows, could watch the fingers of the organist as they rested upon the ivory keys; and Dupont often found himself forgetting his theme, and studying the ecstatic expression of Francois's face.

One day, when the boy had been with him a week, M. Dupont was performing upon the organ in the chapel, the music of a new oratorio which was soon to be sung in public—an oratorio of his own composition.

One strain, a solo, which he particularly admired, he repeated several times, and by-and-by he was startled by hearing tones which he was sure were not produced by him, and yet they were as soft and sweet—as purely melodious—as any note the organ was capable of making.

The wonderful tones increased in volume, and presently the musician's ear caught the sound of words. Suddenly he stopped, and spoke. With this the organ bellows-boy was out of sight.

"Francois!"

"Oh, good sir, pardon me!—pardon! I will never do so again."

"Was it you? Were you singing?"

"Yes, sir. I did not think."

"Tut, tut! Be not afraid, dear boy. I have no blame. You charmed me. If I will call another hand to the bellows, will you stand here and try to sing?"

As soon as the lad could be made to understand that the organist was in earnest, he said he would try.

"Then go and find Pierre Basard, and tell him that I want him."

Pierre Basard was a man engaged about the chapel. He came, and took his place at the bellows, while Francois stood by M. Dupont's side. Then the organist gave into his hand the words and music of a solo for a female voice. He had not learned to read music at sight, but he had heard this played until he knew it by heart—knew every tone and every intonation.

The effect was wonderful. Dupont gave but the softest tones—dulcet strains—above which the voice of the boy arose rich, pure, and sympathetic. Several minor passages of exceptional beauty and pathos, and very difficult, were executed by the little singer with the perfectness of age and experience. At the end the player leaned back, and wiped the tears from his eyes. Then he threw his arms around the boy, and blessed him.

"You will sing for the archbishop?"

"If he would care to hear me—yes, sir."

But a curious circumstance was to happen before the boy could sing again.

The archbishop, at that time, was absent, and would not return until the following day.

It was the second morning after the scene in the chapel choir. The prelate had eaten breakfast, and was on his way to his study, when, in passing the door of his music-room, he heard the tones of his organ.

He stopped in a startled mood and listened. He had never known Dupont to be there at that early hour. Who could it be? Surely a sweet musician. There was no effort at execution, no grand passages, but rather a succession of sweet, soft tones, like celestial whisperings in harmonious concord.

How long he stood entranced by the strange music he could not tell, but by-and-by he softly opened the door and looked in, and there he saw little Francois Clopin at the finger-board, while a servant of the household was at the brake of the bellows.

An exclamation of surprise burst from the archbishop's lips, and the boy started up from the organ seat, and in a moment more was on his knees at the prelate's feet.

"Oh, monseigneur! Pardon! I did not know you were here. Indeed I thought no harm. Pardon, I pray."

The prelate took him by the hand and lifted him up.

"Francois! Was it you?"

"Yes, sir. But, truly, the organ was open. I did not——"

"It is well. Do not be alarmed, Francois. I am delighted. What was the air you were playing?"

"It was no air, monseigneur—only a poor weaving of strange fancies. Ah! if I could only play as I can think!"

"Oho! There you strike the very key-note, my boy. And, I think, with that voice of yours, you ought to sing."

"Sing! By the mass! Your grace shall hear him sing!"

It was the voice of M. Dupont, who had come in, unperceived, just in season to hear the archbishop's last remark.

"Has he been singing for you?" he added, as he advanced toward where the aged prelate and the blue-eyed boy were standing.

The archbishop shook his head, and then told the story of the strange organ strains that had held him spellbound. M. Dupont heard; after which he said to the boy:

"Francois, can you remember the words of 'Mary's Lament'?"

"Yes, sir, perfectly."

"Then you shall sing that solo here and now. Ah, we will give his grace an entertainment. Now! Be not afraid. Open thy mouth. Give thy thoughts to the dead Christ and the weeping mother. Raise thine eyes as thou didst in the chapel, and think of nothing else under the sun."

If anything was different, the singing of the boy on this occasion was better than it had been before. The archbishop was like one entranced. He declared that it seemed to him more like a dream than reality.

At the conclusion of the performance M. Dupont leaped to his feet, and smote his hands together.

"My faith! I shall change the score of my oratorio. That solo, and one other, I shall put into the mouth of an attendant spirit. I will make a seraph attend upon the Virgin; and he shall sing these solos. Will it not be grand?"

As the chief musician said, so it was done. He made a satisfactory arrangement with the lady who had been engaged to enact the part of the Virgin Mary, and little Francois went into training for the new character, which the author gladly introduced.

Though the boy could not read music from the written notes, yet his memory of musical sounds was so wonderfully acute and sure, that, when once he had sung a piece, he could not forget it, nor could he mistake. And another thing was in our hero's favor: the singers, old and young—every one of them—fell in love with him, and gave him all the help in their power.

At length the evening came for the singing of the new oratorio in the great cathedral. It had been announced that a new singer had been engaged, but the name was not given.

The cathedral was filled with a music-loving audience, including the first people of the city; Jean Clopin and his three elder children were there, because free tickets had been sent them.

"Well," said the old instrument-mender, when he received the tickets, "our Little Good-for-Nothing has done us so much good. We get these tickets because he works the brake of the great organ bellows."

The oratorio commenced, and the opening was well received. By-and-by came the requiem of the seraphim, with a solo by the leading seraph.

There was a hush upon the vast audience, people seeming to hold their

ECZEMA

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Positively Cured.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum, with its agonizing itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Itchen Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly, and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2542 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema or Salt Rheum on head, neck, face, arms, and legs for seventeen years; not able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA REMEDIES (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

F. H. Drake, Esq., Detroit, Mich., suffered untold tortures from Eczema, which appeared on his hands, head and face, and nearly destroyed his eyes. After the most careful doctoring and a consultation of physicians failed to relieve him, he used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and was cured, and has remained so to date.

Mr John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. Three boxes of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Naval Intelligence.

Commander Dana, commanding the Nipsic, of the South Atlantic squadron, under date of Montevideo, March 15th, informs the navy department that a quarantine of three days had been established on all vessels arriving from Rio de Janeiro. The political condition of the country in the vicinity of Rio de Janeiro, Commander Dana says, is unsettled. After March 20th he proposed to ascend the river to Buenos Ayres, to remain there some days and then cross to Colonia.

Dispatches have been received at the navy department under date of Hong Kong, March 24th, from Adm. Davis who had shifted his flag to the Enterprise and visited Canton, going up the Pearl river as high as Whampoa, where the Alert was anchored. The Enterprise was to relieve the Juniata at Pagoda anchorage, when the admiral would go to Shanghai in the latter vessel. Orders had been sent to the Ossipee to proceed to Nagasaki, in case the services of that vessel were not needed to protect American interests; she would then be sent to the coast of China. The English vessels had been withdrawn from the treaty ports, and were concentrating at Hong Kong. The Russians had also withdrawn their vessels, and the only vessels available for treaty ports except those of the United States were three German and one Italian. In consequence of these withdrawals no change is reported in the disposition of the Chinese toward foreigners.

A correspondent writing from Exeter says: "A good deal of comment was excited by the seeming neglect by the academy authorities to suitably care for the remains of the student who was drowned while bathing in the river on Saturday, April 25th. The body was recovered about two hours after death, and placed in a coffin by an undertaker, but instead of being borne reverently to Abbott Hall, where the unfortunate man had his room, or to the academy chapel to lie in such state as befitted the character of the noble and gifted youth, it was left from Saturday until Monday forenoon after in the humble dwelling of a poor Irish family near the scene of the fatal accident. Previous to being sent to his distant home in Iowa on Monday for burial, the poor young man was taken to the academy chapel, where prayers were said by Dr. Scott, principal of the school. Rev. Mr. Byington, pastor of the church in Exeter of which the deceased was a member, received no invitation to be present, nor any intimation that religious services were to be held there. The young man was much respected by the people of Exeter, and was a favorite among the students."

The Old Orchard camp-ground is to be well occupied this season. June 26th, immediately following the National Encampment of the Grand Army at Portland, the Sanitary and Christian commissions and chaplains of the armies north and south will commence their sixth annual reunion, which will continue four days. July 10th the salvation army of New England, under command of Gen. Smith of New York, will commence a "war" to last a full week. August 11th the National Holiness camp-meeting, Rev. Wm. McDonald president, will begin an eight days session; and immediately following will be the Portland District camp-meeting of the Methodist Episcopal denomination, under charge of Rev. W. S. Jones, presiding elder of the district. A mass temperance meeting will probably be held during the last week in August, closing the series. In addition to all these, it is considered probable that the State Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, will have a reunion on the camp-ground some time in September.

The Boston & Maine railroad has reinstated Station Agent McKeller at Danvers, Mass.; he was removed recently on account of being short in his accounts. The shortage was due to the work of a thief, George Reuben Jones, who is now under bonds for the action of the grand jury.

The graduating exercises of the Limerick academy class of '85 will take place Saturday afternoon, May 9th. One of the attractions will be a debate on the following: "Resolved, That success depends upon favorable surroundings," Charles B. Richards of Limerick taking the affirmative, and Leighton Favour of Kittery the negative.

Mr. Lemuel Nichols, of Bangor, Me., has been awarded sixteen mail routes in Maine and seven in New Hampshire, under the recent reletting by the post-office department, for four years from July 1st, 1885. Of course he will sub-let them, at such rates as will be pecuniarily beneficial to himself. Two of the Maine routes are in York county—from Limerick to East Waterborough, at $430 a year, and from Cape Neddick to Kittery Depot, at $360 a year.

The "Pathfinder Railway Guide" for May made its appearance promptly the first of the month, and is indeed a royal number. The time tables are carefully revised to date, and include all the recent changes. The two large colored maps improve with each issue, and are the finest ever engraved; in fact the management fairly improves upon its endeavors, and has reached well nigh the point of perfection. The Guide can be procured of any newsdealer for twenty-five cents, or by sending $2.50, the subscription price, to "Pathfinder," Boston, it will be mailed to any address for one year.

Preaching in the Universalist church Sunday forenoon by Rev. James Eastman of Brattleboro, Vermont.

Says the Biddeford Journal: "If it is true that the president has been deceived about these men [Pillsbury, and Great Tabulator Chase of Maine,] he will hasten to learn the exact truth and revoke their appointments—that is, if he possesses that Jacksonian firmness with which he has been credited. But does anybody believe that he will do this? The chances are more than even that he knew precisely what he was about, but miscalculated the effect of his act. From a republican standpoint, it was the best shot he has yet made. He killed two birds with one stone; first bird, the mugwumps; second bird, his fair promise, by previous acts, to give the country a good government by appointing decent men to office."

Spring Medicine

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dulness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." E. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N. Y.

CREDITABLE.

Mr. Arthur H. Locke of this city has received the nomination for a cadetship at the naval academy from Congressman Haynes, he having passed the most satisfactory examination at a competitive trial at Manchester. Mr. Locke was eighteen years old last month, and is a graduate of the Portsmouth high school; he is a son of Mr. Oliver H. Locke, and a member of Henry L. Richards camp, Sons of Veterans; has officiated as lay reader at Christ church since Mr. Pfeiffer went away, and has acted as superintendent of the Sunday school connected with that church in the absence of Howe Call, Esq. His success is deserved, and we hope it will continue.

THE DIRECT CABLE BROKEN.

Mr. W. J. Frazier, superintendent of the Direct United States Cable Co.'s station at Rye beach, has received notice from Messrs. John Paw & Son of Gloucester, Mass., that their schooner Smuggler, while on Brown's bank April 15th, on heaving up her anchor found she had hooked the company's cable. Capt. Edward Blackburn commanding the schooner, in his efforts to clear the anchor got the fish-hook on the cable, and then made a tripping-warp fast to the bill of the anchor; but the fish-hook straightened out, and the tide was so strong that he could do nothing until it slacked. He then found the vessel was adrift, and could not tell whether the cable had parted or slipped off. On arriving at Gloucester he reported the circumstances to his owners, who at once gave notice to the station at Rye beach, and received a response from Mr. Frazier, who appreciated the courtesy and the captain's efforts to clear the cable, but expressed regret that he did not unshackle the chain and let the cable go at once, as the company would gladly have made good the loss, as per instructions in their circular to fishermen. The break had been detected about midnight on the 15th, very shortly after it occurred.

THE POST-OFFICE.

Mr. Editor: I was glad to read in the Chronicle the good notice as to our retired post-master, and the hope expressed as to his successor. Everybody will watch now for the development of improvements, for there is yet room for such. For example, the mail which arrives Sunday evenings is not assorted until some time Monday after the morning trains have left, and frequently this has been the source of annoyance to persons who were obliged to leave town by the 7:15, 7:55 and 8:20 trains. This mail should be assorted on Sunday evening, or at least in these long days, quite early on Monday mornings.

A word for the younger clerks in the office, Messers. Ayers and Peirce. They have shown great aptitude for their duties. They have been polite, patient, and gentlemanly in their deportment, and however much annoyed, seemed never to have adopted that brusque manner sometimes seen in the incumbents of places of this kind. If these young men retire from their positions it is a public loss. Some men can not be always patient and even tempered, in places where foolish questions are constantly asked and peevish complaints uttered, but the young gentlemen referred to have seemed to display a wonderful skill in the discharge of their duties; and if relieved from further service in the post-office, they will be wanted elsewhere. Such accomplishments never remain long out of use, and their example may well be followed by more experienced officials. A. D. F.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

A number of the navy yard workmen who were suspended on Wednesday of this week, were called on again Friday morning, to go to work on the Omaha.

The U. S. S. Omaha, lying at the navy yard, was brilliant with her electric lights on Friday evening; the night was quite dark, and the ship presented a beautiful sight from this side of the river. The steamer Emerald made an extra trip in the evening, to take over and bring back a large number of citizens who had been invited to witness the testing of the lights.

DEPARTED.

The many friends of Commodore Theodore D. Wilson, of the navy, will be grieved to hear of the death of his wife at Washington on the morning of the 1st instant. While the event was not unexpected, it fell like a shock upon her household. Mrs. Wilson had been ill for a long time, but her wonderful recuperative power, and her force of will and courage, led many to hope for her recovery. She was a devoted wife, mother and friend, and bore her great suffering with meekness and resignation, having an abiding faith in God, and conscious of having fulfilled her duty. Everything was done that professional skill, the attention of friends, and the devotion of a loving husband could do, but all in vain: Death triumphed, and all that was not mortal winged its way to the Eternal shore.

"Her spirit is gone to seek the bourn
Where, lull'd to slumber, grief forgets to mourn."

MARITIME NOTES.

The new schooner Agnes E. Downs, lying at Randall & Caswell's wharf on Friday, was visited and admired by a great many persons. She is of very handsome model, has fine deck room, and her cabin and forecastle accommodations and fittings are the best we ever saw in a fishing vessel. She is a beauty, and we hope will more than fulfill the hopes of her owners and skipper.

The steamer Appledore has nearly finished the repairs on her boilers, etc., at the navy yard, and will shortly go on the marine railway to have her screw bolts put in.

SUPREME COURT--SMITH J.

State vs. Gilpatrick, gross and habitual cruelty to Sidney Tanner, occupied the attention of the court on Thursday, the 30th ult. The state got in its direct evidence a little before noon. Eastman and Tappan for state; Hatch and Page for the defendant. The theory of the counsel for the defence, that the welts and scars found on the body of the boy at the post mortem examination were the result of decomposition and not of blows, was unexpectedly exploded by the admission of Gilpatrick's sister that she saw the marks on the child's person when she laid him out the day he died! The testimony of Jacob Willey and wife, who were present when Gilpatrick bullied and beat the cowed and terrified child, over his lesson, from eight o'clock until midnight, only a week previous to the boy's death in wild delirium, was not impeached or shaken in any particular. The only plea for its justification was Mr. Hatch's suggestion that Gilpatrick's "correction" of the boy had a "salutary effect." To the relatives of the boy, and to the listeners in the court, the "correction" appears to have been the most fiendish cruelty, and of fatal effect. The case was continued through the day Friday, being argued by Page for the defendant, and by Attorney General Tappan for the state, and given to the jury about 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

The musical entertainment—the cantata of the "Fairy Queen"—in the Universalist vestry on Friday evening was a very pleasing and successful affair. Cora Barnabee, daughter of Mr. D. Webster Barnabee, took the part of the Fairy Queen, and was obliged to repeat her songs again and again; Bertha Vaughan, daughter of Mr. George T. Vaughan, was a charming May Queen; and May Bennett, daughter of Mr. John Bennett, sang two solos very prettily. The other parts were pleasingly rendered, and the performance of the cantata was a source of much pleasure to the audience.

The Vaughan monument is finished at the Point of Graves cemetery, and attracts considerable attention. The exterior fence of this yard is kept in good repair by the city, but the board fence in the rear is partially down for the dumping of decayed lobsters and fish upon which hens are let in to feed. It does not afford a very fine prospect for those viewing the tomb of the hero of Louisburg.

Mr. Edward C. Stickney of this city, who in 1880 won the title of champion heavy-weight-lifter of New Hampshire, has made the following record with dumb-bells: 133-pound bell, lifted fairly from the floor with the right hand alone, one thousands times in ten minutes; 85-lb. dumb-bell, 1000 times in five minutes; 50-lb. dumb-bell, 1000 times in three minutes.

Mr. Langdon Brooks of Newington, his wife and three children, have been seriously ill recently, it is believed from the effects of poison of some kind in salt mackerel eaten by them. Two children were taken sick on the 23d ult., with vomiting, cramps, excessive thirst and fever; another was taken down on the 27th, and the mother on the 29th, in each case the attack following a meal of which salt mackerel formed a part. Mr. Brooks himself was troubled by the same symptoms as the others, but not to such an extent as to force him to lie up. The children were considered out of danger on Friday, but the mother was still very ill.

The Portsmouth shoe factory shut down last Thursday evening until Monday, to take account of stock.

The May party at Franklin hall next Tuesday evening, the 5th inst., promises to be a fitting finale to the course given this season by the three young men whose management has been so successful for several winters past. Eastman's orchestra, of Manchester, which will furnish the music, is one of the finest musical organizations east of Boston.

David S. Gilchrist, a prominent real estate lawyer, died in Boston recently. He was a brother of the late John James Gilchrist, Chief Justice of this state, and an uncle of Commander Francis M. Green, now stationed at the navy yard near this city.

A team belonging to Mr. Asa Ham was standing in Call's lumber yard Thursday morning, and the horse becoming frightened by the blowing-off of steam by a locomotive ran through Market street as far as the corner of Bow street, where he was stopped without having done any damage.

A gentleman in this city has shown us to-day a copy of an address delivered in this city on the 5th of July, 1824, by Estwick Evans, on the occasion of the erection and dedication of the Liberty pole at Liberty bridge. The little book was printed by T. H. Miller, who then conducted the printing business on Congress street.—Times.

The last lecture in the illustrated course will be given by Rev. John A. Goss in the Court street Christian church on Sunday evening, at 7:30 o'clock; subject, "Naaman."

Notice as to Ashes and Refuse.
THE attention of citizens is called to the fact that the city teams can only remove such ashes and refuse as are placed on the edge of the sidewalk, in barrels or boxes of suitable size and weight, so as to be readily handled and emptied into the carts.
The city will not attempt to remove ashes or refuse placed in large barrels, boxes or hogsheads, filled so as not to be capable of being easily lifted and emptied, and all such will in every case be left where the owners place them, and at their risk.

breath for fear a note of the wondrous music might be lost. It was sublime; it was heavenly; though the tones were but as the evening zephyr in volume, yet they were so sweet, so pure, and so entrancing in quality, that they reached to the uttermost parts of the vast auditorium.

When the song was done a dead silence followed—a silence lasting until the hearers could regain their suspended breath; and then the thunders of applause burst forth. And the tempest continued until the boyish seraph came forward and bowed to the audience, and resumed his place for a repetition of the piece.

Madeline Clopin sat pale and quivering. Could that be her brother? She could not believe it until he had come forward and made his bow, and then she knew him. She caught her father's arm, and whispered into his ear:

"Oh, father! It is our Francois! See!"

The old man saw, and the effect upon him was wonderful. He saw again the beautiful singer of long-ago, as she was before the sad accident befell. He saw again his own loved and worshiped Linette, as she was before she became his wife.

Strange was it, that he had never before seen how much the boy looked as his mother had looked in her youth. But he saw it now; and from that moment the boy was taken to his heart.

But never again was Jean Clopin to have the boy under his care and keeping. The great public claimed him. Yet it was a blessed hour for Francois when his father clasped him to his bosom and kissed him. It brightened his life, and gave him new strength for the work before him.

And, in after years, when Francois Clopin had become known, and loved, and honored, not only throughout his native France, but through Southern Europe, when kings and princes deemed it a favor to patronize him, the late evening of the old instrument-maker's life was made bright and blessed by the untiring and generous devotion of the child whom he had once found heart to call his Little Good-for-Nothing.

KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Cures a Terrible Case of Gravel When Other Help Failed.

What is Gravel? what causes it, and who are most liable to it? It is frequently attacked with acute pain, and unless relief can be found, produces inflammation and death. Both sexes and all ages are liable to it, although men who have reached or passed middle age are its most common victims. Nothing is more urgently needed than a reliable medicine for Gravel, as the disease seems on the increase, and we are glad to say that such a specific is now before the public in the form of DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY, of Rondout, N. Y. We put in evidence the following letter, selected from many similar communications:

PITTSFIELD, MASS., March, 1884.

Dr. David Kennedy:

DEAR SIR:—You have a right to know, and I desire that you make my experience with Gravel and my remarkable recovery through the use of your "FAVORITE REMEDY." I am a carpenter living in this place, and there are plenty of witnesses to the truth of what I say. My first complaint, slightly attack of Gravel was in the year 1878. It passed away, and I had little more trouble until last July, 1883. One day when at work in my shop I was suddenly seized with a keen and terrible pain in my left side. I consulted two physicians at once. One said: "I can do nothing for you. Your case is incurable!" I was frightened and went to the second, who said little, but gave me a prescription. It did no good.

Then began a series of experiences the agony and horror of which words cannot depict. Think of it! I was sometimes taken in the streets, and would fall prostrate with agony, upon the sidewalk. It was death in life. Thank Heaven, I then heard of "KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY," through Mr. P. P. Cooley. I had not used half a bottle when I passed three stones in succession, one of which was one-half an inch long. I persevered with the medicine, the symptoms gradually abated, and I have had no more trouble since. I am well, thanks to you and "FAVORITE REMEDY." Yours most gratefully,

JAMES D. KENNEDY.

What "FAVORITE REMEDY" did in this case it has done for others. If you desire to do so Address—Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the most powerful of all tonics and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an unfailing friend—a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. $1 bottle, 6 for $5, by all druggists.

SICK HEADACHE.—Thousands who have suffered intensely with headache say that Hood's Sarsaparilla has completely cured them. One gentleman thus relieved, writes: "Hood's Sarsaparilla is worth its weight in gold." Reader, if you are a sufferer with sick headache, give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial. It will do you positive good. Made by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists. 100 Doses One Dollar.

A farmer's wife in Indiana, who runs a vegetable garden of half an acre, not only kept a large table bountifully supplied, but sold last year more than $100 worth of vegetables to the town folks a few miles away. This half acre was of more profit than any four acres which the husband cultivated.

A lady writes: "Your Hop Porous Plaster does the work every time; I do not have that awful pain in the side now." Your experience will be the same. Sold everywhere, 25c.

A gruesome "joke" was perpetrated on a large number of citizens at Biddeford one day recently. A young man went into an undertaker's rooms and fell asleep. He was placed in a coffin by two of his funny friends, and the public invited up to look at the "victim of a railroad accident." The Journal says: "The feelings of the man in the coffin when he woke can better be imagined than described."

Housed Up.

For the last three months a great many people have been housed up, because they have not felt able to withstand the stormy wintry weather that has prevailed. But unfortunately the confinement and the close air of modern houses during the winter season, is very enervating, and the system needs help to enable all the organs to do their proper work. If these organs have been inactive the consequences are showing themselves in the bilious condition of the system, or in constipation of the bowels, or in disorders of the kidneys, with all the aches and pains that accompany these complaints. If you are in this condition from any cause you should make a faithful trial of that well known remedy Kidney-Wort. It acts at the same time on the kidneys, liver and bowels, and is therefore especially fitted to correct this torpid condition of the system.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

(The Oldest Newspaper in the United States, established Oct. 7th, 1756,)

Is published every Thursday at the same office. Terms, $1.50 per year; $2.00 per year if not paid in advance.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires at their native city, and it

CONTAINS MORE ORIGINAL MATTER THAN ANY OTHER PAPER OF ITS SIZE IN THE STATE, THE EDITORS WORKING MORE WITH THEIR PENS THAN WITH THEIR SCISSORS.

ADVERTISEMENTS inserted on reasonable terms, in either or both papers. The GAZETTE, having a large country (in addition to its local) circulation, is an excellent medium of advertising. A liberal reduction made when advertisements appear in both papers.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

BOSTON, January 1, 1885. eod1y

Scrofula diseases manifest themselves in the spring. Hood's Sarsaparilla cleanses the blood, and removes every taint of scrofula.

—Mrs. Blank—"What wonderful things are done now!" Mr. Blank—"In what way?" "Every way. The paper says: 'A new telephone instrument has been invented by which the crying of a baby may be heard at the distance of 100 miles.' It don't say who was the inventor." "Then he must have escaped."

Commence the Year Aright.

Don't make too many resolutions, but hold on like grim death to those you do make. If your physical system is out of order you should attend to that at once; for its no use trying to keep a stiff upper lip when your kidneys or liver are taking the courage out of you. If you have really made up your mind to turn over a new leaf, commence the year by taking a thorough course of the celebrated Kidney-Wort. Thousands of people testify to its good effects for kidney diseases, biliousness, piles, constipation, etc.

—"A scientist says that the way to sleep is to think of nothing," read Mrs. Smith in a newspaper. "If that be true, I should say that you would sleep all the time, my dear," said her husband. "No doubt, Mr. Smith, for I think a great deal of you."

Friend of Woman.

This title is often applied to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., by happy wives and mothers who have been cured of distressing disorders and relieved of pain and suffering by Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. L. H——of Strother, S. C., says in a recent letter: "Your medicine has done me so much good that I don't think I can stop taking it until I am entirely well. I owe all my good feelings to you. The doctor can't get any credit for curing me, it is your medicine that has done me more good than anything I have ever taken." A dressmaker in Findlay, O., says: "I have derived so great a benefit from the use of your Vegetable Compound that I recommend it in the strongest terms, with the utmost confidence and am sure it will cure the most stubborn cases. I consider it very much better than any other preparation made for all female complaints."

—Mrs. McNamara—"Yis, Mrs. Commiskey, I've been married now goin' on to twinty-three year, and Mac and I have niver had a serious quarrel." Mrs. C.—"Well, thin, it's a happy woman you ought to be, for many's the row Peter and I have had, God be good to us all." Mrs. McN.—"Oh, for that matter, we've had hard work's time and agin, and maybe now and thin a blow, but what I mean is I niver had to call in the police."

Washed-Out Hair.

There is a sort of pallid, chalky complexion which the novelists call a "washed-out complexion." It is ghastly, enough, and no mistake. Washed-out, faded, discolored, or parti-colored hair is almost as repulsive and melancholy. Parker's Hair Balsam will restore your hair to its original color, whatever it was; brown, auburn or black. Why wear moss on your head, when you may easily have lively, shining hair.

—A new wrinkle among people who want to have their dinner parties talked about, is serving baked apples with roast beef. There is no authority for this, and no sense in it either, but it is odd, and hence it is going to be gastronomically fashionable.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites,

Very Palatable and Strengthening.

Dr. A. H. Desanlinus, Oswego, N. Y., says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion for many years, and have given it a thorough comparative test. I cannot speak in too high terms of its palatability, as well as its efficacy in all the wasting disorders in which it is indicated."

INOCULATED POISON!

Some eight years ago I became the victim of a fearful Blood Poison, communicated by a nurse to my infant, and thence through the breast, and suffered for six long years. The mercury and Potash treatment seemed to drive the poison further into my system only to break out in worse form on other portions of my body. Three months ago I began taking Swift's Specific, and it has cured me sound and well. It is the greatest blessing which has come to mankind in years.

Is It a Financial Irregularity?

Sometime since, the Northern Railroad Co. sold the Sullivan Railway to another corporation. Whether the terms of the negotiation were a subject matter of votes, or left discretionary with some of its officials, we are not informed. At any rate, the selling company received seven hundred thousand dollars for the property, and the buyers paid eight hundred thousand dollars. The sudden departure of the ex-president of the Northern railroad for a protracted tour in Europe in quest of health and solace from domestic difficulties, which had more or less affected his body and mind, was made the occasion for remarks and we believe a suit relative to this transaction. Testimony has been taken, though in fact but few persons seem to know anything about the affair. A Mr. Thompson of Massachusetts appears to be the "innocent cause of all the trouble." He says he appropriated the $100,000 as his commissions. There appears to be, as far as we learn, no suggestion that the other directors of the Northern have even seen any part of the sum.

But there is this to be said: If the road was worth $800,000 to the buyer, why need such a margin be expended in commissions? If the purchasers wished to buy and the Northern was willing to sell, why could not the minds meet without the transaction going through a third party who has such a high estimate of his services? Directors are presumed to represent the interests of the property of their corporation, and the difficulty here is that some at least of the directors of the Northern are men not likely to permit a difference between seven and eight hundred thousand dollars to slip through their corporate or individual fingers. The annual meeting of the corporation occurs during the latter part of this month. It is stated that Mr. Sherburne, in reply to President Sullowayʼs telegraphic request to return and explain the circumstances of this peculiar transaction, wires back that no part of the sum went into his pocket. The remaining directors know either some or nothing about this unprecedented business operation. If there has been an irregularity they should invite an immediate investigation, and extend every facility for a thorough examination of the books and papers. If they have been duped by a designing man, and have paid him an exorbitant commission and the sum has gone beyond recovery, then perhaps, the sooner they indicate a willingness to vacate their offices in favor of abler men, the better it will be for the property they "represent."

Some of these men stand high in social, political and professional circles. We are bound to believe that they are strictly honest and straight-forward. But between Concord and White River junction there appears such a shaking of heads and such an utterance of language, which while it says nothing means a good deal, that we hope, for the fair fame which heretofore has attached to our railway managers in New Hampshire, there will be, at least, at the annual meeting of the Northern, if not earlier, in the report of the directors a full, explicit and straightforward explanation of this alleged financial irregularity.

In Vino Veritas.

At a banquet of one of the leading democratic clubs of Massachusetts, at the Quincy house on Wednesday, the 29th ult., at which Rev. Dr. Wm. Everett, as a representative mugwump, attended, a despatch by a unanimous vote was sent to President Cleveland to the purport that his appointment of Pillsbury as internal revenue collector was an excellent one, and that it called for congratulations, etc. This is an effectual notice to the independent allies to allow matters to take the ordinary course. When Mr. Cleveland sees fit to appoint a representative democrat, as appoint such he must, newspapers like the Boston Advertiser, which have run with the machine in the campaign, must now fall into line. Any criticisms upon this kind of dispensation of patronage will be followed by such an endorsement at the next democratic dinner, as will clearly show the president what is the sentiment of his friends. The independents must submit, and the sooner they are, as in this instance, properly snubbed, the easier will be the task for the democrats to divide the spoils. Now, Mr. Cleveland, "bring on your bears."

The Boston Naval Office.

Hon. Frank Jones is reported to have been in Washington last week, and to have summoned Messrs. Sulloway, president of the Northern railroad, J. C. Moore of the Manchester Union, and H. O. Kent, to enlighten the president as to the claims of the New Hampshire democracy. It seems that Col. George, on a recent visit to Washington, made a bold stroke for the naval office at Boston, backed by Judge Abbott, Chas. Theo. Russell, Jonas H. French and B. F. Butler. Mr. Jones on hearing this, sent for his New Hampshire allies to prove that George went into Massachusetts to obtain his endorsements, because he had no following in New Hampshire, and as the last men in the field were delegates at Chicago who voted for Mr. Cleveland, it is regarded as certain that when Col. Hall's term expires, Col. Kent will be allowed to become naval officer, as he now makes by far the best showing for the appointment. Whether Mr. Jones will have the ear of the executive long enough to persuade him to a removal of several prominent office holders in this state, such as collector of internal revenue, United States marshal and attorney, and the postmasters at Concord and Manchester, is in view of the annoyed condition of the president a matter of some doubt, as it appears the executive is surrounded by a crowd of democratic senators who severely try the patience of the commander-in-chief, and the subject of appointment to office is the last one he cares to have mentioned.

A Panama despatch of May 1st is as follows: "All is quiet here. The town has been in charge of the national troops since one o'clock yesterday. During the armistice of forty-eight hours, probably the greater portion of the rebels escaped. The health of the naval force is quite good. Admiral Jouett has gone to Colon, and has ordered the extra forces to return to their stations. The contingents from the Pacific and North Atlantic fleets have returned to their ships. The second battalion will probably return to their steamer on May 6th. The conduct of the United States forces has been exemplary. Three deaths have occurred during their stay here. Thomas Brennan, a fireman on the Alliance, was shot on April 27th by Private Murray of the second battalion, and died on April 29th. On the same night private David Irvine, of Capt. Cochran's company, was shot by sentinel James Macauley while trying to run the lines. Macauley is the man who some months ago fired at river thieves in the Boston navy yard, and killed a woman who was cooking in a house on the opposite side of the river. Angus Fleming, a seaman apprentice, died from fever on April 30th. A detachment of the first battalion, under Col. Heywood, expects to remain at Panama until peace and good government shall have been assured. The last detachment of blue jackets left Panama this afternoon, but detachments remain on duty at Paraiso, Matachin and San Pablo. Gen. Aizpurn is on board the French flagship Reine Blanche."

Steamship State of Nevada, at New York from Glasgow, reports passing on April 26th, about 250 miles southeast from Virgin rocks, an iceberg of which only a portion could be seen on account of fog, but of which that part was a mile and a half long, flat on top, and 180 to 190 feet high. Also saw several other large bergs the same day.

A London despatch of May 1st says: "An agreement has been concluded between the English and Turkish governments by which the latter will allow vessels of the former to pass through the Dardenelles in the event of war with Russia. In return for this favor Turkey will be allowed to send an expedition to occupy the Soudan by way of Suakim, and England will restore Cyprus to Turkey at the end of five years and guarantee the integrity of the states of the porte."

The managers of the Canadian Pacific railroad have notified the British government of the completion of the road, and that in two weeks they will be ready to take troops from Halifax to the Pacific coast if need be.

The Washington correspondent of the Indianapolis Sentinel, who is a confidential friend of Ex-Senator McDonald, has telegraphed to that paper as follows: "There is a good deal of indignation among prominent democrats at the national capital on account of the attitude of the mugwumps in trying to dictate to the president. Indeed, the president himself is said to be already disgusted with these political eunuchs, and has served notice on them that this is to be a democratic administration, and meddling on their part with the affairs will be rebuked."

The Montreal garrison of artillery has been called out for service at the front. The battalion numbers six companies or batteries.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, Rockingham, ss.

By the Hon. Judge of Probate for said County.

TO the heirs at law and creditors to the estate of Henry S. Hartshorn, late of Portsmouth, in said County, deceased, represented insolvent, and to all concerned, GREETING:

YOU are hereby notified that the Report of the Commissioner of Insolvency on said estate will be offered for acceptance at a Court of Probate to be holden at Portsmouth, in said County, on the second Tuesday of May next, at 10 o'clock A. M., when and where you may appear and show cause, if any you have, against the acceptance of said report.

And it is ordered that Marcellus Bufford, administrator of said estate, give notice by causing this citation to be published three weeks successively in the PORTSMOUTH DAILY CHRONICLE, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth, in said County, the last publication whereof to be at least one week prior to said court.

Dated April 24th, A. D. 1885.

By order of the Judge.

WOODBURY M. DURGIN, Register of Probate.

March April May

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the disarranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N.Y.

FARES TO BOSTON SAVED!

Those who for any reason feel they must make a little money go a great ways in this year's purchases, will go to Boston and visit G. W. SIMMONS & CO., 32 to 44 North street, before choosing this season's clothing.

The only suit for strong, healthy, growing boys is the guaranteed indestructible and impeachable one, which they sell so many of to Boston lads. It is the best suit made.

You can often save your fares to Boston on the purchase of a single suit, or light-weight overcoat. G. W. SIMMONS & CO. are now closing at retail the great wholesale stock of Knowles & Leland, and it is generally conceded that no such clothing bargains for Men, Youth or Boys were ever before offered in the city of Boston.

Men's Complete Suits, of the undoubted value of $8, $10, $12, $14, $16, $18 and $20, we shall offer to close at $2.58, $2.87, $3.59, $3.75, $5.19, $6.88, $7.83, $8.34, $9.40, $9.68 and $11.22.

☞ Boys' Suits and Men's Spring Overcoats in the K. and L. stock are offered in the same ratio.

In their Custom Department, they are making suits to order from THE VERY FINEST IMPORTED ENGLISH, FRENCH AND GERMAN GOODS, AT RIDICULOUSLY LOW PRICES.

Cabs, Herdics, and Hansoms, which you will find at the Depots, will bring you to their store without charge.

If you have not seen their new Catalogues of G. A. R. Goods, Polo, Base Ball, Foot Ball, and Bicycle, send your address. They will mail either one you desire. Address

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

SATURDAY, May 2d.

Josephine G. Chase of Seabrook was before the court on a charge of riotous behavior, which was nol pros'd. On a second complaint, for brawl and tumult, she was sentenced to pay costs, taxed at $12.73, which she paid.

SUPREME COURT--SMITH J.

The jury in case State vs. Gilpatrick, gross and habitual cruelty to a child, were out all Friday night, and on Saturday morning reported themselves unable to agree, and were dismissed. Gilpatrick was then arraigned on a charge of aggravated assault on the boy, to which he pleaded guilty, and was remanded for sentence on Monday. It is reported that the jury in the first case stood eleven for conviction and one for acquittal.

RUNAWAY.

A pair of horses attached to a heavy farm wagon, belonging to Emery Jenness of Rye, ran away on Middle street, beyond Mr. Mendum's residence, Saturday forenoon, owing to one of the bits breaking, and brought up on the corner of State and Pleasant streets, where the wagon hit a post and threw one of the horses down. The damage done to the team was of the most trifling description; the driver jumped off when the bit broke, and was but little hurt.

MARINE DISASTER.

The schooner Thrasher, Capt. Haley, 123 tons register, coal-laden, of and for St. John, N. B., from New York, put into the lower harbor Saturday evening, and in going out at one o'clock on Sunday morning struck on Branscome's rock, southwest of the Western Sister, bilged and filled. Capt. Haley was up town on Sunday for assistance, and reported the schooner as lying in a very easy position, and that if the weather remained favorable he had strong hope of saving vessel and cargo.

ST. GILPATRICK.

Mr. Editor: In the interests of fair play and a decent regard for the truth, we desire to protest against the grossly unfair and outrageously false statement in regard to the trial of the Gilpatrick case, published in the Chronicle of Saturday morning. The Chronicle may not be to blame, but before allowing itself to be imposed upon after the trial, as some other papers were before the trial, by exaggerated and false stories coming from agents of the S. P. C. A. it would have been wise to have compared this statement with the facts as they could have been learned from actual presence in court, or from the attorney general, county solicitor, or sheriff. The professional searcher after crime, who tries his case in the newspapers, behind the back of the accused, and while he is shut in jail, cannot be relied upon to report a trial in court fairly. As we were counsel for the accused, we have deemed it our duty to say this much, knowing that all persons acquainted with the facts of the case, excepting the "cranks," agree with us.

Yours respectfully, CALVIN PAGE, JOHN HATCH.

The foregoing communication we take from the Times of Saturday. As the legal gentlemen who so kindly essay a little long-range editing of the Chronicle fail to specify a single point in which our report of the Gilpatrick trial was unfair or false, we are compelled to seek for further information in the columns of papers which, judging from the fullness of their reports, had representatives in the court; and after carefully studying the most extended report we find, we see no reason to step out of the ranks of the "cranks" who believe Gilpatrick to be a brutal ruffian. Our view of the case is to a certain extent borne out by the fact that in spite of the eloquence of the counsel for the defence there were similar "cranks" on the jury—eleven of them, it is stated; and further, by the fact that Gilpatrick on Saturday pleaded guilty to a charge of aggravated assault on the boy Sidney Tanner, eight years old. Mr. Gilpatrick's reputation will need a vast amount of legal deodorizing before it will smell good.

MARITIME NOTES.

Schooner Clara E. Simpson, Hontvet master, has been chartered for three trips to load with plaster (450 tons) at Windsor, N. S., for Georgetown or Alexandria, D. C., at $1.50.

The brick schooners Lillie, Estella and G. W. Raift, from this port April 30th, arrived at Boston on Friday, May 1st.

The steamer Appledore was on Friday evening towed by the steamer James Sampson from the navy yard to Kittery, to go on the ways for the completion of her repairs, and to have her through bolts put in.

The sloop Stephen Orr, Capt. Sewell Aderton, arrived at Portsmouth bridge from Boston on Saturday, and proceeded up river to load bricks.

The seines for the new fishing schooner Agnes E. Downs arrived on Saturday.

The schooner Alfaretta Campbell, Campbell master, with 1029 tons of coal, and the John J. Hanson, Stevens master, with 965 tons, both from Newport News to J. Albert Walker, arrived at this port on Saturday. The John J. Hanson is the Dover Navigation Co.'s new schooner, and this is her first trip here.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

There was another discharge of men in the construction department at the navy yard on Saturday, as follows: Oliver H. Loomis of Portsmouth, time clerk; G. W. S. Putnam of York, writer, and Lyman P. Broughton of Portsmouth, laborer, in construction store; Charles N. Osgood of Portsmouth, foreman caulker; John Rogers of Eliot, shipwright in charge of mould-loft; James Brooks of Eliot, foreman joiner, ordered to Widow's island, Penobscot bay, Maine, to serve as inspector of lumber for the new marine hospital buildings to be erected there. James L. Parker, Amos S. Foster and W. S. Lord of this city, Calvin Staples of Eliot, and others, were also discharged.

The entire force of the construction department of the Brooklyn navy yard was discharged last Friday. It is said that other discharges will follow, and that economy in the expenditure of the balance of money, which is small, is the cause of the retrenchment.

This evening the May-flower party comes off at the Portsmouth skating rink. This will be the last special occasion at the rink this season, as the season closes on Saturday evening.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Eastern railroad in New Hampshore will be held at the passenger station of the Eastern railroad in this city on Tuesday, May 5th, at 10:30 o'clock A. M., to elect a board of directors and transact any other business that may legally come before them.

On the clearing up of the weather, Saturday night, ice formed on shallow waters, and the roads were slightly stiffened on Sunday morning.

The clergyman who was engaged to officiate at St. John's church on Sunday in place of the rector, who is absent on a vacation, failing to appear, the morning service was read very acceptably by Mr. Arthur H. Locke, lay reader.

A Washington despatch of May 2d says: "Hon. Frank Jones, accompanied by Hon. Henry O. Kent, Hon. J. C. Moore, Hon. Marcellus Eldredge and A. W. Sulloway called on the president today."

The Times reports that the Harrat house, corner of State and Chapel streets, was bought on Saturday by Mr. Charles H. Mendum for $1850.

A game of base ball was played on Noble's island Saturday afternoon between the Fearnaught and Piscataqua clubs, and was won by the latter by a score of thirteen to nine. There was no run made on either side until the 6th inning.

At the brokers' board in Boston, Saturday, 218 shares of Eastern railroad stock sold at 51 5-8 and 51 3-4; twenty-nine shares in the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway road sold at $43 per share; at auction Portsmouth & Dover railroad stock brought 112 3-4 and 113, and Portland, Saco & Portsmouth 119 3-4. New Hampshire state 6s of 1898 brought 125 1-4.

A tramp who was on Friday let out of jail, where he had served a term for drunkenness, on Saturday forenoon got drunk, went to Mr. Wm. W. Dennett's house on School street, walked in, and insolently demanded food; as there were only women at home he got it, and then went away. Later in the day the police picked him up, drunk, and locked him up; and along in the evening, when he got sober, turned him out and warned him to leave. Instead of leaving he went back to Mr. Dennett's, and again gave some cheek; but this time he hit a snag. Mr. Michael Crowley, who is a brother of Mrs. Dennett, and boards there, was at home at the time, and for a few minutes there was some lively exercise, at the end of which time the bummer was taken in charge and again locked up, his face looking as though he had been trying to stop a freight train with it. He won't go to that house again with his insolence, for some time.

The life-saving station at Rye beach closed at midnight on Thursday night of last week, in common with the other stations along the coast excepting a few on the Jersey shore, which will not close until June.

Samuel Adams, Esq., and wife, will start this morning for Minneapolis, Minnesota, on a visit of several months to their son, Mr. Joseph E. Adams, and his family. Mrs. Plumer D. Norton accompanies them as far Chicago, on her way to Ellendale, Dakota, to join her husband, who is in business there.

Mr. Andrew R. Wentworth of Kittery, Me., has been commissioned an assistant surgeon in the navy from April 22d, 1885. On the 30th, Asst. Surgeon Wentworth was ordered to the receiving-ship St. Louis, at League island, Penn.

A large force of men and teams started from North Conway for Pinkham notch, last Friday, to commence work Monday on the Glen road to the Half-Way House turnpike, shortening the distance to the summit of Mt. Washington seven miles in the round trip. The road is to be completed July 5th, and will be built by a stock company.

The supreme court reappointed Jewett Connor of Exeter, John W. Parker of Goffstown, Edwin W. Drew of Stewartstown, Charles A. Dale of Lebanon, and John W. Hill of Concord members of the state board of equalization, and they have been commissioned as such by Governor Hale for two years. The board meets for organization May 5th.

HE FELL IN THE STREETS

KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Cures a Terrible Case of Gravel When Other Help Failed.

What is Gravel? what causes it, and who are most liable to it? It is frequently attended with acute pain, and unless relief can be found, produces inflammation and death. Both sexes and all ages are liable to it, although men who have reached or passed middle age are its most common victims. Nothing is more urgently needed than a reliable medicine for Gravel, as the disease seems on the increase, and we are glad to say that such a medicine is now brought before public in the form of DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY, of Rondout, N. Y. We put in a strong statement of the following letter, selected from many similar communications:

PITTSFIELD, MASS., March, 1884.

Dr. David Kennedy:

DEAR SIR.—You have a right to know, and I desire the public to know my experience with Gravel and my remarkable recovery through the use of your "FAVORITE REMEDY." I am a carpenter living in this place, and there are many of witnesses to the truth of what I say. My first symptom was a slight attack of Gravel while in the year 1878. It passed away, and I felt little more trouble until last July, 1883. One day when at work in my shop I was suddenly seized with a keen and terrible pain in my left side. I consulted two physicians at once. One said: "I can do nothing for you. Your case is incurable!" I was frightened and went to the second, who said little, but gave me a prescription. It did no good.

Then came a series of experiences the agony and horror of which words cannot depict. Think of it! I was sometimes taken in the streets, and would fall, writhing with agony, upon the sidewalk. It was death in life. Thank Heaven, I then heard of "KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY," through Mr. P. E. Cooley. I had not used half a bottle when I passed three stones in succession, one of which was one-half an inch long. I persevered with the medicine, the symptoms gradually abated, and I have had no more trouble since. I feel well, thanks to you and "FAVORITE REMEDY." Yours most gratefully,

JAMES D. KENNEDY.

What "FAVORITE REMEDY" did in this case it has done in many others. If you desire to do so Address—Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex failing friend—a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. $1 bottle, 6 for $5, by all druggists.

Health and Happiness.

How? DO AS OTHERS HAVE DONE.

Are your Kidneys disordered?

"Kidney-Wort brought me from my grave, as it were, after I had given up by 10 best doctors." Jos. Decrow, Mechanic, Ionia, Mich.

Are your nerves weak?

"Kidney-Wort cured me from nervous weakness &c., after I was expected to live." Mrs. M. M. D. Goodwin, Ed. Christian Monitor, Cleveland, O.

Have you Bright's Disease?

"Kidney-Wort cured me when my water was just like chalk and then like blood." Frank Wilson, Peabody, Mass.

Suffering from Diabetes?

"Kidney-Wort is the most successful remedy I have ever used. Gives almost immediate relief." Dr. Phillip C. Dalloy, Monkton, Vt.

Have you Liver Complaint?

"Kidney-Wort cured me of chronic Liver Disease after I expected to die." Henry Winkler, late Col. 68th Nat. Guard, N. Y.

Is your Back lame and aching?

"Kidney-Wort, it boldly cured me when I was so lame I had to roll out of bed." O. M. Talmage, Milwaukee, Wis.

Have you Kidney Disease?

"Kidney-Wort made me sound in liver and kidneys after years of unsuccessful doctoring. Its worth $10 a box." J. Rodgers, Williamsburg, West Va.

Are you Constipated?

"Kidney-Wort causes easy evacuations and cured me after 15 years use of other medicines." Nelson Fairchild, St. Albans, Vt.

Have you Malaria?

"Kidney-Wort has done better than any other remedy I have ever used in my practice." Dr. R. E. Clark, South Hero, Vt.

Are you Bilious?

"Kidney-Wort has done me more good than any other remedy I have ever taken." Mrs. J. F. Galloway, Elk Flat, Oregon.

Are you tormented with Piles?

Kidney-Wort permanently cured me of bleeding piles. Its worth is incalculable. I to me." Geo. H. Horst, Cashier M. Bank, Myerstown, Pa.

Are you Rheumatism racked?

"Kidney-Wort cured me after I was given up to die by physicians. I had suffered thirty years." Ebridge Malcolm, West Bath, Maine.

Ladies, are you suffering?

"Kidney-Wort cured me of peculiar troubles of several years standing. Many friends use and praise it." Mrs. R. Lamoreaux, Isle La Motte, Vt.

OUT OF TOWN WORK A SPECIALTY.

Two Dangerous Seasons.

Spring and fall are times when so many people get sick. The changes in the weather are severe on feeble persons, and even those naturally strong are apt, as they say, "to be feeling miserable." Then they are just in condition to be struck down with some kind of fever. A bottle or two of Parker's Tonic will invigorate the digestion, put the liver, kidneys and blood in perfect order, and prevent more serious attacks. Why suffer, and perhaps die, when so simple a medicine will save you? Good for both sexes and all ages.

The body of an unknown man, much decomposed, was found in a trunk at the Union depot in Pittsburg, Pa., May 1st. The body appeared from the clothing to be that of a laboring man about thirty years old, was bent nearly double, and around the neck, arms and legs was a cord that cut deeply into the flesh. The trunk was from Chicago, over the Pittsburg & Fort Wayne railroad.

Rev. J. W. Macomber, Kensico, N. Y. writes:—About twenty years ago I was laid aside for nearly eight weeks with a severe cold and congestion of the lungs, and was nearly discouraged, when I providentially came across Dr. Seth Arnold's Cough killer. In a short time I found myself completely cured. Since that time I have used it with universal success in my family."

The British government has purchasen three very fast ocean steamers to keep the British coaling stations supplied. The admiralty has sent orders to the naval yards to prepare for the transportation of several thousand troops, and has chartered the steamers Vancouver, Oregon, Dacca, City of Oxford, Devonia, Bolivia, Egypt, Erin and Egyptian Monarch, each of which is capable of carrying 1000 troops. The government will also charter other steamers. The armed turret ships Rupert and Devastation have been put in commission for active service.

EAST AUBURN, ME.

"Adamson's Botanic Balsam is truly a specific. My lungs and throat were in an inflamed and almost congested condition, from which I have been cured by the use of Adamson's Balsam." Price ten cents, 35 cents and 75 cents.

Russian agents have again appeared at Newcastle, England, seeking to buy coal for the Russian navy.

I can safely recommend Ely's Cream Balm for the cure of catarrh, cold in the head, etc. Before I have used the first bottle I purchased I find myself cured. At times I could scarcely smell anything and had a headache most of the time—. Henry Lilly, Agent for the American Express Co., Grand Haven, Mich. Price fifty cents.

Ely's Cream Balm cured me of catarrh of many years standing — restored my sense of smell. For colds in the head it works like magic.—E. H. Sherwood, National State band, Elizabeth, N. J. Easy to use. See adv.

The hotel proprietors of Maine met in Augusta, April 29th, and organized a State Association, with M. S. Gibson of Portland as president. The purpose of the association is to secure the enactment of more favorable laws for hotel keepers. The meeting adjourned to meet at Bath the first Friday in June.

Those sharp pains in the small of the back and around the hips will quickly go after you apply a Hop Plaster. Ladies, pay attention to this. 25c.

Dr. Johnson of Providence, R. I., who had $2000 damages against him for seduction awarded to Miss Annie Redgewell by the court a week ago, was on Thursday last remanded to jail. He is well off, having considerable money, but he would not pay the damages, and Miss Redgewell will have to pay his board.

"Gentle Spring."

Among spring preparations, do not neglect that which is most important of all —your own body. During the winter the blood absorbs many impurities, which, if not expelled, are liable to break out in scrofula or other disease. The best spring medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It expels every impurity from the blood, and gives strength to every function of the body. Sold by all druggists.

WATERTOWN AND BRIGHTON STOCK MARKET.

Week ending Tuesday, April 28th.

The arrivals of cattle this week at Watertown were all northern. The market was somewhat inactive, and sales were confined in most instances to small lots, and rather more favorable to the buying interest. The offerings were all for butchers excepting what were sold for store purposes. Buyers were of the opinion that they were paying, considering the quality, as much as last week, while the sellers were positive of a slight decline.

Milch Cows—Moderate demand and prices steady, as to quality $25 @ $75.

The Sheep trade underwent no perceptible change in the market from the ruling rates of last week, with nearly 3000 head on sale. Butchers telegraphed into the country for the drovers to haul-in light this week, as but a light run was required. Spring lambs are still offered, some of which are very good while others are quite slim; they ranged from $6 @ $9 ⅋ head; some of the best would weigh from 70 @ 80 lbs each.

Fat Hogs—Prices remain unchanged both on western live and northern dressed.

Veal Calves—Supply heavy and rates 2¼ @ 5½c. Live Poultry—1000 lbs of mixed lots at 15c.

(The Oldest Newspaper in the United States, established Oct. 7th, 1756,)

Is published every Thursday at the same office. Terms, $1.50 per year; $2.00 per year if not paid in advance.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and it is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires at their native city, and it

CONTAINS MORE ORIGINAL MATTER THAN ANY OTHER PAPER OF ITS SIZE IN THE STATE, THE EDITORS WORKING MORE WITH THEIR PENS THAN WITH THEIR SCISSORS.

ADVERTISEMENTS inserted on reasonable terms, in either or both papers. The GAZETTE, having a large country circulation in its local circulation, is an excellent medium of advertising. A liberal reduction made when advertisements appear in both papers.

JOB OFFICE.

THE JOB PRINTING business is conducted in the same office by MR. RICHARD L. WALDEN, who keeps on hand a large and well-selected stock of all materials required in his line. Give him a trial and you will be more than pleased.

Mr. J. H. Bates, Newspaper Advertising Agent, 41 Park Row (Times Building,) New York, is authorized to contract for Advertisements in the Chronicle and Gazette, at our best rates.

GENTLEMEN, ask your dealer for these shoes and you will get a pair equal to any $5 or $6 shoes in the market. In Button, Congress and Lace, broad and narrow toe, best of material, perfectly finished, every pair guaranteed. The $3.50 SHOES for BOYS are same styles and material, warranted the best school or working shoe in the market for the price. If your dealer does not keep them take no other, but send address on postal card for full directions for measurement and how to obtain them. See that my name and warranted is stamped on bottom of each shoe. PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby St., Boston.

Secures Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1846, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

BOSTON, January 1, 1885. eodly

Suit has been entered in the city circuit court at Baltimore, Md., by Mrs. Mary Alice Belt, for a divorce a mensa et thoro from her husband, Eugene N. Belt. The parties met at Mt. Desert, Me., last summer, Mrs. Godfrey then being a young widow from New York, and in October they were married and returned to Baltimore, and had a reception which was attended by the most fashionable people of Baltimore. In January Mr. and Mrs. Belt went to New Orleans on a visit, and for some reason he returned to Baltimore without informing his wife. She followed, but their relations have since been such that she now asks for a divorce on the ground of cruelty and abandonment. The standing of the defendant, who is of an old Maryland family and a prominent merchant of Baltimore, will invest the suit with more than ordinary interest.

Purify your blood, tone up the system, and regulate the digestive organs by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists.

The general manager of the Pennsylvania railroad company has issued a circular to the employes of all the lines of the company, giving sanitary directions to be followed during the approaching season, with a view of combating the approach of cholera. Disinfectants will be supplied by the company.

Commence the Year Aright.

Don't make too many resolutions, but hold on like grim death to those you do make. If your physical system is out of order you should attend to that at once; for its no use trying to keep a stiff upper lip when your kidneys or liver are taking the courage out of you. If you have really made up your mind to turn over a new leaf, commence the year by taking a thorough course of the celebrated Kidney-Wort. Thousands of people testify to its good effects for kidney diseases, biliousness, piles, constipation, etc.

An immense ledge of white metal has been discovered in Antelope valley, Mono county, Cal., the nature of which puzzles all mining experts to whom specimens have been submitted. The metal is fusible at first, but after the first time it yields to nothing except a mixture of acids. A pound of rock yields half a pound of the metal, and there are millions of tons in the plant. It contains platinum.

Friend of Woman.

This title is often applied to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., by happy wives and mothers who have been cured of distressing disorders and relieved of pain and suffering by Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. L. H——, of Strother, S. C., says in a recent letter: "Your medicine has done me so much good that I don't think I can stop taking it until I am entirely well. I owe all my good feelings to you. The doctor can't get any credit for curing me, it is your medicine that has done me more good than anything I have ever taken." A dressmaker in Findlay, O., says: "I have derived so great a benefit from the use of your Vegetable Compound that I recommend it in the strongest terms, with the utmost confidence and am sure it will cure the most stubborn cases. I consider it very much better than any other preparation made for all female complaints."

—The Lawrence American says that "a counterfeit quarter of a dollar is in circulation in Lawrence." The Lowell Courier trusts that one counterfeit quarter will not cause a financial panic in "our sister city."

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS

In order to enrich the blood, and thus impart fresh vigor to an enfeebled system, stimulate flagging digestion with the national invigorant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which, by infusing energy into the operations of the stomach, promotes, say, insures thorough digestion and assimilation, and consequent nutrition. A gain to appetite, vigor and flesh, is invariably found to follow a course of this deservedly popular tonic which is, moreover, a reliable preventive of malarial fevers. For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

An Interesting treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases will be mailed free to any one who will send their address to the Swift Specific Co., Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga.

VANDERBILT'S MILLIONS!

Could not buy from me what Swift's Specific has done for me. It cured me of Scrofula in its worst form, after I had suffered with it for long years, and had tried all the remedies, only to break down my health and make me almost helpless. MRS. ELIZABETH BAKER, No. 2, Acworth, Ga., July 15, 1884.

INOCULATED POISON!

Some eight years ago I became the victim of a fearful blood poison, communicated by a nurse to my infant, and thence through the breast, and suffered for six long years. The Mercury and Potash treatment seemed to drive the poison further into my system only to break out in worse form on other portions of my body. Three months ago I began taking Swift's Specific, and it has cured me sound and well. It is the greatest blessing which has come to mankind in years.

The New Hampshire Senators.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Traveller, in an article on the work of the members of the United States senate, thus refers to the New Hampshire senators:

Senator Blair of New Hampshire occupied 241 pages in the Congressional Record. He was not a voluminous debater upon the forty-four subjects which were brought before the senate, but he did a wonderful amount of committee work besides. From the committee on education and labor, of which he is chairman, he made ten reports, most of them upon very important subjects. His pension reports comprised no less than 139. Among the notable speeches which he made were "Bureau of Labor Statistics," twenty-three pages; "Common Schools," eighty-seven pages; "Foreign Contract Labor," thirty-two pages; "Mexican War Pensions," twenty-one pages, and "Texas Pacific Land-Grant," eight pages. All things considered Senator Blair proved himself the hardest worker of any of his associates.

Senator Pike of New Hampshire did not occupy much of the time of the senate or space in the Congressional Record, during the 48th Congress. In his two years of senatorial experience he has spoken on nine different subjects, and occupied as many pages in the Record. He has made forty-seven reports, twenty-eight of which were claims, and the remaining nineteen matters concerning the District of Columbia.

Mr. Cleveland has been "going slow." But he intends to "go slower." He is reported as saying: "When I assumed the duties of this office I resolved to go slow in making changes, believing that if any mistakes were made they would naturally result from hasty and inconsiderate action. From certain recent occurrences I am more than ever of the opinion that my original determination was right. In the future I intend to go even slower than ever." What Mr. Cleveland doesn't seem to realize, is that it makes little difference whether he goes fast or slow, since, with his lack of knowledge of public men, he is obliged to depend entirely upon the judgment of others. If those in whom he places reliance are interested in deceiving him, it will be done although he makes but one appointment a month.—New York Tribune.

If Mr. Cleveland slows down in the matter of presidential appointments, doubtless Messrs. Manning & Higgins will be sufficiently fired up to make up the good time for which the democrats have so long waited, and the changes will come fast enough perhaps to suit some of the expectant seekers for place.

A Panama despatch of May 3d says: "Gens. Aizpurn and Sandoval, and Drs. Vallarino and Coroilles have been taken prisoners by Gen. Reyes, commander of the national forces, and confined in the parliament house. Many other prisoners have been placed in the common prison. Gen. Aizpurn was imprisoned for not having delivered the full quantity of arms. All was quiet last night, although much firing was heard in the outskirts of the city the night before."

A boiler exploded in the Tremont hotel at Galveston, Texas, May 3d, nearly demolishing the hotel, a large brick structure five stories high, instantly killing four persons and wounding many others, some of them fatally.

At Lunenburg, Mass., May 2d, John McCool, a Nova Scotia man and farm laborer, while drunk went to the house of Edwin C. Goodrich's father, who is eighty years old. Goodrich, who was in the barn, was informed by his little son of what was taking place in the house, and running in got his old cavalry sabre. McCool attacked him and knocked him down, but Goodrich got on his feet, and taking his sabre by the blade with both hands, broke the ruffian's head with a blow of the hilt, killing him instantly. Goodrich gave himself up, and was held in $5000 to answer, bail being easily obtained.

By a fire in a New York tenement house, about one o'clock in the morning on May 3d, eight persons were suffocated, or killed by jumping from windows; fourteen others were partly suffocated, but were got out alive, though some of them will die; and others were badly injured by jumping from the windows, or by the fire. The fire, which caught in the rear of a liquor shop in the basement, did little harm to the property.

A despatch of May 3d from Bangor, Me., says: "Fifteen inches of snow fell yesterday in Dixmont, twenty miles southwest of this city, delaying the stage due last night till to-night. Drifts over four feet deep were shovelled through to enable the stage to proceed. Thirteen inches fell at Dexter, and ten inches in Bangor."

James R. Osgood & Co., publishers, of Boston, and the Boston Heliotype Co., have failed, and assigned to Robert M. Morse, Jr. Messrs. Osgood & Co.'s liabilities are placed at $150,000.

Langdon park is very fine appearing now; most of the trees set out there some years ago have lived and continue to grow, and now is the proper time to fill the vacancies, if any person so desires. While the park is very pleasant from its landscape and its waterscape, it is to be regretted that the adjacent vacant lands cannot be added to it, with their varied and pleasing surroundings. Years hence the dwellers in Portsmouth will wonder why this was not done. V.

A short ride, Saturday, up the road leading to the site of the old Piscataqua bridge, shew that the ground and springs in that region must be full of water, as at many places the stone walls on each side were nearly submerged, the water standing nearly on the road level.

Fourteen men and one female cook from Canada, in charge of Mr. Adolph Enau, foreman of Mr. J. P. Norton's brickyard on York river, arrived at the White Hart hotel in this city at one o'clock Saturday morning, and teams were immediately procured here for their transportation to York. They came from Quebec, arriving via the Concord railroad. They will be employed on Mr. Norton's farm, in the brickyard, and in assisting to build the new road, a mile and three-quarters long, from York harbor to Long beach, contracted to be built by Dr. J. C. Stewart of York and Mr. Norton, for $2200, and to be finished by July 1st. Sixty persons in all have been engaged to come from Canada at once, and a second detachment is expected to arrive on Tuesday night. The men generally announce their intention of remaining in the states, and becoming citizens.

A building twenty-four feet square, with a bowling alley seventy-four feet long and thirteen feet wide extending from one side, the entire structure being two stories high, it is to be put up at Fox point, Newington, the summer residence of Dr. Francis F. Langdon, by Anderson & Junkins of this city.

Mr. J. P. Norton of York arrived home from Canada on Friday evening of last week. While driving home from this city, when near the residence of Granville Spinney of Kittery, not far from the railroad station, his horse shied, and a bundle consisting of a nice suit of clothes and a great coat, done up in a shawl-strap, was thrown out of the wagon unknown to Mr. Norton. Shortly before midnight, Friday night, a young man returning to his home near Portsmouth bridge from a lodge meeting at North Kittery, saw a bundle lying in the road near Mr. Spinney's, but in the darkness supposing it to be the outfit of some tramp, which he had no desire to handle, he passed by on the other side. Mr. Norton had a man in Kittery on Saturday, endeavoring to hunt up the lost bundle.

March April May

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N.Y.

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

MONDAY, May 4th.

George E. Brackett, of Greenland, a minor, was arraigned for shooting an insectiverous bird on the 23d of April. The boy pleaded nolo contendere and was fined five dollars and costs, which was paid.

William Quinn, for an assault, was fined $2 and costs, from which judgment he appealed. This case was the result of Quinn's connection with an attempt to take a horse away from a young man who was brutally driving it about the city Sunday afternoon. The judge sustained Mr. Quinn in his endeavors to save the horse from the cruel driver, but held that he adopted a too rigid course in so doing; hence the fine.

Abbott Drew, a tramp, was arraigned for the larceny of a coat from Fred Towle, a barber. He pleaded guilty, and was bound over in the sum of $300 to appear at the October term of court to be holden in this city. He was committed to jail.

Joseph Marden, the tramp who was begging at the house of Mr. Dennett on School street, Saturday, plead guilty to the charge of being a tramp, and was bound over in the sum of $200 to appear at the October term of court. He was committed to jail.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Monday morning, about half-past seven o'clock, as a gang of stevedores were making ready to go to work to discharge the schooner John J. Hanson, lying on the southern side of Concord railroad wharf, the staging over the main hatch slipped off from the brow of the wharf, allowing one end to fall to the deck of the schooner. There were two men on the stage when it fell—Charles Cram and Thomas Russell. The latter succeed in gaining the brow, but Cram, who was on the extreme end, could not do so, and fell to the deck of the vessel, a distance of some 15 feet. The man struck his back just below the shoulders, on the top of the bitt, breaking his back and causing death almost instantly. The accident was caused by carelessness, undoubtedly, for the vessel was lying six or eight feet from the wharf and swinging a little in the tide. The stage is one intended to be used only when the vessel lays close to the wharf, and is sufficiently long when used in that way. The men were told by Mr. Locke that they had better not attempt to do anything until the vessel swung in, but they were anxious to get to work, and took the risk with the above result.

Dr. Whittier, the coroner, made an examination and found that the shoulder bone was fearfully crushed, and several of the vertebra broken into many pieces, while the spinal cord was broken off short.

OFFICIAL.

The ancient democrats in the back towns of the state, who have failed to see why Frank Jones was allowed to run things in disposing of government patronage, instead of the men who had always taken charge in these matters, will learn that the visit to Washington of Mr. Jones and his friend Sulloway last week cooked the goose for Col. George, and that Henry O. Kent will be naval officer at Boston after the adjournment of the legislature, provided nothing unforseen turns up.

In relation to Mr. Putney's place as collector of internal revenue, the change of which seemed to interest Dr. Moore of the Union, Mr. Jones told the president he was in no haste, as Mayor Page had a little matter concerning the mill-pond which he wished to accomplish before going out of his office of mayor. It is understood that when the mill-pond nuisance has been thoroughly abated, the mayor will resign his office, and Alderman Eldredge will be chosen his successor, while the mayor will give his time to the interest of the government in collecting revenues of the brewers, distillers and liquor sellers, provided Mr. Randall by that time does not succeed in repealing the laws which afford the means of so much income to the government and thus reduce the emoluments of the office to a mere nominal sum.

Mr. Page appears to have no competitor for the office, the only man mentioned in connection therewith having been Col. Thomas Coggswell of Gilmanton, recently considered an available man for the democrats to run for governor, and who it is said declined to go in for the collectorship when he was informed that the tax-payers had nominated Judge Page.

SUPREME COURT--SMITH J.

On Monday, 4th inst., Wm. A. Gilpatrick was to have been sentenced on his plea of guilty of aggravated assault on the Tanner boy, but at the request of the boy's guardian, Solicitor Eastman asked for a new trial on the cruelty indictment. This was opposed by Hatch and Page, Gilpatrick's counsel, and the matter was continued until Attorney General Tappan can be conferred with.

MARITIME NOTES.

The British schooner Thrasher, Haley master, was hauled off the rocks near the entrance of the harbor on Monday afternoon at two o'clock by the tug Clara Batemen, and beached in Pepperell's cove, Kittery Point.

The brick schooners Hattie Lewis, Lillie, Triton and J. Chester Wood, from Boston, light, arrived on Monday, and proceeded up river to load.

The schooner Flying Dart, bound for the banks on a salt-fishing trip, carries the following crew: Ed. Jameson, captain; Joseph Fernald, mate; John Pruitt, steward; Joseph Jameson 1st, Joseph Jameson 2d, William Mills, Daniel Falvey, John Simmons, James Willey, James Carter, Will Hutchins and William Matthews. They mostly belong in Portsmouth. The Flying Dart sailed Monday for the banks.

The fishing schooner Wide Awake, owned at Peacedale, R. I., is reported to be ashore on the beach at Ogunquit, Wells, Me. She is owned by Thomas Lynch, and is insured to the amount of $1200 in the Boston Ins. Co., with $500 in addition on her outfit.

Mr. A. C. Fernald sailed from here for Gloucester, Mass., the first of last week, in the schooner Grace Choate, taking with him eight casks of spawn and other "crawm," the firm of Fernald & Co. having finished their fish buying operations here, for this season. A few weeks ago the firm shipped to Gloucester six barrels of spawn and forty-three barrels of cod-livers. The spawn is packed in barrels netting 250 lbs. each, and most of it is shipped by steamer from Boston to the Mediterranean, where it is thrown out for bait in the sardine fisheries.

A bill introduced in the Newfoundland legislature, prohibiting the exportation and sale of bait to American and French fishermen, to take effect when the Washington treaty terminates in July, was withdrawn May 2d without a dissenting voice.

The May party at Franklin hall this evening will wind up the dancing parties for this season. Eastman orchestra will give a concert before the grand march is called on, and furnish music for dancing. The party is under experienced management, and the indications are of a grand success.

Samuel Dodge, Esq., who has been very ill—dangerously so for some days—from the results of an accident, is reported to be convalescent. Mr. Dodge has had a tough time of it, and had he not been tough himself could hardly have pulled through. We shall be glad to see him on the street once more.

Howe Call, Esq., has consented to deliver the Memorial address for Storer Post, G. A. R., in Music hall on the evening of May 30th. We have no doubt that Mr. Call will do justice to his theme, and consider the selection of a local orator a very sensible proceeding.

Miss Florence P. Whidden has added fresh laurels to the fame she acquired here as a brilliant pianist, by the admirable manner in which she acquitted herself at a concert given by Prof. Orth in the Meionean at Boston on Friday evening, May 1st. The papers give her high praise.

The north millpond was skimmed with ice on Monday morning, on the shallow waters along shore and in the coves, and in some places nearly out to the channel. Vegetation is probably not sufficiently advanced to suffer from a cold night unless there is a frost with it. The thermometer was down to six degrees below the freezing point at the Chronicle office at four o'clock in the morning, and was at ten below the freezing point in several localities shortly before sunrise.

Mr. Alexander Hubley has returned to this city to reside, after an absence of twenty-seven years. He has been engaged in sinking shafts for mining operations in the British provinces, where recently he had a special license for the use of dynamite. When he went away he took with him his two-years-old boy, who returns a man of twenty-nine. When the first republican victory occurred Mr. Hubley vowed he would never come back until the advent of another democratic administration, and he didn't; but he is very glad to get back to the old city at last.

Mr. Henry Carr of Milwaukee, Wis., who has been paying a visit of a few days to his parents, James M. Carr, Esq., and wife, of this city, left for Milwaukee on Monday morning.

Van Amburgh, Charles Reiche & Brother's New Railroad Shows, American & Japanese Circus, Aquarium, Museum & Menagerie, will exhibit in this city on Saturday, May 30th.

A general order of Manager Furber of the Boston & Maine railroad directs conductors on all divisions of the B. & M. to honor stockholders' certificates of the Eastern railroad in New Hampshire for passage to Portsmouth on the morning trains to-day, and from here on any afternoon trains of to-day, only.

York District Lodge, I. O. G. T., the largest division in New England, will convene at South Berwick on Wednesday, the 20th inst. It is expected that fully 500 Good Templars will be present to take part in the proceedings.

The jury disagreed in the case of State vs. Gilpatrick, in which he was charged with excessive cruelty to the Tanner boy. So it appears that there are some men in Rockingham county, who are regarded as fit to sit as jurymen, who think it is not excessively cruel for a man to keep an eight-years-old boy up till midnight, pinch his ears, and beat him on his bare body with the breeching strap of a harness, because he could not spell and pronounce the word "does" properly! Such a man on a jury is an abomination.—Dover Republican.

KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Cures a Terrible Case of Gravel When Other Help Failed.

What is Gravel? what causes it, and who are most liable to it? It is frequently attended with acute pain, and unless relief can be found, produces inflammation and death. Both sexes and all ages are liable to it, although men who have reached or passed middle age are its most common victims. Nothing is more urgently needed than a reliable medicine for Gravel, as the disease seems on the increase, and we are glad to say that such a specific is now before the public in the form of DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY, of Rondout, N. Y. We put in evidence the following letter, selected from many similar communications:

PITTSFIELD, MASS., March, 1884.

Dr. David Kennedy:

DEAR SIR:—You have a right to know, and I desire the public to know my experience with Gravel and my remarkable recovery through the use of your "FAVORITE REMEDY." I am a carpenter living in this place, and there are plenty of witnesses to the truth of what I say. My first unmistakable attack of Gravel was in the year 1878. It passed away, and I had little more trouble until last July, 1883. One day when at work in my shop I was suddenly seized with a keen and terrible pain in my left side. I consulted two physicians at once. One said: "I can do nothing for you. Your case is incurable!" I was frightened and went to the second, who said little, but gave me a prescription. It did no good.

Then began a series of experiences the agony and horror of which words cannot depict. Think of it! I was sometimes taken in the streets, and would fall, writhing with agony, upon the sidewalk. It was death in life. Thank Heaven, I then heard of "KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY," through Mr. P. P. Cooley. I had not used half a bottle when I passed three stones in succession, one of which was one-half an inch long. I persevered with the medicine, the symptoms gradually abated, and I have had no more trouble since. I am well, thanks to you and FAVORITE REMEDY." Yours most gratefully,

JAMES D. KENNEDY.

What "FAVORITE REMEDY" did in this case it has done in many others. If you desire to do so Address—Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

FAVORITE REMEDY

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It depels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from derangement of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex Favorite Remedy is recommended as a most unfailing friend—a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. $1 bottle, 6 for $5, by all druggists.

OUT OF TOWN WORK A SPECIALTY.

Mr. Charles Carleton Coffin affirms that the "pupils in the high school [of Boston] go habitually to saloons to obtain drink;" just what kind of saloon, or what kind of drink is obtained, is not stated. If it is to get spring water in place of the miserable stuff that flows through the water pipes the students bid fair to last much longer for the effort. Some of the boys it is said buy liquor at these places, but they are perhaps the sons of that race whose parents keep it in stock and represent that element which has become the ruling power in that city which Mr. Amos A. Lawrence tells us is so much worse than Sodom.

The Root of the Evil.

To thoroughly cure scrofula it is necessary to strike directly at the root of the evil. This is exactly what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, by acting upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing it of all impurities, and leaving not even a taint of scrofula in the vital fluid. Thousands who have been cured of scrofula by Hood's Sarsaparilla, testify to its wonderful blood-purifying qualities. Sold by all druggists.

Out of 523 Chicago gas meters tested by an expert, 518 registered too fast, and the gas company knew it.

Rev. J. W. Macomber, Kensico, N. Y. writes:—About twenty years ago I was laid aside for nearly eight weeks with a severe cold and congestion of the lungs, and was nearly discouraged, when I providentially came across Dr. Seth Arnold's Cough Killer. In a short time I found myself completely cured. Since that time I have used it with universal success in my family."

The British board of trade have awarded a binocular glass to Capt. A. S. Crowley, master of the American schooner Sarah Eaton of Calais, Me., in acknowledgement of his humanity and kindness to the shipwrecked crew of the British bark Kenilworth of Liverpool, which was abandoned at sea on March 2d.

Two Years Ago!

I was a sight to behold and was unable to enjoy life at all. Now I am the picture of health and can eat anything. What did it? Sulphur Bitters cured me of dyspepsia and liver complaint, after suffering two years.—W. H. Bowman, Manchester, N. H.

—Mrs. DeLancey—"Why, my dear, what are you doing in that small closet?" Mr. DeLancey—"Well, you know, we expect to summer at the seashore, and I thought if I stayed in here three hours every day for the next two months I might be able to enjoy the accommodations we shall get at the hotel, don't you see?"

I can safely recommend Ely's Cream Balm for the cure of catarrh, cold in the head, etc. Before I have used the first bottle I purchased I find myself cured. At times I could scarcely smell anything and had a headache most of the time.—Henry Lilly, Agent for the American Express Co., Grand Haven, Mich. Price fifty cents.

Ely's Cream Balm cured me of catarrh of many years standing — restored my sense of smell. For colds in the head it works like magic.—E. H. Sherwood, National State band, Elizabeth, N. J. Easy to use. See adv.

—Jinks—"I don't believe I will be home before 11 o'clock to-night, my dear. You see it's initiation night at our lodge." Mrs. Jinks—"You expect to be home before twelve then, I suppose?" "Oh, yes; about eleven or half-past." "Well, in that case you will be awake, and I won't need the key." "The key?" "No. The mosquo ball closes about midnight." Jinks didn't go.

M. L. Blair, Alderman 5th Ward, Scranton, Pa., stated Nov. 9, '83: He had used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for sprains, burns, cuts, bruises and rheumatism. Cured every time.

—Two rival country editors, while at a political meeting, were importuning an old farmer to take their papers. "Gentlemen, I don't want both," said he. "Well, take mine," replied one of the editors; "mine has twice as much original matter as his." "That so? Well, I b'lieve I'll take his. I always want the best."

The arrivals of cattle this week at Watertown were all northern. The market was somewhat inactive, and sales were confined in most instances to small lots, and rather more favorable to the buying interest. The offerings were all for butchers excepting what were sold for store purposes. Buyers were of the opinion that they were paying, considering the quality, as much as last week, while the owners were positive of a slight decline.

Milch Cows—Moderate demand and prices steady; as to quality $25 @ $75.

The Sheep Trade—Not any perceptible change in the market from the ruling rates of last week, with nearly 3000 head on sale. Butchers telegraphed into the market for the drovers to handle light this week, as but a light run was required. Spring lambs are still offered, some of which are very good while others are quite slim; they ranged from $6 @ $9 ⅌ head; some of the best would fetch from 75 @ 80 lbs each.

Fat Hogs—Prices remain unchanged both on western live and northern dressed.

Veal Calves—Supply heavy and rates 2¼ @ 5¼c. Live Poultry—1600 lbs of mixed lots at 13c.

CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1860, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Storm Signals.

As the coming of a great storm is heralded by the display of cautionary signals, so is the approach of that dread and fatal disease, consumption of the lungs, usually announced in advance by pimples, blotches, eruptions, ulcers, glandular swellings, and kindred outward manifestations of the internal blood poison, which, if not promptly expelled from the system, attacks the delicate tissues of the lungs, causing them to ulcerate and break down. Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is the great remedy for this, as for all diseases having their origin in bad blood. It improves the appetite and digestion, increases nutrition and builds up the wasted system.

Three liquor saloons in North Walpole were raided May 2d; the proprietors pleaded guilty, and paid fines and costs amounting to $225.

Pure blood is absolutely necessary in order to enjoy perfect health. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood and strengthens the system.

At Leesburg, Pa., May 2d, Daniel Clever found his wife in company with William Martin, and put five bullets into Martin's body.

Commence the Year Aright.

Don't make too many resolutions, but hold on like grim death to those you do make. If your physical system is out of order you should attend to that at once; for its no use trying to keep a stiff upper lip when your kidneys or liver are taking the courage out of you. If you have really made up your mind to turn over a new leaf, commence the year by taking a thorough course of the celebrated Kidney-Wort. Thousands of people testify to its good effects for kidney diseases, biliousness, piles, constipation, etc.

The salvation army meeting at Providence, R. I., Sunday night, was broken up by a gang of roughs.

Friend of Woman.

This title is often applied to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., by happy wives and mothers who have been cured of distressing disorders and relieved of pain and suffering by Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. L. H——, of Strother, S. C., says in a recent letter: "Your medicine has done me so much good that I don't think I can stop taking it until I am entirely well. I owe all my good feelings to you. The doctor can't get any credit for curing me, it is your medicine that has done me more good than anything I have ever taken." A dressmaker in Findlay, O., says: "I have derived so great a benefit from the use of your Vegetable Compound that I recommend it in the strongest terms, with the utmost confidence and am sure it will cure the most stubborn cases. I consider it very much better than any other preparation made for all female complaints."

At Lowell, Mass., May 3d, Lieut. Simpson of the salvation army was arrested for obstructing the streets while holding a meeting in Market square, and Lieut. Vose was arrested for knocking over a barrier which protected an open sewer.

VANDERBILT'S MILLIONS!

Could not buy from me what Swift's Specific has done for me. It cured me of Scrofula in its worst form, after I had suffered with it fifteen long years, and had tried all the remedies, only to break down my health and make me almost helpless. MRS. ELIZABETH BAKER, No. 2. Acworth, Ga., July 15, 1884.

INOCULATED POISON!

Some eight years ago I became the victim of a fearful Blood Poison, communicated by a nurse to my infant, and thence through the breast, and suffered for six long years. The Mercury and Potash treatment seemed to drive the poison further into my system only to break out in worse form on other portions of my body. Three months ago I began taking Swift's Specific, and it has cured me sound and well. It is the greatest blessing which has come to mankind in years.

Wild Birds in London.

All of us have herd pathetic stories of Australian gold-diggers or Canadian backwoodsmen moved to tears by the song of some imprisoned skylark, which reminded them of their English birthplace. It is to be feared that tears would not be so easily drawn from such emigrants as are of London origin, for he that spends all his days in London, with the exception, perhaps, of a week or so about the month of August, may very likely never have heard a lark sing in his life, unless from a cage, to the accompaniment of cart and carriage wheels. There are, however, still many birds to be heard and seen about the park and gardens of London; where, indeed, those which can find food in such places have, perhaps, a safer and more comfortable life than they can ever lead in the country. Man debarred from the use of nets or guns is not very dangerous to creatures possessed of wings, and he drives away such four-footed enemies as stoats and weasels, while birds of prey, hawks, and magpies, avoid his presence, even in towns where it would be harmless.

Yet only one small bird, the sparrow, has deliberately chosen London for a dwelling-place. The pigeons which flutter about Westminster abbey and the British museum can not be considered wild birds any more than ducks on our ornamental waters. They receive much of their food at the hands of man, and are descended from ancestors which he imported into their present homes. The moorhens which feed freely on some London waters may possibly have found their own way there. They are not so tame in their behavior as the ducks, with which it is feared that they are often confounded.

The sparrow really has come uninvited, and taken up his abode in London, resigning all innocent country pleasures for an adventurous, and not altogether honest, life in the streets. His sooty presence graces alike Seven Dials and Hyde Park corner: indeed, there is no class of Londoners who is so much at home in every part of London as he. He is the only one of us that dares enter the lion's den. Buns tempt him down into the bear-pit much more quickly than they tempt the bear up. It is perhaps the corrupting influence of a town life which has given to this bold bad bird the evil qualities which transportation has made worse. In Australia the sparrow has gone forth like a bushranger, with the vices of the town upon him, into the country, where he steals grain on a colossal scale and is established as a colossal nuisance.—Cassel's Magazine.

A Swell Reporter.

The Baltimore American has the swell reporter of this country. He is a young man, about 30 years of age. There is not the slightest necessity for his doing any work, as not only is his father a millionaire, but he has a fortune in his own name which yields a large revenue. Nevertheless, this young man is so passionately devoted to journalism that he entered the service of the American as a minor reporter in order to master all the details of the business. He has now been a reporter a good many years, and loves his work as much as ever. He gets a good salary from the paper, but spends twice as much every week. When he goes out on an assignment he uses his own private coupe or hires a cab, and if he does not wish to return to the newspaper office he will telegraph all his matter at his own expense. This journalistic phenomenon travels like a lord. He always stops at the very best hotels, and will take two sections of a sleeping-car when he can get them. As for clothes, he has an infinite variety, and if ever a special correspondent had a suit for every day in the month this enthusiast has one for every day in the year. He cares nothing for the salary, but works hard to make his mark, and is one of the best newspaper men in this country. He says that one of these days he will have a paper of his own which he will devote himself to. Writing is his chief amusement. When he is not writing for his paper he is composing a book, and indulges in the luxury of a stenographer. He occupies a large suite of rooms in the flat, and they are furnished like those of a Prince.—Exchange.

Burdette on "Home."

The song of home grew out of a homeless life, as Milton sang of light when he was blind and Bunyan wrote of the pilgrim's progress when manacled in a prison. There is no place like home. People who live in boarding houses sing it. If the daughter of a Methodist minister remembers the home of her childhood, her memory must be a polyglot. Home is woman's temple. There she is goddess and votary both. She is also usually janitor. A man loves his home because it is a refuge. He also loves it because there he is a great man; there he is governor, or at least he is lieutenant-governor. And anyhow he is certain to be secretary of the treasury. The world forgets us when we pass away, but the home love forgets our vices; exaggerates our virtues, until they outnumber the stars in the heavens, and hands our names down, as long as the estate holds out.

The tower of the new city building, Philadelphia, will, with the exception of the Washington Monument, be the highest structure in the world; but, though the pressure on the foundation is nowhere more than nine tons to the square foot, the settlement of the more heavily laden portion has cracked and broken the polished and sculptured stone in the interior.

Washed-Out Hair.

There is a sort of pallid, chalky complexion which the novelists call a "washed-out complexion." It is ghastly enough, and no mistake. Washed-out, faded, discolored, or parti-colored hair is almost as repulsive and melancholy. Parker's Hair Balsam will restore your hair to its original color, whatever it was; brown, auburn or black. ECZEMA

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Positively Cured.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum, with its agonizing itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly, and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2542 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema or Salt Rheum on head, neck, face, arms, and legs for seventeen years; not able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

F. H. Drake, Esq., Detroit, Mich., suffered untold tortures from Eczema, which appeared on his hands, head and face, and nearly destroyed his eyes. After the most careful doctoring and a consultation of physicians failed to relieve him, he used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and was cured, and has remained so to date.

Mr John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. Three boxes of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Sold by all druggists. Price: CUTICURA, 50 cts.; RESOLVENT, $1; SOAP, 25 cts. POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston, Mass.

COLLINS' VOLTAIC ELECTRIC PLASTERS

Weary sufferer from Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Weak and Sore Lungs, Coughs and Colds, Weak Back, Weak Stomach and Bowels, Dyspepsia, Female Weakness, Shooting Pains through the Loins and Back, try these Plasters. Placed over the pit of the Stomach, they prevent and cure Ague Pains, Bilious Colic, Liver Complaints, and protect the system from a thousand ills. 25c.

BILIOUSNESS.

Bilious symptoms invariably arise from indigestion, such as furred tongue, vomiting of bile, giddiness, sick headache, irregular bowels. The liver secretes the bile and acts like a filter or sieve, to cleanse impurities of the blood. By irregularity in its action or suspensions of its functions, the bile is liable to overflow into the blood, causing jaundice, sallow complexion, yellow eyes, bilious diarrhœa, a languid, weary feeling and many other distressing symptoms. Biliousness may be properly termed an affection of the liver, and can be thoroughly cured by the grand regulator of the liver and biliary organs, BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. Act upon the stomach, bowels and liver, making healthy bile and pure blood, and opens the culverts and sluiceways for the outlet of disease. Sold everywhere and guaranteed to cure.

"Tader Which King, Bereshah?"

There appears to be a very amusing controversy going on between Mr. Patrick A. Collins, an Irish democrat who represents a Boston congressional district, and the Back Bay mugwumps. It seems that when the claims of Mr. Collins to be made secretary of the navy were urged upon Mr. Cleveland, the bolters of the blue blood said, "Nay! He is not of our set." Since then Patrick has opposed the conservative ideas of the independents, and although the Advertiser has hoped and confidently expected better things of him, he has gone in loudly to have all the office holders under the administration at once removed, and genuine dyed-in-the-wool Pillsbury democrats put in their places.

Do the independent papers say that "the objections to Pillsbury are not that he is a democrat, but such a democrat, who in the dark hours of 1863 and '64 did all he could to obstruct Lincoln in his work of directing the Union armies, and that he is a democrat of so unscrupulous a type that he concocted and came near carrying out an infamous conspiracy to overthrow the verdict of the people of Maine in 1879," Collins says: "And that's the kind of democrat we want. We did not go into the fight for fun, but for the offices."

Collins' endorsement of Pillsbury at a recent democratic dinner is considered an unfair move. The independents, who could not control the republican party, seem to fail in the same tactics with the democrats. Prof. Everett may boast that neither party can elect a president save by the aid of the independents, but the Massachusetts democracy, even if they did not help by electoral votes, Mr. Cleveland into his office, regard themselves as abundantly able to fill the offices in their commonwealth, unaided by the advice or interference of the independents, who having carried their point and defeated the naughty Mr. Blaine, are regarded by their late allies as far as political significance is concerned, as functi officio.

Two Ways of Looking At It.

The Washington correspondent of a Boston paper criticises the "reform principles" of the new administration as displayed in the removal of "experienced" clerks.

There are different ways in which to view these acts. We doubt not that when the next administration succeeds Mr. Cleveland's, there will be as much pressure for clerkships at Washington as is seen to-day. The republican senators recognize the fact that an administration ought, if it is to be held accountable for its political acts, to be officered to a quite general degree by its friends.

If the cabinet officers and heads of departments of the government can manage to do the public business with inexperienced clerks, and the government is not likely to stop in its functions if some of these old stagers go out, let them have a fair chance. The fact is known to every congressman, and every other man in and out of Washington, that while there are many valuable assistants in the clerical force, there are also vast numbers of these "experienced clerks" who have come to regard the government as theirs. To one seeking a proper disposition of a fair and honest claim, they often become obstructions, full of technical objections, and imbued with an idea that they must always "decide" as Ex-Comptroller Lawrence would put it, against the claimant and in favor of the government.

A Washington resident said to us recently: "Some of the treasury clerks seem to act under the impression that if they allow a claim it is a personal loss, as if the amount came from their own treasury. The pension office has been filled with many of these barnacles, whose chief joy seems to have been to study how not to do it. They are honest and fairly capable of judging as to evidence in common cases, but they take up every pension case with the general presumption that because there have been fraudulent cases, every claim must be full of fraud. They send special agents to remote regions to enquire as to the character, often times of prominent persons who may have been witnesses, when there may have at the time been fifty men in Washington who well knew them. They harass postmasters with innumerable letters of enquiry, for ascertaining in regard to persons mentioned, etc.; replying to such letters the postmaster receives no compensation. They dawdle over claims, and raise sometimes ridiculously absurd objections to their allowance." Now if by any process these men can be weeded out, it will be an act of justice, and the republican senators will never stand in the way of this reform, however much they may be asked to reject the Pillsburys which the administration may have foisted upon it by the too-previous zeal of such members of congress as Patrick Collins.

There may be individual hard cases, of men who have spent their best days at a government desk, and who anticipate a hard time in being discharged into a cold world, but the people have been to a certain extent hampered in the transaction of public business by an element of the Barnacle family, some of whom came down from the last democratic administration. They bowed to the inevitable, and have worshipped the republican rising sun; and to-day, perhaps, cite their ancient democracy as evidence of the propriety of their retention. From such as these the public ought to be delivered.

There is probably no office at Washington now occupied by an incumbent, for which somewhere in this great country there cannot be found just as competent a person to discharge its duties as the person who to-day fills it; and the hope is that new men will have intelligence enough to take up the work of their predecessors and carry it on successfully.

In a political point of view, aside from all considerations of civil service reform, the greater the number of removals from office which the democrats accomplish, the better it will be for the republicans. Mr. Cleveland apparently labors under the impression that he can find first class men in the democratic party with whom to fill the offices, if he takes time. But the ablest men in this country, of whatever party, do not desire office. They can get on without it, and any one who has seen the effect of long-continued office-holding by clerks and others at Washington, must be convinced that a change is a healthful thing, alike for some of the present incumbents as well as for the country.

And because here and there a man of extraordinary fitness for his position has to go, and the country may lose in his departure, it is not reasonable to insist that the large body of men who seemed to have fastened upon the government as if for life, and who long since have ceased to consider themselves in any degree public servants, shall continue to hamper and delay public business instead of furthering it by a proper administration of the affairs of which they may in some degree have control.

Another Horror.

A building in Brooklyn, N. Y., occupied by a dozen manufacturing firms employing about sixty persons, mostly young women, took fire in the engine room Tuesday forenoon, and burned like tinder. The engineer, and at least ten of the girls, were burned to death, and four firemen were buried by a falling wall.

A later account says there were at least 250 persons in the building when it caught fire, and that probably twenty-five or more lives were lost.

Gen. Grant continues slowly to improve, and has been able to do considerable work on his history of the war.

At Plymouth, Pa., May 4th, the mortality from the prevailing epidemic was greater than ever before. Between early morning and noon, every house in which the disease had appeared was marked by the death of one or more of the victims.

The president, vice president and other prominent men attended the soldiers' reunion at Gettysburg, Pa., May 4th. On the return, when the train was near Hanover, Pa., a crank fired three pistol shots at the cars, but hurt no one.

One of the most striking cases of the miscarriage of justice, known in the history of crime in this state, is that of the South Newmarket boy-whipping fiend, William Gilpatrick, whose horrible beating of the little eight-years-old lad, Sidney Tanner, unquestionably caused his death, and who gets off with a brief term of imprisonment for aggravated assault, the jury failing to agree on a verdict on the indictment for gross and habitual cruelty. Nothing less than an indictment and conviction for manslaughter, with the extreme penalty of the law imposed, could have satisfied the sense of justice of the community in which the horrible atrocity was perpetrated, or of the public generally who have read the particulars of the crime.—People and Patriot.

A Portsmouth mechanic who recently returned to this city after an absence of several years, was very much surprised to find it difficult to obtain a tenement suitable for his family, at such a rent as he could afford to pay. He had supposed, from accounts he had read at various times, that at least a quarter of the tenements in the city were empty. After considerable search he managed to become domiciled in a house on the outskirts of the city, at a moderate rent.

The citizens of Farmington are justly very indignant at the verdict rendered in the Gilpatrick trial, and have held a meeting at which they decided to use every means in their power to have a new trial on the same or another indictment. —Penny Post.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 139 Bank Street, New York City.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter of a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. FERR, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

FARES TO BOSTON SAVED!

Those who for any reason feel they must make a little money go a great ways in this year's purchases, will go to Boston and visit G. W. SIMMONS & CO., 32 to 44 North street, before choosing this season's clothing.

The only suit for strong, healthy, growing boys is the guaranteed indestructible and impartishable one, which they sell so many of to Boston lads. It is the best suit made.

You can often save your fares to Boston on the purchase of a single suit, or light-weight overcoat. G. W. SIMMONS & CO. are now closing at retail the great wholesale stock of Knowles & Leland, and it is generally conceded that no such clothing bargains for Men, Youth or Boys were ever before offered in the city of Boston.

Men's Complete Suits, of the undoubted value of $8, $10, $12, $14, $16, $18 and $20, we shall offer to close at $2.58, $2.87, $3.59, $3.75, $5.19, $6.88, $7.83, $8.34, $9.40, $9.68 and $11.22.

☞ Boys' Suits and Men's Spring Overcoats in the K. and L. stock are offered in the same ratio.

In their Custom Department, they are making suits to order from THE VERY FINEST IMPORTED ENGLISH, FRENCH AND GERMAN GOODS, AT RIDICULOUSLY LOW PRICES.

Cabs, Hertics, and Hansoms, which you will find at the Depots, will bring you to their store without charge.

If you have not seen their new Catalogues of G. A. R. Goods, Polo, Base Ball, Foot Ball, and Bicycle, send your address. They will mail either one you desire. Address

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

TUESDAY, May 5th.

Solomon Kimball, charged with drunkenness, did not deny it, but begged to be let off, promising to leave the city at once. He was allowed to depart.

SUPREME COURT--SMITH J.

On Tuesday the case of Gilpatrick was continued to the October term, and Gilpatrick ordered to be ready for trial on a new indictment.

State vs. Arthur Hill of Epping, cruelty to animals, was tried Tuesday afternoon. When the jury were drawn County Solicitor Eastman challenged one of the twelve, Mr. A. S. Trafton of this city, and he was accordingly excused from further service. The argument of the solicitor in closing was an exhaustive and eloquent summing up of the testimony of the witnesses on both sides, and proved that the humane statutes of New Hampshire have an able and earnest supporter in Mr. Eastman. In less than half an hour from the time the jury took the case, they returned a verdict of guilty.

EASTERN RAILROAD IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

The annual meeting of the stockholders in this corporation was held in this city on Tuesday.

The stockholders were called to order by Hon. Moody Currier, president of the corporation, and the call for the meeting as published the Chronicle and Boston Advertiser was read by the clerk.

The report of the treasurer, showing a balance on hand of $8857.13, was presented, read and accepted.

The following-named persons were elected directors, each receiving all the votes cast, being 1575:

Moody Currier, Dexter Richards, Francis Thompson, Edward L. Giddings, Edward A. Abbot, William H. Goodwin, Frank A. Philbrick.

At a meeting of the directors Hon. Moody Currier was re-elected president, and William H. Hackett clerk, this being Col. Hackett's twenty-third annual election to that office.

The directors dined at the restaurant at the station. The menu was arranged under the direction of Mr. W. K. Hill, the manager of the restaurant, and was enjoyed by all present. Jas. T. Furber, Esq., general manager of the Boston & Maine road, was in attendance as the guest of the board, and in a neat speech alluded to the past history of the Eastern and the Boston & Maine roads, and expressed high hopes of the ultimate probabilities of the resumption of dividends on the part of the Eastern, by reason of the immense economy resulting from the ceasing of competition between these old rivals, now having a common interest. Mr. Furber's remarks were of a practical nature, showing a great familiarity with this property, its resources and possibilities, and referring to the great competition from various sources which the trunk lines entering Boston were always encountering.

Governor-elect Currier is the second president of the corporation who has been chosen chief magistrate of New Hampshire, a fact that was pleasantly alluded to at the dinner in some historical remarks relative to the rise and progress of the corporation.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner John Lenthall, Munroe master, which recently sailed from this port for New York to load coal for Exeter, in entering the lower harbor of New London, Conn., ran into the schooner H. B. Diverty, lying at anchor, smashing her rail, stanchions and waterways on the port quarter, breaking her mainboom and tearing her mainsail, and injuring her after house, the damage amounting to $600. The John Lenthall's head gear was damaged to the amount of $100. Both vessels were towed up to New London for repairs.

The schooner Georgia B. McFarland, Strong master, arrived at the Concord railroad wharf on Tuesday from Florence, N. J., with a cargo of iron pipes for the Manchester water works; and the schooner Belle, Smith master, arrived at Jones' wharf from Scituate, Mass., with 172 barrels of Irish (sea) moss for F. Jones.

The schooner Chillon, Call master, went up the river on Monday to load bricks for Boston, after discharging which she will run lumber from Bangor to Hingham, Mass.

The schooner Revenue, Harris master, sailed from Gloucester, Mass., for Bath, Me., on Sunday last, and when six or eight miles off the Isles of Shoals sprung a leak. All efforts to keep her free were unavailing, and a signal of distress was hoisted. About ten o'clock Sunday forenoon the crew of four men were taken off by the schooner Lizzie Babcock, Brackett master, bound from Boston for Bath, and in less than ten minutes after the Revenue rolled over, completely waterlogged. The Revenue registered 85.55 tons, was built in Bath in 1871, and hailed from that port.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

Ten joiners were discharged from the construction department at the navy yard on Monday evening, and on Tuesday evening all the other workmen in that department were dismissed, excepting those employed on work for the new cruisers.

A draft of fourteen seamen from the receiving-ship Wabash, at Boston, arrived here by rail on Tuesday forenoon, and were taken across the river by the steamer Emerald to the U. S. S. Omaha.

The government tug Rocket, from the Boston navy yard, arrived at the Portsmouth yard Monday afternoon, to take around from this yard to Widow's island, Me., a steam launch for the use of the naval quarantine station now in course of preparation at that place. The Rocket was taking in coal on Tuesday afternoon, preparatory to a start eastward.

The U. S. S. Omaha bent her sails and took up her boats on Tuesday.

And now the wonder is expressed that during all these years, with so many professional gentlemen and others in our midst capable of the duty, for the first time a Portsmouth man is called upon to give a Memorial address.

Miss Bickford, at No. 77 Congress street, is an experienced milliner of acknowledged taste. Her customers in this city and neighboring towns will be pleased to know that she is ready to serve them with a fine assortment of seasonable goods.

The lasters employed in the Dodge shoe factory went out on a strike, Tuesday forenoon, and the shop had to shut down in consequence.

Alleged Mormon converts continue to pass through this city on the Eastern division of the Boston & Maine railroad, bound west, in considerable numbers. The female (and much the more numerous) portion of the immigrant army are generally well looking, but the men seem almost universally stolid and careworn. It is seldom an Irishman or Irishwoman is seen among them; of three car loads of passengers a few days since there was but one person of that nationality, if we can term Ireland a nation.

"The Young People's Society" will give a musicale at the Middle street Baptist chapel this (Wednesday) evening. A rich entertainment is promised. Miss Clara E. Smart and Miss Bessie Drake of Boston are among the singers. Refreshments will be served after the musicale. Doors open at seven, exercises to commence at 7:45.

Capt. J. Albert Sanborn and Mr. Eugene Sanborn have arrived home from San Pedro, Honduras, where they went last year in the employ of the Santa Cruz Mining Co. They found the stock of malaria on hand in that region too extensive for comfort.

Mr. Charles W. Taylor, the dealer in stoves, furnaces, kitchen furnishings, etc., has purchased the house No. 147 State street.

The whale-boat Tiny, Capt. Cantlin, brought in on Monday 300 large lobsters from the Shoals to Randall & Caswell.

The May flowers and evergreen for the Mayflower party in the Portsmouth skating rink on the evening of the 4th inst. were supplied by Mrs. Charles Johnson of York.

Widow's island, Me., to which the quarantine station which has for years been maintained at the entrance to this harbor is to be removed, is in Penobscot bay, at the eastern entrance of Fox Island and thoroughfare, about three miles from Vinalhaven and twelve from Rockland. The island is about fifteen acres in extent, easy of access from the sea, and has safe anchorage. W. H. Glover & Co., of Rockland, have been awarded the contract to erect the buildings for the station, and have received orders to proceed with the work at once; the plans furnished provide for quite extensive buildings. Capt. M. Achorn has contracted to sink an artesian well to supply the station with water, there being none on the island.

KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Cures a Terrible Case of Gravel When Other Help Failed.

What is Gravel? what causes it, and who are most liable to it? It is frequently attended with acute pain, and unless relief can be found, produces inflammation and death. Both sexes and all ages are liable to it, although men who have reached or passed middle age are the most common victims. Nothing is more urgently needed than a reliable medicine for Gravel, as the disease seems on the increase, and we are glad to say that such a specific is now before the public in the form of DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY, of Rondout, N.Y. We put in evidence the following letter, selected from many similar communications:

PITTSFIELD, MASS., March, 1884.

Dr. David Kennedy:

DEAR SIR:—You have a right to know, and I desire the public to know my experience with Gravel and my remarkable recovery through the use of your "FAVORITE REMEDY." I am a carpenter living in this place, and there are plenty of witnesses in the vicinity of what I say. My first comparatively slight attack of Gravel was in the year 1876. It passed away, and I had little more trouble until last July, 1883. One day when at work in my shop I was suddenly seized with a keen and terrible pain in my left side. I consulted two physicians at once. One said: "I can do nothing for you. Your case is incurable!" I was frightened and went to the second, who said little, but gave me a prescription. It did no good.

Then began a series of experiences the agony and horror of which words cannot depict. Think of it! I was sometimes taken in the streets, and would fall, writhing with agony, upon the sidewalk. It was death in life. Thank Heaven, I then heard of "KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY," through Mr. P. P. Cooley. I had not used half a bottle when I passed three stones in succession, one of which was one-half an inch long. I persevered with the medicine, the symptoms gradually abated, and I have had no more trouble since. I am well, thanks to you and "FAVORITE REMEDY." Yours most gratefully,

JAMES D. KENNEDY.

What "FAVORITE REMEDY" did in this case it has done in many others. If you desire to do so Address—Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best, preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is specially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from the peculiar troubles to their sex Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an unfailing friend—a very blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. $1 the bottle, 6 for $5. by all druggists.

Biliousness

Is very prevalent at this season, the symptoms being bitter taste, breath offensive, tongue coated, sick headache, drowsiness, dizziness, loss of appetite. If this condition is allowed to continue, serious consequences may follow. By promptly taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, a fever may be avoided or promature death prevented. It is a positive cure for biliousness. Sold by all druggists.

Two Dangerous Seasons.

Spring and fall are times when so many people get sick. The changes in the weather are severe on feeble persons, and even those naturally strong are apt, as they say, "to be feeling miserable." Then they are just in condition to be struck down with some kind of fever. A bottle or two of Parker's Tonic will invigorate the digestion, put the liver, kidneys and blood in perfect order, and prevent more serious attacks. Why suffer, and perhaps die, when so simple a medicine will save you? Good for both sexes and all ages.

Commence the Year Aright.

Don't make too many resolutions, but hold on like grim death to those you do make. If your physical system is out of order you should attend to that at once; for its no use trying to keep a stiff upper lip when your kidneys or liver are taking the courage out of you. If you have really made up your mind to turn over a new leaf, commence the year by taking a thorough course of the celebrated Kidney-Wort. Thousands of people testify to its good effects for kidney diseases, biliousness, piles, constipation, etc.

A declaration, addressed to the president and people of the United States, has been sent to President Cleveland by the Mormon elders, setting forth their grievances and demanding a commission of inquiry.

Friend of Woman.

This title is often applied to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., by happy wives and mothers who have been cured of distressing disorders and relieved of pain and suffering by Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. L. H— of Strother, S. C., says in a recent letter: "Your medicine has done me so much good that I don't think I can stop taking it until I am entirely well. I owe all my good feelings to you. The doctor can't get any credit for curing me, it is your medicine that has done me more good than anything I have ever taken." A dressmaker in Findlay, O., says: "I have derived so great a benefit from the use of your Vegetable Compound that I recommend it in the strongest terms, with the utmost confidence and am sure it will cure the most stubborn cases. I consider it very much better than any other preparation made for all female complaints."

Descendants of Rebecca Nourse, who was hanged as a witch at Salem, Mass., July 19th, 1692, have erected a monument over her grave at the old homestead in Danvers Centre. It will be dedicated next July.

INOCULATED POISON!

Some eight years ago I became the victim of a fearful Blood Poison, supposed to have been given to my infant, and thence through the breast, and suffered for six long years. The Mercury and Potash treatment seemed to drive the poison further into my system only to break out in worse form on other portions of my body. Three months ago I began taking Swift's Specific, and it has cured me sound and well. It is the greatest blessing which has come to mankind in years. MRS. T. W. LEE, Greenville, Ala., Sept. 4, 1884.

Precious Stones.

It is not perhaps generally known that a large ruby is of more value than a large diamond. Mr. Streeter, who wrote a book about jewels, states that "the ruby ranks for price and beauty above all other stones. When a perfect ruby of five carats is brought into the market a sum will be offered for it ten times the price given for a diamond of the same weight; but should it reach the weight of ten carats it is almost invaluable."

With respect to the romance of precious stones, the author just quoted tells a curious story about sapphires. A native of India loaded 100 goats with these gems, and reached Simla after a ten day's journey. Arriving at Simla, he tried to dispose of them but the value not being recognized, he could not even obtain a rupee a tolla for them, which he would gladly have taken, being in a state of semi-starvation. He then proceeded to Delhi, where the jewelers, knowing them to be sapphires, gave him their full value. A man starving while a hundred goats laden with precious stones were in his possession reads like an extract from the "Arabian nights." The addition of a heroine and a villain suggests the framework of an effective romance.

An alphabet of precious stones has been formed—indeed there are two alphabets, one for transparent and one for opaque jewels; but of the latter, few except, in the first place, turquoise and, in the second place, jasper, wood opal and onyx, look tempting, basalt, granite and other stones hardly coming under the head of precious. The transparent alphabet contains some few doubtful gems, but it is for the most part made up of those that are doubtless beautiful. The alphabet of course forms the basis of a language of jewels, which can be spoken in the shape of rings and other trinkets. It comprises amethyst, beryl, chrysoburgh, diamond, emerald felspar, garnet, hyacinth, idocrase (briefly described in dictionaries as a "hard mineral" and questionably transparent), kyanite (more commonly cyanite, a blue mineral), lynx-sapphire, milk opal, natrolite, opal; pyrope, quartz, ruby, sapphire, topaz, uranite, vesuvianite (a species of garnet) water sapphire xanthite (an own brother to idocrase), and zircon (a Cingalese stone).

The superstitious have in all ages believed that precious stones had peculiar properties, and for the most part beneficially affected their wearers. At the present time a vague idea that opals are unlucky, and that a gift of opals brings misfortune to the recipient, lingers among those who are ready to believe anything. The odd part of the superstition lies in the fact that opals were formerly supposed to bring good luck to the wearers. As they are now considered the unluckiest stones, so they were considered to be the luckiest. A turquoise bestowed as a gift used to be, and in some countries is still, believed to carry blessings in its train. Do these things neutralize one another? Supposing a lady receives from the same donor a handsome turquoise and an equally handsome opal, would the good luck carried by the one overcome the bad luck carried by the other? It is possible that ladies willing to try the experiment might be found.—London Standard.

Kangaroo-ing.

Kangaroo-ing is the most interesting sport in Australia, and is one of the most exciting in the world. Large meets are organized, parties of from twenty to thirty joining in these hunts. They ride to the kangaroo grounds, and as soon as an animal is sighted the two dogs are released and the horses are given their heads. If the Australian horse is well up in his business, and if you let him take you instead of your trying to take him, he will carry you safely, avoiding trees and underbrush. A good, strong kangaroo will give you a long chase, and very often the dogs cannot follow him. In this case, when the horseman gets up to the kangaroo he takes off his stirrup and strap and knocks the animal over the head, which effectually stuns him. He is then killed and skinned. The hind quarters are given to the dogs. It is good enough for eating, but too strong to be palatable to those of delicate taste. The tail, on the contrary, is considered delicious when made into soup. The average size of a kangaroo is about three and a half feet high, but the old man kangaroo is often six feet, and is very fierce when cornered; he has even been known to rip men open with a single blow from one of his hind legs.

Will-Power a Young Man's Fortune.

President Gates, of Rutgers College, says: "Every young man has a fortune in the fact of his youth. The energy of youth is unblunted by defeat, or worn by hope deferred. With age one becomes more conservative and looks at as impossible what a younger person would endeavor to accomplish, in many cases with success. The effort, even if there be a failure, is a grand success. Self-confidence, or self-conceit, if you wish to call it so, is a great thing. A young man's fortune is not to be found in inherited wealth or social position. Every man is the arbiter of his own fortune. Gracious manners or business habits are good things to cultivate but are not all. Will-power is the young man's fortune. It is the essence of the man. A young man with only little will-power is a foregone failure. It should be cultivated. Genius is a gift of God and should not cause pride, but an honest pursuit of duties is an exhibition of will-power and is something to be proud of. Well-directed, educated will-power is what a young man needs."

—"Yes, ladies and gentlemen," the mesmerist said, "as I remarked before, I now have the gentleman completely at my mercy. To prove it I will feed him with a red pepper pod, and he will smack his lips and think it is candy." And the mesmerist gave it to the subject, who bit it in two and commenced chewing a portion of it, when all at once he hauled off and mesmerized the mesmerizer, so much that it took four men and a bucket of water to bring him to. The subject remarked that no man could take him for a cook stove to try to build a fire in him.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., May 2d.

Editor of Gazette: What are we driving at? We annually raise twenty-seven hundred dollars, plus five hundred, for the support of our schools, and are not aware if it is in any manner wasted; yet if we are to believe a moiety of what we hear during school-agent campaigns we should be led to think we were on a rapid retrograde educationally. We pay for school reports about $50 per year; our school committee are under oath to give a true record of the standing of our schools; our school agents are thus likewise solemnly bound. Do our municipal officers or superintending school committee refuse to accept the census or fiscal returns from their hands? Then when the committee know a teacher is competent and make statement of the same annually as the law requires, why is it in word and deed contradicted when a new agent is sought and attained, the improbable stories of chattering school boys having more weight at district meetings than the faithful reports of the school committee? In district No. 9, also in No. 7, we have ladies for principals in the grammar grades, and the idea of employing a man out in the rural districts, with an average of twenty or less pupils, and these mostly in the primer and second reader, is preposterous to say the least. Our farms need laborers, and many other avenues of employment are open to young men, and it would appear more honorable in them to let their sisters and other people's sisters have the summer schools, especially when the chances are that on a competitive examination the ladies would outstrip them. The war cry of many is "order," and a well disciplined marine could fill their bill more acceptably than a scholar.

STUDENT.

KITTERY, ME., May 4th.

Miss Bertie Hayes and Miss Fannie Remick returned to their studies at the Gorham Normal school on Thursday, the 30th ult. They are preparing to graduate in January, '86.

Rev. Perry Chandler preached his first sermon as pastor of the 1st Methodist church on Sunday, the 3d inst. The text was taken from Exodus, 14th chapter, the last clause of the 15th verse. The weekly meeting is changed from Tuesday to Wednesday evening.

A company of about thirty of the friends of Miss Lizzie Varney gave her a surprise party at her house in North Kittery on Thursday evening of last week; refreshments were served consisting of confectionery, cake and ice cream. It was a surprise party indeed, but the most surprising part of it was that when the ice cream was served it proved to be made without sweetening,—the latest version of Hamlet with Hamlet left out. However, the young ladies corrected the mistake in the ice cream, and it was soon served a la mode.

The oyster supper which was to have been given in the vestry of the 1st Methodist church on Tuesday evening of last week did not occur, because of the rain; everything was about ready, the ice cream was made,—but the oysters were not cooked, consequently the committee had four gallons of those bivalves to dispose of, which they did next day.

Messrs. Joel Wilson, John Wentworth and E. S. Safford of the trustees of the public library, went to Massachusetts last week to examine plans and buildings to determine what kind of a structure should be erected in the lot selected for the library rooms in the village. Elder Wilson seems most anxious to have the work begun at once. He desires to see erected a substantial brick building, with a hall in the second story. The committee visited the library building at Ipswich, and examined plans and photographic views of other buildings. The problem will be how to erect such a building as is desired with the funds available for that purpose. Secretary Hackett accompanied the committee. Treasurer Spinney was prevented from going by a pressure of business, and Prest. M. A. Safford was obliged to be at Alfred on the day appointed for the trip. The committee had a conference with a prominent Boston architect.

Miss Susie Pettigrew, one of our Normal school graduates, has had an eligible position offered her as teacher in one of the public schools in the eastern part of the state, but has decided not to accept it at present on account of the illness of her mother. We regret her disappointment, and its cause. The excellent scholarship she attained in the schools of this town, coupled with her two years practical drill at Gorham, has eminently fitted her to take charge of any grammar school in the state.

SUB ROSA.

THE RISE IN EASTERN RAILROAD STOCK.

The Boston Sunday Herald, in discussing the noticeable rise in the price of Eastern railroad stock on the previous day, says the rise had for a legitimate basis the dividend prospects of the stock. What these prospects are, and some collateral issues, were discussed in an interesting manner by a correspondent from whose lengthy communication we take the following:

No dividend can be paid, as the law now stands, until the bonds (called certificates of indebtedness in the act of 1876) are reduced to $10,000,000, and the annual interest thereon ($660,000) has been paid to the holders thereof, and $100,000 yearly has been paid into the sinking fund. After the amount of bonds has been so reduced, and the $700,000, as above described, has been paid out, any money remaining on hand is subject to the vote of the directors and may be paid out in dividends. But until the bonds outstanding are reduced to $10,000,000, all moneys received by the Eastern railroad under its lease to the Boston & Maine railroad must be paid into the sinking fund, and this is where the $245,000 just paid to the Eastern railroad by the Boston & Maine as its share of the profits to Sept. 30, 1884, must go, because the Eastern railroad bonds now outstanding are over $13,000,000. * * *

Under the lease, after paying operating expenses of the two roads, the fixed charges (interest upon funded debt and rentals) of both roads are to be paid, then $630,000 goes to the Boston & Maine, then $100,000 to Eastern, then $70,000 to Boston & Maine, then $306,000 to Eastern railroad, and any surplus for improvements of both roads. The recent payment to E. R. R. of $245,000 shows that the result of the business to Sept. 30, 1884, under provisions of the lease, was a profit, after paying operating expenses and fixed charges of both roads of $945,000, of which B. & M. took $700,000, equal to 10 per cent dividend, and the Eastern $245,000, all of which latter sum must go to the sinking fund. Of this sum not one dollar can be applied to dividends on Eastern stock. * * *

Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway, which has every whit as good chances for dividends as Eastern, sold at forty-three, a gain of three points over the previous sale, but yet eight or nine below the price of Eastern. The Great Falls stock has no speculative backing. It is a matter of current gossip that the Eastern directors have not yet paid over to the trustees for the sinking fund the balance of $245,000 received from the Boston & Maine as the Eastern share of the profits under the lease for the year ended Sept. 30, 1884. Why they have not done so is an interesting query. It is hinted, perhaps unjustly, that the retention of the money in the treasury is for effect upon the market. * * *

The Eastern railroad is now before the legislature asking for an act authorizing the payment of interest upon preferred stock, 'from the gross earnings of the two roads as defined in the leases' in the same priority as the interest would have been paid on the bonds cancelled by the issue of such preferred stock. The bill proposed is an exact counterpart of the provision in the old lease which was enjoined as unconstitutional. It refers to precisely the same money, and a layman can see no difference between the bill now proposed and the article of the old lease which was enjoined, but it is said that counsel thinks that the use of the word 'gross' before earnings makes a new 'point' to be defined by the court."

The Amende Honorable.

We are glad to notice that our esteemed cotemporary, the Biddeford Journal, is edited by a gentleman who is eager to acknowledge an error when proof that it is such is brought to his notice. We take the following from the Journal of Monday, the 4th inst.:

The John L. Sullivan, Esq., nine are to play the Biddefords here Wednesday afternoon. When we said in these columns a few weeks ago that the Hon. John was a brutal woman beater and horse kicker, we did so thoughtlessly, and when we didn't suppose Mr. Sullivan was at all likely to ever strike this town. We hasten to improve this our first opportunity (since we knew of his coming) to take it all back. *Mr. Sullivan is a perfect gentlemen, and as an artist in his noble profession has taken the highest rank.

*This clause holds good until Wednesday night, after Mr. Sullivan has left Biddeford.

CARD OF THANKS.

The family of the late Mrs. H. G. Foye take this method of expressing their sincere thanks to all of their friends who in any way assisted them during and after her illness. May He, who gave the Golden Rule, abundantly bless them for their great kindness to her, and grant them many friends when the shadow of death darkens their pathway.

KITTERY POINT, ME., May 2, 1885.

A school has just been organized in Boston of a peculiar and original character. It is called the School of Expression, and its catalogue, which has just been received, presents the broadest and most thorough course ever arranged in vocal training and elocution. It is the plan to endow the school, and a committee of trust is named, composed of leading citizens, to whom donations may be made. S. S. Curry, Ph. D., Snow professor in oratory, Boston university, is at the head of the undertaking; and by permission of the trustees he has organized the school out of his private classes, although the school has no connection with the university. One hundred and twenty-nine students, from twenty-one states, thirty-six being college graduates, are already in attendance.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 136 Bank Street, New York City.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter of a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. FREE, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." B. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

POLICE COURT -- BATCHELDER J.

WEDNESDAY, May 6th.

Andrew J. Davis, for brawl and tumult, was sent to the county house of correction at Brentwood for sixty days, costs being taxed at $9.18.

Thomas Morris, overdriving a horse, occupied the court from three o'clock in the afternoon to nearly seven in the evening, when the case was continued to eleven o'clock Thursday forenoon. S. W. Emery for the deft.

SUPREME COURT--SMITH J.

In case David B. McGregor vs. Ruth E. M. Blodgett, begun on Tuesday, the 5th inst., the jury went to Derry to examine as to the construction of a barn built by the plaintiff for the defendant which it was claimed by the latter was not built according to contract. On the coming in of the court on Wednesday the parties spent some little time in discussing a settlement. Bartlett: Frink for pltf.; Marston & Eastman for deft.

There have been fifty-one new actions entered at this term.

The term will close some time next week.

THE WASHINGTON EXPEDITION.

It seems that the committee to designate to whom should be given the federal offices in this state did not quite have it all their own way in their recent interview with the president, if we may credit the statement of the Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, who asserts that on May 2d

Some New Hampshire patriots had an interesting experience at the White House. Hon. Frank Jones, who was so generally decided upon by everybody but the president, for secretary of the navy, called to-day on Mr. Cleveland. He had a strong reserve of rock-ribbed democrats from the Granite State, and together they were bent upon securing New Hampshire's quota of offices before the sun went down, or know the reason why. They did not obtain the offices, and they learned the reason.

They first explained the claims of New Hampshire, and then the merits of a lot of party workers whom they named who had labored and waited long, to-wit, from youth to middle-age, for a democratic success. Now it had come, and it was fitting they should have their reward. With this they began with details. One man they wanted to have made naval officer at Boston. But he was a member of the legislature, and they did not want him to resign just yet, and would the president please keep the naval office at Boston for him? Mr. Cleveland gave no sign.

Next, another citizen of New Hampshire was urged for collector of internal revenue, but he was also in another position which he would like to hold a little longer. The president made no objection to his holding on, and did not indicate that he intended to appoint him on the spot.

Passing from this candidate, they began to set forth the merits of one of their county officers. When they had finished this branch of the subject the president bladly asked: "Gentlemen, when will this friend of yours be fully prepared to enter the public service?" Mr. Jones explained that he now held a good county office, and that if it was all the same to the president, he would like to hold it a little longer. Mr. Cleveland intimated that he was not anxious to interfere with him in the least, and finally said that to tell the truth, he thought it would be prudent for the friends of these candidates not to advise any of them to resign under any circumstances. The delegation came away in a somewhat dazed condition of mind, and with a vague feeling that they had accomplished nothing beyond making themselves ridiculous, and spoiling all chances that the candidates might have had.

We are glad to be assured that notwithstanding this apparent set-back there is no reasonable doubt as to the appointment of our esteemed friend of the Times to a place of far more honor than profit, as soon as a few preliminaries can be arranged with the present incumbent by the gentleman whom the friends of the party in the back towns and all over the state, we are happy to be informed, are not only content, but zealous, shall name the incumbents of the federal offices. If our friend of the craft is cared for as his merits deserve, the Chronicle, however much the distant mutterings from remote sections of the state may sound, will ignore the same with the same degree of disinterested perseverance which will in the divide, mark the utterances of our State street cotemporary.

MARITIME NOTES.

Mr. A. J. Leavitt, keeper of Boon island light, started for the island in a whaleboat on Wednesday forenoon, the 6th inst., having in the boat a supply of provisions, but got only as far as the drill-platform over Gangway rock, against which he was carried by the tide owing to the dying away of the breeze just at the wrong time, the boat promptly capsizing and pouring out the ballast, the stores, and Mr. Leavitt. The contractor's men of course rendered all possible assistance, and Mr. Leavitt, his grip-sack and the boat were saved, but the stores were all lost.

The steamer Mystic was taken off her route on Tuesday of this week, to go on the ways at Kittery, and have put in the new engine built for her by the Portsmouth Machine Co. She came off the railway Wednesday evening, and was towed by the steamer James Sampson to the navy yard, to have her old engine taken out. The James Sampson is running the Mystic's workmen's trips to and from the navy yard, while the latter is hauled off. The steamer Appledore is next in turn for the ways.

The new schooner Agnes E. Downs was towed to sea with flying colors on the 6th inst., by the Clara Batemen, and sailed for Block island mackereling. She is said to be well built, and of the best materials, and is certainly of fine model, and well equipped in rigging, sails and general outfit. She attracted much attention from the river men as she went down the harbor. She carries a crew of fifteen men, whose names are mostly familiar here, as follows: Levi Downs, captain; Frank W. Hidden, mate; John Benson, steward; Joseph H. Randall, Herman A. Clark, David Briggs, William Catlin, John W. Robinson, Edward Robinson, Frank N. Garland, Herbert J. Tarlton, Fred Hodgdon, John Daly, George Short, Frank Stevens.

Shortly before nine o'clock on Wednesday evening, the 6th inst., a fire that probably caught from matches in the money drawer of the ticket office of the Boston & Maine railroad station in this city showed itself through the partition of the gentlemen's waiting room, having worked up between the walls. It was put out without an alarm being given; damage to building trifling.

Several of the crew of the U. S. S. Kansas, which was one of the most successful capturers of blockade runners in 1864 and '65, are residents of this city. She was then under command of Pendleton G. Watmough, a highly esteemed officer who resigned from the service in July, 1865, and they would like to know what became of him finally, and where he is now, if living, as they hope he is.

Capt. R. F. Bradford, U. S. N., is at Fortress Monroe, Va., on duty as a member of the board of inspection of the U. S. S. Pensacola, now in Hampton roads ready for sea.

Mr. Ira W. Whidden of Newington, who made a vain attempt to remain ashore, has returned to the brick fleet again, this time as mate of the schooner J. Chester Wood, Capt. Sanders.

Hon. Daniel Marcy and wife, and Mrs. Shirley B. Cunningham and child, left New Orleans for home on Friday, the 1st inst.; and Dr. John W. Parsons and wife started on Monday, the 4th.

The Times says "a change is to be made in the choir at the Unitarian church. The new choir will be composed of Miss Edith Wendell, soprano; Mrs. Williams, contralto; a tenor from Boston, and H. L. Harlow, basso, and leader; with Miss Lizzie Davis, organist."

The May party in Franklin hall on Tuesday evening of this week was quite largely attended, there being many dancers on the floor, and the galleries filled with spectators. The music by Eastman's orchestra was very fine.

A despatch of May 5th from Salmon Falls says: "Adrian L. Horne, son of Captain A. P. Horne of this town, has received the appointment of naval cadet from this district. The award was first made to Arthur H. Locke of Portsmouth, but the decision was revoked, as he had passed the limit of age allowed for admission." Mr. Locke stood at the head of the list at the competitive examination in Manchester, and had he received the nomination would undoubtedly have passed the board of examination for admission to the naval academy. He is a young man of energy and exemplary character, and it is to be regretted that he did not secure a situation to which he would have done honor.

At the annual meeting of the members of the Eliot and Kittery Mutual Fire Insurance Company, held at Kittery May 4th, the following named persons were elected Directors for the ensuing year: Warrington Paul, John Wentworth, Pascal M. Langton, Kittery, Josiah D. Bragdon, Joseph H. Moody, York, John D. Frost, Timothy Dame, Eliot. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Warrington Paul was elected President, Samuel Clark of Eliot, Treasurer, and Alexander Junkins of Eliot, Secretary.

The 10th annual session of the Rockingham County Sunday School Association will be held at the Congregational Church in Raymond on Tuesday, May 19. The following is the order of exercises:

KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Cures a Terrible Case of Gravel When Other Help Failed.

What is Gravel? what causes it, and who are most liable to it? It is frequently attended with acute pain, and unless relief can be found, produces inflammation and death. Both sexes and all ages are liable to it, although men who have reached or passed middle age are the most common victims. Nothing is more urgently needed than a reliable medicine for Gravel, as the disease seems on the increase, and we are glad to say that such a specific is now before the public in the form of DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY, of Rondout, N.Y. We put in evidence the following letter, selected from many similar communications:

PITTSFIELD, MASS., March, 1884.

Dr. David Kennedy:

DEAR SIR:—You have a right to know, and I desire the public to know my experience with Gravel and my remarkable recovery through the use of your "FAVORITE REMEDY." I am a carpenter living in this place, and there are plenty of witnesses of the truth of what I say. My first comparatively slight attack of Gravel was in the year 1878. It passed away, and I had little more trouble until last July, 1883. One day when at work in my shop I was suddenly seized with a keen and terrible pain in my left side. I consulted two physicians at once. One said: "I can do nothing for you. Your case is incurable!" I was frightened and went to the second, who said little, but gave me a prescription. It did no good.

Then began a series of experiences the agony and horror of which words cannot depict. Think of it! I was sometimes taken in the streets, and would fall, writhing with agony, upon the sidewalk. It was death in life. Thank Heaven, I then heard of "KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY," through Mr. P. P. Cooley. I had not used half a bottle when I passed three stones in succession, one of which was one-half an inch long. I persevered with the medicine, the symptoms gradually abated, and I have had no more trouble since. I am well, thanks to you and "FAVORITE REMEDY." Yours most gratefully,

JAMES D. KENNEDY.

What "FAVORITE REMEDY" did in this case it has done in many others. If you desire to do so Address—Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, FAVORITE REMEDY should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially offered as a sure worthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from low spirits, or the ills peculiar to their sex, Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an unfailing friend—a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. $1 bottle, or 6 for $5, by all druggists.

Secretary Whitney on the 5th inst. telegraphed Admiral Jouett to send home one-half the marine force on the isthmus if he deems it prudent, and to withdraw the rest on board the man-of-war at Aspinwall and Panama for the present.

The United States Supreme court has rendered an important decision, which, it is believed, will result in liberating the notorious ballot-box fraud of Chicago, Joseph P. Mackin, who was sentenced to the penitentiary.

Those sharp pains in the small of the back and around the hips will quickly go after you apply a Hop Plaster. Ladies, pay attention to this. 25c.

Stephen McCall, the young man accused of criminally assaulting a school girl named Gertrude Stimpson in Reading, Mass., several weeks ago, has been arrested. He was found in Jersey City.

Three Reasons

Why every one needs, and should take, Hood's Sarsaparilla in the spring:

1st: Because the system is now in its greatest need. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength.

2d: Because the blood is sluggish and impure. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies.

3d: Because, from the above facts, Hood's Sarsaparilla will do a greater amount of good now than at any other time. Take it now.

Gen. Grant astonished his family much, and his doctors still more, on the 5th inst., by the marked change for the better in his condition over the previous day. He worked several hours on his book, and wrote twelve pages of manuscript himself.

Rev. J. W. Macomber, Kensico, N. Y. writes:—About twenty years ago I was laid aside for nearly eight weeks with a severe cold and congestion of the lungs, and was nearly discouraged, when I providentially came across Dr. Seth Arnold's Cough killer. In a short time I found myself completely cured. Since that time I have used it with universal success in my family."

A number of vagrant negroes were sold at auction in front of the court house at Richmond, Va., May 4th.

I can safely recommend Ely's Cream Balm for the cure of catarrh, cold in the head, etc. Before I have used the first bottle I purchased I find myself cured. At times I could scarcely smell anything and had a headache most of the time—. Henry Lilly, Agent for the American Express Co., Grand Haven, Mich. Price fifty cents.

Ely's Cream Balm cured me of catarrh of many years standing—restored my sense of smell. For colds in the head it works like magic.—E. H. Sherwood, National State band, Elizabeth, N. J. Easy to use. See adv.

A boy named Davis, thirteen years old, accidentally shot himself in the bowels with a pistol while in school at Haverhill, Mass., and died next day.

Pearline. James Pyle's Pearline stands pre-eminent as a most valuable acquisition to the laundry, for it very greatly lessens the labor of washing. It should be, as it very generally is, in every household. No family is so rich as to be able to do without it and none so poor as not to afford to have it. It is obtainable at all grocery stores.

W. B. Lapham and J. O. Webster, members of the board of examining surgeons for pensions at Augusta, Me., have been removed by Commissioner Black.

M. L. Blair, Alderman 5th Ward, Scranton, Pa., stated Nov. 9, '83: He had used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for sprains, burns, cuts, bruises and rheumatism. Cured every time.

Erastus Harlow, a farmer of Minot, Me., forty years old and living alone, was found dead on his kitchen floor with a bullet-hole in his heart, and a revolver which he had evidently been engaged in cleaning lying by his side.

Two Years Ago!

I was a sight to behold and was unable to enjoy life at all. Now I am the picture of health and can eat anything. What did it? Sulphur Bitters cured me of dyspepsia and liver complaint, after suffering two years.—W. H. Bowman, Manchester, N. H.

Frederick Conway of Camden, Me., the last survivor of the Camden Protective Masonic Co. organized during the Morgan excitement, is dead at the age of eighty-five years. He marched in the procession of Masons at the dedication of Bunker Hill monument.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

(The Oldest Newspaper in the United States, established Oct. 7th, 1756.)

Is published every Thursday at the same office. Terms, $1.50 per year; $2.00 per year if not paid in advance.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires at their native city, and it

CONTAINS MORE ORIGINAL MATTER THAN ANY OTHER PAPER OF ITS SIZE IN THE STATE, THE EDITORS WORKING MORE WITH THEIR PENS THAN WITH THEIR SCISSORS.

ADVERTISEMENTS inserted on reasonable terms, in either or both papers. The GAZETTE, having a large country (in addition to its local) circulation, is an excellent medium of advertising. A liberal reduction made when advertisements appear in both papers.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.
R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, is your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Dr. Maxwell, the murderer of Preller, whose body was found in a trunk in a St. Louis hotel, has been arrested. A despatch from Consul Gamble, at Auckland, N. Z., dated May 5th, says: "Maxwell was arrested yesterday, and will make trouble. He has counsel. Send an officer with a requisition and a sworn deposition by the first steamer. Advise the state department, and cable when the officer sails." The despatch was sent to the chief of police of St. Louis.

Commence the Year Aright.

Don't make too many resolutions, but hold on like grim death to those you do make. If your physical system is out of order you should attend to that at once; for its no use trying to keep a stiff upper lip when your kidneys or liver are taking the courage out of you. If you have really made up your mind to turn over a new leaf, commence the year by taking a thorough course of the celebrated Kidney-Wort. Thousands of people testify to its good effects for kidney diseases, biliousness, piles, constipation, etc.

At Spalding's mill in Rumney, May 5th, a Canadian employe named Thibauld Resentey, while attempting to reach over a saw for his lantern, was caught and his body cut in two through the heart. His remains were removed to Canada.

Friend of Woman.

This title is often applied to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., by happy wives and mothers who have been cured of distressing disorders and relieved of pain and suffering by Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. L. H——of Strother, S. C., says in a recent letter: "Your medicine has done me so much good that I don't think I can stop taking it until I am entirely well. I owe all my good feelings to you. The doctor can't get any credit for curing me, it is your medicine that has done me more good than anything I have ever taken." A dressmaker in Findlay, O., says: "I have derived so great a benefit from the use of your Vegetable Compound that I recommend it in the strongest terms, with the utmost confidence and am sure it will cure the most stubborn cases. I consider it very much better than any other preparation made for all female complaints."

SLAVERY IN PERSIA.

The best kind of slaves are the Habasshis, or so-called Abyssinians. These are of a high type. The lips are thin, the color light brown; there is often a distinct red in the cheeks; the hair is long, often nearly straight; both males and females have considerable pretensions to good looks. As much as £80 to £100 may be given for a healthy young Habasshi girl. As a rule, these girls are bought, not as servants, but as wives. Young Habasshis of both sexes are purchased by the grandees of Persia as playmates and confidential servants for their sons and daughters. The girls become the confidantes of their young mistresses, and ultimately occupy the position of housekeepers or wardrobe women. The young Habasshi boys are the playfellows and fellow-students of their youthful masters, often fulfilling the duties of "whipping boys." I have seen the little slave and playfellow of the jellal-u-dowlsh, the son of the King's eldest son, a child of 3, wrestling with his infant master, to the great amusement of his father. The two children seemed quite like brothers, and I was told that the only way of keeping the young Prince in order was to threaten the slave with a whipping. That little black boy, some day or other, will be a great personage, as, in all human probability, his master will be Shah of Persia. From this class of slaves are taken the eunuchs (few nowadays) maintained by the nobility. The few eunuch children imported are eagerly purchased at double or treble the price of ordinary slaves. As a rule the Habasshis are delicate, and feel the severe winter of Central and Northern Persia. The greatest care is taken of them. They do no real work, and it is not expected of them. They are well clad, and often the master or mistress glories in lavishing money on the dress of a favorite slave.

Sometimes a Persian, by a fall in rank or through money losses, becomes unable to keep his slaves. Does he sell them? No; that would be too degrading. He simply frees them, and, as a rule, the slave is made a freed man very much against the grain. The Persian slave, then, is treated more like a child than a slave. His master does not hesitate to mate him with his own daughter; and frequently a prepossessing slave may become the legitimate mistress of a household or even a favorite wife, ruling her less fortunate white rivals. The servants have to take their chances; the warmest corner, the best food, the most solid and stylish clothing are kept for the slave.

Eunuchs are owned only in the houses of the great and rich. Save in the harems of the Shah and his sons, one eunuch rules only over the flock of ladies, servants, slaves and children, who are all under his absolute authority. I have only known two white eunuchs in a long experience in Persia, and these men had probably been political offenders or the sons of political criminals. Political pretenders are also frequently blinded, for in the East a blind King cannot reign. The eunuchs generally have their quarters in the harems themselves, and as a rule they seldom quit their precincts. When they do they are treated with great respect, on account of the powerful influence they wield.

The ladies themselves always treat their guardian with the greatest respect, address him as "Master," and invite him to be seated. Like the high officers of state, he carries a long wand of office, and this wand is often encrusted with gems. He often attends the daily council of his master if he be a provincial Governor, and there his advice is listened to with respect; and he takes precedence of all except the minister, Vice Governor or Wuzeer. Of course he plunges his hand into the political pie, much to his own advantage. He never refuses a bribe. He may do nothing for it, but his hand is ever open. The second eunuch of the heir apparent of Persia is a good horseman, a favorite boon companion and a clever shot, generally popular as the prince of good fellows. But the eunuch ages soon. He is an old man at 40; and once seen he is never to be mistaken—his sunken shoulders, his beardless face and his hollow cough mark him out distinctly.

In Persia slaves are well fed, well clothed and well treated; the people look on them as equals, not inferiors; color is no degradation; they are not put to hard labor; the law treats the slave practically for them as for others. Mothers are not separated from their children, or husbands from wives. They soon become absorbed by marriage among the Persians, and I can fancy no happier lot for the enslaved black than to be sold in Persia. —London St. James' Gazette.

Six weeks ago a widow, armed with the addresses of several agents and owners sallied forth house-hunting. Her plan was first to inspect a house which seemed likely to suit and then look up the agent. The latter would generally be found "sitting at the receipt of custom." "I called about that house, No. ——." "Are you a widow?" "Yes." "Don't want widows. Good morning." And the agent would turn to his books. In several places the lady received an exactly similar answer. She determined to inquire the reason for this antipathy to widows. "Don't want widows," the agent curtly observed. "Why?" "Why? Because they never pay any rent."—Montreal (Canada) Witness.

WHAT IS DYSPEPSIA?

Among the many symptoms of Dyspepsia or indigestion the most prominent are: Variable appetite; faint, gnawing feeling at pit of the stomach, with unsatisfied craving for food; heartburn, feeling of weight and wind in the stomach, bad breath, bad taste in the mouth, low spirits, general prostration, headache, and constipation. There is no form of disease more prevalent than Dyspepsia, and none so peculiar to the high-living and rapid-eating American people. Alcohol and tobacco produce Dyspepsia; also, bad air, rapid eating, etc. BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS will cure the worst case, by regulating the bowels and toning up the digestive organs. Sold everywhere.

Statistics show an appalling death rate from narcotic medicines. Not a trace of opiate or narcotic in Red Star Cough Cure.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

NO FORMAL DETERMINATION.

The new Daily People and Patriot at Concord seems to give a very liberal amount of reading matter at a low price. The democrats have always intended to maintain a leading newspaper advocating the principles of their party, at Concord. In times past such papers have not been well sustained when published by individual owners. How with increased capital invested, and in competition with Boston and Manchester papers, a democratic daily is to succeed at Concord is of course an experiment which only the sequel will develope.

Speaking of the movement as to a new incumbent for the Boston naval office, and the comments of a Massachusetts newspaper upon the assumed position that this office "belongs" to New Hampshire, the P. & P. says, with a naivete as fresh as the scent of new mown hay in the fields on a July morning—

We do not understand that there is any pretence anywhere that New Hampshire as a state, or the democratic party of New Hampshire as an organization, demands or claims the the naval office appointment. There has in fact been no meeting of the democratic state committee, or of the representative democrats of New Hampshire, at any time since the election, at which it has been formally determined to ask for any particular offices, or the appointment to any offices of any individual democrats, as has been the case in many states at least.

Of course not. All formal determination of these positions has been otherwise disposed of, and the democratic party as an organization are barred out. These little matters are being looked after, without troubling the party or indeed any considerable number of its members, to take a hand in the distribution. The assumed ignorance displayed by certain democratic editors in regard to what is going on in this matter of patronage is altogether too funny for anything. When a republican paper publishes any information of this character as items of interest, there comes from our democratic cotemporaries whose organs are at full stop in this respect, a cry "Oh, hush! this is none of your affair."

It seems that while the impatient democrats turn to Messrs. Manning and Vilas to push removals, the president is more than ever admonished to go slow. His last rectifying an error was to require the reinstating of Mr. J. N. Whitney, an efficient chief clerk in the bureau of statistics, a position for which very few new recruits are qualified. Mr. Cleveland apparently prefers not to have these errors committed, but he is entitled to much credit in seeing the blunder early, and remedying the evil of Higgins' rashness by undoing his work. It would save him much trouble if it was made clear to the people that Higgins is not running the administration as much as he was.

Judge Matthew J. McCafferty, of the Boston municipal court, died suddenly of heart disease in Boston on the 5th inst. Judge McCafferty was born in Ireland, but was brought to this country when an infant. He learned the trade of a machinist, educated himself with the earnings of his hard labor, and was admitted to the bar at Lowell in 1857. When the war broke out he took uncompromising ground for the union, and eloquently urged his countrymen to rally in its defence. He proved his faith by his works, serving gallantly in the union army, and rising to the position of major. He was appointed a judge of the municipal court by Gov. Butler, and was promptly confirmed. During the late presidential campaign he was the people's party candidate for governor of Massachusetts, and made an excellent showing as compared with the head of the ticket.

An old suit against the Central Pacific railroad managers has been revived after sleeping four years in the courts. The suit was brought by Main & Winchester, and W. Fordick, of San Francisco, Cal., and one Townsend, of New York, to recover $1,600,000, the value of two-thirds of the capital stock of the California Pacific railroad. Its president, Milton S. Latham, in 1875 issued to Stanford, Huntington & Co. bonds of this railroad for the consideration that the Central Pacific would double-track a portion of his road. The work done, it was claimed, was not worth more than $100,000, yet Latham sold the stock held by him and his friends, giving assignment of these bonds in payment. The plaintiffs claim that the bonds were illegally issued, and demand accounting for these 76,000 shares of stock. The revival of this action is said to be prompted by testimony elicited in the famous Colton suit, which was recently brought to an end at Santa Rosa, Cal.

Hon. E. B. Washburne is in Ashville, N. C., and may spend the summer there.

Waldron, the Oldtown, Me., defaulter, is said to be in the west, and determined to pay his creditors as fast as possible. That he is in the west is credible.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. codtuhw8.95

A Washington correspondent writes: "The New Hampshire senatorship has become a topic of consideration among republicans here. Senator Blair has gone home to look after his interests, and Secretary Chandler has already been ploughing the state over for two or three weeks. Besides these gentlemen, who will be leading candidates, there are a host of aspirants. Ex-Senators J. W. Patterson and E. H. Rollins, Attorney-General Mason W. Tappan, District-Attorney Burns, Ex-Congressman Ray of the second district, and General Marston are mentioned. The candidacy of Mr. Rollins is reported to be only in the contingency of Senator Blair's re-election being doubtful. A New Hampshire politician speaking of the situation to-night, said:

The chances are that Mr. Blair will be returned. He has occupied a prominent position before the country on educational, temperance and labor questions, which are only just turning their faces to the people as the political reforms of the immediate future. But his constituency at home is an intelligent one, advanced beyond most states in the consideration of these subjects. The only danger to him is one that has even greater danger for the republican party. It is that, following the example set in the Rollins contest two years ago, a minority of the republicans shall set themselves up in opposition to the caucus decision, and hold off until a new man can be brought in as a compromise. The effect of such a course on the party discipline from Maine to Texas, at the present time, would be exceedingly bad. The tendency would be toward disorganization and disobedience of caucus obligation everywhere, when we should rather be drawing closer together and accepting gracefully the compromises of caucus consultation in order to restore the party lines and victory. There are a number of states in which the coming senatorial contests would be seriously affected by a bolting movement in New Hampshire. Illinois is setting the country a good example, which is needed for a number of close states next winter. Senator Blair is at a disadvantage in the control by Chandler of the principal republican organ of the state, and in Chandler's untiring ability in political management."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter of a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PEER, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LAVE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

FIRE AT HAMPTON BEACH.

About 10:30 o'clock Wednesday night, the 6th inst., fire broke out in the Atlantic house at Hampton, owned by J. W. Brown of Boston, and unoccupied, and it was destroyed, the loss being estimated at $10,000 to $15,000. The Sea View house, owned and occupied by John C. Cutler, and a billiard saloon owned by him; cottages owned by Rufus Brown of East Kingston, G. D. Dodge of Hampton and Charles Perkins of Hampton; and the Ocean house, owned by Philip Yeaton & Co., also took fire one after the other, and were burned to the ground, with a large part of their furniture. The loss on the Ocean house was probably $25,000 or more; Cutler's loss, $4,000 to $6,000, with $3,000 insurance; Perkins' loss, $2,000, insurance $1,500; Rufus Brown's and G. D. Dodge's loss was about $500 each.

PORTSMOUTH MAN KILLED.

A despatch of May 6th, from Santa Fe, New Mexico, said: "At Benito, fifteen miles from here, about three o'clock yesterday morning, Martin Nelson, who was occupying a room in the house of M. M. Maybury with Dr. Wm. H. Flynn, late of Boston, arose from his bed, and while committing a robbery in the house shot and killed Dr. Flynn. The firing having aroused the family Nelson then shot and killed Maybury, his wife and two sons. He wounded fatally a little daughter of Mr. Maybury. A neighbor, being alarmed, came to the house, and he too, was shot dead. It was supposed that the murderer had remained in the house, and ten citizens watched it to prevent his escape. At seven A. M. the guard were surprised by a shot from the rear, which killed Herman Beck, one of them. Nelson then came down the street firing his Winchester, but he was finally shot dead. Nelson, when sane, was an orderly citizen. He came to Benito from Nebraska four years ago."

The Dr. Flynn referred to is a native of this city, and son of Mr. William Flynn, who lives on Gates street. He was formerly for about five years in the employ of Capt. Joseph H. Thacher, but about eighteen years ago went to Boston, where he has since resided. A few years ago, in company with a brother, Cornelius P. Flynn, he opened a large drug store in South Boston, which they have since successfully conducted. In December last, finding his health impaired by close application to business, Dr. Flynn went to New Mexico for rest and recuperation, spending some time at Santa Fe, and then proceeding to Benito, where a South Boston family that he knew were staying. A letter from him, dated at Benito, was received by one of his relatives in this city on the 4th inst., saying he was greatly improved in health, and would soon return to Boston. He was thirty-six years old, and unmarried; and is very highly spoken of by those who knew him.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.

The May term of the circuit court of the United States commences in this city this morning.

The grand jurors will assemble at eleven o'clock, and be charged by Judge Clark.

Judge Colt, the circuit judge, is expected to preside when the petit jurors appear on the 12th inst.

In the case of Fairbanks, assignee in bankruptcy of Cyrus Dunn, against the Amoskeag National bank and Moody Currier, Geo. B. Chandler and D. B. Varney, begun in the District court, an appeal from the decree of that court in favor of the complainant has been entered in this court.

MARITIME NOTES.

The repairs on the schooner Active were finished on Thursday last, and it was stated that she would sail early next week under command of Capt. Matthews of York, freighting.

The fishing schooner Grace Choate, from Gloucester, Mass., whither she went to take in salt for a trip to the banks, salt fishing, arrived in the lower harbor on the night of the 6th inst., and reported the new schooner Agnes E. Downs as having arrived at the Shoals about seven o'clock that evening, and anchored in Star island roads; and Mr. Oscar Laighton, who came in from the Shoals on the 7th, reported that she sailed early that morning for the southward.

At about seven o'clock Thursday morning an alarm of fire was given, and the department was called to a house on the corner of Water and Gates street, owned and occupied by Mrs. Amanda Holbrook. The fire was slight, and was mostly extenguished before the arrival of the engines by buckets of water thrown by gentlemen when the alarm was given. The fire was caused by an overheated stove-pipe leading from the kitchen stove through a partition wall into the chimney.

Mr. John O. Berry of Rye has received during the past year for the eggs laid by twenty-four hens $56.92; and during the same time he paid for grain for the hens $20.50. The hens during the year laid 3558 eggs, an average of nearly 150 each.

Nathaniel Wiggin, Esq., of this city, has recently purchased of the heirs of Geo. B. Fifield the Fifield farm in Stratham, in the neighborhood of Winnicut Mills, four miles from Exeter. This farm, which comprises one hundred and twenty acres, has been in the Fifield family for one hundred and fifty years. The adjoining farm is owned by Mr. Nathaniel Wiggin of Stratham, and that place been in the Wiggin family for one hundred and fifty years. There are in the vicinity of this place, four large farms owned by the Wiggin family, a prominent family in the town for many years.

The friends of Samuel M. DeMerritt were glad to see him down town recently, after his confinement to his home in consequence of a fall some time since.

William M. Hunnewell has been appointed postmaster at Exeter, vice George H. Leavitt, suspended. "Suspended," as we understand it, is the modern for "removed," only it depends somewhat on the action of the senate when Congress meets again.

Hon. F. Jones arrived home from Florida, via Washington, on Wednesday evening, the 6th inst. Hon. M. Eldredge arrived home from Washington at the same time.

Joshua B. Treadwell, M. D., of Boston, died May 6th. He was a surgeon in the army during the war, and has ever since practiced in Boston. He was a native of Newmarket, N. H., and his remains will be buried there.

By order of the mayor, a new pump is to be placed in the well at the south ward-room building, by James W. Coleman.

Eastern railroad stock was quite prominent in the speculative list at the brokers' board in Boston on Thursday, the sales aggregating 765 shares, 515 of which went at 52 1-4.

Hon. Daniel Marcy, accompanied by his wife, daughter and grandson, arrived home from New Orleans on Thursday afternoon.

Vice President Hendricks will make a tour of the northwest toward the end of this month.

Nathaniel Wilson of Orono, Me., expects to get from $20,000 to $30,000 in French spoliation money.

KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Cures a Terrible Case of Gravel When Other Helps Failed.

What is Gravel? what causes it, and who are most liable to it? It is frequently attended with acute pain and unless relief can be found, produce inflammation and death. Both sexes and all ages are liable to it, although men who have reached their passed middle age are its most common victims. Nothing is more urgently needed than a reliable medicine for Gravel, as the disease seldom ends fatally, but we are glad to say that such a specific is now before the public in the form of DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY, of Rondout, N. Y. We put in evidence the following letter, selected from many similar communications:

PITTSFIELD, MASS., March, 1884.

Dr. David Kennedy:

DEAR SIR:—You have a right to know, and I desire the public to know my experience with Gravel and my remarkable recovery through the use of your "FAVORITE REMEDY." I am a carpenter living in this place, and there are plenty of witnesses to the truth of what I say. My first complaint was a very slight attack of Gravel was in the year 1878. It passed away, and I had little more trouble until last July, 1883. One day when at work in my shop I was suddenly seized with a keen and terrible pain in my left side. I consulted two physicians at once. One said: "I can do nothing for you. Your case is incurable!" I was frightened and went to the second, who said little, but gave me a prescription. It did no good.

Then began a series of experiences the agony and horror of which words cannot depict. Think of it! I was sometimes taken in the streets, and would fall, writhing with agony, upon the sidewalk. It was death in life. Thank Heaven, I then heard of "KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY," through Mr. P. F. Cooley. I had not used half a bottle when I passed three stones in succession, one of which was one-half an inch long. I persevered with the medicine, the symptoms gradually abated, and I have had no more trouble since. I am well, thanks to you and "FAVORITE REMEDY." Yours most gratefully,

JAMES D. KENNEDY.

What "FAVORITE REMEDY" did in this case it has done in many others. If you desire to do so Address—Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, use bad water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is specially offered as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the ills peculiar to their sex Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an unfailing friend—a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. $1 bottle, 6 for $5, by all druggists.

Two Dangerous Seasons.

Spring and fall are times when so many people get sick. The changes in the weather are severe on feeble persons, and even those naturally strong are apt, as they say, "to be feeling miserable." Then they are just in condition to be struck down with some kind of fever. A bottle or two of Parker's Tonic will invigorate the digestion, put the liver, kidneys and blood in perfect order, and prevent more serious attacks. Why suffer, and perhaps die, when so simple a medicine will save you? Good for both sexes and all ages.

At Baltimore, Md., May 6th, Gen. Grant was unanimously re-elected president of the society of the army of the Potomac.

Rev. J. W. Macomber, Kensico, N. Y. writes:—About twenty years ago I was laid aside for nearly eight weeks with a severe cold and congestion of the lungs, and was nearly discouraged, when I providentially came across Dr. Seth Arnold's Cough killer. In a short time I found myself completely cured. Since that time I have used it with universal success in my family."

The Chinese ferry steamer Lin Yun, plying between Shanghai and Woosung, was run down and cut in two by an ocean steamer, and about seventy persons drowned.

I can safely recommend Ely's Cream Balm for the cure of catarrh, cold in the head, etc. Before I have used the first bottle I purchased I find myself cured. At times I could scarcely smell anything and had a headache most of the time—Henry Lilly, Agent for the American Express Co., Grand Haven, Mich. Price fifty cents.

Ely's Cream Balm cured me of catarrh of many years standing — restored my sense of smell. For colds in the head it works like magic.—E. H. Sherwood, National State band, Elizabeth, N. J. Easy to use. See adv.

CHRONICLE & GAZETTE PUBLISHING CO., PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

(The Oldest Newspaper in the United States, established Oct. 7th, 1756,)

Is published every Thursday at the same office. Terms, $1.50 per year; $2.00 per year if not paid in advance.

It contains full accounts of all of important nce that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires at their native city, and it

CONTAINS MORE ORIGINAL MATTER THAN ANY OTHER PAPER OF ITS SIZE IN THE STATE, THE EDITORS WORKING MORE WITH THEIR PENS THAN WITH THEIR SCISSORS.

ADVERTISEMENTS inserted on reasonable terms, in either or both papers. The GAZETTE, having a large country (in addition to its local) circulation, is an excellent medium of advertising. A liberal reduction made when advertisements appear in both papers.

JOB OFFICE.

THE JOB PRINTING business is conducted in the same office by MR. RICHARD I. WALDEN, who keeps on hand a large and well-selected stock of all materials required in his line. Give him a trial and you will be more than pleased.

EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.
R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.
BOSTON, January 1, 1885. eodly

Commence the Year Aright.

Don't make too many resolutions, but hold on like grim death to those you do make. If your physical system is out of order you should attend to that at once; for its no use trying to keep a stiff upper lip when your kidneys or liver are taking the courage out of you. If you have really made up your mind to turn over a new leaf, commence the year by taking a thorough course of the celebrated Kidney-Wort. Thousands of people testify to its good effects for kidney diseases, biliousness, piles, constipation, etc.

It is stated that John W. Mackey has given $100,000 to Bishop Manogue for the purpose of erecting a church in Sacramento.

By the premature explosion of a blast on the Cornwall hills, Lebanon, Pa., May 6th, five laborers were badly injured, two of them, it is thought, fatally.

Those sharp pains in the small of the back and around the hips will quickly go after you apply a Hop Plaster. Ladies, pay attention to this. 25c.

Five Sicilians have been arrested for the murder of Filippo Coruso, the Italian whose body was found in a trunk at Pittsburg, Pa. They are all of the lowest class, and speak no English. The evidence is strong against them.

Friend of Woman.

This title is often applied to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., by happy wives and mothers who have been cured of distressing disorders and relieved of pain and suffering by Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. L. H——— of Strother, S. C., says in a recent letter: "Your medicine has done me so much good that I don't think I can stop taking it until I am entirely well. I owe all my good feelings to you. The doctor can't get any credit for curing me, it is your medicine that has done me more good than anything I have ever taken." A dressmaker in Findlay, O., says: "I have derived so great a benefit from the use of your Vegetable Compound that I recommend it in the strongest terms, with the utmost confidence and am sure it will cure the most stubborn cases. I consider it very much better than any other preparation made for all female complaints."

James Russell Lowell on the 7th inst. unveiled a bust of Coleridge, the poet, in Westminster abbey, delivering a panegyric graceful in style and eloquent in matter.

SICK HEADACHE.—Thousands who have suffered intensely with headache say that Hood's Sarsaparilla has completely cured them. One gentleman thus relieved, writes: "Hood's Sarsaparilla is worth its weight in gold." Reader, if you are a sufferer with sick headache, give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial. It will do you positive good. Made by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists. 100 Doses One Dollar.

Ex-Senator Blanche K. Bruce, register of the treasury, has tendered his resignation. The resignation it is said was requested.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

CELEBRATED

In order to enrich the blood, and thus impart fresh vigor to an enfeebled system, stimulate flagging digestion with the national invigorant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which, by infusing energy into the operations of the stomach, promotes, nay, insures thorough digestion and assimilation, and consequent nutrition. A gain to appetite, strength and flesh, is invariably found to follow a course of this deservedly popular tonic which is, moreover, a reliable preventive of malarial fevers. For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

VANDERBILT'S MILLIONS!

Could not buy from me what Swift's Specific has done for me. It cured me of Scrofula in its worst form, after I had suffered with it fifteen long years, and had tried all the remedies, only to break down my health and make me almost helpless. MRS. ELIZABETH BAKER,
No. 2. Acworth, Ga., July 15, 1884.

INOCULATED POISON!

Some eight years ago I became the victim of a fearful Blood Poison, communicated by a nurse to my infant, and thence through the breast, and suffered for six long years. The Mercury and Potash treatment seemed to drive the poison further into my system only to break out in worse form on other portions of my body. Three months ago I began taking Swift's Specific, and it has cured me sound and well. It is the greatest blessing which has come to mankind in years.

GENERAL ANSON STAGER.

A War Reminiscence in the Shape of a Huge Practical Joke.

William P. Wood, who had charge of the old Capital Prison during the war, publishes over his own signature, in the Washington Gazette to-day, the following incident, which is recalled by the death of General Stager.
